He found it difficult to speak. "You wanted to go to the Front?" he managed.

"Of course; where else?"

Her hand was on the desk; his own slipped over until it closed on it.

"You are a little heroine," he murmured.

"No, I'm not. I'm a little fool to tell you this, but how can I stay—why should I stay—when you are gone?"

She was looking down, but after her confession she raised her eyes to his, and he wondered that he had never known how beautiful she was. He could have taken her in his arms, but something, with the power of invisible chains, held him back. In that supreme moment a vision swam before him; a vision of a mountain stream backed by tawny foothills, and a girl as beautiful as ever, this Phyllis, who, had wrapped him in her arms . . . and said, "We must go and forget." And he had not forgotten. . . .

When he did not respond she drew herself slowly away. "You will hate me," she said.

"That is impossible," he corrected, quickly. "I am very sorry if I have let you think more than I intended. I care for you very, very much indeed. I care for you so much that I will not let you think I care for you more. Can you understand that?"

"Yes. You like me, but you love some one else."

He was disconcerted by her intuition and the terse frankness with which she stated the case.

"I will take you into my confidence, Phyllis, if I may," he said at length. "I do like you; I did love some one else. And that old attachment is still so strong that it would be hardly fair—it would be hardly fair—"

"Why didn't you marry her?" she demanded.

"Because some one else did."

"Oh!"

Her hands found his this time. "I'm sorry," she said. "Sorry I brought this up—sorry I raised these memories. But now you—who have known—will know—"

"I know—I know," he murmured, raising her fingers to his lips. . . .

"Time, they say, is a healer of all wounds. Perhaps—"

"No. It is better that you should forget. Only, I shall see you off; I shall wave my handkerchief to you I shall smile on you in the crowd Then—you will forget." . . .

Four years of war add only four years to the life of a man, according to the record in the family Bible, if he happen to spring from stock in which that sacred document is preserved. But four years of war add twenty years to the gray matter behind the eyes—eyes which learn to dream and ponder strangely, and sometimes to shine with a hardness that has no part with youth. When Captain Grant and Sergeant Linder stepped off the train at Grant's old city there was, however, little to suggest the ageing process that commonly went on among the soldiers in the great war. Grant had twice stopped an enemy bullet, but his fine figure and sunburned health now gave no evidence of those experiences. Linder counted himself lucky to carry only an empty sleeve.

They had fallen in with each other in France, and the friendship planted in the foothills of the range country had grown, through the strange prunings and graftings of war, into a tree of very solid timber. Linder might have told you of the time his captain found him with his arm crushed under a wrecked piece of artillery, and Grant could have recounted a story of being dragged unconscious out of No Man's Land, but for either to dwell upon these matters only aroused the resentment of the other, and frequently led to exchanges between captain and sergeant totally incompatible with military discipline. They were content to pay tribute to each other, but each to leave his own honors unheralded.

That Was When They Potted Him in No Man's Land.

"First thing is a place to eat," Grant remarked, when they had been dismissed. Words to similar effect had, indeed, been his first remark upon every suitable opportunity for three months. An appetite which has been four years in the making is not to be satisfied overnight, and Grant, being better fortified financially against the stress of a good meal, sought to be always first to suggest it. Linder accepted the situation with the complacence of a man who has been four years on army pay.

"Got any notion what you will do?" said Linder, when the meal was finished.

"Not the slightest. I don't even know whether I'm rich or broke. I suppose if Jones and Murdoch are still alive they will be looking after those details. Doing their best, doubtless, to embarrass me with additional wealth. What are you going to do?"

"Don't know. Maybe go back and work for Transley."

The mention of Transley threw Grant's mind back into old channels. He had almost forgotten Transley. He told himself he had quite forgotten Zen Transley, but once he knew he lied. That was when they potted him in No Man's Land. As he lay there, waiting . . . he knew he had not forgotten. And he had thought many times of Phyllis Bruce. At first he had written to her, but she had not answered his letters. Evidently she meant him to forget. Nor had she come to the station to welcome him home. Perhaps she did not know. Perhaps— Many things can happen in four years.

Suddenly it occurred to Grant that it might be a good idea to call on Phyllis. He would take Linder along That would make it less personal. He knew his man well enough to keep his own counsel, and eventually they reached the gate of the Bruce cottage, as though by accident.

"Let's turn in here. I used to know these people. Mother and daughter very fine folk."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Satisfactory

"So you want to marry my daughter? What is your financial standing?"

"Well, sir, I've figured out every exemption possible; I've had the best legal advice that money would secure; I've done everything I could do to dodge it—and I still find that I cannot escape paying an income tax."

"Take her. She's yours."—Boston Transcript.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

CRETINISM

ONE of the village characters in the small town in which I grew up was "Little Jo." Everybody in town knew him. Although twenty-five or thirty years old, Jo was only as tall as a ten-year-old boy. He was short and "chunky." His nose was broad and flat and turned up at the end. His cheeks were baggy and hung down like dew-laps. His mouth was large and his lips thick. His voice was a childish high treble, with a muffled quality due to his thick tongue. His hair was heavy and coarse. His large head, set on a short thick neck, seemed almost to grow on his shoulders. His legs were short and heavy. Altogether, he looked like one of the dwarfs Rip Van Winkle found playing ninepins in the Catskills.

Almost every town has one or more of these unfortunates.

When Julius Caesar lead his legions into Switzerland he found, among the mountains, many people with swollen necks. This disease, known to the Greeks and Romans, was called goiter. Wherever goiter was common, these dwarfs were found in large numbers. The ancient world regarded dwarfs and deformed persons as freaks of nature and objects of amusement, rather than as victims of disease.

As the Swiss were Christians, these dwarfs were called cretins.

It has taken us nearly two thousand years to learn that these unfortunate beings are not sent into a life of misery and deformity by nature or God to furnish mirth for the ignorant and thoughtless. They are what they are because the chemical laboratory in their bodies is lacking some very necessary equipment.

At the base of the neck in the human body, lies a large gland, the thyroid. Just what part of the body's work it does we do not know. But what happens to the body when the gland is absent we do know.

About fifty years ago, Fagge, a French surgeon, found that the thyroid gland was entirely missing in cretins. If cretinism is due to the absence of the thyroid, then the sensible thing to do is to try and give cretins the thyroid material their bodies are lacking. So they were fed raw thyroid from the calf. These glands are called sweetbreads and are considered great delicacies.

The change which followed was marvelous. It was as if the child had been transformed. The swollen tongue and lips decreased in size, the rough thickened skin became smooth, the body began to grow.

Then it was found that tablets made of the dried thyroid gland were just as good as the fresh gland and much easier to take.

Naturally, the earlier the treatment is begun, the better the results.

SCARLET FEVER AFFECTS HEART

THE most serious effects of scarlet fever are those on the heart and kidneys. The poison of scarlet fever seems to have an especially injurious effect on the heart. This may occur when the germs get into the blood and are carried to the heart. The lining membrane of the heart becomes inflamed and ulcerated. Even if this is not fatal, the trouble is not over. These ulcers, in healing, form bands of scar tissue, which, as they contract, draw the valves of the heart out of shape so that the heart is not able to work properly. Many cases of valvular heart disease, which afflict persons in adult life are due to scarlet fever in childhood. After the heart has once been damaged it never recovers.

The kidneys also very commonly become inflamed in scarlet fever. This condition may not show itself until some time after the attack. The child is apparently recovering rapidly when suddenly, following exposure or chilling, the fever returns with headache, vomiting and loss of appetite. The face is pale and the eyelids swollen The urine contains albumen, showing that the kidneys are unable to do their work properly. This condition may become rapidly worse. The kidneys may cease to act, the child finally dying in convulsions. Or it may, in mild cases, last for months or even for a year or more, keeping the child in a condition of chronic invalidism.

As the after-effects of this dread disease are quite as serious as the disease itself, every child with scarlet fever should be carefully watched, not only during the acute course of the disease but also until all possible danger has passed. A child may go through the few weeks of the illness in good shape, may be apparently entirely recovered. But if allowed to leave its bed too soon, a sudden exposure may result in a chill or an unwise exertion may bring on a serious and lasting trouble with the heart or kidneys.

Don't take any chance with your child. Better keep it in bed or in the house a few days longer than to let it run outdoors and play as soon as it is able. After the damage is done, it may take months to overcome it, or your child may have to go through life with a crippled heart or weakened kidneys.

Play safe. Don't take any chances It's better to be safe than sorry.

WRIGLEY'S

Chew it after every meal

It stimulates appetite and aids digestion. It makes your food do you more good. Note how it relieves that stuffy feeling after hearty eating.

Whitens teeth, sweetens breath and it's the goody that L-a-s-t-s.

SEALED in its Purity Package

E4

SELL HIGH-CLASS TOILET ARTICLES, medicines, extracts, spice and soaps. 50 per cent on everything. H. E. FULTON COMPANY, Box 546, BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

AGENTS—Make big money selling linens, dress goods—200 samples free. Hundreds making money with us. Pleasant work. Write, Schindel & Co., 78 Franklin St., New York.

BOYS, GIRLS—Sell Bamboo Fountain Pens, Propeller Pencils. 100% profit. Easy money during spare time. Send $1.00 for sample of each. CLARKIRK CO., Kansas City, Mo.

MY PLAN BRINGS ME $5.00 TO $10.00 day every time I work it. Strictly honest; no capital or investment; anyone can work it. 25 cents. WILLIS, 23 W. Dedham St., BOSTON, MASS.

His Status

"So young Pensmith is succeeding as a poet?" asked Professor Pate with a rising inflection.

"Yes," replied old Festus Pester. "I understand that a great many persons think he has no inferior."—Kansas City Star.

Fast-Moving Planet

Jupiter's diameter is about ten times that of our earth, but so quickly does it spin that a day there lasts only nine hours and fifty minutes.

In Service

Benevolent Gentleman—My little boy, have you no better way to spend this beautiful afternoon than by standing in front of the gate idling away your time?

Boy—I ain't idlin' away my time. There's a chump inside with my sister who is paying me 10 cents an hour to watch for papa.—Judge.

1 teaspoonful equals 2 of many other brands-That's why CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER Goes farther lasts longer

It Contains more than the ordinary leavening strength

BEST BY TEST

Sales 2½ times those of any other brand

PIANOS & PLAYERS ORGANS and PHONOGRAPHS Shipped on trial. Write for catalog. Mention which instrument you want. We will save you money. Terms easy. E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Co. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Buy Concord Yarns direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

Shelby County Reporter

Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET
For the General Election
Tuesday, November 4, 1924.

For Judge of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit.
E. S. LYMAN

For County Treasurer
THOS. MINOR.

For Member Board of Revenue, First District.
M. H. B. JONES.

For Member Board of Revenue, Third District.
T. R. NASH.

For Member Board of Education, Two-year Term.
J. W. ARTHUR.

For Member Board of Education, Six-year Term.
J. G. HENDRICK.

CALERA.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Methodist church will give an oyster supper at the Electrical Store on Friday evening. Elaborate preparations are under way to make this an event of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blevins announce the arrival of a son whom they have named William Dean.

"Anita's Trial, or Our Girls in Camp," is the name of the play selected by Troup No. 1, Girl Scouts, to be given here early in November. It is a clean, snappy comedy in three acts, giving each girl a good speaking part and bringing back to them memories of their own camping trips this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Barnet and son of Birmingham, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Farnet.

Misses Lydia, Ruth and Josie Pilgreen and Charlie Johnson motored to Bessemer Sunday.

Mrs. Cochran of Wilton spent Friday with her mother, Mrs. Thos. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Martin of Elmore are visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Register, chaperoned a motoring marty to Birmingham and Cascade Plunge Saturday evening.

Mrs. Lutie Luttrell is visiting relatives in Birmingham.

Mrs. Mc Jones and two children of Centerville are visiting relatives

Mrs. R. E. Powdon and daughter Roberta, spent Wednesday and Thursday in Birmingham.

Mrs. L. P. Thornburg was in Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Pete Rogers' guest, Miss Nell Hoskins, of Birmingham, returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Eddings and two children of Chattanooga, have been the guests of Mrs. Mary Holcombe and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holcombe.

Mrs. Jemmie Ozley and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ozley and son Fred, motored to Columbiana Saturday.

Mrs. Mamie Penick of Decatur, spent Friday with Mrs. D. W. Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jeffers and children of Birmingham, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Zollie Cowart.

Mose Fields' many friends regret to hear he is very ill.

W. E. Harrison of Columbiana spent Friday with his daughter, Mrs. Ed Lovelady.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stapp and 2 children of Rome, Ga., were in town Saturday.

Miss Alma Pilgreen spent Friday in Wilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Scroggins of Shelby Springs are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Z. C. Scroggins.

Mrs. Jasper Holcombe, Sr., entertained Mrs. Mary Holcombe and her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Eddings, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Boyd are spending the week end in Dothan.

Mrs. Wheatley was in Birmingham Wednesday.

Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Blanche Martin and Miss Mary Brannon motored to Montevallo Friday.

Misses Verna Helms and Carrie Lee Abercrombie of the Alabama College spent the week-end with Miss Will Ivey

P. W. Denson spent a week in Birmingham with relatives.

T. J. Seals and daughter, Shirley have returned from a visit to Birmingham and Talleyville.

T. G. Seals of Nashville spent the week-end with his wife and daughter.

LOST—On Sunday, October 19, between Wilsonville and Columbiana a man's black coat. Finder please leave with J. P. Pearson, Columbiana, or notify J. N. Melton, R 3, Vincent. 1t pd

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed administrator of the estate of Henrietta Smith, deceased, and all persons having claims against said estate are notified to file them as provided by law.

Witness my hand and dated this the 13th day of October, 1924.

Roy D. Smith.
10 16 3t. as Administrator.

APPLICATION OF JOINT OWNERS FOR SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby county, Probate Court.

Whereas, F. C. Oates, as guardian of the estate of F. C. Oates, Jr. Allen Oates, and Margaret Oates minors, has filed application in writing under oath for an order to sell certain property described in said application, belonging to said above named minors.

Whereupon it is ordered that the 31 day of October 1924 be appointed a day on which to hear such application, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 8 day of August, 1924. L. B. Riddle,
10 9 3t Judge of Probate.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Shelby county, Probate Court.

Estate of J. O. Moore, deceased.

Letters of administration of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 13 day of May, 1924, by the Hon. L. B. Riddle Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or the same will be barred.

Hixie A. Moore.
10 9 3t Administratrix

NOTICE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Ala. In Equity.

The State of Alabama, vs. One Ford Roadster Automobile, Motor Number 9767245.

Under and by authority of a decreetal order rendered in the above stated cause by the circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 11th day of October, 1924.

Notice is hereby given any and all parties interested in, or claiming an interest in One Ford Roadster Automobile Motor No. 9767245 which has been heretofore seized by J. J. Falkner, Sheriff of Shelby county, Alabama, in said county, which said Automobile is alleged to have been used at the time of said seizure for the purpose of illegally conveying or transporting prohibited liquors containing alcohol from one point in the state to another point in the state, contrary to law, to file their claim in this court to the said Ford Automobile, on or before the 3rd day of November 1924, after which all claims will be barred.

Witness my hand this the 13th day of October 1924.

J. M. Leonard, Register.
10 16 2t

MORTGAGE SALE

By virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain mortgage executed by L. W. Williams to Connell & Baldwin, a partnership composed of W. V. Connell and Wm. L. Baldwin, dated December 1st, 1919, and recorded in Record of Mortgages, Book 127, page 299, in the probate office of Shelby county, Alabama, the undersigned will sell to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house at Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on Monday, November 17, 1924, the following described real estate to-wit:

One lot or parcel of land in the town of Calera, commencing at a point on the north side of the Southern Railway 35 feet from the center of the main track of said road and 10 inches west of the southwest corner of building known as the Wade and Hill two story brick building, which building is located on the lot herein conveyed and is conveyed in this instrument; thence in a northwesterly direction along the line of said wall to a point 65 feet south of the L. & N(Y)railway track at right angles with the track, meandering from the center of said(Y) railway track; thence in a southwesterly direction parallel with said(Y)railway track 18 2-3 feet, more or less to the west line; thence in a southwesterly direction to the point of beginning, situated in Calera, Shelby County, Alabama.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of paying the debt secured by said mortgage, together with the costs and expense of foreclosing same, default having been made in the payment of said debt.

This the 9 day of October, 192

CONNELL & BALDWIN
By W. V. Connell, Mortgagee.
Frank W. Smith & L. H. Ellis.
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
10 23 3t

REGISTER'S SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Alabama, In Equity. Ped D. Honeycutt, et al, Compiamants, vs. Fred Honeycutt, et al., Respondents.

By virtue of a decree in the above stated cause rendered at the July Term. 1924, of the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Alabama, in Equity, to satisfy said decree, I will sell to the highest and best bidder for cash at public sale at the courthouse door of said county between the hours of 11 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on Monday, the 10th day of November, 1924, for division among joint owners or tenants in common the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning at iron stake one-fourth mile east of Southwest corner, Section 28, Township 21, South of Range 4 West, thence North 253 2 10 feet to the Southwest corner of James Walker tract; thence east 472 2-10 feet to the Southeast corner of the said James Walker tract; thence north 197 ft. to the southwest corner of Ed Herron lot; thence East 855 8-10 feet running along the south side of Ed Herron, Robert Allen and Zack Honeycutt tracts to an iron stake; thence south 235 7-10 feet to the northeast corner of Mrs. Mary Picket's lot; thence West 208 7-10 feet; thence South 208 7-10 feet to Section line between Sections 28 and 33, Township 21, South of Range 4 West thence West 1119 3-10 feet to point of beginning, all lying in the Southeast quarter of Southwest quarter, Section 28, Township 21, South of Range 4 West, situated in Shelby county, Alabama.

This the 13 day of October, 1924
J. M. Leonard, Jr., Register.
10 16 3t.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—1—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924; and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"Town Creek School District No. 59, Landersville School District No. 23 and Moulton School District No. 28 in Lawrence County, Alabama, shall each have the right and power by vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such district at an election held for that purpose to levy and collect for the purpose of acquiring, constructing or repairing of school buildings in such districts or paying for school buildings already built, a tax of not over five mills in any one year in addition to all other taxes now authorized by law. The election in such district to determine whether or not such tax shall be levied shall be called, held and conducted as now provided by law for calling, holding and conducting of elections to determine whether or not a three-mill district school tax shall be levied and collected."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—6—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"Section 194 1-2. No person who honorably served in the Military or Naval service of the United States between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judge of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—5—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the propcsed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

Article XXI, Section 1. The Legislature may form or provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a sea wall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without an election. Provided the provisions as to roads and sea wall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—7—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding in the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and asses such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid, are hereby validated and confirmed."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

Don't Throw the Boomerang of Oppressive Legislation at the Railroads

The boomerang is a dangerous weapon to use. It flies back and is likely to hit and damage the thrower.

A vast amount of legislation to "regulate" the railroads is being proposed. Most of it would not only be impracticable in operation but would actually destroy the satisfactory service the railroads are now giving to the public.

Thus, like the boomerang thrown by the untutored Australian native, this legislation would "Return to plague the inventor".

The instigators of this proposed legislation are largely selfish—they don't care if it is "boomerang stuff" to the people. However, a few honest, but unthinking, people have unconsciously been influenced to join in this attack on the railroads—without realizing that whatever hurts the railroads hurts the people as well.

Don't you be a boomeranger. Give a little honest and intelligent thought and study to the railroad situation; and you'll want to help prevent the dangerous, fly-back legislation now being proposed.

Since Jan. 1, 1922 more than one billion dollars has been saved to shippers thru reductions that the railroads have made in freight rates.

THE OLD RELIABLE

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

Preferred Stock

A SAFE INVESTMENT

Records kept by financial agencies show that next to National Banks in freedom from failure are the public utilities of the nation

Alabama Power Co. 7 per cent. Preferred Stock —is backed by well-kept dams, power stations and transmission lines. This property serves over 80 cities and towns in central and northern Alabama in a territory of 25,000 square miles, with a population of 1,000,000 people.

This stock has paid eighteen successive dividends. The company has over 10,000 owners of its securities in the State.

Price 98
Per Share and Accrued Dividends

YIELD 7.14 %

ALABAMA POWER COMPAMY

...:—On May first, one mile ... of Calera, an alligator trav... bag. It was picked up by a ... Chisiom boy but taken from ... by a lady in a car traveling ... Jemison. Finder will please ... Rev. E. S. Brainard, Pian... Ala. and receive reward. ... pd

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

—3—

...EREAS, the Legislature of Ala..., at a session held in 1923, has ... an election by the qualified ... of the State of Alabama upon ...tain proposed amendment to the ...titution of Alabama, which is ... set forth, to be held at the gen... election in November, 1924; and ...EREAS, Notice of such elec... together with the proposed ...dment, is required by law to be ... by proclamation of the Gov...

...W, THEREFORE, I, William W. ...don, Governor of the State of ...ama, do hereby give notice, di... and proclaim that at the general ...ion in November, 1924, an elec... will be held for the vote of the ...fied electors of the State of Ala..., and in the manner, form and ... required by law, upon the fol... amendment to the Constitu... of Alabama, viz:

...rticle —, Section 1. The County ...Walker, State of Alabama, shall ... power to levy and collect a spe... county road tax not exceeding ... cents on each one hundred dol... worth of taxable property in ... county in addition to that now ...rised or that may hereafter be ...rised for public road purposes; ...ided, that of such tax, the time ... to continue and the purpose ...of shall have been first submit... to the vote of the qualified elec... of the county, and voted for by ...jority of those voting at such ...tion. Section 2. Twenty-five per ...um of all moneys derived from ...erty lying within municipalities ... arising from the tax proposed ...in, shall be paid to such munici... and shall, by it, be expended ...keep of its streets. Section 3. ... Court of County Commissioners, ...d of revenue, or other governing ... of said county, may, or upon ...n petition of ten per centum of ...qualified voters of Walker Coun... shall call and submit said elec... provided for and authorized by ...on one hereof to the qualified ...ers of Walker County either at ...time of the general election or at ...ecial election called for that pur... provided, that said election ...l be called and held in accordance ...the law now or that may be en... governing county bond elec..., and in conformity with the gen... election laws of the State."

...WITNESS WHEREOF, I have ...unto set my hand and caused the ...t seal of the State to be affixed ...the Capitol, in the City of Mont..., on this, the 8th day of Au... One Thousand Nine Hundred ... Twenty-Four.

...) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

...y the Governor:
...S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

—2—

...HEREAS, the Legislature of Ala..., at a session held in 1923, has ...ed an election by the qualified ...ors of the State of Alabama upon ...rtain proposed amendment, to the ...titution of Alabama, which is ...in set forth, to be held at the gen... election in November, 1924, and ...HEREAS, notice of such election, ...ther with the proposed amend..., is required by law to be given ... proclamation of the Governor:

...OW, THEREFORE, I, William W. ...don, Governor of the State of ...ama, do hereby give notice, di... and proclaim that at the general ...ion in November, 1924, an elec... will be held for the vote of the ...fied electors of the State of Ala..., in the manner, form and places ...ed by law, upon the following ...dment to the Constitution of ...ama, viz:

...Proposed Amendment No. 290. Mo... County may become indebted and ... issue bonds for the construction ...provement of concrete or better ... concrete surfaced public roads, ... concrete or better than concrete ...lic bridges in said county, and for ... construction of bridges and road... necessary to provide a public ... for vehicular travel between the ...lands of Mobile and Baldwin ...nties, in an amount not to exceed ... and one-half per centum of the ...sed value of the property situa... in Mobile County. To pay said ...ebtedness and the interest there... Mobile County may levy and col... an annual tax on said property ... to exceed one-half of one per cen... of said value. The indebtedness, ... bonds and the tax authorized ...by shall be in addition to those ...horized by the Constitution of Ala... prior to the adoption of this ...endment. But no such additional ...ebtedness shall be created, and no ... additional bonds shall be issued, ... no such additional tax shall be ...ed, until each improvement or ...truction proposed to be built ...by, its approximate location, es...ted cost and time of completion, ... the amount of the proposed in..., shall have been determined ... and made public by the Board ...evenue and Road Commissioners ...Mobile County, and the proposed ...ance of indebtedness or issue of ...ds or tax therefor shall have been ... authorized by a majority vote ...ballot of the qualified voters of ...ile County voting upon such prop...tion."

...WITNESS WHEREOF, I have ...unto set my hand and caused the ...t seal of the State to be affixed ...the Capitol, in the City of Mont..., on this, the 8th day of Au... One Thousand Nine Hundred ... Twenty-Four.

...) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

...y the Governor:
...S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

PUBLICATION OF APPLICA... FOR SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County, Probate Court.

Whereas, Mrs. Jennie Ozley as Guardian for George Ozley, joint owners, has filed her applicaton in writing under oath, for an order to sell certain property described in said application, belonging to George Ozley, a minor et al

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 18 day of November, 1924, be appointed a day on which to hear such application, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 17 day of October, 1924. L. B. Liddle,
10 23 3t. Judge of Probate.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont and Greenville, and Roanoke and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one percentum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1 1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto, including the power of the City of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said City of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words:

"For ——— excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ———:" and "Against ——— excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ———." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor, and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds or municipal corporations hertofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and such proposition is defeated no second election for the same shall be held in one year thereafter."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON, Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

HARPERSVILLE

Howard Minton is visiting relatives in Sylacauga.

Rev. J. O. Ray filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church last Sunday. This was Mr. Ray's last appointment here, provided he is not sent back another year by the Annual Conference which meets in Talladega next week.

"Jemmie Slemp" says that there is lots and lots of pretty girls who have ruined their looks by bobbing their hair.

It is now Monday and last week's Reporter has not made its appearance. We usually get it on Thursday night. Please look it up, for we can't do without it.

Of all the saddest words that tounge ever uttered and pen ever wrote are these: "It Might Have Been."

We are sorry to state that our friend, Butler Smith's health has become so impaired that he had to be carried to Birmingham last week for medical treatment.

We are pleased to state that Miss Lockie Posey who underwent a very serious operation more than a month ago has so fully recovered that she has resumed her place in the Cunningham school as teacher, which place she has had for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Black of Cresswell attended preaching here Sunday.

Mrs. Black has just returned from Denver, Col., whehe she has been visiting hen son, Dr. Robert Black, who has been sick for some time.

The cotton crop is almost gathered and the most of it has been sold at prices from 20 to 25 cents a pound.

I will buy your remnant cotton. T. R. Walton, Columbiana, Ala. 2t

For Sale

E. L. Cooper has for sale, one horse and one mule; cash or terms. Come or write. E. L. Cooper, R1, Chelsea, Ala.

DISSOLUTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I have sold my entire interest in the Vincent Motor Company to Dr. J. W. Arthur who assumes all indebtedness of said company.
B. K. Smothers, Vincent, Ala.
10 23 4t pd.

Pardon Notice

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the pardoning board of Alabama, for the parole for Fred Minton, who was convicted of Grand Larceny in the Spring Term of the Shelby County Circuit Court in 1923, and who is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary for the crime.
10 23 2t pd. Fred Minton

GLYCERINE MIXTURE FOR GAS ON STOMACH

Simple glycerine, buckthorn bark etc., as mixed in Adlerika helps any case gas on the stomach in TEN minutes. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels and removes all gasses and poisons. Brings out matter you never thought was in your system. Excellent for obstinate constipation. Guards against appendicitis.

Davis Drug Co., Columbiana.
Columbiana Drug Company,
Peoples Drug Co., Calera.

Statement of ownership, management, etc., as required by the act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of Shelby County Reporter, published at Columbiana, Alabama, for October 1st, 1924.

The name of the Editor and Publisher is Luther Fowler, Columbiana, Ala.

The owner is Luther Folwer, Columbiana, Ala.

Known bondholders, mortgagees, etc., are First National Bank, Sylacauga, Ala.

Luther Fowler,
Editor Publisher

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage executed by H. K. Lewis and Daisy O. Lewis on the 15th day of March 1924, which said mortgage is recorded in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 136 at page 270, and the law day of said mortgage being past, and the indebtedness secured and evidence thereby being still due and unpaid, the undersigned mortgagee, as such, and under the power of sale contained therein, will, on Saturday, the 8th day of November, 1924, sell, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Court House of Shelby County, at Columbiana, Alabama, within the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate conveyed in said mortgage, viz:

The South ½ of SW¼ of NE¼ and the NW¼ of SE¼ of Section 4, Township 24, Range 13 East, situated in Shelby County, Alabama.

The proceeds of said sale will be as folows:

1st. To the payment of the expense and costs of said sale and foreclosure, including a reasonable attorney's fee for foreclosing said mortgage.

2nd. To the payment of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Dated this the 22nd day of October, 1924.

Lillie A. Wheatley,
L. H. Ellis. Mortgagee.
Attorney for Mortgagee. 10 23 3t

Federal Power Commission

In compliance with the Federal water power act (41 Stat., 1063), notice is hereby given that the People's Hydro-Electric Power Company, of Birmingham, Alabama, has made application covering a proposed water-power project on the Coosa River, extending from a point near U, S. Government Lock No. 2 to a point near Gadsden, Alabama. Any objection to such application or request for a hearing thereon, together with any briefs, reports or other data for which consideration is desired, should be submitted to the Executive Secretary, Federal Power Commission, Washington, D. C.

ELECTION NOTICE

State of Alabama, Shelby county.

I, J. J. Falkner, Sheriff of Shelby county, Alabama, in conformity with Section 447 of Code of 1923, hereby give notice that a general election, by the qualified voters of Shelby county, Alabama, will be held in the several precincts of said county, on Tuesday, the 4 day of November, 1924, for the election of the following officers:

Congressman from the 4th District; Judge of 18th judicial circuit; Treasurer of Shelby county; Member of Board of Revenue, 1st District; Member Board of Revenue, 3rd District; Member Board of Education 6 year term; Member Board of Education, short term; Justice of Peace and Constables for each beat.

Witness my hand this the 1st day of October, 1924.

J. J. FALKNER,
As Sheriff of Shelby County, Ala.
10 2 .4 4t.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamonds

P. D. D. PENDLETON
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.

I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.

Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK

Montevallo, Alabama

C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slone, Cashier

Checking Accounts Solicited.

TOMBSTONES MONUMENTS

I am still selling Tombstones and Monuments

My work is of the best, both in material and workmanship.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

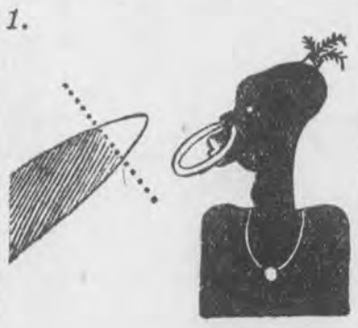
No payment is required until the work is put up. If it is not what you bought you won't have to take it.

If you need anything in this line write to me at Harpersville, Alabama.

R. B. POSEY

THE COST OF A YEAR'S CIGAR TIPS WOULD PAY PATAGONIA'S NATIONAL DEBT

1.



A cigar tip is as useless as a ring on an African's nose. It may be ornamental, but it has no practical value.

2.

Nearly ½ the cost of making a cigar goes into the tip. Is it good sense to spend good cents for a point that has no point?

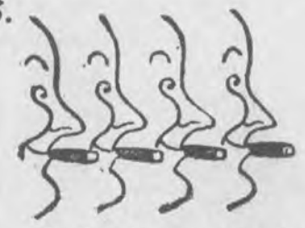
3.

It's a hard job to make a cigar tip. But the art is wasted. You snip it off before you light the cigar.

4.

In making Old Virginia Cheroots we leave the tip off—and save a big chunk of cigar making expense.

5.



That's why we can give you 4 fragrant, mellow 4¼ inch cigars for 1 thin dime. Made from prime-leaf, sun-cured Perfecto cigar tobacco. A princely smoke at a convenient price. The triumph of volume production: and of 28 years "know how" in cigar making.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

©1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

Makes 5c brands envious—and 10 and 15 centers respectful.

A real Perfecto without the tip.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Makes End Seem Far Off

Lightning bugs are not so different from certain men. A lightning bug can see where he has been but not where he is going.—Charlotte Observer.

Molasses Drop Cakes.

½ cup butter
½ cup of boiling water
1 cup molasses
1 level teaspoon soda
½ level teaspoon Calumet Baking Powder
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
Flour for drop batter

Melt the butter in the boiling water and add the molasses, then other ingredients sifted together. Drop from a spoon onto a greased baking tin, having the cakes some distance apart. Bake in a hot oven, 350 degrees F.

Proved the Reverse

First Business Man—Has your son arrived at years of discretion?

Second Ditto—Yes, he's about to be married.

First Business Man—Then you mean he hasn't.—London Answers.

A torpid liver prevents proper food assimilation. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills tone up the liver. They act gently but surely. 372 Pearl St., New York. Adv.

Carpet for the Cellar

A piece of old carpet placed at the bottom of the cellar steps will prove a wonderful help in preventing marks from rubber heels on the clean kitchen linoleum.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
For Pale, Delicate Women and Children. 60c

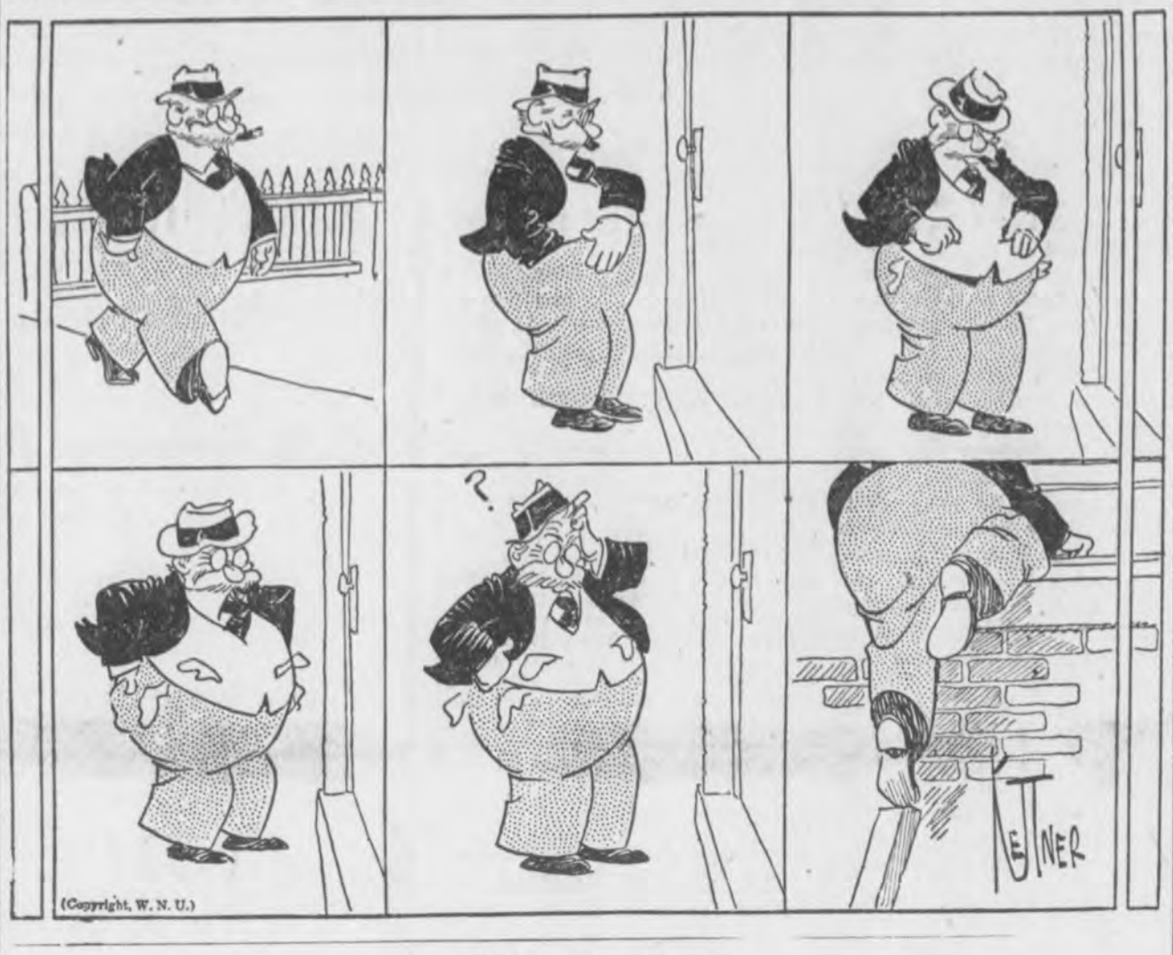
ITCH!
Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

CONTINUOUS HATCHER An Innovation
Agents Wanted
Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.
Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co. Box 675, Jackson, Miss.

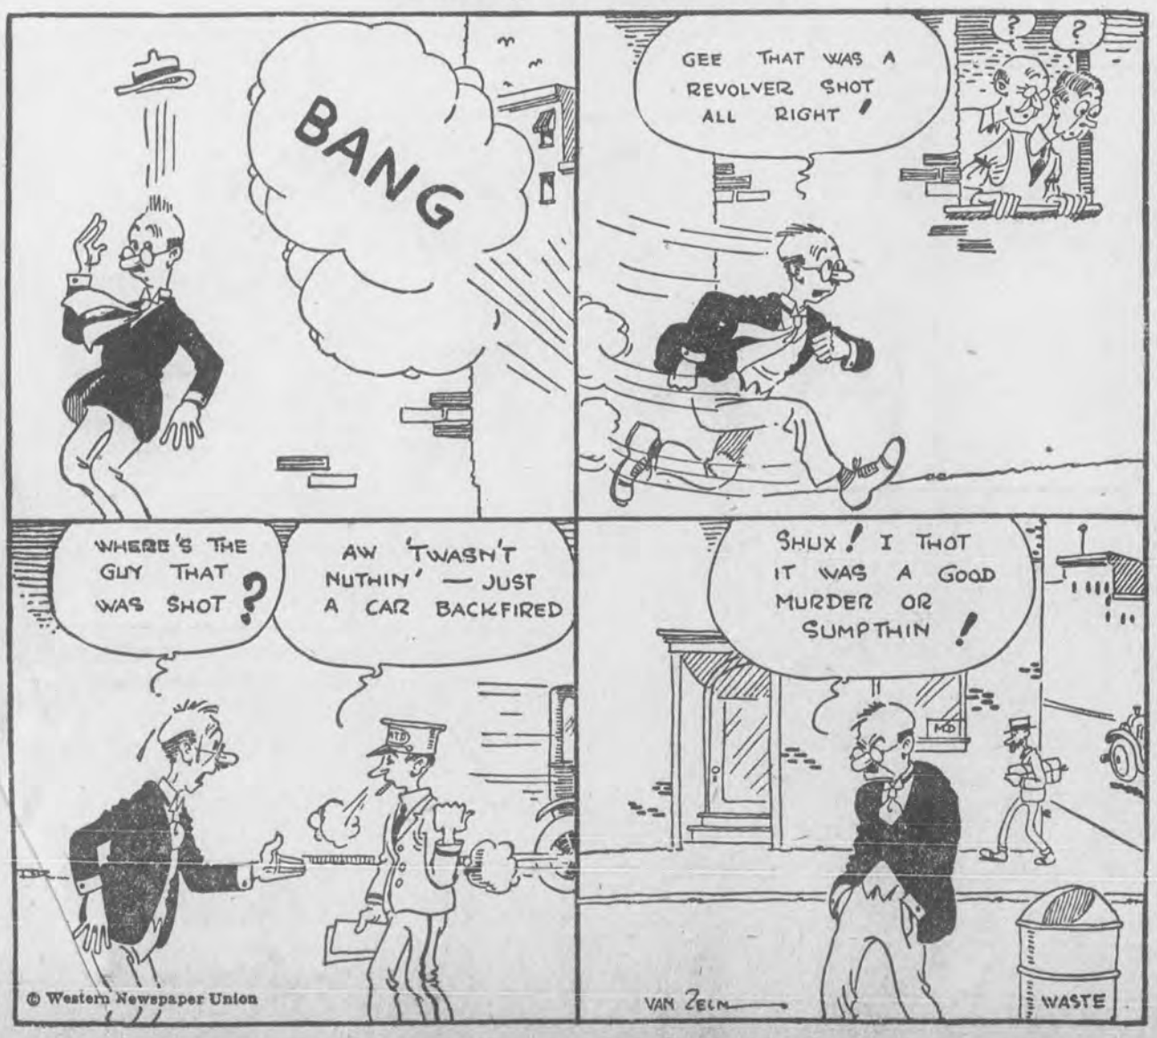
OUR COMIC SECTION

Our Pet Peeve



Any Other Questions?

Looking for Excitement



NERVOUS & HALF-SICK WOMEN

Relieved by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

These Three Letters Prove It

Lowell, Mass.—"I am sending you a few lines to let you know what good your medicine has done for me. I want you to let every one know that it has helped me in nervous troubles. I have four children and you know there is a lot to do where children are. They would come in from school and they would start telling me about their little troubles but I could not stand it. I had to send them away. I could not even walk on the street alone I was so nervous. I found one of your books and read it and then I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I got it and had taken one bottle when I saw a change in myself. I was surprised. The children can talk all they want to now and it does not bother me. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOSEPH LEMERE, 34 South Street, Lowell, Mass.

Felt Like A New Woman

Springfield, Missouri.—"For four or five months I was run-down, nervous, my back ached and I did not feel like doing a thing. Sometimes my legs ached and felt like they would break and I had a hurting in my sides. I had been reading in the newspapers the letters of other women who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the advertising of it appealed to me so I bought some and saw results in almost no time. I had hardly been able to do my own work and after taking the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I recommend it to my friends who have troubles like I did, and hope they will find the same results."—Mrs. M. CARPENTER, 607 W. Chase Street, Springfield, Missouri.

40 Years Old, Feels Like 20

Hagerstown, Md.—"I was very bad off with backache, a bearing-down feeling in my body and a pain in my left side. I could not be on my feet at times and once I was so bad I walked bent over to one side for three weeks. My sister read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me a bottle. I got so much relief that I took more until I was well. I am 40 years old and feel like 20. I am sure this medicine will help all women."—Mrs. MARY E. SANDY, 436 W. Franklin Street, Hagerstown, Md.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

All druggists are having increased sales of this medicine.

HORSES COUGHING? USE
Spohn's Distemper Compound
to break it up and get them back in condition. Thirty years' use has made "SPOHN'S" indispensable in treating Coughs and Colds, Influenza and Distemper with their resulting complications, and all diseases of the throat, nose and lungs. Acts marvelously as preventive; acts equally well as cure. 60 cents and $1.20 per bottle. Sold at all drug stores.
SPOHN MEDICAL COMPANY GOSHEN, INDIANA

The Facts

"The girls don't hook the men." "Naw?" "They just let the men hook themselves."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Why Not Harry?

"They named the baby 'Bob.'"
"For his father?"
"No; for his mother's hair."—Life.

Fixing the Hour

First Man—"When do you expect your wife home?" Second Man—"When I least expect her."

Uncle Eben

North—"I know just what my wife will say." West—"How's that?" North—"She has already said it."

A man never knows what he can do until he tries, then he is often sorry he tried.

The gain which is made at the expense of reputation should rather be set down as a loss.

It's hard to convince some people that honesty is the best politics.

FREE To Housewives
Send us your name and we will send you, FREE and POSTPAID a 10 cent bottle of LIQUID VENEER. Wonderful for your daily dusting. Cleans, dusts and polishes with one sweep of your dust cloth. Renews pianos, furniture, woodwork, automobiles. Makes everything look like new. Makes dusting a pleasure.
Sold by Hardware, furniture, drug, paint, grocery and general stores.
LIQUID VENEER COMPANY Buffalo, N. Y.
LIQUID VENEER

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 43--1924.

USKIDE—
The Wonder Sole for Wear

NO job is too tough for USKIDE!

Tramping, scuffing, grinding all day long—ordinary soles won't stand it.

But USKIDE will. USKIDE—the wonder sole for wear. Wears twice as long as best leather. Holds shoes in shape and protects the uppers.

USKIDE Soles are always comfortable—and absolutely waterproof. Protect against wet, clammy feet—a great health sole. USKIDE protects against slipping, even on dry grass.

Thousands of hard workers and hard walkers everywhere are cutting their shoe bills way down with this marvelous soling material.

Tell your repairman you want your shoes soled with USKIDE. Look for the name on the sole—it's there for your protection.

Buy new shoes soled with USKIDE. You'll get more wear for your money.

United States Rubber Company

And—for a Better Heel to Walk On!

A fit companion for USKIDE is the "U. S." Spring-Step Heel. Made of the new Sprayed Rubber—the purest, toughest and most uniform rubber ever known. Get onto a pair of "U. S." Spring-Step Rubber Heels right away!

Trade US Mark

USKIDE Soles

Five Years—Penniless and $200 in Debt at 44

no uncommon ability, no trade, and physically unable to labor. At 49 business occupies over 1,900 square feet of floor space, employs four men and one woman, $9,000 working capital, small surplus in bank, and credit established. As nearly free as possible, without actual loss. I will gladly tell the other fellow how I did it. No school, no books, and I have nothing to sell you. The 20c (coin) which I ask you to inclose to help pay for this advertisement, stenographer's time, etc., will be your only expense, and in return I'll tell you every important move I made, how you can do still better, for I am a cripple.
C. J. LAKE, LAKE'S PLACE, FARMINGTON, MAINE

Your Health is Your Best Asset

Montgomery, Ala.—"At different times when rundown in health or when I was suffering with headache and pain in my side, I was always greatly benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. I advise ailing women to try the 'Favorite Prescription', and, if the blood or stomach is out of order, take the 'Golden Medical Discovery'."—Mrs. W. H. Carr, 432 McDonald St. All druggists. Tablets or liquid.

New Words

According to compilers of a standard dictionary, the general use of the radio since its invention has added 5,000 new words and terms to the English language. Flapperdom has added several hundred more, and the poor compilers were just getting over the shock of having to define 7,000 words and terms which our participation in the unpleasantness in the late world mixup brought to the average vocabulary. Now what to do? We have been informed previously that women talk too much anyway—that "words is what they ain't got nothin' else for"—in the language of a popular writer of negro tales; yet it is proved by this company that less than 25 per cent of the new words discussed have been invented or coined by womenfolk, men having done the dastardly deed!—Kansas City Times.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Broadcast Beetle's Song

The broadcasting of a beetle's love-song to his mate was the feature of a recent radio program sent out from the London station of the British Broadcasting company. The occasion was a natural history lecture, in which the life cycle and habits of the beetle were discussed. At the appropriate moment the beetle, which had a special microphone to himself, was permitted to give his call. Many radio fans complimented the beetle on his performance.

For 78 Years

Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh has been a household remedy. Proved its merits without advertising. 3 sizes; all stores.—Adv.

He Needed Them

Friend—What did you do with that bunch of shingles you had left after shingling your house, Brown?

Brown—Sold it to the man next door, father of two pair of twins.—Judge.

To Have a Clear, Sweet Skin

Touch pimples, redness, roughness or itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, then bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Rinse, dry gently and put on a little Cuticura Talcum to give a fascinating fragrance on skin. Everywhere 25c each.—Advertisement.

Concrete House

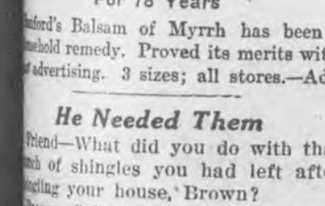
A concrete house, simple and inexpensive, and declared to be capable of withstanding earthquake shocks has been designed by Simon Lake, the submarine boat inventor.

Why buy many bottles of other vermifuge when one bottle of Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" will work without fail? Adv.

If a woman loves a man she never holds him up to ridicule.

Is your version of the story the other fellow makes a poor showing.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION



6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

MORE EYES Dr. Salter's Eye Lotion

Heals and cures sore and inflamed eyes in 24 to 48 hours. Helps the weak eyed, cures without pain. Any druggist or dealer for SALTER'S. Only Uniform Dispensary, P. O. Box 151, Atlanta, Ga.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling. Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists. Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

CORNS Removes Corns, Calluses, stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

MARY SUCCEEDS ON MAIN STREET

By LAURA MILLER

© by Laura Miller

THE YOUNG OLD WOMAN

"Old Man Coolidge and Old Woman Coolidge" would be the respectful way in which a delegation of Indians would describe the first two citizens of our land. Long since they discovered that honor and responsibility and wisdom fit mighty well on heads that have learned by experience how to make a home, rear a family, get along with the neighbors, and otherwise make a success of life.

But the eighty-three-year-old editor of Farm and Ranch is a solitary, dramatic figure in our civilization, where we love to put a cap on "grandma" and set her in the chimney corner, a pensioner on our bounty, without interests or hopes—sometimes without even friends. Mrs. S. E. Buchanan of Dallas might have been just such a grandma, only she chose not to. At fifty, she had reared a large family of her own children and started many grandchildren off in the world. But she had no job that was especially her own. So she made one. She became "Aunt Sally," who for thirty-three years has been writing, out of her overflowing experience, on the problems of living.

The friends and followers of "Aunt Sally's" column have come to consider themselves members of an informal league; they number now probably 50,000. They offer her "handshakes," as she calls her friendly letters, "from Maine to Mexico, even Alaska; occasionally there is a foreign visitor from Brazil, Central America or Japan.

"Business is a new and sometimes difficult life for a girl to find herself in," this adviser of many girls has found. "It's best to begin at home where the influences of home and former associations can assist her."

She sent me the facts for this story with permission to "dress 'em up," and then wrote me post-haste, "Now that it's entirely out of my reach, I'm stricken with stage fright. I'm shocked at having said so much about myself. I never did it before. Do please suppress the ego in the story!"

Anybody would feel like confiding in and depending on "Aunt Sally." She's wholesome, and quite unspoiled by her power. Her wildest recreation is an occasional piece of fancywork. She's so comfortably old-fashioned that she'd rather answer from 500 to 600 letters a month by hand than have them go through the artificiality of a stenographer's assistance.

A COAL MINING CAREER

Did you ever think of coal-mining your way to wealth and happiness? I did once. I was taken whizzing into a long West Virginia mine "head" on an electric car. I saw little sticks of dynamite loosen a whole wall of black diamonds, watched a great undercutting saw rip the wall loose at the bottom and send it tumbling down almost into the shovel of the miner. Somehow it was the power thus released with so little effort, not the fearsomeness of being a mile under ground, that I carried away with me.

But our state laws have definite ideas against women as mine workers. So the only chance is to make good as an owner. And Lelia B. Gunn of Middlesboro, Ky., has done just that. Not because she wanted a spectacular career. Far from it. It is because her husband needed help to acquire full ownership of a good mine that Mrs. Gunn is now president of the Lower Lignite Mining company. He had married without capital or expectation of the inheritance that so often determines ownership of the great underground wealth. So the two of them buckled down to a long systematic struggle that lasted more than twelve years.

Meanwhile there were children. The three of them have all graduated at high school, each with the highest standing in the class, thus setting a record for the Gunn family.

And there's the home itself. Mrs. Gunn planned the inside of the residence, and won a newspaper prize for its arrangement.

Then there's the world about them. Physically, it's wonderful. "We sit on our porch," reports Mrs. Gunn, "and look out on a million-dollar sunset every evening. We gaze at mountain scenery such as city people travel hundreds of miles to see. We have one of the purest water supplies that can be had anywhere."

But mentally and emotionally? Well, I asked Mrs. Gunn about that. "I've won a college education for my children," she answered first. Then she went on, "I do not come in contact with an unassimilated foreign population, and my children's friends are pure-bred Americans. I've many desirable friends. I have a good deal of influence over the Middlesboro schools. I'm a member of the Democratic state committee. And I've been asked to do a good deal of newspaper writing on home economics and politics. Besides, the human animal has been used to out-door life and to family life through hundreds of generations. City life is antagonistic to the entire history of the race."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 26

THE STILLING OF THE STORM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 4:35-41.

GOLDEN TEXT—What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?—Mark 4:41.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Story of a Great Storm.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Stills the Tempest.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Power of Jesus Over Nature.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Meet the Storms of Life.

Jesus was a great Teacher, as was shown in the parable of last lesson, but Mark's aim was to show Him as the Divine Servant doing mighty deeds. Hence after the parables are presented deeds which show Him to be the master of the forces of nature, demons, diseases and death. His mastery of the forces of nature is the particular deed shown in this lesson.

I. Jesus and the Disciples Crossing the Sea (vv. 35, 36)

Weary with the teaching of the day, He proposes that they take a ship to the other side of the sea, the aim doubtless being to escape the crush of the multitude. They did not delay, for "they took Him even as He was in the ship."

II. Overtaken by a Storm (v. 37).

Storms were frequent on Galilee, but this was an unusual storm. It was a furious tempest, so great that the waves beat into the ship so that it was full. Even though Jesus was in the boat with the disciples they were overtaken by a storm. To follow Christ does not necessarily mean smooth sailing or cloudless skies. Indeed, it rather implies that we will have to encounter storms. However, those who have Christ on their boat cannot sink.

III. Jesus Himself in the Storm-Tossed Boat (v. 38).

The day had been a very strenuous one and He was weary. In the midst of the turbulent elements He was resting in sleep. He who made the sea could well lie down and sleep though the storm did violently rage. His being asleep did not indicate that He was indifferent to the need of His disciples.

IV. The Terrified Disciples (v. 38).

In their minds nothing but disaster and death awaited them. There was absolutely no danger for no boat can go down regardless of the violence of the storm which has Christ on board. The disciples were not only terrified but they chided Him for sleeping while they were in such great danger. It was all right for them to come to Him for help but it was presumptuous on their part to make a demand upon Him.

V. Christ's Rebuke (vv. 39, 40).

He arose and rebuked the wind. Unless we see Him as the God-Man we will be perplexed, for we see a human being sleeping because of exhaustion and then we hear the divine voice of the Creator and Ruler of the universe. He who was asleep has power to rebuke and calm the raging elements.

1. The Wind (v. 39). This showed that He had power over the elements of nature for at His command the wind ceased and there was a great calm.

2. The Disciples for Their Lack of Faith (v. 40). They were looking upon their circumstances instead of upon their Lord. For all the disciples had seen and heard they should have been without fear in the company of Jesus. Let us learn to trust Him for He has power over all things.

VI. The Effect Upon the Disciples (v. 4).

They were filled with great fear. A little while ago they were afraid in the face of a storm. Now they are afraid in the presence of the Lord. Frequently marvelous deliverances by the Lord so affect God's children that they are more alarmed over the presence of a divine being than they are by the threatening perils. Let us see that standing in our midst though unseen today is our Lord and that despite the raging of the storms we can hear His voice of peace.

Christianity

Christianity is a religion of the Spirit. And, whatever else a church may or may not have, possession of the Spirit of God is that which makes it Christian. Elaborate formalism, beautiful architecture, ornate discourses may be vehicles for the expression of the Spirit, but they must be understood to be secondary and contributory only. When so understood they are legitimate and praiseworthy.—Charles B. Tupper.

Our Blessings

We fail to get much benefit from many blessings because we do not try to impart them to others.—Herald and Presbyter.

The Wages of Sin

The worst of the sin is that they are always paid in part by the innocent.—Lucas Malet.

Riches of Friendship

A dollar is soon spent, but the riches of friendship are inexhaustible.

ROAD BUILDING

OUTLINE PRINCIPLES OF HIGHWAY SAFETY

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture believes that consideration of highway safety is of the greatest importance in view of the great increase in highway traffic and highway accidents. A careful study of existing conditions has led to the following statement of basic principles:

1. The development of safe roads by elimination of all known dangers in so far as such elimination is possible within physical and economic limitations.

2. Warning of uneliminated dangers by means of easily recognized signs and other devices of standardized form, uniformly placed with respect to the danger.

3. The development of safe vehicles by perfection of running parts and adoption of safety devices.

4. Diligence and care in the licensing of drivers of motor vehicles to eliminate the incompetent, careless, and irresponsible driver.

5. The development of simple, uniform, and effectual traffic regulations and the education of the whole public to a complete acquaintance with them.

6. The rigid enforcement of traffic regulations.

There is little doubt that a solution of the problem worked out on the basis of these principles would have the effect of reducing the dangers of the open road to a minimum. The bureau especially urges the necessity of uniformity of action by the various states in working out the means of applying these principles. It believes that the work of a committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials on the problem will be an important factor to this end.

Engineers of the bureau state that the problem can best be solved by the selection of the best methods and practices from the various states rather than the working out of new methods and practices.

Paved Highways Help to Solve Freight Problem

The motor-truck has largely solved one of the greatest problems of freight handling—the short haul. This has added greatly to the expense of freight handling by the railroads in the past, and has been an inconvenience to the railroads as well as a source of extra costs in transportation.

With the development of even-surfaced paved roads the motor-truck has come to the aid of the shipper and the railroads. The shipper may move his goods with less delay and at smaller cost; and the roads are saved the trouble of handling short haul freight, which often results in a loss to them.

Realization of the importance of the motor-truck in this role has caused many transportation authorities, together with leaders in the automotive industry, to consider seriously the building of an extensive system of heavy-duty, paved highways, the primary purpose of which will be to accommodate motor-truck freight service, although these highways would serve other vehicular traffic.

Already this is being put into effect in some places. Reinforced concrete pavements of extra strength are being built on streets and highways that accommodate heavy freight traffic. One of the most notable of this kind of pavements is the concrete highway, recently completed between Los Angeles and its harbor at San Pedro. An unusually large amount of freight is carried by motor-truck over this harbor truck boulevard, as it is called, to the docks at San Pedro, where it is loaded on ships for distant ports.

Other parts of the country have followed this policy to a wavering degree to increase freight handling efficiency by giving heavy-duty highways and streets.

Good Property Builders

It is asserted that farm lands along cross-state highways in Missouri already have been showing an increase in values. There is nothing unusual in that condition. Property along a well-paved road practically always commands a premium over that less fortunately located, just as property along a leading street or boulevard of the city has a value above the average. Good roads and good streets are property builders, says the Kansas City Times. It has been the general result that the building of paved roads increases business in towns along the routes, gives the farmer ready access to market, links him up with the outside world and makes his property more desirable.

Better Crop by Plowing

Where one has horse power and time he usually can expect a better crop of either corn or potatoes by plowing in early fall and again in early spring. There is usually so much work to do in the spring that the more common practice is to plow but once, preferably in the fall, then disk thoroughly in the spring. For best results, spring plowing should be well disked before planting to pack the furrow slice down against the subsoil

How To Save Time In The Kitchen

THERE'S no reason why you should spend needless time and energy in the kitchen fretting with the cooking when you can prepare so easily the many delicious dishes with self-rising flour. It affords a new way to make tasteful and appetizing the old familiar foods every one loves so well. Biscuits, hot muffins, cakes and dainty pastries, all rise better and have a more tempting flavor when made with self-rising flour.

"I consider self-rising flour one of my oldest friends," writes a noted Southern cook. "I would not be without it. . . . When I'm in hurry I know that with a hot oven and plenty of self-rising flour everything will be all right."

As in plain flour, self-rising comes in a number of different grades. Your grocer will sell you exactly the same grade of self-rising that you have been using in plain flour. See that the Blue Shield of the Soft Wheat Millers' Association is on every bag you buy. It means that you are getting guaranteed flour. Accept no other.

FOLLOW THESE FIVE RULES For Making Perfect Biscuits with Self-Rising Flour. (1) See that your oven is hot; (2) Always use sweet milk or cold water; (3) Never add baking powder, soda or salt; (4) Use good shortening—lard, vegetable fat or butter; (5) Make soft dough—bake quickly. SOFT WHEAT MILLERS' ASS'N, Inc.

Use SELF-RISING FLOUR

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Every bag of self-rising flour bearing this Blue Shield of purity is fully guaranteed by the Soft Wheat Millers' Association, Inc. The contents are absolutely pure and wholesome and comply with all Pure Food Laws. If you are not satisfied with your baking results, the Association will cheerfully refund your money.

It complies with all Pure Food Laws

HEALTHFUL DEPENDABLE ECONOMICAL

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

It's Healthful—Dependable—Economical

1071-12 © 1924 SWMA

Much of the knowledge is acquired by doing things one doesn't know how to do.

Purity in persons and in morals is true godliness.—Hosea Ballou.

An ideal mother is one who knows which one to spank when all appear equally guilty.

Financial embarrassment embarrasses some people very little.

Stifel's Indigo Cloth

Standard for over 75 years

ASK YOUR DEALER

if you want long wear and good looks in your Overalls, Shirts, One-Piece Garments and Women's Dresses, look for the Stifel Boot Shaped Trade Mark stamped on the back of the cloth. Insist on work clothes made of Stifel's Indigo Cloth.

J. L. STIFEL & SONS

Indigo Dyers and Printers

Wheeling, W. Va.

ALLEN'S PRINCESS RANGES

COPPER IRON BEARING

FOR 25 years Allen Ranges have given dependable service and proved their economy in operation.

To-day they are vastly refined in finish, but the real reason why they sell more quickly is the reputation established by old Allen Ranges.

Write for our illustrated catalog and name of dealer near you.

ALLEN MANUFACTURING COMPANY

NASHVILLE • TENNESSEE

JUST A FEW PRICES

To Remind You that we save you money every day.

$5.00 all-wool Sweaters for - - - - - - $3.98

$7.00 all-wool Sweaters for - - - - - - $5.00

Others from $1.00 to $3.00

The very best heavy fleeced Outing, the yd. 18c

Just received a new lot of Ladies' Coats and Dresses, the best values we have had yet.

All wool Dress, beautifully trimmed for only $6.50

Coats from $5 to $14, worth one third more.

Tri-Hex Clothing can't be beat both for Men and Boys. and don't forget we save you $5.00 or more on each suit.

We are selling the famous Red Goose School Shoes at $3 and they mean just one pair instead of 2 or 3 pairs of other kinds.

Cotton Checks, the yard 10c

Oil color Quilt Calico, yard 10c

We still have a few hundred yds pretty dress Gingham, 10c

FARMERS EXCHANGE

The Store For Economical People. - - - Columbiana, Alabama

Piano For Sale—Kramich and Bach Piano, in good condition, for sale. Price reasonable. Mrs. F. G. Koenig, Columbiana, Ala. 1tpd

J. W. LANGLEY Will Be At Vincent, Friday, Nov Wilsonville. Thurs. N

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Al
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abst. ac of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstrac

PROFIT
ON A SAFE BASIS

The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%

Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a sav account with us is sure and y investment is secure. There m be schemes that promise far m profit on large sums than our terest rate pays, and there m be some one who might pay more on the small amounts can put by—but not with same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-Preside
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

E. A. TURNER J. B. TU

Turner & Turn

REAL ESTATE and Trading Co.

Columbiana, Alabama

Farm Lands a Specialty.

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. C. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo Alabama.

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

Avoid vexation and trouble by getting a range made by a recognized expert. Cole's Down Draft Ranges work perfectly—always.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

The Charm of Youth

Care of the skin is one of the first aids in preserving the charm of youth.

Don't fail to protect your skin against the fall winds by using our Special Preparation of Rosewater and Glycerine, Hinds Honey and Almond Cream.

Armond's Cold Cream. A long list of Others to choose from.

Davis Drug Company
Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.
"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35,000.00

COLUMBIANA. ALABAMA.

N. F DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

BOLIN

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mooney, of Birmingham, are visiting Mr. Mooney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mooney. Mr. Mooney recently had a serious operation, but we are sorry to say he is improving very slowly.

Robert Taylor who has been visiting in Cincinnati, Ohio, returned to his home here Tuesday.

Charlie Templin returned home Monday after a business trip to Chattanooga.

H. T. Taylor made a business trip to Sylacauga Saturday.

Among our visitors this week were Clifford Cross and family, of Birmingham.

Mrs. J. B. Harkins is visiting relatives in Alabama City this week.

Geo. T. McElderry of Talladega, was in our midst this week.

Walter Hope and family moved to Fayetteville Saturdey.

Jim Taylor of Birmingham is visiting relatives here this week.

Bill Hughes of Fourmile was in our community Saturday.

J. C. Mooney, of Wilsonville, spent Saturday night here with his brother, T. J. Mooney.

W. L. Morris and C. T. Hughes attended the Masonic Lodge at Wilsonville Saturday night.

Box Supper at Calcis

'Tis a Box Supper at Calcis,
I must relate,
And you are invited,
Upon this date.
So come on all ye boys,
Bring Money, and a heart full of joy,
On the 25th of October,
On Saturday night of this week,
Ye boys may buy boxes
And then ye may eat.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that John Potts will apply to the Pardoning Board and the Governor of Alabama, for a pardon or parole. Said Potts was convicted in the County Court of Shelby County, July 1924 and sentenced to 14 months hard labor for petit larceny.

10 23 2t J. W. Potts.

J. F. AVERYT
UNDERTAKER
Columbiana, Alabama.
Full line of Undertaker's Supplies on hand at all times at my Residence.
REASONABLE RATES FOR HEARSE

E. W. CHAPMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

KINGDOM

Mrs. Walter Bennett of East Lake, returned home Sunday.

Misses Frances and Mary King and Miss Mavis DeLoach of Childersburg, were the guests of Miss Bernice Lovett a short while Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blackerby and son, O. C. and Mr. and Mrs. Coral Blackerby of Bessemer, spent Sunday with the family of W. B. Crumpton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Law of Wilsonville were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Naish Sunday.

J. M. Hughes spent the week-end with relatives in Sycamore.

Preaching services were well attended Sunday morning and evening.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Talmage Blackerby on October 18, a daughter, at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. B. Crumpton.

Miss Ellie DeLoach who is teaching in Bethel community, spent the week end with her sister, Miss Ruby, at the home of J. T. Lovett.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hughes of Straven, passed through our community Sunday.

Our B. Y. P. U. is improving nicely and getting new members every Sunday night.

—RADIO AGENCY—

We are distributing agents for The Radiola Line of Radio Equipment, manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America.

Radiolas represent the latest and most practical achievement in radio equipment.

We can take your order, deliver and install your set and give you service.

Come in and let us tell you about Radiolas and quote you prices. You will be surprised at the values we can offer you.

Jerome Fowler,
Luther Fowler,
Columbiana, Alabama

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

The Succes Cake

Cole's Sanitary Draft Range w

COLE HOT BLAST FUEL SAVI SYSTEM

of Combustion insures even baking on all Everything comes out of the oven perfectly No disappointments for the housewife. husband is interested because of its one-th one-half fuel saving results. Cole's Hot Blast bustion burns all of the combustible fuel (wasting nothing.) With fuel and food present high price these are things that husband and wife will find of interest in

Cole's Down Draft Range

This range is furnished in blue or gray ena plain black finish. Come in and let us tell its many valuable features and show beautiful and sanitary construction.

F. W. Rogan, Montevallo, Holcombe MercantileCo., Ca

Circuit Clerk

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, OCTOBER 30, 1924 Vol. 81. No. 41

DOGWOOD SCHOOL IS MAKING PROGRESS

The Dogwood school has made great progress since the opening. We have had new windows put in, oiled the floors, bought new win dow shades for the windows and pictures for the rooms.

The girls of the school were very much interested in playing basket ball, but did not have a ball, so they gave a kid party and box supper, which proved a great success They bought a nice basket ball outfit including basket ball and goals. They are just bubbling over with pep.

The school has organized two literary societies, known as the Dogwood and Underwood societies. Their work prorises to be very interesting.

The school has also borrowed a number of books from the Montevallo library, among them are six very interesting and attractive books; My Bookhouse, which was given to the schools of this county.

Suggestions to Voters

If the voter desires to vote a straight ticket, that is, for each and every candidate for one party for whatever office nominated, he shall mark a (x) Cross mark in the circle under the name of the party at the head of the ticket.

When only one candidate is to be elected to any office and the voter desires to vote for a candidate not on his party ticket, he may make a (x) cross before the name of the candidate for whom he desires to vote on the other ticket.

If the voter desires to vote a split ticket, that is, for candidates of different parties, he may make a cross (x) mark in the voting space before the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote on whatever ticket he may be.

The Covered Wagon

To make "The Covered Wagon," 3000 actors spent three months on a location 80 miles from a railroad. They endured floods, blizzards, zero temperature, and sometimes lack of food. A thousand Indians were used, and the live stock included 600 oxen, 1000 horses, and and 500 mules.

Mr. Riddle Visits Old Home

The Progress office was brightened Friday with a brief visit by Belmont T. Riddle, an old friend and former employe who is now foreman in the office of the Shelby County Reporter at Columbiana. Mr. Riddle is a printer to the manner born, and a very valuable employe of the Reporter.—Ashland Progress.

Baptist Church

At a regular conference of our church on October 5th, it was decided to adopt a budget of $1500 a year, $125 per month, for current expenses. It was also decided to take an every member canvass of our church asking every member to subscribe something every two weeks for this budget. The envelope system will be used and a committee will call on you next Sunday afternoon for your cooperation in this financial system.

We ask that the heads of families reduce their personal gifts and make up the reduction by letting their children subscribe something. We want a subscription from every member, if it is not but one cent every two weeks.

Talk to the Lord about your part in this matter and resolve in your heart that you will put the cause of your Lord first. Jesus paid a great debt at Calvary for us so let us show our gratitude to Him by our loyalty.

Rufus W. Stuckey, Pastor.

FAMOUS FORTS SERIES PACKED WITH THRILLS

Do you know—

Where the "Star Spangled Banner" was born?

Where the first gun in the Revolution was fired?

Where the first gun in the Civil War was fired.

Where the story of "The Man Without a Country" originated?

Where the American flag was first unfurled in the face of an enemy?

These are only a few of the questions which will be answered in a new series of articles entitled "Famous Forts of History," by Elmo Scott Watson, which the Reporter starts in this issue.

The new series graphically outlines 360 years of thrilling American history and casts brilliant sidelights on many romantic episodes connected with the stories of these pioneer outposts. Vivid snapshots of all wars, society life within the forts ,events in the lives of historic characters, intrigue and mystery of frontier life—all these enter into this fascinating review.

Be sure you read the first story. It appears in this issue.

NOTICE

Monday in each month is taken up with Probate Court, and the Board of Revenue is sometimes greatly hindered in its work, we will hereafter hold the regular meetings of the board of revenue, the first Tuesday in each month.

As the election will be held the 4th of November, this being the first Tuesday, the board of revenue meeting will be held Wednesday, the 5th of November. All parties interested will please take notice. And thereafter the regular meetings will be holden the first and third Tuesdays in each month.

J. F. McGraw, President
Board of Revenue, Shelby County,

Medical Association Meeting at Calera

The Shelby County Medical Society met in Calera at the office of Dr. C. O. Lawrence with a good attendance. Dr, Chas. T. Acker of Montevallo, read a very in erest ng paper on Medical and Surgical Diathermy that was discussed freely by all members present.

Dr. A. H. Crawford of Columbiana was elected to membership. Dr. J. I. Reid was appointed to fill the unexpired term as secretary, made vacant by the resignation of Dr. A. W. Cowden, who moved to Mobile.

A CORRECTION

Our attention has been called to the fact that his Honor A. P. Long shore made a statement at Westover in one of his speeches, that we were going to vote the Republican ticket at this election.

We are at a loss to know where the judge got his informaation, and we want to say that we have never voted anvthing but a pure Democratic ticket and that during the remainder of our lives we expect to stand for and vote the Democratic ticket. We hope the judge will correct this statement.

Very truly,
Dr. J. C. Embry
Mrs. J. C. Embry,
Miss Carleen Embry
Vincent, Ala.

(Paid political advertisement)

B. Y. P. U. PROGRAM

Sunday October 31

Subject:—The One Foundation.

Value of a Firm Foundation,—Ezra Crumpton.

Christ the Foundation of Enduring Character—Evelyn Chapman.

Saved by a Gospel of Grace,—Aline Spruell.

Christ is More Than a Great Teacher—Barney Isbell.

Partial Ballot to be Voted November 4th.

NAME OF OFFICES TO BE VOTED FOR	Democratic	LaFoliette-Wheeler PARTY	Prohibition	Republican
For United States Senator (Vote for One)	( ) J. Thos. Heflin	( )	( )	( ) Frank H. Lathrop
For Associate Justice of Supreme Court. Vote For Two	( ) Virgil Bouldin	( )	( )	( ) P. E. Alexander
	( ) A. D. Sayre	( )	( )	( ) John B. Isbell
For Associate Judge Court of appeals. (Vote for One)	( ) Henry B. Foster	( )	( )	( ) J. I. Abercrombie
For Commissioner of Game and Fisheries. (Vote for One)	( ) I. T. Quinn	( )	( )	( ) J. B. Sloan
For President Alabama Public Service Commission (Vote for One)	( ) A. G. Patterson	( )	( )	( ) J. I. McKinney
For Presidential Electors. (Vote for Twelve)	( ) Atticus Mullin	( ) W. C. Taylor	( ) Dr. E. C. Anderson	( ) J. A. Bingham
	( ) R. B. Vail	( ) Geo. N. King	( ) Rev. R. M Hunter	( ) Mary Hodges
	( ) L. J. Bugg	( ) W. H. Anderson	( ) Mrs. J. W. Self	( ) Dr. W. T. Henderson
	( ) Harvey M. Blue	( ) M. N. Anderson	( ) D. N. Tally	( ) Frank Barchard
	( ) John Q. Adams	( ) R. A. Statham	( ) W. A. Jones	( ) J. R. Dorsey
	( ) G. C. Bates	( ) N. L. Wilson	( ) J. W. Franklin	( ) J. A. Jackson
	( ) S. J. Nolen	( ) Frank N. Wynne	( ) Miss Elizabeth Jackson	( ) J. C. Kilgore
	( ) Jerome T. Fuller	( ) B. Simpson	( ) Miss Myrtle Hammett	( ) Allison B. Scroggin
	( ) W. E. James	( ) G. Armstrong West	( ) A. H. Wiltshire	( ) J. Frank Slone
	( ) Henry A. Bradshaw	( ) L. B. Baird	( ) D. H. Waters	( ) C. O. McEniry
	( ) S. W. Hawkins	( ) Ernest B. Gaston	( ) Rev. J. L. Mitchell	( ) D. D. Trimble
	( ) W. M. Quinn	( ) Mrs. R. C. Cadden	( ) A. F. Lokey	( ) J. M. Hollman
For Representative in Congress from Fourth Congressional District. (Vote for One)	( ) Lamar Jeffers	( )	( )	( )
For Judge of Eighteenth Judicial Circuit. (Vote for One)	( ) E. S. Lyman	( )	( )	( ) Chas. W. McCay
For County Treasurer of Shelby County (Vote for One)	( ) Thomas Minor	( )	( )	( ) W. M. Chism
For Member of Board of Revenue, First District. (Vote for One)	( ) M. H. B. Jones	( )	( )	( ) J. C. Reinhardt
For Member of Board of Revenue, Third District. (Vote for One)	( ) Thomas R. Nash	( )	( )	( ) J. A. Bird
For Member of Board of Education, Six Year Term (Vote for One)	( ) . G. Hendrick	( )	( )	( ) J. H. Stone
For Member of Board of Education for Balance of 6 Year Term.	( ) J. W. Arthur	( )	( )	( ) Pleasant Shaw, Sr.

Mostevallo to Observe Armistice Day

Armistice Day, November 11th will be observed by the American Legion Post of Montevallo with appropriate exercises. The exercise will be held on the college campus beginning at 11 o'clock.

All service men are urgently requested to attend and to call at post headquarters and register Everybody is invited to come and have part in observing Armistice Day.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

To be given at the Public School by Parent-Teacher Association on Hallowe'en Night, Friday, Octber 31, at 7:30. Come out, an enjoyable occasion is in store for all—young and old. Get your fortune told by an expert Mind Reader.

Let every one come dressed in some kind of old regalia in hallow een colors or otherwise and join in the grand march.

The program follows:

Master of ceremonies—J. B. King.

Grand March—Music by Miss Tony Christian led by Mrs. John Haynes and Judge Riddle.

Music and Reading by the Publis School children.

Recitation—Mrs. P. O. Luck.

Quartette—"Little Brown Jug"—Mrs. Polk, Mr. Wash Carter, Mrs J. B. King and Mr. W. F. Davis.

Ghost Dance—Public School children.

Recitation—"Boys Standing on the Burning Deck—Luther Fowler.

Piano Solo—Mrs. W. L. Longshore.

Vocal Duet—Mrs. Wallace and Mr. Lillie.

Violin—A. D.Gordon.

Song—Jimmie Polk, Mr. Arnett, Elizabeth Horsley and Mr. Montgomery.

Piano—Ruth Luck

Musical Reading—Mamie Middleton and Elenor Stuckey.

Reading—"The Goblins Will Get You"—Ruth Isbell.

News Items—Mrs. Ellis.

Piano Solo—Beth Wallace

Duet

Declamation—P. O. Luck.

Grand Chorus—High School and Public School Faculties.

All proceeds go to Columbiana Public School. Committee.

Vocational Ag Boys Have State Fair Exhibit

The vocational agriculture class of the high school has on display at the state fair in Montgomery this week, an exhibit of shop work which is a part of their regular course in vocational agriculture.

Each implement or part of the collection represnts the individual effort of one of the boys in the making of which he used the instruction that he had received in class and in the shop. Their work will compare very favorably with that of experienced blacksmiths and gives promise that when the boys become farmers on their own account they will be equipped to do their own repair work and to make a good many necessary implements as well.

The boys who contributed to the exhibit are: Alton West, 1 clevis; Britt Ingram, 1 clevis made and 1 sweep sharpened and set; Frank Ellis, 1 fire poker; Osborne Horton, 1 fire poker; Felton Baker, 1 chain Albert Kirkland, 1 chain; Luther Pate, 1 chain; Houston Gardner, 1 shovel plow sharpened and set; Melvin Archer, 1 grafting knife, made.

Sunday Slhool Organized at Dargin

A Sunday school has been organized at the Dargin Baptist church. Every body is invited to come Sunday morning; service begins at 10 o'clock.

J. O. Shandler, Supt.
Iva Lee, Secretary.

NOTICE

There will be a box supper at Shelby Springs punblic school Saturday night, Nov. 1. Proceeds will be used to repair the building. Everybody come and bring plenty of money.

To Farmers Who Have Cotton to Gin

Beginning first week in November the Vincent gin will run only the last three days of each week, Thursday, Friday, Saturday.

Vincent Gin Co.

FARMERS ORGANIZE DAIRY ASSOCIATION

Fourmile, Oct. 27.—The regular lessons of the dairy school at Fourmile have been completed but the farmers of this community have become so interested in the work that they continue to meet and discuss plans for getting better started in dairying. On Friday night with a good attendance present they formed themselves into the Shelby County Dairy Association. Officers were elected and the requirements for membership fixed so that any farmer who is selling dairy products or who intends to begin soon may join.

It is the purpose too of those promoting the organization to make aarrangements for transporting and selling their dairy products cooperatively and for buying dairy stock and feed in the same way. It is also the plan to get all members of the association to adopt the same breed of dairy cattle and the same standards of breeding so as to be able some day in the future to attract buyers of pure bred registered live stock into their territory.

Officers and members of the Shelby County Dairy Association are as follows: S. R. Nalls, president; B. H. Green, vice-president; J. P. Montgomery, secretary; R. I. Dyer, assistant secretary; Members T. J. Stone, G. R. Stone, W. J. Cooper, P. O. Cooper, L. P. Mooney, M. L. Powell, J. A. Cates, J. A. Sims, G. P. Archer, C. C. Cross, D. H. Richards, J. E. Cherry, J. W. Armstrong, and Mr. Woods.

Capt. Jones Comes To Calera

Capt. Marion P. Jones will leave shortly for Calera, where he will be associated with an automobile agency. Calera is the old home of his wife, and he goes back there to enter business.

Capt. Jones organized the "Bibb Greys," and was elected Captain of this organization and has been in command since. His removal from Bibb county will cause a vacancy in the commanding officer of this organization.

We regret to see this couple take up their residence elsewhere. He is an energetic young man, and a fine salesman.—Centerville Press.

Rev and Mrs. Wm. Neil of Ethelxille on their way to attend the conference at Talladega, stopped to spend Monday night with Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Robets.

HARPERSVILLE

Wade Posey was over from Birmingham Sunday.

Miss Stella Long spent the week end with her sister in Birmingham.

Mr. Farmer and son are visiting relatives in Georgia.

Nine hundred and one bales of cotton had been ginned here up to Saturday night.

Miss Margaret Pollard spent the week end with her parents at Mignon.

"Jemmie Slemp" says that when he goes to buy a piece of meat the merchant tells him that it has gone up, and when he goes to sell a bale of cotton the same merchant tells him that cotton is off a few points and now he wants some one to tell him when is the right time to buy and sell.

If you want your cow deborned call up Harvey Baker. Phone 1050. West Side, Harpersville.

Shucks are tight on the corn and old people say this is a sign of a cold winter.

Mrs. T. H. Davis and children spent the week end with Mrs. Davis' mother at Siluria.

A. B. Looney of the Kingdom, spent Saturday night with Harpersville friends.

Miss Myrtle Atkinson of Bessemer, spent the week end with her mother's family.

To Farmers Who Have Cotton to Gin

Beginning first week in November the Wilsonville gin will run only the first three days of each week, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. The Harpersville gin will run only the last three days of each week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

W. T. Taylor, Jr.

TO CELEBRATE 100TH BIRTHDAY

WALKER COUNTIANS LOOKING FORWARD TO CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF FIRST COUNTY IN STATE

Jasper.—All Walker County is looking forward to November 14, when the one hundredth anniversary of the county will be celebrated.

The county was created by an act of the Legislature December 26, 1823, being the first one created after the admission of Alabama into the Union. It was named after John W. Walker, a Virginian, who settled at Huntsville, and was Alabama's first United States Senator.

A pageant depicting pioneer conditions in Western Alabama will be one event of the celebration. It will be held in the Public Square on a specially constructed stage. The figures of the pageant will be clothed in the homespun of the pioneers, who cut their way through trackless forests and made fertile fields of the woodland.

Other figures will present the county's part in the Civil War and the World War.

As the richest county in the State in the production of coal, the early development of that industry will be shown.

Merchants of Jasper have agreed to allow relics of all kinds occupy space in their show windows.

Markers will be placed at the site of the original seat of justice of the county. The large stone within the present limits of the town of Jasper on which was held the first session of the grand jury will be appropriately carved. Markers will be placed at the site of the first house in the town, the first school house and the first business place.

Every town and community in Walker County is being asked to take part in the pageant and celebration. Former residents of the county are invited back for the occasion, which is also planned as a home-coming.

Stephen Allsop, director of the T. C. I. chorus of Birmingham, is training a chorus of 150 voices recruited from over the county for a part in the festival program.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

The Chalybeat District School will run seven months this term instead of five, as heretofore, because of co-operation of nine of the patrons. A common plot of ground was donated at the first of the year and proceeds of the cotton raised on this plot by the common labor of the men will go to lengthen the school term. An acre of cotton each has also been donated by the nine, who are R. L. Clark and J. L. Anderson, trustees; B. J. Mahela, J. W. Cole, L. S. Thrasher, Ray Morris, Hubbard Morris, T. R. Smith and Henry Bobo.

Hearing of the petition of citizens of Greenville, Ala., seeking to require the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company to have its through, fast passenger trains take on and let off passengers at Greenville, has been postponed from October 28, to October 31, according to announcement by the Alabama Public Service Commission. The hearing will take place in Greenville.

A total of $898,325.13 has been spent for education in Bessemer in the past three years, according to a statement made by Dr. L. L. Vann.

Theo Lacy, former Chief Clerk of the State Convict Department, who is serving 16 years for packing more than $100,000 of State funds into a pine box and disappearing from Montgomery, and scores of other convicts will be released from prison on shorter service than that charged to them by the Convict Department if the Supreme Court sustains a decision of Judge Leon McCord handed down in the Montgomery Circuit Court.

James Mallory, of Anniston, who graduated from Howard College last year, and two of his classmates, James Jarrell, of Lineville, and Erskine M. Braswell, of Demopolis, are en route to New York in a worn "Tin Lizzie." From the metropolis they expect to cross the Atlantic for a tour of England, France, Belgium and other countries.

Agnes Jewel Hardeman, nine, was suffocated to death, while playing in a pile of cotton on the front porch of her home at Gadsden. The child had burrowed deep in the cotton, which caved in. Her mother, returning from the cotton fields, found the girl buried head foremost in the cotton, her life smothered out.

Alabama City collected police court fines totaling $7,015.97 during the fiscal year ending October 1, according to the report of the special auditor.

W. L. Summers, former clerk at the Florence post office, was convicted in the Federal Court on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he misappropriated Government funds.

Sponsored by the business men of Scottsboro, a cotton platform has been erected on the west side of the Public Square. This platform is for the use of the cotton growers free of charge.

A loss of approximately $12,000 was entailed when a gin and warehouse belonging to R. N. Allen was destroyed at Greenhill, Lauderdale County.

The State Department of Archives and History is co-operating with citizens of Leighton, Colbert County, in plans for tableaux to be presented on the occasion of the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the town. The date of the celebration has been fixed for November 11. The first railroad west of the Alleghenians was built in Colbert County, according to information from the Department of Archives and History. Like a number of other early railroads, it was a horse-drawn affair. As part of the anniversary celebration citizens of Leighton plan to present an exhibit reproducing the first method of rail locomotion to be used in the county.

The Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company won an unexpected verdict in Judge Roger Snyder's court, in Birmingham. The company was defendant in a suit filed by W. S. Allen to recover alleged commissions. After hearing the evidence for several hours and after two hours' deliberation, the jury returned a verdict as follows: "We find for the defendant and assess the damages at $100." Under this verdict, Allen, the claimant, would have had to pay the Sloss-Sheffield Company $100, so the case was immediately declared a mistrial by Judge Snyder. Afterward, one of the jurors remarked that the jury had made a "slight mistake."

In the 105 indictments out of 190 charging violations of the prohibition law by the recent grand jury which have been served, a number are women. A total of 18 indictments were returned against Mrs. Belle Metcalfe and Mrs. Willie Powell, operators of a Bay Side cabaret, nine each, charging them with violations of the State dry laws. Beatrice Samuels, another woman served at her home with five indictments for violating the prohibition law when arrested was sitting on a gallon jug of whisky in a box. The indictments range from the possession of a hip pocket half-pint to the manufacture and possession of illicit stills for making the liquors.

A party of prominent health officials spent two days in Alabama last week inspecting the public health work of the State. The party comprised Professor Emil Brumpt, Professor of Parasitology of the University of Paris; Professor Thovald Madsden, president of a committee of the League of Nations and director of the State Serum Institute at Copenhagen, Denmark; Dr. George Vincent, president of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation, and Colonel F. F. Russell, of the International Health Board.

The Tennessee Valley Laboratory is soon to start an experiment which is calculated to speed up the service of the bureau by some 12 to 14 hours, it is announced by Dr. A. J. Perolio, director. Mr. Perolio states that permission has been given by Dr. L. C. Havens, State Director, to put into operation at one or more points, substations of the Alabany-Decatur Laboratory.

Mrs. Carol Long, prominent club woman, has been appointed by Peter Brannon, of Montgomery, chairman to arrange for a celebration in Selma, in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the coming of LaFayette to Alabama. Mrs. Long is already planning for the celebration, which will be held in Selma from the 1st to the 5th of April.

An active campaign for beautification of highways through planting of trees, shrubs and flowers is being carried on by the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs. It is recalled that California's beautiful highways were made so largely through the efforts of the women of the State, and it is hoped to accomplish a similar result in Alabama.

A murder charge has been placed against Riley Cheatam, negro, following the drowning of four negroes in the Tennessee River. Cheatam and another negro, George King, had an altercation in a small boat in which they and six other negroes were riding. The boat overturned and four of the negroes drowned.

Permitting residents of Haleyville to amend their petition asking that the Northern Alabama Railway Company be required to provide them adequate freight and passenger depot facilities, the Public Service Commission set November 3 for taking further testimony in the case. The hearing will be held in Montgomery.

R. W. Barker, graduate of the Mississippi A. and M. College, has arrived in Gadsden to take charge of the new dairy being built by Hugh Agricola. The plant is to be one of the finest in the South. The equipment will cost in the neighborhood of forty-five thousand dollars. All machinery will be electrically driven.

Chaplain Oscar DeWolff Randolph, of the One Hundredth and Sixty-Seventh Infantry, Alabama National Guard, formerly captain (chaplain), has been promoted to major (chaplain), effective July 1, 1925.

At a meeting of the poultry raisers of Walker County the following officers were elected: E. E. Black, Jasper, president; W. B. Christopher, Cordova, general supervisor, and V. H. Tubbs, treasurer.

The new jail at Centre, for Cherokee County, will soon be completed. This building is of brick and re-inforced concrete, and is said to be modern to the last detail.

It is reported that 125 members of the Illinois Manufacturers Association will visit Muscle Shoals November 1s

LATEST ENSEMBLE COSTUME; TRIM AND SERVICEABLE

ACCORDING to eye-witnesses of the mode in all fashion centers the ensemble costume is the most important new feature in modes for fall and winter. It entered the company of formal suits and costumes in Paris and New York almost simultaneously and in no time became the dominant style note among them. It is developed as a one-piece frock with long coat to match or as skirt and overblouse, with long coat, and the coats with these suits are expected to do extra and separate service.

Fur fabrics prove themselves especially well adapted to dignified ensemble suits, with caracul and broadtail, in black and dark brown, the favorites. They provide the coat, which is generally collared with genuine fur, and make bands for adorning the one-piece dress, which is usually of crepe de chine, georgette or corded silk. Coats of these fur fabrics are very rich and just as durable and are interlined to make them warm. They may be worn with anything.

Suede de laine, fawn skin, suede velours and other new wool materials give variety to the ensemble suit and while black and dark brown are very handsome in them, other colors look just as well. They are shown in oxford and mole gray, green and bronze tones.

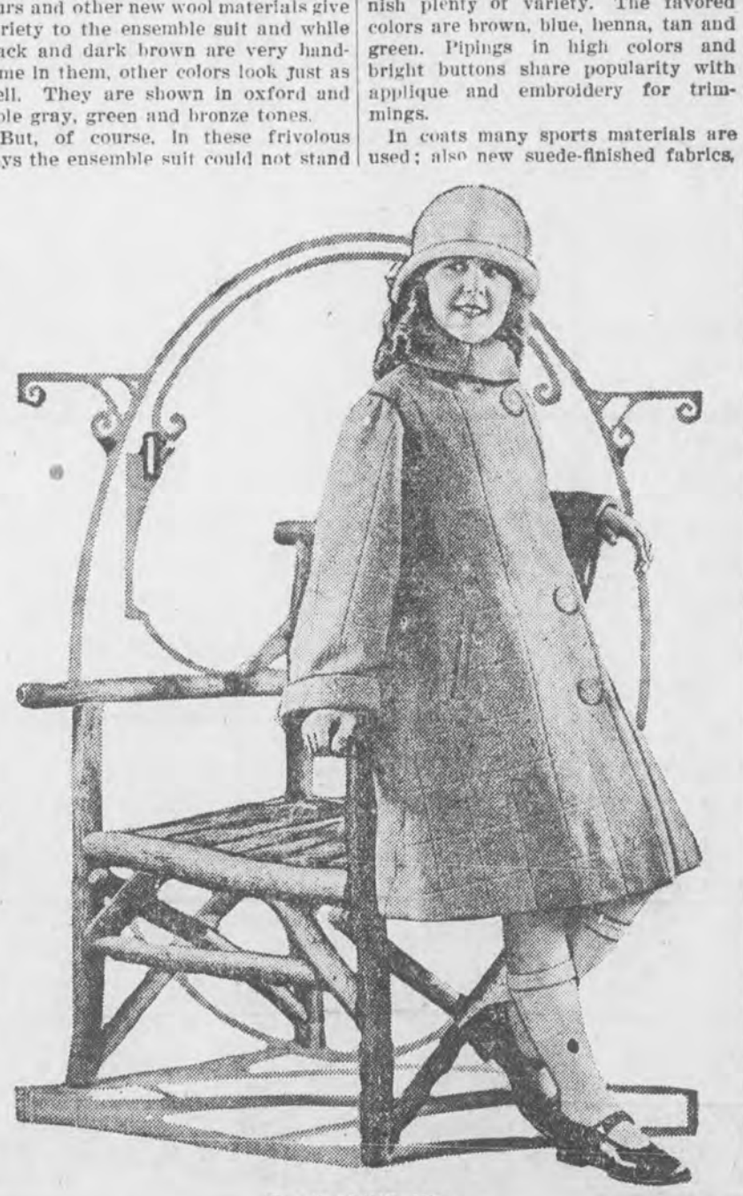
But, of course, in these frivolous days the ensemble suit could not stand her slenderness. Note that the up-to-date young lady wearing it arranges her long strand of pearls a la mode, first around her throat and then knotted at the front.

When the younger set is all dressed up it finds itself in frocks and coats that reflect the fashions of grownups, but styles are modified and delightfully adapted to little wearers. For them there is greater freedom in the use of high colors. It appears that the more diminutive the garment, the more vivid the cloth that makes it or the touches of color that brighten it.

New Version of Ensemble Costume.

The charm of coats and frocks for the younger generation is sufficient to make one envious, but "trim and serviceable" are the words that spell success in their everyday, workaday clothes. There is a wide range of popular woolen frocks that are pretty and interesting, as well as "trim and serviceable," and the same is true of coats. For frocks, crepe, flannel, serge, twills, tweeds and velveteen are among the important fabrics that furnish plenty of variety. The favored colors are brown, blue, henna, tan and green. Pipings in high colors and bright buttons share popularity with applique and embroidery for trimmings.

In coats many sports materials are used; also new suede-finished fabrics, bolivia, chinchilla and flamingo cloth. A typical coat of the last mentioned fabric is shown in the picture, in tan, with three decorative buttons serving to fasten it. Many little girls' coats have fur collars and trimmings similar to those on grownup models, and many of them are double-breasted. Rabbit fur, dyed to match, is much used in the basket-weave coats in fur colors, and sometimes embroidery in several colors gives them a lively touch.



For the Little Miss.

on its dignity always and now comes along an enticing and youthful version of it with a short jacket as shown in the picture. Here a skirt quite plain and rather short becomes the background of a graceful overblouse which merges into long sash ends. It is of printed silk with round neck and very long sleeves which extend over the hand. The same silk lines the short, dowing jacket with three-quarter-length sleeves. This ensemble is something quite new and tremendously chic and youthful. It is calculated to make the slim young woman rejoice in

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 2

THE PRODIGAL SON—WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 15:11-24.

GOLDEN TEXT—I will arise and go to my father.—Luke 15:18.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Father's Love.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Parable of the Prodigal Son.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Prodigal's Wanderings and Return.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Prodigals: Prevention and Rescue.

The center of interest in this parable is not the prodigal nor his brother, but the "certain man who had two sons." In this parable in a most picturesque and dramatic manner the history of man is portrayed, from his fall to his reconciliation with God. The whole orbit of revelation is swept as it pertains to a sinning race and a pardoning God. He who fails to see the heart of our Father God will miss the purpose of the parable.

I. The Son's Insubordination (v. 12).

There is every indication that this was a happy home. But a devil entered it and stirred up discontent in the heart of the younger son. His desire for freedom moved him to wilfully choose to leave home—throw off the constraints of his father's rule. Sin is the desire to be free from the restraints of rightful authority and for selfish indulgence. At the request of the son, the father "divided unto them his living."

II. The Son's Departure (v. 13).

Having made the fatal decision he went post-haste to the enjoyment of his cherished vision, so he got his goods in portable shape. Having thrown off the restraints of his father's rule he eagerly withdrew from his father's presence. This is always the way sin works. Adam and Eve after they had sinned hid themselves. The son could not now stand the presence of his father, so he hastened away.

III. The Son's Degeneration (vv. 13, 14).

He had a good time while his money lasted, but the end came quickly. From plenty in his father's house to destitution in the far country was a short journey.

IV. The Son's Degradation (vv. 15, 16).

He had no friends now to help him when his money was all gone, so he was driven to hire out to a citizen to feed swine. It was quite a change from a son in his father's house to feeding hogs in the far country. So it is; those who will not serve God are made slaves to the devil to do his bidding (Rom. 6:16). In his shame and disgrace he could not even get the necessary food. The coarse food of the hogs was denied him.

V. The Son's Restoration (vv. 17-24).

1. He Came to Himself (v. 17). When he reflected a bit he was made conscious that though he had wronged his father and ruined himself, yet he was a son of his father. In the days of his sinning he was beside himself. The sinner continues in his sin because he is insane. If we could but get sinners to think seriously of their condition it would be more easy to get them to turn from their sins.

2. His Resolution (v. 18). His reflection ripened into resolution. The picture of his home where even the hired servants had a superabundance, moved him to make a decision to leave the far country and go home.

3. His Confession (vv. 18, 19). He acknowledged that his sin was against heaven and his father—that he had forfeited his right to be called a son and begged to be given a place as a hired servant. The sinner not only should make a resolution, he should confess his sin.

4. His Action (v. 20). Action was needed. Resolution will not avail unless accompanied with action. When the confession is genuine, action will follow.

5. His Reception by His Father (vv. 20-24). The father had not forgotten his son. During these years he longed for his return. He must often have looked for him, for he saw him when he was a great way off. So anxious was he for him that he ran to meet him and fell upon his neck and kissed him. So glad was the father that he even did not hear his confession through, but ordered the tokens of honor to be placed upon him, receiving him back into a son's position. Then the feast was made, expressive of the joy of his heart. God is love. Jesus came to reveal God. This parable makes bare God's heart.

Hours

Hours are golden links—God's token reaching heaven.—Dickens.

Enemies Help Some

A few good, lively enemies will do more to make you a success than a carload of friends.

Business

Business despatched is business well done, but business hurried is business ill done.—Bulwer Lytton.

Lost Temper

Lost temper means loss that cannot be retrieved all along the line.

The Kitchen Cabinet

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

A laugh is just like music,
It freshens all the day,
It tips the peaks of life with light
And drives the clouds away;
The soul grows glad that hears it,
And feels its courage strong—
A laugh is just like sunshine
For cheering folks along.
—Anon.

FROM FAMOUS COOKS

The following salad is both very good and a whole meal in itself:

Italian Salad.—Boil spaghetti or macaroni in ring-shape, if it can be obtained; if not, use the elbow or shell, or even the plain, breaking it into inch-pieces. Boil until tender in salted water, then drain and rinse in very cold water; drain and chill for several hours. For six servings mix two cupfuls of the spaghetti with two-thirds of a cupful of cooked chilled peas and two canned pimentoes to give color to the combination. Moisten well with mayonnaise, add one-half of a tiny onion grated and serve on lettuce arranged on individual plates. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

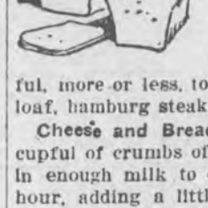
Chicken a la Drake.—Cut the raw breast of chicken into pieces of convenient size to serve, saute in butter until brown and well cooked. Drain large slices of pineapple from the juice and saute them in butter. When brown arrange on a platter and on each place a piece of chicken; then over the whole pour a rich white sauce, to two cupfuls of which add one half cupful of mushrooms cut into shreds, and enough paprika to make slightly pink. Garnish with finely chopped parsley. Shredded Virginia ham and truffles added to the white sauce makes a dish fit for an epicure.

Angel Pie.—Make a flaky, rich crust and bake on the outside of deep pans, individual or larger, as one wishes. For the filling beat six eggs to a light fluffy froth, add a cupful of granulated sugar and beat again vigorously, then whip in the juice of one and one-half lemons and cook the mixture over hot water until it thickens. Cool slightly and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs. Fill the pie shells, then top the pies with the remaining egg whites beaten stiffly and mixed with six tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Brown delicately and cool before serving.

Oh, for a new generation of day dreamers! They will not ask whether life is worth living—they will make it so. They will transform the sordid "struggle for existence" into glorious effort to become that which they have admired and loved.

SOMETHING TO EAT

A little bread helps out in many dishes, making more expensive foods go farther, and gives one a virtuous feeling of being economical.



Add a half cupful of bread crumbs to two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, a cupful, more or less, to meat loaf, salmon loaf, hamburg steak and such dishes.

Cheese and Bread Omelet.—Take a cupful of crumbs of white bread, soak in enough milk to cover them for an hour, adding a little more from time to time if the bread becomes dry. Beat three eggs, adding six tablespoonfuls of grated cheese with pepper and salt to taste. Beat steadily for five minutes. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in the omelet pan, pour in the mixture and cook like any ordinary omelet. When it is done slip a knife under it to loosen it from the pan, but do not turn out; cover instead with a plate, draw the pan to the back of the stove and let it cook gently for five minutes. This is to give the bread a little more time to swell without burning the egg. Turn out and fold the omelet in the usual way.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Try out fat salt pork cut into small cubes, remove the scraps; there should be one third cupful of fat. Add two cupfuls of boiled potatoes finely chopped, salt and pepper to taste. Mix thoroughly with the fat, cook three minutes, stirring constantly; let brown underneath, fold as an omelet and serve on a platter.

Pressed Beef.—Wipe, remove the fibrous fat and roll a flank of beef; put into a kettle, cover with boiling water and add a tablespoonful of salt, one half teaspoonful of peppercorns, a piece of bay leaf and a bone or two. Cook slowly until the meat is in shreds; there should be very little liquor in the kettle when the meat is done. Arrange the meat in a deep pan, pour over the liquor, cover, press with a weight and serve thinly sliced when cold.

Tea Bran Bread.—Sift together a cupful of white flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of soda; add two cupfuls of bran and one cupful of entire wheat flour and mix thoroughly. Stir together one cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of hot water and two cupfuls of milk and add to the first mixture. Bake in a dripping pan and bake in a moderate oven one hour. Cut into squares and serve.

Nellie Maxwell

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XI—Continued.

—14—

looked for an avenue of re- but Grant barred his way, and they went up the path. A woman, with a baby on her met them at the door. Grant in- the Mrs. Bruce and her daugh-you haven't heard?" said the "I suppose you are just Well, it was a sad thing, but have been sad times. It was Robert was killed I came here Poor dear, she took that to awful, and couldn't be left alone, Phyllis was working in an office, came here part time to help out. she was just beginning to brace when we got the word about Grace, you know, was lost on ship. That was too much received this information a strange catching about the became of Phyllis?" He tried the question in an even voice. moved into the house after Mrs. died." the woman continued, man came back discharged that time. Phyllis tried to get a nurse, but couldn't manage it. her office was moved to another of the city and she took rooms where. At first she came to see but not lately. I suppose trying to forget."

ing to forget," Grant muttered self. "How much of life is made trying to forget!"

her questions brought no fur- information. The woman didn't the firm for which Phyllis ; she thought it had to do with ness. Suddenly Grant found him- impelled by a tremendous desire see this girl. He would set it at once; possibly Jones or could give him information. ely enough, he now felt that he prefer to be rid of Linder's ty. This was a matter of him- time. He took Linder to a hotel, they arranged for lodgings, and started on his search.

located Murdoch without diffi- It was now late, and the old came down the stairs with in- ive imprecations upon the head untimely caller, but his mutter- soon gave way to a cry of delight. dear boy!" he exclaimed, em- ing him. "My dear boy—excuse e, I'm a blithering old man, but —my boy, you're home again!" was no doubting the depth of Murdoch's welcome. He ran be- Grant into the living-room and ed on the lights. In a moment s back with his arm about the man's shoulder; he was with ty restraining caresses.

you down, Mr. Grant; here— hair—it's easier. I must get the on up. This is no night for sleep- Why didn't you send us word?" re is a tradition that official is sent in advance," Grant tried plain.

, a tradition. There's a tradi- that a Scotsman is a dour body t any sentiment. Well—I must he women."

hurried up the stairs, and, re- ng, led in his wife, a motherly who almost kissed the young In the welcome of her greet- was a moment before Grant e aware of the presence of a person in the room.

m very glad to see you safely said Phyllis Bruce. "We have been thinking about you a great y, Miss—Phyllis! It was you I looking for!" The frank confes- came before he had time to sup- it, and, having said so much, it ed better to finish the job.

s. Phyllis is making her home us now," Mrs. Murdoch explained. more convenient to her work."

nt wondered how much of this gement was due to Mrs. Mur- sympathy for the bereaved girl, how much to the addition which de to the family income. No both considerations had con- ed to it.

alled at your old home," he con- ed. "I needn't say how distressed to hear— The woman could tell thing of you, so I came to Mur- hoping—"

," she said simply, as though there nothing more to explain. Grant d that her eyes were larger and heeks paler than they had been, he delight of her presence leapt him. Her hurried costume d to accentuate her beauty de- of all that war had done to de- t. There was a silence which ened out. They were all grop- for a footing.

. Murdoch met the situation by ing that she would put on the and Mr. Murdoch, in a burst of divine inspiration, insisted that wife was quite incompetent to the gas alone at that hour of ght. When the old folks had into the kitchen Grant found f standing close to Phyllis Bruce. y didn't you answer my let- he demanded, plunging to the with the directness of his nature. cause I had promised to let you forget," she replied. There was a softness in her voice which he had not noted in those bygone days; she seemed more resigned and yet more poised; the strange wizardry of suffering had worked new wonders in her soul. Suddenly, as he looked upon her, he became aware of a new quality in Phyllis Bruce—the quality of gentleness. She had added this to her unique self-confidence, and it had toned down the angularities of her character. To Grant, straight from his long exile from fine womanly domesticity, she suddenly seemed altogether captivating.

"But I didn't want to forget!" he insisted. "I wanted not to forget—you."

She could not misunderstand the emphasis he placed on that last word, but she continued as though he had not interrupted.

"I knew you would write once or twice out of courtesy. I knew you would do that. I made up my mind that if you wrote three times, then I would know you really wanted to remember me. . . . I did not get any third letter."

"But how could I know that you had placed such a test—such an arbitrary measurement—upon my friendship?"

"It wasn't necessary for you to know. If you had cared—enough—you would have kept on writing."

He had to admit to himself that there was just enough truth in what she said to make her logic unanswerable. His delight in her presence now did not alter the fact that he had found it quite possible to live for four years without her, and it was true that upon one or two great vital moments his mind had leapt, not to Phyllis Bruce, but to Zen Transley! He blushed at the recollection; it was an impossible situation, but it was true!

He was framing some plausible argument about honorable men not persisting in a correspondence when Murdoch bustled in again.

"Mother is going to set the dining-room table," he announced, "and the coffee will be ready presently. Well, sir, you do look well in uniform. You will be wondering how the business has gone?"

"Not half as much as I am wondering some others things," he said, with a significance intended for the ear of Phyllis.

"Come, Mr. Grant; come, everybody!" a cheerful voice called from behind the sliding doors which shut off the dining-room. The fragrant smell of coffee was already in the air, and as Grant took his seat Mrs. Murdoch declared that for once she had decided to defy all the laws of digestion.

At the table their talk dribbled out into thin channels. It was as though there were at hand a great reservoir of thought, of experience, of deep gropings into the very well-springs of life, which none of them dared to tap lest it should rush out and overwhelm them. They seemed in some strange awe of its presence, and spoke, when they spoke at all, of trivial things. Grant proved uncommunicative, and perhaps, in a sense, disappointing. He preferred to forget both the glories and the horrors of war; when he drew on his experience at all it was to relate some humorous incident. That, it seemed, was all he cared to remember. He was conscious of a restraint which hedged him about and hampered every mental deployment.

Phyllis, too, must have been conscious of that restraint, for before they parted she said something about human minds being like pianos, which get out of tune for lack of the master-touch. . . .

When Grant found himself in the street air again he was almost swallowed up in the rush of things which he might have said. He paused at a bridge to lean against the railing and watch the trembling reflection of city lights in the river.

"I have it!" he suddenly exclaimed to the steel railing. "I have it!"

He paused for a moment to turn over his thought, as though to make sure it should not escape. Then, at a pace which aroused the wondering glance of one or two placid policemen, he hurried to the hotel.

Linder and Grant had been assigned to the same room, and the sergeant's dreams, if he dreamt at all, were of the sweet hay meadows of the West. Grant turned on the light and looked down into the face of his friend. A smile, born of fields afar from war's alarms, was playing about his lips. Even in his excitement Grant could not help reflecting what a wonderful thing it is to sleep in peace. Then—

"I have it!" he shouted. "Linder, I have it!"

The sergeant sat up with a start, blinking.

"I have it!" Grant repeated.

"Them, you mean," said Linder, suddenly awake. "Why, man, what's wrong with you? You're more excited than if we were just going over the top."

"I've got my great idea. I know what I'm going to do with my money."

"Well, don't do it tonight," Linder protested. "Someone has to settle for this dugout in the morning."

"We're leaving for the West tomorrow, Linder, old scout—"

But Linder was again sleeping the sleep of a man four years in France.

CHAPTER XII

The window was gray with the light of dawn before Grant's mind had calmed down enough for sleep. When Linder awoke him it was noon.

"You sleep well on your Big Idea," was his comment.

"No better than you did last night," retorted Grant, springing out of bed. "Let me see . . . yes, I still have it clearly. I'll tell you about it sometime, if you can stay awake. When do we eat?"

"Now, or as soon as you are presentable. I've a notion to give you three days' C.B. for appearing on parade in your pajamas."

"Make it a cash fine, sergeant, old dear, and pay it out of what you owe me. Now that that is settled order up a decent meal. I'll be shaved and dressed long before it arrives. You know this is a first-class hotel, where prompt service would not be tolerated."

As they ate together Grant showed no disposition to discuss what Linder called his Big Idea, nor yet to give any satisfaction in response to his companion's somewhat pointed references as to his doings of the night before.

"There are times, Linder," he said, "when my soul craves solitude. You, being a sergeant, and therefore having no soul, will not be able to understand that longing for contemplation—"

"It's all right," said Linder. "I don't want her."

"Furthermore," Grant continued, "tonight I mean to resume my soliloquies, and your absence will be much in demand."

"The supply will be equal to the demand."

"Good! Here are some morsels of money. If you will buy our railway tickets and settle with the chief extortionist downstairs, I will join you at the night train going west."

Grant Plunged Into an Explanation of What Linder Had Called His "Big Idea."

Linder sprang to attention, gave a salute in which mock deference could not entirely obscure the respect beneath, and set about on his commissions, while Grant devoted the afternoon to a session with Murdoch and Jones, but it was noted that Grant's interest centered more in a certain telephone call than in the very gratifying financial statement which Murdoch was able to place before him. And it was probably as a result of that telephone call that a taxi drew up in front of Murdoch's home at exactly six-thirty that evening and bore Miss Phyllis Bruce and an officer wearing a captain's uniform in the direction of the best hotel in the city.

The dining room was sweet with the perfume of flowers, and soft strains of music stole vagrantly about its high arching pillars, mingling with the chatter of lovely women and of men to whom expense was no consideration. Grant was conscious of a delicious sense of intimacy as he helped Phyllis remove her wraps and seated himself by her at a secluded corner table.

"By Jove!" he exclaimed. "I don't make compliments for exercise, but you do look stunning tonight!"

A warmth of color lit up her cheek—he had noticed at Murdoch's how pale she was—and her eyes laughed back at him with some of their old-time vivacity.

"I am so glad," she said. "It seems almost like old times—"

They gave their orders, and sat in silence through an overture. Grant was delighting himself simply in her presence, and guessed that for her part she could not retract the confession her love had wrung from her so long ago.

"There are some things which don't change, Phyllis," he said, when the orchestra had ceased.

She looked back at him with eyes moist and dreamy. "I know," she murmured.

There seemed no reason why Grant should not there and then have laid himself, figuratively, at her feet. And there was not any reason—only one He wanted first to go West. He almost hoped that out there some light of disillusionment would fall about him; that some sudden experience would readjust his personality in accordance with the inevitable. . . .

"I asked you to dine with me tonight," he heard himself saying, "for two reasons: first, for the delight of your exquisite companionship; and second, because I want to talk over with you some plans I have for the future. The fact is, I have been in a dilemma. I find that Murdoch, like the canny old Scot he is, has doubled my fortune during my little engagement overseas, and now I have to take up the reins again. But I am filled with the West. Do you know what I mean?"

"I have never lived in the West," said Phyllis, "but I think I can guess. You're homesick for it."

"That's it—homesick for it; for the smell of a thousand miles of grass, and sunny hillsides dotted with cattle, and fellows who take you for what you are—or don't take you at all. A broker's life, no matter how successful, has nothing to offer which compares with that. It wasn't until last night that I saw it clearly, and then, all of a sudden, I knew what I was going to do."

Grant plunged into an explanation of what Linder had called his "Big Idea." He was going back to the ranching country to buy land and start a farm on a large scale. He believed he could make money out of it, but more attractive was the prospect of outdoor life and an opportunity to offer employment to many of the boys of his battalion who, upon their return home, had not found their fortunes doubled—if they had any fortunes to double. Besides, it would give him a chance to take care of Linder.

"You know, I've got to take care of Linder," he explained, "and it's a business that has to be done tactfully. In some respects Linder is as approachable as a porcupine. I can buy him a meal or so and get away with it, but if he thought I were supporting him out of charity he would start an insurrection. Now, I'm going to make him manager of the farm; the stars in their courses shaped him for just that job. As for me, I'll stay in the background. I want time to loaf and invite my soul."

They talked over many angles of the "Big Idea," and, even after he had talked himself out, Grant continued to sit at the little table, reveling in the happiness of a man who feels that he has been called to some purpose worth while. His companion hesitated to interrupt his thoughts; her somewhat drab business experience made her pessimistic toward all idealism, and yet she felt that her, surely, was a man who could carry almost any project through to success. The unique quality in him, which distinguished him from any other man she had ever known, was his complete unselfishness. In all his undertakings he coveted no reward for himself; he was seeking only the common good.

"If all men were like you there would be no problems," she murmured, and while he could not accept the words quite at par they rang very pleasantly in his ears.

A movement among the diners reminded him of the flight of time, and with a glance at his watch he sprang up in surprise. "I had no idea the evening had gone!" he exclaimed. "I have just time to see you home and get back to catch my train."

He called a taxi and accompanied her into it. They seated themselves together, and the fragrance of her presence was very sweet about him. It would have been so easy to forget—all that he had been trying to forget—in the intoxication of such environment. Surely it was not necessary that he should go West—that he should see her again—in order to be sure.

"Phyllis," he breathed, "do you imagine I could undertake these things if I cared only for myself—if it were not that I longed for someone's approval—for someone to be proud of me? The strongest man is weak enough for that, and the strongest man is stronger when he knows that the woman he loves—"

He would have taken her in his arms, but she resisted, gently, firmly.

"You have made me think too much of you, Dennison," she whispered. . . .

On the way West Grant gradually unfolded his plan to Linder, who accepted it with his customary stoicism.

"You are to go on with the physical work at once," he told him. "Buy the horses, tractors, machinery; break up the land, fence it, build the houses and barns; in short, you are to superintend everything that is done with muscle or its substitute. I will bring Murdoch out shortly to take charge of the clerical details and the general organization. As for myself, after I have bought the land and made the necessary funds available, I propose to keep out of the limelight. I will be the heart of the undertaking; Murdoch will be the head, and you are to be the hands, and I hope you two conspirators won't give me palpitation."

Linder assented, laconically. "What are you going to do?" he inquired.

"I'm going to buy a half section of my own and farm if I feel like it."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Fable of the Unusual Cop

Once there was a traffic cop who was kind and considerate and who never failed, when the engine died on the street, to come over and say, "That's too bad. But don't get excited. Take your time getting her out. The people behind don't mind."

The copper died from being kissed so much by motorists.—Motor Age.

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Christopher Greene Here Won Fame

"The post with which you are entrusted is of utmost importance to America. The whole defense of the Delaware depends upon it; and consequently all the enemy's hopes of keeping Philadelphia and finally succeeding in the present campaign." So wrote George Washington to Col. Christopher Greene, a brave officer who had fought under Arnold and Montgomery at Quebec and who was now in this critical year of 1777 given command of Fort Mercer at Red Bank on the New Jersey shore of the Delaware river. Fort Mifflin and Fort Mercer, named for Gen. Hugh Mercer, were two threats against Philadelphia. Lord Howe had occupied that city and Greene was given 400 Rhode Island Continentals to hold the post.

Greene immediately began putting the fort into condition, a work in which he was greatly aided by Capt. Mauduit Duplessis, a young French engineer who had enlisted in the patriot cause. Before the repairs were completed, however, a force of 1,200 Hessian grenadiers, led by the famous Count Donop, appeared and demanded its surrender. Greene scornfully replied that he would defend his post to the last and refused to be frightened when Donop declared that no quarter would be given if he was forced to take Fort Mercer by storm.

So the Hessians, covered by a heavy artillery fire, advanced in two columns to attack the outworks of the fort. After pouring in a galling fire, Greene's Rhode Islanders retired to the main works where they concealed themselves to give the attackers the idea that the post was poorly garrisoned. When the enemy poured through a breach which they had made in the north redoubt, they gave a great cheer as though the victory was already won.

Just at that moment a concealed battery was unmasked and accompanied by a heavy musketry fire it poured out a blast of death upon the Teutons. The attackers reeled back. On the south side of the fort Count Donop, leading his men in person, went down mortally wounded. His second in command was also stricken, and although the next in command tried hard to lead his men on, the stubborn resistance of the Rhode Islanders and their destructive fire had broken the spirit of the Hessians who retreated precipitately.

In this brief battle the enemy lost more than 400 men. The American loss was only eight killed and twenty-nine wounded! This brilliant defense brought a thrill of hope to the country in one of the darkest days of the Revolution and congress recognized the achievement of Colonel Greene by passing him a vote of thanks and presenting him a sword as a testimonial of distinguished merit.

The Green Mountain Boys and "Old Ti"

Although an accident of geography placed Ticonderoga upon the soil of New York, Vermont, through the deeds of her "Green Mountain Boys" has an equal claim with her neighbor upon its stirring history. There, John Stark, a colonial captain fighting with the British against the French, showed the military qualities which later made him the hero of Bennington. There, too, Robert Rogers from "the New Hampshire Grants" (the land which later became Vermont) had many a hairbreadth escape in the savage warfare which he and his daring Rangers carried on against the French and their red allies.

But it was at the outbreak of the Revolution that Vermont came in with her strongest claim to Ticonderoga as a part of her history. There at the dawn of May 10, 1775, Ethan Allen and his "Green Mountain Boys" won their deathless fame when they took possession of the old French fort "in the name of Jehovah and the Continental Congress!" But if Ticonderoga was the scene of a Vermont triumph, it must also be recorded that it came very near being the scene of a great disgrace for her. For it was within the walls of the fort that the traitorous negotiations between the British and some of her leaders, dissatisfied because of unawarded honors, were carried on and they, and through them, Vermont, narrowly escaped the shame which sullied the fame of Conway and Charles Lee, and engulfed Benedict Arnold.

The complete history of Ticonderoga would fill volumes. It begins away back in 1609 with Samuel Champlain, who fought the Iroquois on a narrow cape in Lake Champlain, called Cheondaraga or Ticonderoga, "between two lakes," and for the next 150 years this spot was the scene of battles. In 1755 the French began building a fort on this promontory, and named it Fort Vaudreuil, in honor of the governor of Canada. It was later called Fort Carillon, but it is best known as Fort Ticonderoga, or "Old Ti."

After the Revolution Ticonderoga fell into decay, but through the patriotic efforts of the Pell family, which, in 1818, obtained title to the land upon which the fort stood, it has been partly restored and today it is visited by thousands as one of our most interesting historic shrines.

Relieved of Catarrh Due to La Grippe

Thanks To PE-RU-NA

Mrs. Laura Berberick, over 70 years of age, 1205 Willow Ave., Hoboken, N. J., writes: "A severe attack of La Grippe left me with a hoarseness and slime in the head and throat. I had chronic catarrh. It grew worse. I could not lie down or sleep at night. I was always bothered by the slime, pain in the back and a terrible headache every morning.

Finally I bought a bottle of Pe-ru-na which was of great benefit. It gave me blood and strength. I have no pains in head or back, nor noises in the head. The slime has gone and I can sleep. My weight has increased. I am cheerful and happy, thanks to Pe-ru-na, which I shall always keep in the house and recommend to my friends."

For every form of catarrh Pe-ru-na meets the need, Coughs, Colds, Nasal Catarrh, Indigestion, Bowel disorders are all forms of catarrh.

Buy it any where in tablet or liquid form.

Youth and debt are the world's greatest stimulants.

Most of the fools in this world have not the money to part with.

"CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED—10c A BOX

If Dizzy, Headachy or Stomach is Sour, Clean the Bowels.

To clean your bowels without cramping or overacting, take "Cascarets." Sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, gases, indigestion, sour upset stomach and all such distress gone by morning. Nicest laxative and cathartic on earth for grown-ups and children. 10c a box—all drug stores.

How quickly that rash disappeared!

THOUSANDS of users have wondered at the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days' persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unsurpassed for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

RESINOL

Is Your Blood Starved?

ARE you unknowingly handicapping yourself in this life race? Is it blood starvation—lack of energy-building elements—that is heading you toward failure . . . unhappiness?

Examination shows that 80 out of 100 men and women are Anemic . . . and don't know that this condition is responsible for their loss of energy . . . ambition.

Press your thumbnail as illustrated above. Unless the blood comes rushing back Anemia is indicated.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is the tried way to revitalize the blood. For thirty-two years physicians have prescribed it. Its rich iron and manganese content have restored health to thousands.

Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in either liquid or tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Aia., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

The Supreme Issue Is Better Schools—

The biggest question before the people of Shelby county to day is this: "How shall we provide better schools for our children?" Better schools we must have if we intend to give our boys and girls a fair chance in life.

This question is bigger and more important to the people of Shelby county than the question of who will be president of the United States.

There are in our county today hundreds and hundreds of boys and girls who have dropped out of school who are not adequately trained for the duties of citizenship. Very few of them will ever go to school another day. These boys and girls are being robbed of their birthright. They will never be as successdul in life as they might have been; they will never enjoy the returns from their life work that would come to them if they had within their reach the opportunity to get an education.

Thousands of boys and girls now in the schools are doing only half as much work in a school year as they ought to be doing; are making only half the progress toward getting an education they ough to be making. Why? Because their schools are open for only five months in the year. Many of these will drop out of school entirely before they have made more than a good start toward getting the training they are entitled to have. just as their brothers and sisters have done before them.

The responsibility for this condition rests upon the people of Shelby county. If our children are not being given the opportunity to get an education it means that we have failed somewhere to do our duty.

The law gives us a county board of education in whom is vested the general administration of the schools of the county. The members of this board are chosen by the people. The county board of education elects a county superintendent of education who serves as their chief executive officer. Ever since this law went into effect, Shelby county has had such a board of education chosen by the people and a county superintendent chosen by the board of education.

During this period some counties in Alabama have made wonderful progress. In some counties rural school systems have been established that give to the boys and girls on the farm the same opportunity to get a well rounded high school education that the boys and girls in the cities have long enjoyed. It is for the people to decide whether Shelby county has made satisfactory progress in building such a system of rural schools.

In the election next Tuesday two members of the county board of education will be chosen by the people. These men will have part in whatever may be done to improve school conditions in Shelby county during the coming years. If nothing is done to improve conditions, these men will be in part responsible for the failure.

These things being true, it becomes the patriotic duty of every good citizen to make up his or her ballot for members of the board of education with one single purpose in mind—only one. That purpose to vote for the two men who in their calm judgment they believe will do most for the development of a better system of schools in Shelby county.

—O—

Sacred Duty to Vote—

It is the duty of every citizen to vote. This is a sacred duty, one that no good citizen can afford to shirk.

It is also a sacred duty to vote right. To vote right means first of all to vote for men who are honest. An honest man will do after he gets into office what he promises before the election he will do. An honest man will regard his office as a trust, committed to him for a time by the people, to be used for the best interests of all the people. A man who is not honest is not fit to hold any kind of public office.

In addition to being honest a man who wishes to hold public office should have the ability and the will to think for himself. Such a man will not be used by any man or set of men to advance selfish interests; his concern will be for the best interests of all the people. His motto of service will be: "A square deal for every man."

It ought to be easy to get good citizens to adopt such a standard and live up to it. Until they do we may never expect to have good government, "government of the people, for the people and by the people."

—O—

A Quiet Dignified Campaign—

The people of Shelby county have lived to see a new and better day in one particular at least. We have lived to see an election campaign conducted in a quiet dignified manner.

So far as the Reporter has been able to learn, no underhand methods have been employed by the candidates of either party. No candidate has resorted to mud slinging. No effort has been made by any candidate, to ride into office on a wave of bitter prejudice, stirred up deliberately to keep men from voting as their best judgment dictates. Every good citizen who loves Shelby county and who wants first of all, that Shelby county shall have a good, clean government, must rejoice because this is true.

While this is true as applied to the candidates, reports indicate that some men who are not candidates in this election have gone about into certain communities making use of the old time discredited methods. They have recited over again the old threadbare tales of "cattle ticks and polly ticks" appealing only to the prejudices of their hearers. These men are but the discredited leaders of another day, exerting themselves, evidently, in the hope of being able to come back. If by the use of such methods as they are employing they do succeed in "coming back," the Reporter believes that Shelby county and the caause of good government will be the losers.

—O—

BETHEL

Rev. W. R. Weaver filled his regular appointment at this place Sunday.

Miss Ruby Deloach spent the week end with friends here.

Mrs. Jim Wills visited Mr. and Mrs. Jake Epperson Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. M. Lyon and Mrs. J. F. Thompson spent the day in Talladega Monday shopping.

J. R. Hill from New Mexico, Dr. E. C. Parker of Gulfport, Miss., and their father, W. G. Parker of Columbiana, visted Mrs. J. M. Lyon Sunday.

Perhaps you don't believe in spooks
"There are no such things," you say;
Well, you'll believe in certain kinds
If you come to the next G. A.
For "Spooks and Spirits in China land"
Will be discussed with care.
If you would know about this Spooks
Be sure to be at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Looney of Columbiana October 27th.

Attention Electors

Prior to the May Primary Election, the women voters of Montevallo addressed the following recommendation the people of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit:

"To the Voters of Shelby, Coosa and Clay Counties:

An important issue is before the people of the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama. Several candidates are being considered by the voters of Shelby, Coosa and Clay Counties.

The women of Montevallo andsurrounding territory wish to express to the voters of those three counties their faith and confidence in Judge E. S. Lyman, the present incumbent. He is a man of splendid Christian character, whose record in both private and public life is without blemish of any kind.. No man is held in higher respect by all who know him than is Judge Lyman. He is a thoroughly competent, conscientious Christian gentleman, and without question holds the love and esteem of his community.

The women of Montevallo became so interested in his success because of his unquestioned worth that they organized a committee to interview every woman in Montevallo. Without exception every woman voter signed a petition endorsing Judge Lyman's candidacy and urging all voters to elect him. We can safely say you can not make a mistake in voting for Judge Lyman."

One hundred thirty women voters of Montevallo precinct, every one to whom it was presented,—affixed their signatures to said endorsement.

This splendid voluntary tribute to our nominee for Circuit Judge, the campaign committee now republishes, with its official endornement therein made, in reference to the qualities and qualification of Judge Lyman.

If this is the type of man you desire to have on the bench in your circuit, we earnestly and respectfully urge you to cast your ballot for him on the 4th day of November, next Tuesday.

Respectfully,
DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE.
By J. B. Turner, Chairman.

(Paid Political Adverti-ement

ELECTION NOTICE

State of Alabama, Shelby county.

I, J. J. Falkner, Sheriff of Shelby county, Alabama, in conformity with Section 447 of Code of 1923, hereby give notice that a general election, by the qualified voters of Shelby county, Alabama, will be held in the several precincts of said county, on Tuesday, the 4 day of November, 1924, for the election of the following officers:

Congressman from the 4th District; Judge of 18th judicial circuit; Treasurer of Shelby county; Member of Board of Revenue, 1st District; Member Board of Revenue, 3rd District; Member Board of Education 6 year term; Member Board of Education, short term; Justice of Peace and Constables for each beat.

Witness my hand this the 1st day of October, 1924.

J. J. FALKNER,
As Sheriff of Shelby County, Ala.
10 2 .4 4t.

PUBLICATION OF APPLICATION FOS SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County, Probate Court.

Whereas, Mrs. Jennie Ozley as Guardian for George Ozley, joint owners, has filed her applicaton in writing under oath, for an order to sell certain property described in said application, belonging to George Ozley, a minor et al

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 18 day of November, 1924, be appointed a day on which to hear such application, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 17 day of October, 1924. L. B. Hodge,
10 23 3t. Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage executed by H. K. Lewis and Daisy O. Lewis on the 15th day of March 1924, which said mortgage is recorded in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 136 at page 270, and the law day of said mortgage being past, and the indebtedness secured and evidence thereby being still due and unpaid, the undersigned mortgagee, as such, and under the power of sale contained therein, will, on Saturday, the 8th day of November, 1924, sell, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Court House of Shelby County, at Columbiana, Alabama, within the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate conveyed in said mortgage, viz:

The South ½ of SW¼ of NE¼ and the NW¼ of SE¼ of Section 4, Township 24, Range 13 East, situated in Shelby County, Alabama.

The proceeds of said sale will be as folows:

1st. To the payment of the expense and costs of said sale and foreclosure, including a reasonable attorney's fee for foreclosing said mortgage.

2nd. To the payment of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Dated this the 22nd day of October, 1924.

Lillie A. Wheatley,
L. H. Ellis. Mortgagee.
Attorney for Mortgagee. 10 23 3t

MORTGAGE SALE

By virtue of the power of sal contained in that certain mortgage executed by L. W. Williams to Connell & Baldwin, a partnership composed of W. V. Connell and Wm. L. Baldwin, dated December 1st, 1919, and recorded in Record of Mortgages, Book 127, page 299, in the probate office of Shelby county, Alabama, the undersigned will sell to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house at Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on Monday, November 17, 1924, the following described real estate to-wit:

One lot or parcel of land in the town of Calera, commencing at a point on the north side of the Southern Railway 35 feet from the center of the main track of said road and 10 inches west of the southwest corner of building known as the Wade and Hill two story brick building, which building is located on the lot herein conveyed and is conveyed in this instrument; thence in a northwesterly direction along the line of said wall to a point 65 feet south of the L. & N(Y)railway track at right angles with the track, meandering from the center of said(Y) railway track; thence in a southwesterly direction parallel with said(Y)railway track 18 2-5 feet, more or less to the west line; thence in a southwesterly direction to the point of beginning, situated in Calera, Shelby County, Alabama.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of paying the debt secured by said mortgage, together with the costs and expense of foreclosing same. default having been made in the payment of said debt.

This the 9 day of October, 1924
CONNELL & BALDWIN
By W. V. Connell, Mortgagee.
Frank W. Smith & L. H. Ellis.
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
10 23 3t

REGISTER'S SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Alabama, In Equity. Ped D. Honeycutt, et al, Compiamants, vs. Fred Honeycutt, et al., Respondents.

By virtue of a decree in the above stated cause rendered at the July Term. 1924, of the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Alabama, in Equity, to satisfy said decree, I will sell to the highest and best bidder for cash at public sale at the courthouse door of said county between the hours of 11 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on Monday, the 10th day of November, 1924, for division among joint owners or tenants in common the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning at iron stake one-fourth mile east of Southwest corner, Section 28, Township 21, South of Range 4 West, thence North 253 2 10 feet to the Southwest corner of James Walker tract; corner of James Walker tract; thence east 472 2-10 feet to the Southeast corner of the said James Walker tract; thence north 197 ft. to the southwest corner of Herron lot; thence East 855 feet running along the south of Ed Herron, Robert Allen Zack Honeycutt tracts to an stake; thence south 235 7-10 to the northeast corner of Mary Ficket's lot; thence 208 7-10 feet; thence South 7-10 feet to Section line between Sections 28 and 33, Township South of Range 4 West the West 1119 3-10 feet to point of ginning, all lying in the South quarter of Southwest quarter, tion 28, Township 21, South Range 4 West, situated in Shelby county, Alabama.

This the 13 day of October, 1
J. M. Leonard, Jr., Regis
10 16 3t.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamond

P. D. D. PENDLETON
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.

I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.

Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

PROFIT
ON A SAFE BASIS

The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%

Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a saving account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

Traders' Convention
Big Trading and Sales Day at
VINCENT
Friday and Saturday, November 7 and 8

If you haye anything to trade or sell bring it to Vincent at that time. Saturday at eleven o'clock an auction sale will be held. Bring anything you have that you don't need, and the auctioneer will sell it for you free of charge. You might have a plow stock, wagon, buggy, cow, mule, horse, automobile, possum dog, bird dog, pig, or an extra shot gun, possibly a bed stead, or anything you don't need, the other fellow might need it, so bring it along. There will be plenty of traders on the ground. You can either buy or sell or swap your horse or mule. Be sure and come; if you don't you will miss the opportunity of your life. The manager of this convention says all stock are nine years old. Of course they never get older until traded off. The merchants of our town will offer extra bargains on these days. It will pay you big to come to Vincent to do your Fall trading. We are looking for you, expecting you, and want you.

M. S. Thompson
J. B. Wheeler
T. E. Bowden
Committee on Entertainment

REPORT OF COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

To the People of Shelby County:—

In compliance with Article 5, Section 19 of the School Code, we are to submit the following facts concerning the rural schools of Shelby County:

TEACHERS

WHITE Men	WHITE Women	WHITE Total	COLORED Men	COLORED Women	COLORED Total
28	124	152	5	31	36

ENROLLMENT

WHITE Boys	WHITE Girls	WHITE Total	COLORED Boys	COLORED Girls	COLORED Total
2571	2485	5056	704	756	1460

Financial Statement of Receipts

State appropriation, bonus fund	$ 41,843.52
County tax and poll tax	34,349.02
District tax	16,023.44
Appropriation from Board of Revenue to High School	1,000.00
State and Federal Funds for Vocational Education	1,940.00
Incidental fees, matriculation fees,supplements, etc	28,614.00
Amount of Loan at Columbiana Savings Bank	7,229.18
	$130,999.16

Disbursements

Board of Education	$ 370.58
Salaries and expenses of administration	3,701.90
Instruction	57,815.50
Compulsory attendance	556.00
Adult school work	133.33
Appropriation to County High School	3,275.00
Appropriation to County High School from Board Revenue	1,000.00
State and Federal Funds for Vocational Education	1,940.00
Appropriation to Vincent City School	1,775.00
Appropriation to Columbiana City School	1,595.00
Amount of District Tax used locally	12,043.91
Incidental fees, matriculation fees and supplements used for school purposes in white schools	26,027.00
Incidental fees and supplements used for school purposes in colored schools	2,587.00
Transportation	500.00
Insurance on school buildings	485.74
Liquidation of debt	12,549.10
Interest	416.25
Payment to Bibb County	90.00
Overdraft	46.60
	$126,907.91
Balance on hand in General Fund	111.72
Balance on hand in District Tax Fund	3,979.53
	$130,999.16

White Schools

Amount paid each District from General Fund and District Tax Fund.

District No.	District Tax Fund $	General Fund
1 Shelby		$1,325.00
2 Bay Springs, No. 1		356.25
2 Bay Springs, No. 2		210.00
3 East Spring Creek		375.00
4 Pine Flat		425.00
5 Kingdom		1,025.00
7 Wright		725.00
8 McGowan		425.00
9	98.00	725.00
10 Fourmile	209.38	1,325.00
10 Ray		375.00
11 Bloomington		150.00
12 Union		425.00
13 Wilder's Hill		425.00
14 Yellow Leaf		375.00
15 Kleine		375.00
16 Westover		725.00
16 Ebeneezer		337.50
17 Rehobeth		425.00
19 High Point		375.00
20 Vandiver	306.00	725.00
21 Pleasant Valley		375.00
22 Pleasant Site		375.00
23 Chelsea		1,025.00
24 Sterrett	345.87	1,019.00
25 Calcis	101.45	425.00
26 K Sprinks	5.50	416.50
27 Mt. Chapel		375.00
28 East Saginaw		375.00
29 Summer Hill		375.00
30 Shelby Springs		425.00
30 Hopewell		375.00
31 Prospect		375.00
32 Shady Grove		375.00
34 Dargin	748.42	725.00
34 Camp Branch	885.70	725.00
34 Saginaw	995.00	725.00
35 Ebeneezer	146.00	725.00
36 Union Point	109.79	725.00
37 Enon		3,450.00
38 Montevallo	1,291.00	725.00
39 Spring Creek		375.00
39 Valley Grove		1,025.00
40 Dogwood	295.00	375.00
40 Salem	75.00	1,025.00
42 Wilton	627.00	725.00
44 Mayberry	516.70	665.00
45 Maylene		725.00
47 Roebuck		425.00
48 Sicard		429.25
49 Harmon		375.00
50 Bamford		725.00
52 Coalmont		229.50
52 Cedar Grove		1,625.00
53 Helena	900.00	2,225.00
54 Siluria		725.00
57 New Hope		995.00
58 Pelham	1,082.29	375.00
58 Keystone	75.00	340.00
59 Bold Springs		725.00
60 Dunnavant	272.78	725.00
61 Mt. Era		375.00
62 Davis		725.00
64 Straven		425.00
66 Parker		1,025.00
67 Harpersville		725.00
68 Cresswell No. 1		725.00
68 Cresswell No. 2		1,025.00
70 Boothton		375.00
70 Antioch		1,775.00
72 Wilsonville	582.22	1,625.00
74 Calera	1,427.00	337.50
75 Clear Prong		425.00
76 Chapel		375.00
78 Tafton	15.00	1,025.00
79 Acton		425.00
80 Progress		725.00
81 Bannister	200.00

Colored Schools

1 Shelby		390.00
6 Hillsdale		150.00
7 McLeod		150.00
15 Scott's Grove		120.00
20 Pine Grove		135.00
25 Calcis		150.00
30 Shelby Springs		112.50
34 Longview		22.50
34 Saginaw		120.00
34 Pineville	60.00	135.00
36 Newala	19.50	165.00
38 Montevallo		165.00
38 Aldrich		150.00
42 Wilton		120.00
45 Maylene		150.00
47 Roebuck		135.00
48 Sicard		135.00
50 Bamford		150.00
52 Coalmont		270.00
53 Helena		165.00
54 Siluria		120.00
57 Gilberts		150.00
58 Keystone	60.00	135.00
64 Straven		150.00
67 Harpersville		285.00
70 Boothton		270.00
72 Wilsonville		165.00
74 Calera		120.00
78 Scotia		150.00
79 Acton		135.00
81 Union Hill		135.00
81 Baker's Grove		135.00

Yours very truly,
SHELBY COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION.
By S. P. Williamson.

Across Channel in Folding Boat.

Mr. Betts, boatman to the Dover Rowing club, made a night crossing of the Channel in an 18-pound folding rowing boat in eight hours. He had worked 13 hours during the day. His only refreshment was a little brandy.

JUNIOR AMERICAN RED CROSS ARMY 5,596,663

Children of 29,942 Schools Now Enrolled in Movement of Service to Humanity.

The American Junior Red Cross, which was organized as a children's auxiliary during war-times especially to help the young refugees in Europe, and to exemplify in peace-time the Red Cross ideal of service, has now a membership of 5,596,663 in the schools of the United States and the insular possessions.

This Junior movement gives opportunity for the children to share in Red Cross effort parallel to that of the parent organization. Juniors are therefore identified in varying degree with the health services, disaster relief work, salvage and other suitable activities of value to the operations of the Red Cross.

It is a valiant host marching on under its "I Serve" banner in the cause of happier childhood everywhere and particularly wherever the American flag flies. The enrollment embraces 29,942 schools and 147,486 school rooms, a gain over 1923 of 5,655 schools and 22,414 school rooms. The year's gain in membership was 769,402 children, or nearly 80,000 for each month of the school year.

The educational and social values of the Junior Red Cross movement is thus evidencing the firm and cordial endorsement of school authorities. The government has added the weight of recognition by extending the Junior Red Cross in the schools for American Indian children. The American Red Cross is also planning to develop the Junior program in 600 rural schools in isolated sections.

There is no abatement of the exchange of correspondence between schools in the United States and schools in the insular possessions and foreign lands. During the year the Junior Red Cross in part supported operations in twelve European countries. It is a potent influence for the cultivation of international goodwill and its example has been the means of stimulating the formation of Junior Red Cross societies in more than thirty countries.

RED CROSS RAISES $10,000,000 IN 21 DAYS FOR RELIEF

Terrible catastrophes, such as the Japanese earthquake, prove the wisdom of the people in maintaining the American Red Cross as their national and international relief agency. The readiness of the Red Cross for duty in the greatest of emergencies was also proved by test.

The record shows: Sept. 2, President Coolidge assigns the duty of raising $5,000,000 to the American Red Cross; Sept. 4, Red Cross Chapters in over 3,500 communities given fund allotments; Sept. 12, fund totals $5,563,000; Sept. 17, fund nearly $8,000,000 and President announces formal closing of campaign; Sept. 27, fund passes $10,000,000 mark.

In 21 business days the Red Cross doubly performed the duty entrusted to it—all the while keeping a steady flow of relief supplies going out from many Pacific ports to the stricken areas in Japan. Thus was the confidence of the American people in their Red Cross justified and the wisdom of Red Cross preparedness to cope with an unprecedented relief emergency confirmed.

For a quality range at moderate cost, buy Cole's Down Draft Range It has no equal for the price.

I will buy your remnant cotton. T. R. Walton, Columbiana, Ala. 2t

DISSOLUTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I have sold my entire interest in the Vincent Motor Company to Dr. J. W. Arthur who assumes all indebtedness of said company. B. K. Smothers, Vincent, Ala. 10 23 4t pd.

Pardon Notice

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the pardoning board of Alabama, for the parole for Fred Minton, who was convicted of Grand Larceny in the Spring Term of the Shelby County Circuit Court in 1923, and who is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary for the crime. 10 23 2t pd. Fred Minton

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that John Potts will apply to the Pardoning Board and the Governor of Alabama, for a pardon or parole. Said Potts was convicted in the County Court of Shelby County, July 1924, and sentenced to 14 months hard labor for petit larceny. 10 23 2t J. W. Potts.

E. W. CHAPMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

—RADIO AGENCY—

We are distributing agents for The Radiola Line of Radio Equipment, manufactured by the Radio Corporation of America.

Radiolas represent the latest and most practical achievement in radio equipment.

We can take your order, deliver and install your set and give you service.

Come in and let us tell you about Radiolas and quote you prices. You will be surprised at the values we can offer you.

Jerome Fowler,
Luther Fowler,
Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. C. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alabama.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

The WOODSTOCK

Represents the latest achievement in typewriter construction, gives the greatest measure of satisfactory service and a quality of work that is unsurpassed.

Consider these facts: The Woodstock means more far the money, has many superior features and excels in every particular.

Price and terms most attractive—full particulars on request. Ask for demonstration.

LUTHER FOWLER, Distributor
Columbiana, Alabama

WHAT'S THE BEST SMOKE AFTER BREAKFAST?

1.

The "smoke-taste" is finicky in the morning. A cigarette seldom touches the spot. It's too thin to satisfy.

2.

And a cigar is too heavy. Grand opera with the scrambled eggs. Too much wallop for the morning mood.

3.

But here's the happy medium—a pony size cigar—4¼ inches long, betwixt and between cigar and cigarette.

4.

Gives you all the mellow bouquet of your favorite cigar without the mule-kick to morning nerves.

5.

And you get four for 1 thin dime. 4 golden 20 minute smokes—made from specially grown prime leaf Perfecto cigar tobacco. The acknowledged value in cigars.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands—from factory to YOU.

©1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

Makes 5c brands envious—and 10 and 15 centers respectful.

A real Perfecto without the tip.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [~~5 for 10¢~~] for 10¢

J. F. AVERYT
UNDERTAKER
Columbiana, Alabama.
Full line of Undertaker's Supplies on hand at all times at my Residence.

REASONABLE RATES FOR HEARSE

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—3—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924; and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, and in the manner, form and place required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"'Article —, Section 1. The County of Walker, State of Alabama, shall have power to levy and collect a special county road tax not exceeding fifty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in such county in addition to that now authorized or that may hereafter be authorized for public road purposes; provided, that of such tax, the time it is to continue and the purpose thereof shall have been first submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the county, and voted for by a majority of those voting at such election. Section 2. Twenty-five per centum of all moneys derived from property lying within municipalities and arising from the tax proposed herein, shall be paid to such municipality and shall, by it, be expended for upkeep of its streets. Section 3. The Court of County Commissioners, board of revenue, or other governing body of said county, may, or upon written petition of ten per centum of the qualified voters of Walker County, shall call and submit said election provided for and authorized by section one hereof to the qualified electors of Walker County either at the time of the general election or at a special election called for that purpose; provided, that said election shall be called and held in accordance with the law now or that may be enacted governing county bond elections, and in conformity with the general election laws of the State."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—2—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"Proposed Amendment No. 290. Mobile County may become indebted and may issue bonds for the construction or improvement of concrete or better than concrete surfaced public roads, and concrete or better than concrete public bridges in said county, and for the construction of bridges and roadway necessary to provide a public road for vehicular travel between the highlands of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, in an amount not to exceed six and one-half per centum of the assessed value of the property situated in Mobile County. To pay said indebtedness and the interest thereon, Mobile County may levy and collect an annual tax on said property not to exceed one-half of one per centum of said value. The indebtedness, the bonds and the tax authorized hereby shall be in addition to those authorized by the Constitution of Alabama prior to the adoption of this amendment. But no such additional indebtedness shall be created, and no such additional bonds shall be issued, and no such additional tax shall be levied, until each improvement or construction proposed to be built thereby, its approximate location, estimated cost and time of completion, and the amount of the proposed increase, shall have been determined upon and made public by the Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners of Mobile County, and the proposed increase of indebtedness or issue of bonds or tax therefor shall have been first authorized by a majority vote by ballot of the qualified voters of Mobile County voting upon such proposition."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-Four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

Puts in a Cent.

"I wouldn't have missed your sermon tonight for ten dollars," said a gentleman to the clergyman. And when the plate was sent round the same man only put in a cent.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed administrator of the estate of Henrietta Smith, deceased, and all persons having claims against said estate are notified to file them as provided by law.

Witness my hand and dated this the 13th day of October, 1924.

Roy D. Smith.
as Administrator.

10 16 3t.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—4—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"'The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont and Greenville, and Roanoke and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one percentum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1 1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto, including the power of the City of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said City of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words:

"For —— excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ——:" and "Against —— excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ——." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor, and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds or municipal corporations hertofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and such proposition is defeated no second election for the same shall be held in one year thereafter."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

Deepest Gas Well.

The depth of natural gas wells varies greatly from less than 1,000 feet to more than 6,000 feet, the deepest well now producing reaching 6,822 feet.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—5—

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

Article XXI, Section 1. The Legislature may form or provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a sea wall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without an election. Provided the provisions as to roads and sea wall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—7—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding in the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and asses such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid, are hereby validated and confirmed."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

TH' OLE GROUCH

Offer of an Eye.

A man has offered one of his eyes to the blind French painter, Lemordant, if an oculist can be found to perform the grafting operation with some hope of success.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—1—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924; and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"Town Creek School District No. 59, Landersville School District No. 23 and Moulton School District No. 28 in Lawrence County, Alabama, shall each have the right and power by vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such district at an election held for that purpose to levy and collect for the purpose of acquiring, constructing or repairing of school buildings in such districts or paying for school buildings already built, a tax of not over five mills in any one year in addition to all other taxes now authorized by law. The election in such district to determine whether or not such tax shall be levied shall be called, held and conducted as now provided by law for calling, holding and conducting of elections to determine whether or not a three-mill district school tax shall be levied and collected."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR
—8—

WHEREAS, The Legislature of Alabama, at a session held in 1923, has ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at the general election in November, 1924, and

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW THEREFORE, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that at the general election in November, 1924, an election will be held for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama, in the manner, form and places required by law, upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, viz:

"Section 194 1-2. No person who honorably served in the Military or Naval service of the United States between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judge of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 8th day of August, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four.

(Seal) WM. W. BRANDON,
Governor.

By the Governor:
S. H. BLAN,
Secretary of State.

"After Them The Deluge"

How to meet the ever-increasing cost of operating our Government is a problem which confronts the American people today. Taxes "pay the piper"—from the smallest hamlet to the Nation as a whole—public expenses and salaries come from revenues derived from taxation.

When you hear a campaign orator advocating "Government Ownership" of the great transportation lines—stop and think what such a condition would bring about. Where will the Government get the million dollars a day that it is now receiving in taxes from the railroads? (Total taxes paid by railroads in United States approximates 365 million dollars a year.)

To bring the matter closer home, where will the various city, county, state, and National authorities get the Eighty Million Dollars a year that is now being paid in taxes by the railroads operating in states served by the L. & N.? (See the detailed statement in the panel on the left.)

There is but one answer—these taxes must be placed as an added burden on the farmer, the business man, the merchant, the professional man and all other American citizens.

Do you, people of the South, who are now receiving under private management unsurpassed railway service, believe that the questionable benefits of Government Ownership would justify you in assuming an additional burden of not less than $80,000,000 per year for the rest of your days?

Latest Available figures Show Following Taxes Paid by Railroads in Various Southern States:

Alabama	$ 2,425,472
Florida	3,273,537
Georgia	2,755,380
Indiana	10,696,362
Illinois	17,794,701
Kentucky	2,374,623
Louisiana	4,002,156
Mississippi	4,000,321
Missouri	3,121,761
North Carolina	3,427,273
Ohio	18,278,013
Tennessee	2,547,951
Virginia	4,840,393
Total	$79,538,133

L&N
THE OLD RELIABLE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

State Project No. 44, Shelby county.

Sealed bids will be received by the State Highway Commission of Alabama at the office of the State Highway Department, Montgomery, Alabama, until 12:00 o'clock noon, November 26th, 1924, and at that time publicly opened for the construction of 8.104 miles of road from Calera to Wilton, by way of Montevallo, in the County of Shelby.

The principal items of work are approximately as follows;

10.575 acres clearing and grubbing; 66,753 cu yds common excavation and borrow; 14,161 cu yds solid rock excavation; 45,330 sta-yds overhaul on excavation; 50 lin ft 15 in pipe; 462.5 lin ft 18-in pipe;82.5 lin ft 21-in pipe; 166 lin ft 24-in pipe;119 concrete R O W Markers; 6600 lin ft galvanized cable for guard rail; 241 concrete posts for guard rail; 30 concrete end post braces for guard rail; 977.77 cu yds class A concrete in culverts; 108,900 lbs steel reinforcing in culverts; 55.32 cu yds class B concrete in headwalls; 58.04 cu yds class B concrete in baffle walls, 2 standard drop inlets; 52 lin ft pipe to be removed, 9 structures to be removed from right of way; 25,742 sq yds Bermuda grass planting;17,190 lin ft fence to be reset; 251 lin ft pipe to be taken up and relaid; 25,746 cu yds chert surfacing within one mile haul; 77,019 cu yds chert to be hauled one-half mile additional.

ALTERNATE SURFACING

23,746 cu yds imported gravel surfacing, clay or artificial mix.

Prospective bidders are notified that the chert surfacing to be used on this project will have to be crushed, and in going over this work, prospective bidders must investigate this contingency.

The pipe used on this project may be either double strength vitrified clay, corrugated metal, reinforced concrete, or cast iron.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the State Highway Department at Montgomery, Alabama, and in the office of the Division Engineer, Lincoln Life Building, Birmingham, Alabama. Any additional information may be secured from the State Highway Engineer, Montgomery, Alabama.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Cash, certified check or bid-bond for Five Thousand Dollars made payable to the Chairman of the State Highway Commission of Alabama, must accompany each bid as evidence of good faith and as a guarantee that if awarded contract, the bidder will execute the contract and give bond as required.

W. S. KELLER,
10 23 3t State Highway Engineer.

Origin of "Hairbreadth."

The word hairbreadth, now used for infinitesimal space, once named a regular measure. It was the width of 16 hairs laid side by side.

RECORD DISASTER YEAR KEPT RED CROSS BUSY

In 192 Places In United States Its Relief Operations Cost $737,603.

One hundred and ninety-two disasters resulting in 735 deaths and injury to 1,932 persons, rendering nearly 44,000 homeless and causing property losses estimated at more than $44,759,000, established a new record in the United States in the year ended last June 30, according to reports of the American Red Cross. In all of these disasters immediately relief activity was applied by the Red Cross, which expended $737,603.37 through the national organization and the local Chapters in assisting stricken communities.

As the nation's chief relief agency, whose service covers over 43 years, the Red Cross is expected to be on duty almost as soon as disaster strikes any locality. This trust and confidence is amply justified by the increasing equipment of the Red Cross, which recently organized a mobile disaster unit of experienced workers ready in all parts of the country to respond on the instant to a call for active duty. This unit is capable of operating in several disaster areas under one general direction, and recently was at work in seven communities in five states at the same time.

Ability, alertness and increasing skill of volunteer workers in more than 3,500 Chapters are reasons for the preparedness of Red Cross for disaster operations, be the call for a disturbance in a restricted local area or for millions in relief funds for a staggering catastrophe such as the earthquake in Japan.

The Red Cross, however, is far from being self-satisfied, for the organization is giving the most serious consideration to measures for preventing disasters. Its relief administration and rehabilitation policies have won for it nation-wide regard. That this important work can always measure up to every demand needs the continued support of the American people through Red Cross membership. The annual enrollment will begin Armistice Day, November 11, and every American is urged to join

w

Real economy and comfort in the kitchen means a Cole's Down Draft Range.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Monday, November 10th, my regular monthly visit, I ll be in my office in Columbiana at Columbiana Drug Co. one day only. I will examine and test eyes free. All you that have trouble with your eyes or need glasses, member the date and come to see me.

DR. M. GOLDNER

Eyes Specialist Birmingham office 318 Empire Bldg.

ANNOUNCEMENT

am again located in Montevallo. Same office I formerly oc- pied. All equipment new and modern. I will appreciate r patronage. Lady attendant

DR. W. J. MITCHELL

Mitchell Bldg, Over Woolley & Horn, Montevallo, Alabama.

DOWN

With High Prices!

Come to Kanter's Sale

to buy your winter supply of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Etc., where your dollar does double duty. Sale closes November 1st.

Kanter's Cash Store

Montevallo, Alabama

Public Opinion Governs.

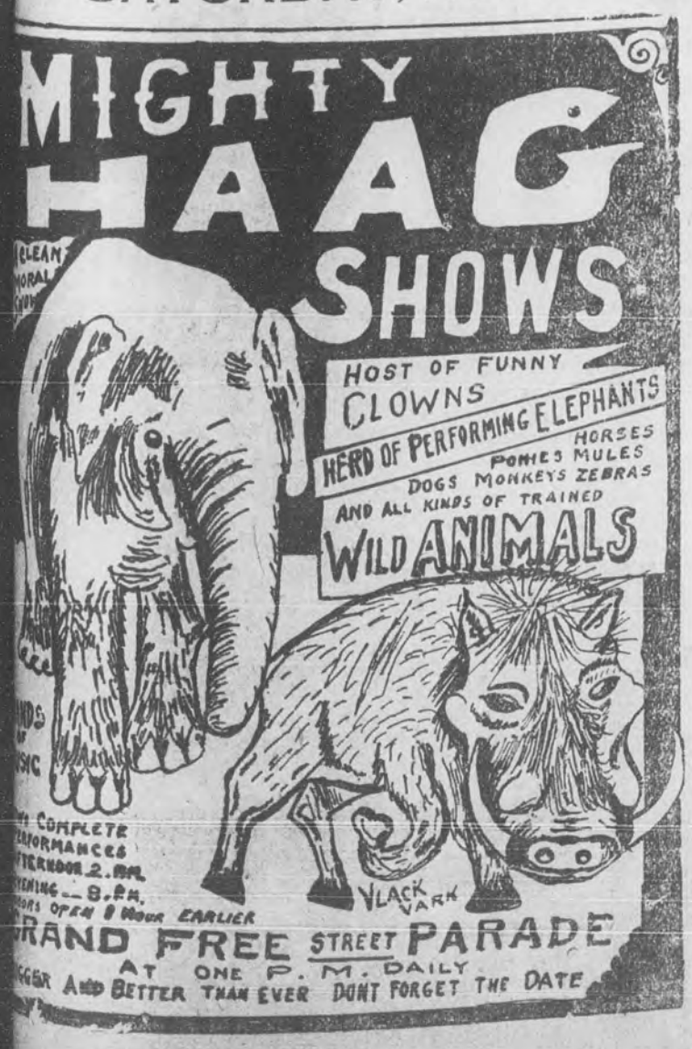
free governments, whatever their are in reality governments by opinion, and it is on the qual- the public opinion that their rity depends.—J. R. Lowell.

The Opportunist.

When United States visitors were gazing at repairs in the West end, a street trader picked up a piece of stone and proffered it with the remark, "Lil' old London—penny a lump."

COLUMBIANA 8

----SATURDAY, NOV.----



WILSONVILLE

Mrs. Drake of Auburn and Mr. Green of Opelika, spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Robertson.

The quarterly conference was held at the Methodist church Saturday.

A. A. Ingram motored to Lineville Sunday where his father's home was burned Saturday morning.

Miss Mattie Vick of Sylacauga, was called Saturday to the bedside of her sister, Miss Dora Vick who has been sick for several days

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Simpson of Birmingham spent the week end with their nephew C. H. Simpson and family.

Mr. Freeman of Wilton attended the funeral of Mr. Skain near here last week.

Mrs. Vershot of Columbiana, Mrs. Sam Stoutermire of near here Mrs. Atchinson of Columbiana, Mr. and Mrs. George Flournoy of Leeds were called to the bedside of their father, Mr. Flournoy, who happened to the misfortune of losing his arm at the gin Saturday morning.

Calvin Weldon of Calera spent Sunday here with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Rushen Robertson and Miss Lester motored to Sylacauga last Thursday evening.

Madalee West has been sick at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Vardaman for sevral days.

Miss Clarice Pearson of Columbiana, spent the week-end with Miss Myrtis Beard.

Rev. and Mrs. Barnes moved Saturday to the Baptist parsonage

Messrs. Tom Reinhardt and Edd Jackson motored to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mrs. Grimes and son A. V., Mr. Smith McLaughton of Leeds, Mr. Dewel Miller of Birmingham spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Miller.

Miss Pauline Galloway of Montevallo attended the funeral of Mr. Skain of near here last week.

Mrs. L. B. Riddle and Miss Irene Bishop of Columbiana spent several hours in town Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Grady McEwen is at home after spending several days in Sylacauga.

Amos Daniel of Pelham spent the week-end here with relatives.

The leaders of the Junior B. Y. P. U. entertained the thirty members of the Union last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Roselle Smith.

Mrs. O. E. Black who was operated on at the South Highland Infirmary last week is reported to be improving.

Rev. F. P. Hewlett left Tuesday morning for Talladega to attend the North Alabama Conference. Dr T. O. Smith was elected delegate of the Sylacauga district.

CALERA.

Mrs. Margurite Queveda was received in the order of the Eastern Star Monday evening.

Mrs. George W. Coble and son George Walter, Jr., returned home Sunday, after a week's visit with relatives in Oakman.

Mrs. Philip Nye went to Birmingham Wednesday to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Clara May Deloney to Mr. Bradford, Wednesday evening at the Woodlawn church.

Mrs. J. D. Holcombe of Spring Creek spent Thursday with Mrs. Arthur Holcombe.

Herbert Thornburg of Birmingham Southern College spent Saturday and Sunday with parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wade, Mrs. Blanch Martin and son Jack, and Miss Mary Brannon motored to Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. Mary N. Holcombe spent the week-end with relatives in Birmingham.

Miss Willie Lee Page of Fayetteville spent the week-end with her father.

Henry Sanders of Anniston was in town Tuesday.

Mrs. Arthur Abbott of Ensley is visiting relatives.

Miss Brooks of Texas has been the guest of Mrs. Fla Onderdonk

The Girl Scouts will meet Saturday morning at 10:30.

J. D. Shaw, Robert Howell and J. D. Tomlin entertained a fishing party of 25 from Birmingham last week at Oliver's camp on Warrior river.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rogers motored to Birmingham Sunday.

Miss Alma Pilgreen spent the week-end with relatives in Aldrich.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley, Pane and Lillian, and Miss Annie Mae Campbell motored to Siluria Sunday.

FOURMILE

Our school has a good enrollment

Rev. Walden of Birmingham, preached here Sunday.

T. J. Stone spent last Thursday in Bessemer, where he went for treatment.

Frank McEwen spent Saturday in Sylacauga.

Mrs. D. R. Spearman and her little daughter, Wilma, have returned from a visit to Ensley.

Mrs. Chester Stone who is in the infirmary in Sylacauga is improving.

A singing was given by Miss Wilma Baker Sunday night that was greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gardner are visiting relatives in Bibb county.

D. Holcombe spent the week-end here with his parents.

John McKinnon of Ensley is spending a while here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McKinnon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nall returned Thursday to their home in Powderly, after spending a few days here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore and their daughter, Esther, of Calcis, visited Mr. Moore's father Sunday.

The entertainment given by Miss Ruby Stone Saturday night, was greatly enjoyed.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

Estate of W. L. Tumlin, deceased. Probate Court.

Letters of Administration on the Estate of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 23 day of October, 1924, by the Hon. L. B. Riddle, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or the same will be barred. Mrs. Maude A Tumlin, 10 30 3t. Tallapoosa, Ga.

NOTICE OF ESTRAY

State of Alabama, Shelby county Justice Court of Justice of Peace,

Notice is hereby given that one head of cattle taken up in precinct 12 and described as follows:

Dark brown cow, about 5 years old; Dehorned, unmarked, had large bell on, in good condition, not milking, which was heretofore, on the 22 day of October, 1924, adjudged an estray by J. E. Ruffin, Justice of the Peace of said county and is therefore condemned as an estray in order to be sold at public auction and will be sold to the highest bidder on the 1st day of November, 1924, at Cox's Dipping Vat in Precinct No. 12.

1t J. E. Ruffin.
Justice of Peace of Shelby Co.

J. W. LANGLEY
Will Be At
Vincent, Friday, Nov. 7th.
Wilsonville, Thurs. Nov. 13
Columbiana, Fri. Nov. 14.
COME EARLY

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK

Montevallo, Alabama

C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slohe, Cashier

Checking Accounts Solicited.

TOMBSTONES MONUMENTS

I am still selling Tombstones and Monuments

My work is of the best, both in material and workmanship.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

No payment is required until the work is put up. If it is not what you bought you won't have to take it.

If you need anything in this line write to me at Harpersville, Alabama.

R. B. POSEY

COMING

TO

Strand Theatre

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

a James Cruze Production

THE

Covered Wagon

Thursday-Friday-Sat'day

November 6th, 7th and 8th

Matinee Daily 3:30 P. M.
Night 7:00 and 9:00 P. M.

Admission: 35c and 50c

DETROIT WOMAN RECOVERS

Health Much Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"Your little book left at my door was my best doctor. I read it, then said to my husband, 'Please go and get me some Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I want to take it.' The first month I took three bottles of Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. If you only knew how much better I feel! Now when my friends say they are sick I tell them to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines. I give the little book and your medicines the best of thanks."—Mrs. HAMERINK, 3765 25th Street, Detroit, Michigan.

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pains and nervousness, or any feminine disorder, bear in mind that the Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Don't let yourself run down. Don't make easy the way for age and disease. Keep your whole system toned up with Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic and Nature will work wonders for you.

"There is Hope"

For Constipation use Munyon's Paw Paw Pills

MUNYON'S PAW PAW TONIC

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

A Merry Joust

"What is this?" "A tilting contest?" "Tilting?" "Of soup plates."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Help That Achy Back!

Are you dragging around, day after day, with a dull, unceasing backache? Are you lame in the morning, bothered with headaches, dizziness and urinary disorders? Feel tired, irritable and discouraged? Then there's surely something wrong, and likely it's kidney weakness. Don't neglect it! Get back your health while you can. Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands, and should help you. Ask your Neighbor!

An Alabama Case

Mrs. C. R. Whitehead, 121 S. Commerce St., Geneva, Ala., says: "A heavy, bearing down pain in my back bothered me and I couldn't rest comfortably. When I was on my feet long my back gave out. Headaches and dizzy spells were common, too. My kidneys acted too freely. Doan's Pills gave me relief."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills

The reason

Get a 25¢ Box

Your Druggist

NR Tonight - Tomorrow Alright

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

Clear The Pores Of Impurities With Cuticura Soap

Soap, Ointment, Talcum sold everywhere.

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

THE WATER BOY

ONCE upon a time there was a little princess who lived in a beautiful palace by the side of a river. There was a garden with lawns and fountains, and the princess was allowed to play there in her golden robe and you would have thought she would have been happy all the time. But every once in a while she said to her nurse:

"Nursie, I hear some one crying. Do you hear it?"

But her old nurse always went right on with her sewing as she rested on a marble bench in the sun, and said:

"Stuff and nonsense, your highness. Stuff and nonsense!"

So the little princess would go on playing in the garden and say nothing more, but she would go near the great wall that separated her garden from the river and try to hear through the stones where the sound of crying came from.

The Little Princess Used to Bring Him Things to Eat.

At last one day she found a chink in the wall and she glued her eye to the little hole and looked through. And there she found herself looking into a little dark room on the other side of the wall, where lay a very dirty little boy crying as hard as he could.

"Psst!" said the little princess, softly. "What are you crying about?"

The little boy sat up in astonishment and looked around, but at first he couldn't tell where the voice came from. Then he saw the little black eye of the princess shining through the hole and he came over to her, wiping his eyes on his sleeve, for he was ashamed of being caught crying.

"I was crying because I was hungry and cold," he said. "But, no matter, I will forget about it for a while. I have often been hungry and cold."

But the little princess had gone. She went running off through the garden as fast as she could. And the nurse did not see her, because she had fallen asleep on the bench. The princess ran up to the tea table and filled both her hands as full of goodies as she could and then ran back to the side of the river by the wall and began pulling at the little hole.

"Here!" she cried. "Help me to make this bigger!"

The little boy did as she bade him and together they made quite a big hole and she passed the food in to him.

Every day after that she used to bring him things to eat and they would talk. She found out that he rowed people across the river to earn his living, but that often the older boatmen got all the passengers and there was no one for him to row across. Every day they made the hole bigger and bigger until it was almost large enough for him to get through so that he could play in her garden.

Then one day a terrible storm came up the river and the water rose and rose against the garden wall. The little princess was not allowed to go outdoors that day. Her thoughts were all for the boy in his dark room, for she was afraid he would be drowned, but her nurse's thoughts were all for themselves, for she was afraid for their safety.

"I have sent for your father, the king!" the old nurse cried. "But I am afraid he will be too late to take us away. The water has risen all around the palace and the wall is all that keeps us from the waves!"

Then there was a great crash and the sound of water pouring over the wall, and the nurse gave up hope. But the little princess was not afraid. She cried out in joy, for there she saw coming over the wall, on the crest of the wave, her boy.

He rowed up to them and helped them into the boat, although the nurse, being a snobbish old thing, said even in the midst of the danger that she did not care much about riding with such a poorly clad oarsman. But the little princess only laughed, for she was a real princess and did not care about things like that. So they were rescued, and the princess told the king, her father, about it, and told that she would like to marry the boy when they got older.

"We will see how he can carry the duties of a prince. If he is worthy, perhaps you shall have your way."

So they gave the boy the duties of a prince and the clothes of a prince (which are much less important but make much more of an impression on nurses and the like) and as he was a good prince they made him king in time and he married the little princess and they lived happy ever after.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Robert Edeson

For twenty-five years this veteran actor, now popular in the "movies," appeared behind the footlights, where he was a striking exponent of romantic parts. Like hundreds of others, the lure of the screen called him. Edeson was born in New Orleans. He has appeared in pictures sponsored by the leading film companies.

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

TODAY

LET Yesterday take care
Of Yesterday's despair,
And let Tomorrow's ill
Tomorrow's hours fill.

Today is my concern,
And unto it I turn
Resolved with all my wit
To make the best of it.

Whereby I may forget
My Yesterday's regret,
And maybe turn aside
Tomorrow's evil tide.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds	Headache
Pain	Neuralgia
Toothache	Lumbago
Neuritis	Rheumatism

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Our Changing Language

"What do they mean by backing and filling?"

"Procedure at a gasoline station."

Well-Merited Success

Honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears here, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for fifty years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. This Discovery of Doctor Pierce's puts you in fine condition, with all the organs active. All dealers have it.

Send 10 cents for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHY SUFFER WITH CHILLS? Treatment $2, relief almost immediately. Nothing like it. M. Lindley, Camden, N. J.

WANTED—Man, energetic and reliable, wanted for factory representative to handle our business in this district. Unusual opportunity with fortune for right man. Experience or capital unnecessary. Write fully. Syncro Motors Works, Battle Creek, Mich.

BRASS BUCKET SPRAY PUMPS $3.60 delivered. FARM NOVELTY SUPPLY COMPANY, ORANGEBURG, S. C.

CONTINUOUS HATCHER An Innovation

Agents Wanted

Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.

Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co. Box 675. Jackson, Miss.

FACTORY REPRESENTATIVE In each county of Alabama for a household necessity. We advertise in your name in your county paper. Write THE HANDY PRESSING BOARD CO. 2211 29th Ave. North Birmingham, Ala.

Buy Concord Yarns direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

A woman never doubts what her husband says when he comes home too late. She knows.

The wise man carries wealth in himself.

Blows Its Own Horn.

For 78 years Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh has been the friend of rich and poor. Lived that long on its own merits. 3 sizes.—Adv.

Some men are pleasant to talk to but disagreeable to listen to.

A Lady of Distinction

Is recognized by the delicate, fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum powder usually means a clear, sweet, healthy skin.—Advertisement.

Some people imagine that they lose caste by speaking civilly.

If Worms or Tapeworm persist in your system, use the real vermifuge, Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot." Only 50 cents at your druggist or 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Follies of life are the amusements we don't care for.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

No matter how long a bullet girl remains on the stage she never grows gray in the service.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Occasionally a man manages to beat a woman in an argument by keeping his mouth shut.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

OBSERVING

ANNE WHITE, Mrs. George White, lived with her husband, a bank clerk, and their three children on a tiny farm within commuting distance of New York. When, in a leisurely ten minutes' walk, Anne White found and explained to her children at least five new wild flowers and three new insects, she would say, laughing:

"Oh, George and I, when we came here to live, made up our minds that the children should learn to observe and be interested."

Two years later the George Whites moved to town. He had been advanced at the bank, and the new position meant earlier and later hours than catching trains allowed. But their habit of "observing and being interested" continued. When Anne took a New Yorker walking and showed her something new in her own park, the explanation would be, "George and I like to tramp for an hour or so after early supper, and we're always discovering something."

They lived down on a little old-fashioned square in the slums that they had also "discovered." On one corner was a market where delicious country eggs could be bought for less than one paid for cold storage eggs up town; a block away was a Russian church with music that most people had to go to a concert hall to hear; across the street was a house in which a member of Washington's cabinet had once lived. Every once in a while the Whites would go on expeditions. One evening there was a fire across the river, and, happening to be out walking when it started, they got on a ferryboat, learned more than the papers told next morning, and acquired a new interest. They came to know, one by one, the high buildings that rose above the city, and the boat lines and steamers they passed. They had "observed and become interested in" the water front. Anne knew the finest bit of skyline in the city; George was always telling of some new acquisition at the zoo or the museum, or of some new picture exhibit. They went to parades and experiment theaters that later, maybe, set the town agog.

Then the bankers one day made George head of their branch in China. It was a very big jump for so young a man. When some one commented on the appointment to the president, he replied that the post called for a man with powers of observation and sustained interest. Young George White, he said, knew more about a job after a month than most people did in a lifetime. The Whites' habit of "observing and being interested" in what was near at hand had brought to them the ends of the earth.

HAVE YOU THIS HABIT?

(© by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

FACTS about your name; it's history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

NORA

NORA, which has always seemed associated with beauty to the extent of frequently being synonymous, really comes under the class of military names.

Honor was a deity in ancient Rome, but Honorius first appears as a proper name in one of the appellations of the Spanish father of the great Theodosius. It was inherited by that imbecile being, his grandson, the last genuine Roman emperor, and also by a niece called Justa Grata Honoria, who dishonored all three of her honorable names. But some lingering allegiance to the last rulers of the empire perpetuated their names and finally we have Honorine, a Neustrian maiden slain in a Danish invasion and regarded as a martyr.

For that reason, Honorine is exceedingly popular in France and Germany. It penetrated England also, and in Ireland became a great favorite as Onora, Honor or Norah. Two Gallic bishops named Honoratus are said to be responsible for the derivation of the popular French Honore. Another elaboration in vogue is Honoria.

Perhaps it is the inherent pathos of Celtic legend which gives Nora the talismanic stone which to dream of denotes sorrow—jet. That fashionable glittering jewel should be worn constantly by the bearer of the name, since jet is said to become a part of the very body and soul of its wearer and to exercise jealous care in guarding her from evil. Sunday is appointed her lucky day and mystic 7 her lucky number.

The most charming of all the poetic tributes to Nora is Thomas Moore's:

Lesbia hath a beaming eye,
But no one knows for whom it beameth,

Right and left its arrows fly,
But what they aim at no one dreameth!

Sweeter 'tis to gaze upon
My Nora's lid that seldom rises:
Few its looks, but every one
Like unexpected light surprises!
O, my Nora Creina, dear,
My gentle bashful Nora Creina!
Beauty lies
In many eyes,
But love in yours, my Nora Creina.

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

LIFE is lemonade—slightly sweetened with hope, charged with enthusiasm, rose-colored with imagination and flavored with love.

* * *

There are three secrets which even the most voluble woman never tells. The date of her birth, the story of the man who "got away" and her REAL opinion of the man she loves.

* * *

Woman may be advanced, but she will still encumber her head with two pounds of "transformation" for love of a man who wouldn't so much as camouflage his bald spot with a toupee for love of a gooddess.

(© by Helen Rowland.)

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Absolutely Harmless - No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Piles Can Be Cured

(Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding)

Many sufferers have been made very happy over the results obtained from the use of PAZO OINTMENT—60c at any Drug Store.

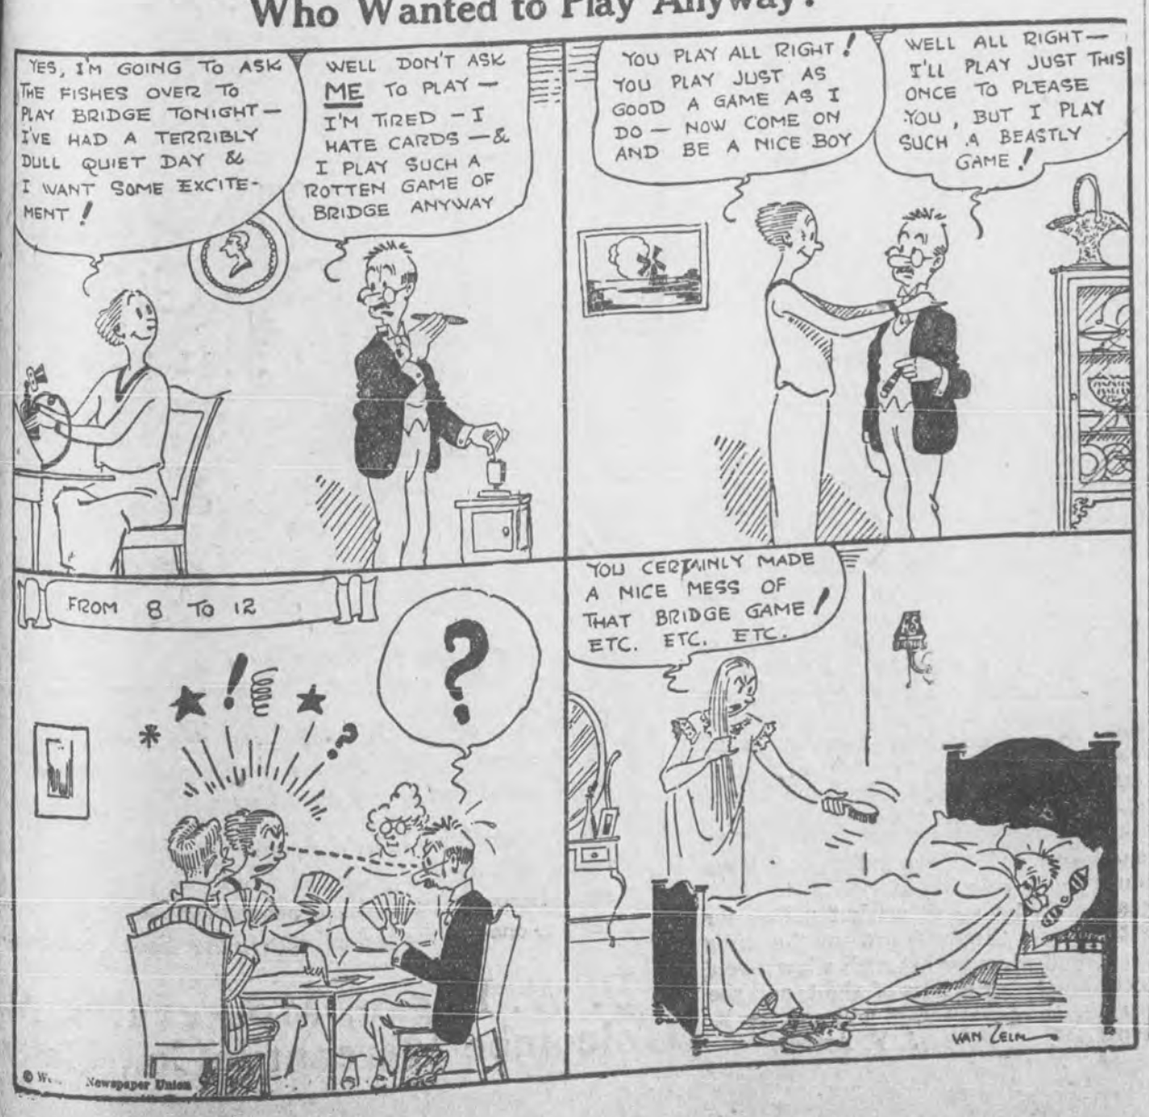
(Follow the Directions Carefully.)

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

Sounds Reasonable

Who Wanted to Play Anyway?



HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

WATCH YOUR HEART

HEART disease causes more deaths today than any other single group of diseases. For many years, and as far back as we have any knowledge, this unenviable distinction was held by tuberculosis, which has for centuries been the greatest scourge of the world. But the tuberculosis death rate has been more than cut in two in this country in the last 25 years, while the death rate from heart disease has been steadily rising.

The report of the United States census bureau for 1922 shows that out of 1,009,673 deaths in this country in that year 85,739 were due to tuberculosis, 76,770 to pneumonia, 76,131 to kidney disease, 75,113 to cancer, 70,664 to cerebral hemorrhage and 137,157 to heart disease. One out of every five persons over forty who died in 1922 was killed by some form of heart disease.

Most people think of heart disease as something that strikes in the dark without warning; something that cannot be prevented. They think that heart disease is like Fate, something you cannot avoid, foresee or prevent. This is not true. Heart disease is due to causes which can be foreseen and prevented. Isn't it worth while to try and prevent it and so save nearly 150,000 lives a year?

Diseases like tuberculosis, smallpox and typhoid fever are epidemic diseases which can only be controlled by general measures. If your town has polluted water, and you drink it, you'll get typhoid, no matter what your personal habits are. But heart disease is an individual disease. It depends largely on you whether you will be the one person out of five persons to die of heart disease or not.

What's the cause of this enormous number of damaged hearts? Poison of some kind, usually the poison left in the body by some contagious preventable disease.

Nearly every case of heart disease is caused by the poison in the blood irritating one of the valves of the heart, causing first inflammation, then ulceration. These little ulcers heal, but the healing produces scar tissue, which pulls the valves out of shape and so prevents them from working properly. This may follow typhoid, diphtheria, scarlet fever, rheumatism or any other disease which produces poisons in the body. Or these poisons may get into the blood through diseased tonsils or bad teeth.

If heart disease is caused by infection, then to avoid it we must avoid infection. If you have bad teeth or tonsils, have them properly treated. They may not kill you now, but they will later on. Keep your children away from sick children.

DON'T TAKE YOUR CARES TO DINNER

WHEN you are unhappy you don't enjoy your dinner. But that's only half of it. When you are unhappy you can't digest your dinner as well as you can when you're happy.

That's all imagination, you say. No, it isn't. It's cold scientific fact. Any unpleasant emotion slows up the digestive machinery, or as doctors say, "inhibits intestinal peristalsis." Anxiety, annoyance, anger, grief or worry actually slow up the processes of digestion.

Doctor Cannon of Harvard university, the well-known authority on physiology, has made many curious and interesting observations on the effect of worry, fear and pain in both animals and man. By putting an X-ray tube behind the body and looking through a fluoroscope, the movements or lack of movement of the stomach and intestines can be seen as plainly as though the living body had glass walls. Cannon fed a pussy cat a diet of milk, and watched the milk pass down her throat into her stomach and the digestion of the milk begin. Then he pinched the cat's tail. The digestion stopped at once, and wasn't begun again until he had apologized to pussy, and restored her good humor. As soon as she began to purr, the stomach started to work again.

When we are angry, worried, fearful or in pain, our stomach refuses to work. What's the moral? Don't eat when you are over-tired. Lie down and rest for fifteen minutes or half an hour. Don't eat when you are angry or excited. Sit down and calm down. Don't take your worries to the table with you, if you can help it. There are two places where business, family and personal worries should never come. One is the dining room and the other is the bedroom. When you sit down to take into your body the food which is going to repair the waste and give you the strength for the next twenty-four hours, give your stomach a fair chance.

Too many business men jump up from their desks, run out to the lunchroom, or home, bolt their dinner in a rush without ever taking their minds off of their business worries and problems, and rush back to their desks for the afternoon.

Then they wonder why they have indigestion.

Even a horse is allowed a quiet half-hour in which to eat his oats.

Give your stomach a chance. That's all it needs.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Love your work—it pays.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! Even a bilious, constipated, feverish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Time brings the truth to light.

Sore and inflamed eyes, sties and granulations healed promptly by nightly use of Roman Eye Balsam. 35 cents. Adv.

Time is gold.

A high brow may conceal low brains.

A FEELING OF SECURITY WHEN YOU USE SWAMP-ROOT

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit-producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

What each man wishes, that also he thinks.

WRIGLEY'S

After Every Meal

It's the longest-lasting confection you can buy—and it's a help to digestion and a cleanser for the mouth and teeth.

Wrigley's means benefit as well as pleasure.

Neat-Foot SHOE DRESSING

NEAT-FOOT SHINES WITH A SMILE

never dries in the box —does not stain the hands—renders a shine of lasting quality —most economical

DISTRIBUTORS
A. J. ALLRED BROKERAGE CO.
2207 Morris Ave. Birmingham, Ala.

Labels bearing the name and principal business profession of the wearers were a recent innovation at several British society gatherings.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers:* Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

MUSTEROLE

Better than a mustard plaster

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 44--1924.

After 15 Hard Months— His USKIDE Soles Still Good!

THINK of that! Marcellus R. Abel, a Cincinnati traffic officer, wore this pair of USKIDE Soles fifteen months, in rain, slush, on hot, rasping pavements.

"I have had such comfort," he says, "cool in summer, warm and dry in winter—and they are still good for several months' wear."

USKIDE—the wonder sole for wear. It wears and wears—twice as long as best leather—often longer.

USKIDE cuts your shoe bills. Have your repairman put USKIDE Soles on your shoes today. And be sure your next new shoes have genuine USKIDE Soles. The name is on the sole—for your protection.

And—for a Better Heel to Walk On!

A fit companion for USKIDE Soles—the "U. S." Spring-Step Heel. Made of new Sprayed Rubber, the purest, toughest rubber known. Get onto a pair right away.

United States Rubber Company

USKIDE Soles

BARGAINS EVERY DAY

Tri-Hex Clothing

Pretty Gingham, the yard	10c
Nitro Club Shells - - -	95c
Western Field Shells - -	95c
New Club Shells - - -	75c
New Chief Shells - - -	75c
10 pounds Sugar - - - -	89c
5 pounds Sugar - - - -	45c
Very best Outing - - -	18c
Good 220 denim Overalls	$1.25
Bull's Eye O'all, best made	$1.69

Red Goose Shoes are made good at the factory, therefore we don't have to make them good

FARMERS EXCHANGE

The Store For Economical People. - - - Columbiana, Alabama

Electric Room Heater.

An electric room heater has been invented that can be suspended from a light socket.

For Sale—Mule, wagon and harness. L. M. Latham, Montevallo, Alabama.

FOR SALE AND RENT

One farm for sale, 100 acres with terms, well located and improved. One farm for rent, 60 acres open, well located and improved. Tenant must be able to furnish references and his own supplies. For further information see Jas. W. Cordell, Columbiana, Ala. 1tpd

J. W. LANGLEY
Will Be At
Vincent, Friday, Nov. 7th.
Wilsonville. Thurs. Nov. 13
Columbiana, Fri.. Nov. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Nabb, of Birmingham, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Merrell Sunday.

Fishing by Wireless.

Vessels attached to the Canadian department of marine and fisheries are to be fitted with wireless apparatus for the purpose of reporting the movements of schools of fish. Telephone broadcasting apparatus will be employed by the same purpose. By this means fishermen owning receiving sets will avoid fruitless or unprofitable trips.

Home For Sale—One of the most desirable places in Columbiana Eight room house, well finished throughout, new roof, in good repair in every way; large screened porch, servant house, garage, on large lot. See Mrs. F. G. Koenig. 1t pd. Columbiana, Ala.

You Will Find

Pure chemicals and drugs
First class Toilet Articles
Full line of Patent Remedies, Fine Stationery and Fountain pens, school books and School supplies: Fine Candies, Cut Glass, Cigars and Cigarettes

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35.000.00

COLUMBIANA. ALABAMA.

W. F. DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

The Protection of Birds

The protection of birds should be a theme of interest to everyone When we begin to study about what birds are really worth to every man, woman and child in this country, we realize that more than has ever been done before, must be done to protect them.

To say nothing of the pleasure of seeing them and hearing their sweet songs, birds enter into the very battle of life with us and in a greater degree than many people realize, affect our exports and imports. There is no business in this country that is not affected by birds.

Our great forests would be destroyed in a few years by worms, bugs, and other insects, if it were not for the little birds. Every farmer knows that the most destructive enemies to farm products are insects, He knows too that the greatest destroyers of these insects, are birds. Here is where their mighty power comes in. The great battle we have every year against insects would be less severe if we had more birds.

Then let us have more birds. How? Protect them by letting them raise unmolested and by killing their destroyers, such as snakes, hawks, owls, weasels, 'possums, foxes and a host of others not named. Some of these are protected by law, which ought never to have been done. These animals kill every bird they find; especially quails and turkeys which have to raise their young on the ground and become an easy prey to the depredations of these animals.

The mink and the weasel will kill every chicken a farmer has just for the fun of it, and travel a long way at that to do his dirty work. If the fox is allowed to increase it will not be many years until there will re no turkeys wild nor tame, in this country.

Right here where I am living an old sow fox killed a fine bunch of tame turkeys in one night. Her den was found three miles away where she had young ones in a hollow log raising them on turkeys.

There is another side to all this. In the North the people have enjoyed hunting and trapping for centuries and still have plenty of game, for because of their shrewdness, these animals cannot be exterminated, only kept down. Then why not let the farmers of the South trap them in the same way and so get money enough to pay his taxes? Or why not let the farmer boy take his traps and catch these hateful animals and make money to buy his winter clothes or his school books and at the same time enjoy the life in the great out-of-doors? This would help to keep the boys on the farm and at the same time help to keep down these pests that are destroying thousands of dollars worth of property and killing millions of birds every year.

So let us all work together for a law that will protect the birds and when we get such a law, based on the principles of right, and the laws of nature, it will enforce itself. J. F. Archer.

Mrs. Koenig Hostess At Lovely Luncheon Party

Few affairs of a social nature in Columbiana have been marked in recent years by the distinctive charm that made Mrs. Frederick Koenig's buffet luncheon bridge party Thursday afternoon the conspicuous event of the season for feminine devotees of bridge.

As Mr. and Mrs. Koenig will soon take up their residence in Birmingham, it was the final hospitality in their gracious home. For this reason, no doubt, the entertainment was unusually elaborate and lavish. The scene was typical of the rich bounty of autumn. It was also typical of ancient days in Columbiana when the ante-bellum hosts, entertaining visitors from afar, served an abundance of delectable viands as well as the daintics of the modern feminine festivity. So the table around which the party gathered at 1:00 o'clock for a hot lunceon suggested the days before the war when the tables of our fathers "groaned" with foods. Hot baked turkey with its accompanying cranberry jellies and its oyster dressing, sweet potato and raisin puddings, salads and hot rolls, spice cakes, coffee and ambrosia composed a lavish luncheon service.

The bridge prize, a handsome silver sugar shell was won by Mrs. Lefkovits.

The autumn woods which are daily growing more beautiful in Shelby county afforded the majority of the decorations. Red maple leaves garnished the rooms, the table was centered with a shower of red dahlias, wreathed with red sarsaparilla berries. Among those whom Mrs. Koenig welcomed to her bridge luncheon were: Mrs. W. F. Davis, Mrs. J. T. Leeper, Mrs. J. F. Norris, Mrs. W. W. Wallace, Mrs. W. L. Christian, Mrs. D. S. Lightcap, Mrs. Ennis Roberts, of Anniston; Miss Myrtle Miles of New York City; Mrs. Edward S. Lyman, of Montevallo; Mrs. J. G. Hendricks and Mrs. D. E. Gray, of Shelby; Mrs. Max Lefkovits, Mrs. E. M. Jones, Mrs. Walter Merrell, Mrs. J. J. Haynes, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Lillie Duran, Mrs. Oliver Miles, Mrs. L. E. Christian, Mrs. Luther Fowler.

Everybody in Columbiana, is urged to come to the Halloween party at the Public School, tomorrow, Friday night. All the children are looking forward to it. Let's all help to give them a good time. All funds raised will be used for the benefit of the school.

SHELBY

Mrs. O. E. King of Sylacauga, is visiting her mother Mrs. W. B. Seale.

Mrs. B. B. Pugh has returned home from a visit to her mother at Uniontown.

Miss Dolly Jones received a letter from Miss Aurora Fluker on board a steam ship for China. Miss Fluker, formerly lived in Shelby, and her friends will be interested to know she has gone to China as a missionary after four years of training at the Bible institute in Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. J. C. Curlee of Talladega, made a short visit to Shelby Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Reeves and little daughter spent last week with Mrs. Reeves' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lyons.

F. M. King of Shelby is spending the week end with his daughters, Misses Frances and Mary King in Childersburg.

Mrs. James Ogden entertained the missionary society Monday afternoon. A very interes gram was rendered aft refreshments were serve
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. C daughter, Elizabeth, of B are visiting Mr. and Mr Curlee

School Improvement
At Harpersvill

Harpersville, Ala., Octob
The people of Harpersv
munity met at the school
Monday night for the pu organizing a school impr association. A large numbe thusiastic workers were and the organization wa
cess.

The first thing on ening program which
Hallowe'en social on Frida
October 31st. Every body ed to come out and enjoy ening with us.

Piano For Sale—Kra
Bach Piano, in good condi
sale. Price reasonable. Mr
Koenig, Columbiana, Ala.

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Al
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abst.ac of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract

E. A. TURNER J. B. TU

Turner & Turn

REAL ESTATE
and Trading Co.
Columbiana, Alabama

Farm Lands a Specialty.

The Wedding Gift

Nothing could make a better or more acceptable wedding present than a

COLE'S SANITARY

DOWN DRAFT RANGE

Beautiful in design. All nickel parts are smooth as glass. A large roomy oven. And a convenient warming closet. Furnished in blue or gray enamel or plain black finish.

Nothing could be easier than cooking or baking with this range. It is the Brides Choice. We invite everyone to our store to inspect this remarkable fuel-saving specialty. Saves one-third to one-half the fuel bill with its Hot Blast Combustion.

F. W. Rogan, Montevallo, Ala
Holcombe MercantileCo., Calera

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, NOVEMBER 6, 1924. Vol. 81. No. 42

DEMOCRATIC TICKET WINS IN SHELBY COUNTY

Lyman Sweeps Circuit With Big Majorities

JONES WINS A CLOSE RACE FOR MEMBER BOARD OF REVENUE

The Democrats of Shelby county swept every man on their ticket into office in the election Tuesday with majorities ranging according to unofficial returns, from 500 to 800.

Judge E. S. Lyman carried the county over his Republican opponent, Chas W. McKay of Ashland, by an estimated majority of 800 votes. Thos. Minor defeated W. M. Chism for treasurer and J. G. Hendrick and Dr. J. W. Arthur won over H. Stone and Pleasant Shaw Sr., for members of the board of education by substantial majorities. For board of revenue in the first district Mark Jones came through defeating J. C. Reinhardt by 63 votes and T. R. Nash won easily over Bird for member of the board from the 3rd district.

Judge Lyman carried both Clay and Coosa by about 500 votes each making his majority in the circuit 1800 to 2000 votes.

HAAG'S MIGHTY SHOWS COMING SATURDAY

Next Saturday will be circus day in Columbiana. Haag's Mighty Shows are billed to come on that day. The management promises a clean, moral show with good bands funny clowns and all kinds of trained wild animals. Free street parade at 1 p. m. Two performances, afternnoon and evening.

Attractive Program For Armistice Day

Preparations are being made by the Hendrick Hudson Post of the American Legion for observing Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11th. The exercises will be held on the campus of Alabama College, beginning at 11 o'clock and the entire faculty and student body as well as the citizens of Montevallo will join the service men in the program. A cordial invitation is given to every one to come to Montevallo and have part in the observance of this day. Service men are especially urged to come.

Former Pastor Visits

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 3.—Rev. J. K Simpson, a former pastor of the Montevallo Methodist church, now connected with the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, was a welcome visitor at Alabama College on Sunday afternoon. At the regular Y. W. C. A. service, he gave an interesting and inspiring talk on the subject "What is Success."

Averyt & Sons Offer Saturday Specials

The Reporter wishes to call especial attentiont o the advertisement of John F. Averyt & Sons of Calera, in this issue. This firm carries a complete line of clean fresh groceries and in this advertisement of Specials for next Saturday they are making some attractive prices.

It will be a kindness to the Reporter if every reader who can do so will go to see Messrs. Averyt on Saturday and see for themselves the quality of goods being offered at these prices. Read the ad.

Athletic Association Financial Statement

The Athletic Association of Shelby County High School will publish at the close of each month a statement showing receipts and expenditures. For the month of October the statement is as follows:

	Receipts	Exp.
Oct. 3 Pell City Game	$ 78.00	$77.20
Oct. 10. Jefferson County High game	105.00	71.90
Oct. 17. Jones Valley game	53.75	70.93
Senators Campaign fund	56.25
Giants Campaign fund	35.75
Marion game	71.45	99.15
Oxford game	14.75	29.35
Other Expenses		9.34
Total	$414.95	$357.87
Balance		$57.08

The association means to pay all debts made during the year. If one should be overlooked notify us and same shall have prompt attention.

Ezra Crumpton, President.
Aline Spruell, Secy-Treas.

Gasoline Tax For State Over Million and Half

Gross receipts from the state two cent per gallon gasoline tax for the twelve months from October, 1923 to September 1924, inclusive, amounted to $1.608,555.10 according to figures from the office of the state tax commission. Expenses of collection totalled $9,-158.51, so that net returns from the tax amounted to $1,599,396.59. The proceeds from the tax was divided equally among the 67 counties each county's share for the year being $23,871.53.

Bank Closes Tuesday

The Columbiana Savings Bank will be closed Tuesday, November 11th in observance of Armistice Day.

WANTED—Two tenants to grow cotton. Good lands. Jas. W. Cordell Columbiana, Ala. 1tpd.

EXCHANGEITES CHOOSE SAXON FOR PRESIDENT

At the meeting of the Exchange Club of Columbiana last week, L. L. Saxon was chosen president of the club, to take the place of Fred G. Koenig whose resignation was accepetd with regret. E. M. Jones was elected vice-president in Mr. Saxon's place.

In his letter to the club tendering his resignation Mr. Koenig said: "I want each member of the Exchange Club to know that I appreciate very very highly the honferred on me and that it is with deep regret that I find I must relinquish the place."

Mr. Koenig added that during his twelve years residence in Columbiana he had formed friendshiys that he will cherish through life. "I have a very deep feeling for the people of Columbiana and Shelby cornty," he said, "and I have an abiding faith in the industrial future of Shelby county. I know that the Exchange Club will do all in its power to bring about the dewelopment of the resources of the county.

Mr. Koenig is moving to Birmingham where he has entered one of the leading law firms of that city.

The club had as guests Roland Turner of Atlanta, and Mr. Ennis of Selma, both connected with the Southern Railway. Mr. Turner representing the Development Service of the Southern, spoke of the obligation of business and professional men to study conditions that affect the farming industry.

Mr. Ennis, representing the trafic department, spoke briefly stating that the Southern Railway desires the most cordial relations with its patrons and is always will ing to co-operate with them to make the service of the road the very best possible.

C. L. McDaniel

C. L. McDaniel, a prominent business man of Shelby, died at hi home Wednesday of last week after an extended illness. Funeral services were held Thursday, conducted by W. A. Mays and interment was made in the Shelby cemetery.

Mr. McDaniel was 63 years old. He was born and reared in DeKalb county, entering business at Albertville where he made his home for a number of years. About 18 years ago he came to Shelby as manager of the Shelby Iron Company store and he filled this place for fourteen years, proving himself a capable business man and making for himself a great many frineds. It was after coming to Shelby that he met his wife who was Miss Margie Shrader, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H Shrader. His wife and three children survive him. Mr. McDaniel was a member of the Methodist church.

HARPERSVILLE PLANS A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

The people of Harpersville have organized themselves and set about raising money to build a new consolidated school at that place. Preparat ions for the effort have been under way for some time. An enthusiastic school rally was held several weeks ago at which the matter of a new school was discussed by Superintendent D. A. McNeill of Talladega county and a great deal of enthusiasm was aroused. Following that came the three mill tax election at which the tax was carried by a good majority

Now the work is actually getting under way. A strong finance committee has been appointed and they are at work. Duncan G. Kimbrough who hasproved himself an enthusiastic and capable leader is chairman of this committee and associated with him are: W. N. Baker, Miss Myrtle Baker, Dudley Glaze, J. C. Kidd, S. E. Elliott, M. N. Morris, Mrs. T. H. Davis, L. N. Wyatt and A. A. Logan. The building committee has also been named with L. N. Wyatt, chairman. Serving with him are: W. E. Smith, S. E. Elliott, Henry Morris, A. A. Logan, H. W. Adams, Mrs. T. H. Davis, C. M. Mauldin, Mrs. T. J. Atkinson, J. C. Kidd, Claud Baker, Irvin Williamson, R. B. Posey and J. M. Stone.

The Reporter is authorized by Mr. Kimbrough to say to the friends of education everywhere and especially to former residents and friends of Harpersville community that if they desire to contribute in any amount to this fund for a new school that their contributions will be gratefully received and acknowledged through the paper.

James W. Thompson

Harpersville, Ala., Nov. 3.—The sad news has just reached us of the death of James W. Thompson, which occurred at his home near Whitesboro, Texas, last Saturday evening. Mr. Thompson was born and reared near Harpersville and was 81 years old. He went to the Civil War at 18 years old and made a gallant soldier. After the war was over he came back home and lived here several years. Then he married Miss Vira Posey, a sister of the writer and moved to Grayson county, Texas and there he accumulated a good deal of property. His wife died three or four years ago. Seven children were born unto them; two of them are dead.

Mr. Thompson leaves besides his children, three sisters: Mrs. Mattie Lawrence of Oklahoma; Miss Lassie Thompson and Mrs. R. B. Posey, of Harpersville; besides a host of relatives and friends in Alabama to mourn his departure.

To the bereaved children we extend our heartfelt symp thy in this their sad hour of bereavement and while papa has gone from this world where they can never see him any more, by a righteous living they can all meet him in heaven where parting is no more and where the weary are forever at rest. R. B. Posey.

Montevallo Schools Observe Hallowe'en

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 3.—Hallowe'en was extensively and most appropriately observed in Montevallo and at Alabama College. On Friday evening, the training school both grammar and high school, gave a very unique entertainment at the grammar school building. More than three hundred children from the first to the eleventh grade participated. The costumes of many were very unusual and striking in appearance. Many parents from Montevallo, Aldrich Wilton, Spring Creek and other communities, some of them with small children in their arms, were most interested spectators.

Saturday evening the Freshmen class of the college gave their first entertainment of the session. The true halloween spirit was carried out in every detail, the marches, dances and other performances were most attractive. The costumes, designed by the Home Economics Department, were most artistic and often dazzling in appearance. The Halloween season as observed here was helpful and inspiring from an educaational standpoint, besides furnishing a most exhilarating and joyous time to old and young alike.

Beat	Lyman	McKay	Minor	Chism	Hendrick	Stone	Arthur	Shaw	Jones	Reinhardt	Nash	Bird
Columbiana,	393	204	387	210	378	210	361	217	392	203
Shelby	60	90	70	85	70	83	62	87	72	85
Spring Creek	23	48	20	49	18	49	19	48	22	48
Calera	122	130	107	152	117	134	118	135
Montevallo	344	41	297	77	300	75	282	93
Wilton	84	6	84	6	84	6	84	6
Aldrich	22	7	22	7	22	7	22	7			22	7
Helena	150	44	133	57	136	57	135	59			195	7
Wilsonville	59	52	52	57	51	57	51	57
Siluria	106	36	105	35	94	35	99	35
Maylea	60	124	74	109	60	121	70	116	78	105
Harpersville	145	58	142	52	143	51	139	48	112	85
Vincent Springs	30	110	33	107	26	111	27	111	24	111
Harpersville	68	85	69	53	65	85	68	85
Roseswell	68	55	68	53	68	55	68	50
Vincent	58	65	48	65	49	60	48	64
Wilton	42	80	37	84	36	84	36	84			35	86
Vincent Springs	25	3	25	3	25	3	25	3			25	3
Shelby	13	59	10	61	7	58	4	60
Everett	39	37	35	34	35	36	38	37
Vincent	157	31	157	31	157	31	158	31			59	41
Wilton	56	44	44	46	34	46
Shannavant	33	37	33	37	33	37	33	37
Sylvene	57	55	36	63	27	59	31	65
Southton	115	17	102	21	96	20	78	47
Wheezer	48	24	48	24	48	24	48	24

Circuit Clerk ... n Report

B. C. Kendrick, cotton statistician for Shelby county, reports that 3229 bales of cotton were ginned in Shelby county prior to October 18 1924, as compared with 1,841 bales ginned to the same date last year.

FOURMILE FARMERS TO GET BETTER COWS

Fourmile, November 4.—At the meet ing of the Dairy Association Friday night an interesting and instructive talk was made by the County Agent, A. A, Lauderdale, on buying cows. After some discussion by the members of the association they decided to buy and bring in a car load of pure bred cows by way of getting a better start in the dairy business than they could make using only native cows.

Mr. Lauderdale was appointed to buy the cows and it is expected that he will leave about the 15th of the month, going most likely into the dairy district of Mississippi. Mr. Lauderdale will be accompanied and assisted by Mr. Humphrey, dairy specialist in the Development Sevrice of the Southern Railway, this arrangement having been made with Mr. Roland G. Turner, chief of the Development Service of the Southern Rail way during his recent visit to the county.

At this meeting, Luther Fowler editor of the Shelby County Reporter, was admitted into membership in the association as an honorary member; members desiring in this way to express their appreciation for the keen interest shown by Mr. Fowler in the farmers of Fourmile community, both by personal visits and by a generous allowance of space in his paper. They want him to know that his efforts are appreciated and extend him a cordial invitation to be present at their next meeting.

B. Y. P. U. PROGRAM

Sunday, Nov. 9, 1924

Subject:—Message to the church
Leader—Vernie Falkner
Similarities in the First Four Churches.—Percy Acker.
Difference in Address and Records.—Louise Duke.
Song—
Three Letters in Chapter Three: Clay Lester.
Reading—Eleanor Duke.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Merrell and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hendrick motored to Talladega Sunday to attend the annual conference in session in that city.

REV. W. A. MAYS COMES BACK TO COLUMBIANA

Several New Pastors Sent To Shelby County

Rev. W. A. Mays will continue as pastor of the Columbiana-Shelby charge, Rev. T. H. Wilson will remain at Helena, and Rev. J. P. Steel will serve at Siluria another year in the assignment of appointments for the coming year in the North Alabama Conference of the Methodist church as read by Bishop Candler at the closing session of the conference in Talladega Monday afternoon.

New pastors are sent to Shelby county charges as follows: Rev. G. E. Driskill will be pastor at Montevallo, Rev. J. D. Kaylor is assigned to the Calera-Wilton charge Rev. B. L. Dobbs is sent to the Wilsonville circuit. Rev. J. F. Sparks will serve the Aldrich circuit and Rev. L. W. Young will come to the Vincent circuit. Rev. D. C. McNutt is returned to the Sylacauga district as presiding elder.

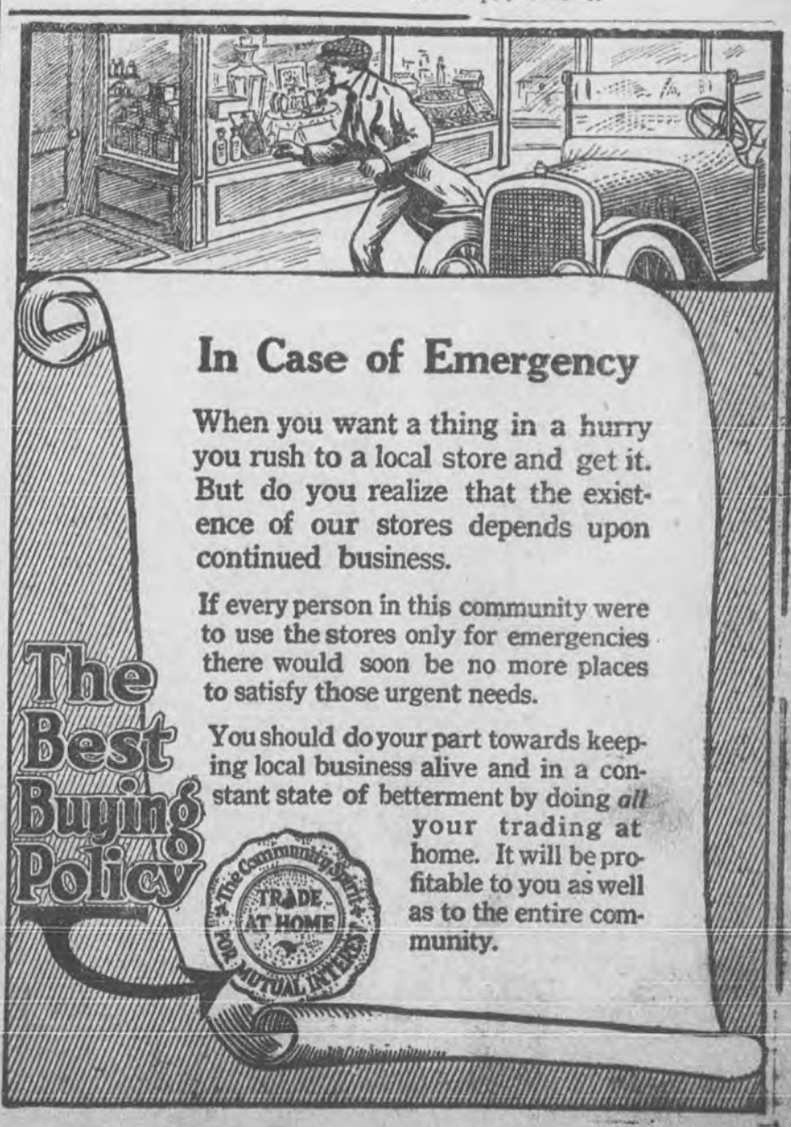
Rev. F. P. Hewlett, pastor of Wilsonville circuit for the past two years, will go to Detroit circuit in the Russellville district. Rev. L. P. Thornberg will go from Calera to Hoke's Bluff circuit in the Gadsden district; Rev. J. O. Ray former pastor of the Vincent circuit is assigned to the Ragland-Coal City charge in the Talladega district: and Rev. W. M. Treadaway will move from Montevallo to the Langdale-Riverview charge in the Roanoke district. Rev. Wm. Neil former pastor of Columbiana-Shelby charge is assigned to Kellerman in the Tuscaloosa district.

The conference session, returning ministers say, was one of the very best in the whole history of the conference, and rarely, if ever they say, has the generous entertainment provided by the people of Talladega been surpassed.

GOOD NUMBER FARMERS HEAR TURNER

Farmers from all parts of the county gathered at the courthouse Thursday of last week to hear the address of Roland Turner, chief of the agricultural development service of the Southern Rail way. Many of those who heard Mr. Turner said his address was one of the most inspiring and helpful agricultural talks they had ever heard.

Mr. Turner knows the conditions affecting southern agriculture as few men know them and he is always practical in his suggestions for improvement.



The Winners

COOLIDGE MAJORITY MAY EXCEED VICTORY OF 1920

Possibility of Contest Going Into Congress Discarded as Supposed Strength of LaFollette Fails to Materialize.

13 STATES SOLID FOR DAVIS

Majority Early Wednesday for the President Over Combined Opposition Placed at 1,000,000---Few Up-sets in Congressional Returns---Headquarters of LaFollette Announces Organization will Be Kept Intact for Another Try.

New York, Nov. 5.—Coolidge and Dawes have rolled up overwhelming majorities in the East and Middle West on the basis of incomplete returns from the general elections.

In all of New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Indiana and Illinois the lead of the Republican nominees was mounting steadily at 11 p. m. Tuesday, Eastern standard time, and both The New York Times and The New York World, supporters of John W. Davis, had conceded his defeat by Mr. Coolidge.

Early this morning incomplete returns showed President Coolidge had received 1,000,000 more votes than the combined vote of Davis and LaFollette. Coolidge had, from the start, piled up decided majorities in practically all of the far Western and border States, while John W. Davis was running a poor third, as Senator LaFollette polled a heavy vote with Coolidge receiving the usual Republican support as Democratic returns fell short.

California, which State beat Charles E. Hughes in 1916, and which Democratic managers had confidently expected to go for Mr. Davis, gave Coolidge a sweeping majority. While Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Nevada and other Rocky Mountain States were not complete, the same Coolidge-LaFollette-Davis ratio, as shown in California was apparent there.

The battle in Wisconsin, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska, was decidedly restricted to Coolidge and LaFollette, with early returns giving LaFollette his home State, Wisconsin, and Coolidge a majority in the other named States.

The number of electoral votes constituting a majority necessary to election is 266.

None of the candidates would comment on the returns as they were at midnight last night. President Coolidge, at Washington, let it be known he would have nothing to say until in the morning. Senator LaFollette, at his home in Madison, Wis., said the same thing. At John W. Davis' headquarters, in New York, the only comment was not to forget 1916, when the late returns from the Western States turned the election to Wilson in face of a rolling tide for Hughes which covered the East.

The Coolidge column in the East fattened as the hours rolled on and the most interesting uncertainty there was the fight between Governor Smith and Theodore Roosevelt, for the governorship of New York. Governor Smith, of course, polled a heavy vote in Greater New York, but Mr. Roosevelt came down from upstate counties with dwindling majorities which at first seemed to indicate his election. Just before midnight Tuesday, Charles D. Hilles, one of the vice chairmen of the Republican National Committee, gave it as his opinion that Governor Smith would carry the State by more than 80,000 and the Governor on the basis of reports made to him, said he believed he had been elected.

At Democratic headquarters, however, party leaders still clung to a hope that the West would turn the trick as it did for Wilson in 1916.

The congressional returns were markedly slow. The vote that came in before midnight gave little color to the situation. The first hundred districts failed to show a single upset.

Late in Tuesday the re-election of Senator Borah, of Idaho, the Republican gadfly, was conceded by his opponent. The Omaha World-Herald, which supported Davis and Bryan, conceded Nebraska to Coolidge and also announced the re-election of Senator Norris, a Republican, who has been foremost among Senator LaFollette's supporters in the Senate. The re-election of Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, chairman of the Farm Bloc, also became certain.

The early concession of Iowa to President Coolidge by LaFollette headquarters at Des Moines, came as a surprise to many political observers, who expected Iowa to be one of the States possibly found in the LaFollette column if the senator won the electoral vote of any State beside his home State, Wisconsin, and possibly Minnesota and North Dakota. The returns from North Dakota up to midnight necessarily came from the cities and towns and were only a very small percentage of the voting strength of the State. They gave President Coolidge a big lead. If they ran true to precedent, the President's lead would be reduced and Senator LaFollette's vote would be increased as the returns from the country districts were tabulated.

34 Governors Named

In all, 34 States were electing governors, but in most cases there were local complications and cross-currents of political opinion which led sophisticated politicians to withhold predictions on the basis of the fragmentary early returns.

Encouraged by the vote polled by Senator LaFollette in the East, Chicago headquarters of the LaFollette-Wheeler movement announced that their political organization would be kept intact for another try in the congressional elections of 1926 and the presidential contest in 1928.

In some parts of the country the drift to Coolidge was so overwhelming that it threatens to rival the Harding landslide of 1920. Mr. Harding's own precinct in Marion was carried by his successor by a larger majority than it gave its native son four years ago.

The outstanding indication early this morning was that the much discussed possibility of throwing the election into the House of Representatives had been wiped out by a heavy vote for President Coolidge.

JACK WALTON DEFEATED

Former Governor Waged Campaign on Anti-Klan Platform

Oklahoma City, Nov. 5.—Incomplete returns from 1,089 out of 3,189 State precincts indicated former Governor J. C. Walton, Democratic candidate for senator, would be overwhelmingly defeated by W. B. Pine, Republican.

Walton waged his campaign on anti-Klan platform.

The count stood: Pine, 107,133; Walton, 63,202; Wilson, Independent, 3,814.

The same count gave for president: Davis, 73,457; Coolidge, 52,382; LaFollette, 7,984.

AL SMITH'S ELECTION CONCEDED

Returns Indicate That Smith Has Carried Greater New York by 550,000

New York, Nov. 5.—The secretary of the New York Republican State Committee has conceded the re-election of Governor Smith.

Returns indicated that Smith would carry Greater New York by 550,000.

Votes at 104

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Among the first voters at the polls in Jamestown was Amy E. Price, 104 years old. She took her place in the line of voters, waited her turn and asked no help in the manipulation of the voting machine.

Family Casts 12 Votes

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Nov. 4.—Mustering 12 votes, the Peter Baldauf family living near here marched to the country voting place and cast a dozen ballots for La Follette and Brookhart.

Troops Guard Herrin

Herrin, Ill., Nov. 4.—Seventy-five National Guardsmen, some with fixed bayonets, patrolled Williamson County Tuesday to prevent threatened clashes between the Ku-Klux Klan and its opponents.

Phone Girls Aid

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—"Don't fail to vote today," telephone girls told everybody who put in a call here Tuesday.

ALABAMA GIVES DAVIS BIG VOTE

RATIO IS ESTIMATED AT FIVE TO ONE — ALL CONGRESSIONAL NOMINEES ELECTED AND THE SEVEN AMENDMENTS CARRY

In the Federal election Tuesday Alabama Democracy remained true to its traditions by rolling up a straight majority of something like five to one for the ticket.

The expected deflections to both the Republican and Progressive candidates failed to materialize when county after county reported the usual Democratic majority.

All congressional candidates were easily elected, including Miles C. Allgood, who was opposed in the Seventh District by Dr. B. S. Cooley, Republican, of Gadsden.

For the first time in 30 years, it is reported, Shelby County elected every Democratic nominee on the ticket. There are two hold-over Republican officeholders in the county.

The seven proposed amendments to the Constitution all apparently carried. Amendment number one grants perpetual poll tax exemption to World War veterans. The amendments are:

No. 1.—Exemption of World War veterans from payment of poll taxes.

No. 2.—Authority to form drainage districts, good roads and sea wall districts in Alabama.

3.—Authorizes school tax levy in Mobile County.

No. 4.—Authorizes tax levy for towns of Thorsby, Piedmont, Greenville, Roanoke, Greensboro, Calera, Florala, Opp, Evergreen, Fayette, Clayton, Clio and Alabama City.

No. 5.—Authorizzes Mobile County to incur additional indebtedness for building of roads and bridges.

No. 6.—Authorizes Walker County to levy a special road tax.

No. 7.—Authorizes tax levies by three school districts in Lawrence County.

Democratic Nominees Elected

Senator—J. Thomas Heflin.

Congressmen—First, John McDuffie; Second, J. Lister Hill, Third, Henry B. Stegall; Fourth, Lamar Jeffers; Fifth, William B. Bowling; Sixth, W. B. Oliver; seventh, Miles C. Allgood; eighth, Ed B. Almon; Ninth District, George Huddleston; Tenth District, W. B. Bankhead.

Associate Justices of Supreme Court—Judges Sayre and Virgil Bouldin.

Associate Justices of Supreme Court—Judge Henry B. Foster.

Fish and Game Commissioner—I. T. Quinn.

Jefferson Votes Bonds

Jefferson County voters in Tuesday's election rolled up tremendous majorities for all Democratic nominees, voted three bond issues totaling $2,500,000 for a new courthouse, and rural school improvements, Hillman Hospital expansion and approved all seven of the amendments to the State Constitution.

ELECTORAL VOTE BY STATES

The following table shows how the electoral votes were cast in 1912, 1916 and 1920 and how it was apparent they would be cast in 1924 at 3 a. m. Wednesday morning:

State	Elec. Vote	1912	1916	1920	1924
Alabama	12	D	D	D	D
Arizona	3	D	D	R	R
Arkansas	9	D	D	D	D
Colorado	6	D	D	R	R
Colorado	6	D	D	R	*
Connecticut	7	D	R	R	R
Delaware	3	D	R	R	R
Florida	6	D	D	D	D
Georgia	14	D	D	D	D
Idaho	4	D	D	R	R
Illinois	29	D	R	R	R
Indiana	15	D	R	R	R
Iowa	13	D	R	R	R
Kansas	10	D	D	R	R
Kentucky	13	D	D	D	*
Louisiana	10	D	D	D	D
Maine	6	D	R	R	R
Maryland	8	D	D	R	R
Massachusetts	18	D	R	R	R
Michigan	16	P	R	R	R
Minnesota	12	P	R	R	R
Mississippi	10	D	D	D	D
Missouri	18	D	D	R	*
Montana	4	D	D	R	R
Nebraska	8	D	D	R	R
Nevada	3	D	D	R	R
N. Hampshire	4	D	D	R	R
N. Jersey	14	D	R	R	*
N. Mexico	3	D	D	R	R
N. York	45	D	R	R	R
N. Carolina	12	D	D	D	D
N. Dakota	5	D	D	R	R
Ohio	24	D	D	R	R
Oklahoma	10	D	D	R	D
Oregon	5	D	R	R	R
Pennsylvania	38	P	R	R	R
R. Island	5	D	R	R	R
S. Carolina	9	D	D	D	D
S. Dakota	5	P	R	R	R
Tennessee	12	D	D	R	*
Texas	20	D	D	D	D
Utah	4	R	D	R	R
Vermont	4	R	R	R	R
Virginia	12	D	D	D	D
Washington	7	P	D	R	R
W. Virginia	8	D	R	R	R
Wisconsin	13	D	R	R	P
Wyoming	3	D	D	R	R

(*) States not having conceded election Wednesday morning.

In 1912 the total electoral vote divided: Democratic (Wilson), 435; Progressive (Roosevelt), 88; Republican (Taft), 8.

In 1916 the vote was: Democratic (Wilson), 277; Republican (Hughes), 254.

In 1920 the vote was: Republican (Harding), 404; Democratic (Cox), 127.

KILBY FORMS BIG ALA. CORPORATION

CONSOLIDATION OF 12 LARGE PIPE PLANTS WITH AUTHORIZED CAPITAL OF FOUR MILLION

Anniston, Ala.—The largest corporation ever formed in Anniston and one of the largest in the entire South came into existence when former Gov. T. E. Kilby, chairman of the board, and Neil P. Sterne, attorney for the Alabama Pipe Company, filed with the Secretary of State at Montgomery articles of consolidation fusing into one corporation 12 large pipe plants in Alabama and Tennessee.

The new corporation has an authorized capital stock of $4,000,000 of preferred and 80,000 shares of common stock. The company will bear the name of the Alabama Pipe Corporation and will operate the plants formally known as the Alabama Pipe Company, the Standard foundry, the Lynchburg Pipe Company, the Union Pipe Company and the Ornamental Foundry Company, the Talladega Pipe Company, the Superior and the Imperial Pipe Companies, Bessemer, the Agricola Pipe Company, the Gadsden Pipe Company and the Coosa Pipe and Foundry Company, Gadsden, and the Rade Pipe Company, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Officers of the new corporation were given as follows: T. E. Kilby, chairman of the board; W. P. Johnson, president; C. A. Hamilton, first vice-president and general manager. William M. Byrd, Jr., second vice-president; Walker Reynolds, treasurer and assistant secretary; J. R. Goodwin, secretary and assistant treasurer; T. H. Collins, assistant secretary and treasurer. The board of directors consists of T. E. Kilby, Whitfield Clark, C. A. Hamilton, W. M. Byrd, Jr., and W. F. Johnson.

Over 80 per cent of the stock of the corporation is held by the citizens of Anniston and all of the directors and officers are residents of Anniston with the exception of William M. Byrd, Jr., formerly with the Hammond Byrd Iron Company, of Birmingham, but who now resides in Chicago and who will devote his time to the sales management of the company.

Tennessee Gun Battle Fatal

Sparta, Tenn.—Ed Gore, a deputy sheriff, is dead, and Thomas Carrick and Grover Cannon are injured as a result of a gun battle at Carrick Cove, southwest of Sparta. Carrick, Cannon and H. C. Snodgrass, Jr., were riding across the mountain when Gore is said to have stepped out into the road and commanded the party to halt. The shooting began, neither party recognizing the other, it is stated. Gore died at daylight. Carrick was wounded in the knee and Cannon in the arm.

Britain Gets Mexican Concession

London.—A modification of the attitude of the Mexican Government toward commercial relations with Great Britain has been brought about through inquiries by the British Chamber of Commerce. The Foreign Office has been advised by the British diplomatic agent in Mexico City that the Mexican Government will accept shipments from Britain in the future under the same conditions as from other countries where Mexicans do not have consular agents.

Bridge Bonds Authorized

Washington.—The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and the St. Louis-Southwestern Railway, were authorized Monday by the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue and sell $1,777,000 each in first mortgages gold bonds of the Arkansas & Memphis Railway Bridge and Terminal Company. The securities will be sold at 90 per cent of their par value.

Wets Raise $15,235

Washington.—The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported to the clerk of the House Monday total campaign receipts to October 31 of $15,235, with expenditures of $13,351. Of this sum, $2,000 was used in the New England States New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia in working for the election of members of Congress.

Spanish Political Situation Critical

Biarritz, France.—The political situation in Spain has become extremely critical, according to passengers arriving from Madrid.

Write It To Osio

Christiania.—If you write a letter to Christiania after January 1, address it to Osio, for Christiania will be so named after that date.

Stolen Safe Found

Pawhuska, Okla.—An abandoned safe, stolen from the Citizens Bank of Atlanta, Kan., containing $150,000 in securities and a like amount of notes, was found Monday in a large water tank, seven miles south of Foraker, Okla., by a party of duck hunters.

Fethi Re-elected

Constantinople.—Fethi Bey was Sunday re-elected president of the Turkish national assembly at Angory

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Don't take chances of your horses or mules being laid up with Distemper, Influenza, Pink Eye, Laryngitis, Heaves, Coughs or Colds. Give "SPOHN'S" to both the sick and the well ones. The standard remedy for 30 years. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.
SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND.

NR
TO-NIGHT
Tomorrow Alright

KEEPING WELL—An NR Tablet (a vegetable aperient) taken at night will help keep you well, by toning and strengthening your digestion and elimination.

Used for over 30 Years
Get a 25c Box
Nature's Remedy
NR JUNIORS Jrs
Chips off the Old Block
NR JUNIORS—Little NRs
One-third the regular dose. Made of the same ingredients, then candy coated. For children and adults.
SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST

Piles Disappear
Peterson's Ointment

"Please let me tell you," says Peterson, "that for instant relief from the misery of blind, bleeding or itching piles, there is nothing so good as Peterson's Ointment, as thousands have testified." Best for old sores and itching skin. All druggists, 35c, 60c.

An open mind is easiest cultivated

MOTHER!

Baby's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

When baby is constipated, has wi... colic, feverish breath, coated-tong... or diarrhea, a half-teaspoonful of ge... ine "California Fig Syrup" promp... moves the poisons, gases, bile, sour... food and waste right out. Ne... cramps or overacts. Babies love... delicious taste.

Ask your druggist for genuine "C... fornia Fig Syrup" which has full di... tions for infants in arms, and child... of all ages, plainly printed on bo... Mother! You must say "Californ... or you may get an imitation fig sy...

Truth gives wings to strength.

Young Mothers

Drew, Miss.—"I had pain and ... tress for four years. We had a d... tor to treat ... but I seemed ... get worse. ... would have ... go to bed ... stay. Big dr... of perspirat... would just ... off me. Oh ... was in a ... rible condit... We were c... for a baby in ... home but ... given up hope. Then I took ... Pierce's Favorite Prescription ... the 'Golden Medical Discovery' ... the fifth day of January was ... to us one of the healthiest baby ... anyone ever looked at, and I a... such good health since."—Mrs. ... Norquist, Box 273. All dealers.

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XII—Continued.

—15—

The two friends discussed at great length the details of the Big Idea, and on his arrival in the West, Linder lost no time in preparing blueprints and specifications descriptive of the improvements to be made on the land and the manner in which the work was to be carried on. Grant bought a tract suitable to his purpose, and the wheels of the machine were set in motion. To this had been done Grant objected to the working out of his own individual experiment.

During the period in which these arrangements were being made it was inevitable that Grant should have heard more or less of Transley. He had not gone out of his way to seek information of the contractor, but it could not had been forced upon him. Transley's name was frequently heard in the offices of the business men with whom he had to do; it was mentioned in local papers with the regularity peculiar to celebrities in comparatively small centers. Transley, it appeared, had become something of a power in the land. Backed by old Y.D.'s capital he had carried some rather daring ventures through to success. He had survived the panicky moments following the outbreak of the war to buy heavily in the wheat and cattle markets, and the raises in prices due to the world's need and for food had made him one of the wealthy men of the city. The service of many young farmers to enlist had also afforded an opportunity to acquire their holdings for small considerations, and Transley had proved his patriotism by facilitating the am- bitions of as many men in this posi- tion as came to his attention. The fact that even before the war ended the farms which he acquired in this way were worth several times the price he paid was only an incident in the transactions.

Of no word of Transley's domestic affairs reached Grant, who told himself that he had ceased to be interested in them, but kept an alert ear nevertheless. It would seem that Transley rather eclipsed his wife in the public eye.

Grant set about with the development of his own farm, and kept his mind occupied with it and with his new experiment—except when it was flirting with thoughts of Phyllis Bruce. He had written to Murdoch to engage Phyllis at any price and send her West with him. She would be needed in the new business. He had intimated that the change would be permanent, and that it might be time to bring the family. . . .

He had selected a farm where a ridge of foothills overlooked a broad valley leading into the mountains. The owner had no idea of selling him this particular piece of land; they were after for a half section farther up the valley when Grant stopped on the brow of the hill to feast his eyes on the scene that lay before him. It burst upon him with the unexpectedness peculiar to the foothill valleys; miles of gently undulating plain, lying apparently far below, but in reality rising in a sharp ascent toward the snow-capped mountains looking down silently through their gauze of blue-purple afternoon mist. At distances which only his trained eye would not attempt to compute lay little round lakes like silver coins on the surface of the prairie; here and there were dark green bluffs of spruce; to the west a ribbon of river, blue-green where the rapids churned it white, and along its edge a fringe of tall cottonwoods; at vast intervals were black plots of plowed land like squares on a chessboard of the gods, and farm buildings cut so clear in the mountain atmosphere that the sense of space was lost and they seemed like child-houses just across the way. Grant turned to his companion with an exclamation on his face which almost gratified the prosaic dealer in real estate.

"Wonderful! Wonderful!" he exclaimed. "We don't need to go any further if you can sell me this.'

"Sure I can sell you this," said the dealer, looking at him somewhat queerly. "That is, if you want it. I thought you were looking for a wheat farm."

The man's total lack of appreciation irritated Grant unreasonably. "Wheat fills the belly," he retorted, "but sunsets keep alive the soul. What is the price?"

Again the dealer gave him a queer sidelong look, and made as though to argue with him, then suddenly seemed to change his purpose. Perhaps he suspected that strange things happened to the boys overseas.

"I'll get you the price in town," he said. "You are sure it will suit?"

"Suit? No king in Christendom has a palace on a site like this. I'd go to the world for it."

"You're the doctor," said the dealer, starting his car.

Grant completed the purchase, ordered lumber for a house and barn, and engaged a carpenter to superintend the construction. It was one of the whims that he would do most of the work himself.

"I guess I'm rather a man of whims," he reflected, as he stood on the brow of the hill where the materials for his buildings had been delivered. "It was a whim which first brought me West again. I have a whim about my buildings. I do not do as other people do, which is the unpardonable sin. To Linder I am a jester, to Murdoch a fanatic, to our friend the real estate dealer a fool; I even noticed my honest carpenter trying to ask me something about shell shock! Well—they're my whims, and I get an immense amount of satisfaction out of them."

The days that followed were the happiest Grant had known since childhood. The carpenter, a thin, twisted man, bowed with much labor at the bench, and answering to the name Peter, sold his services by the day and manifested a sympathy amounting to an indulgence toward the whims of his employer. So long as the wages were sure Peter cared not whether the house was finished this year or next—or not at all. He enjoyed Grant's cooking in the temporary workshed they had built; he enjoyed Grant's stories of funny incidents of the war which would crop out at unexpected moments, and which were always good for a new pipe and a few minutes' rest; he even essayed certain flights of his own, which showed that Peter was a creature not entirely without humor. He developed an appreciation of scenery; he would stand for long intervals gazing across the valley. Grant was not deceived by these little devices, but he never took Peter to task for his loitering. "If the old dodger isn't quite paying his way now, no doubt he has more than paid it many times in the past," he mused. "This is an occasion upon which to temper justice with mercy."

But it was in the planning and building of the house he found his real delight. He laid it out on very modest lines, as became the amount of money he was prepared to spend. It was to be a single-story bungalow, with veranda round the south and west. The living-room ran across the south side; into its east wall he built a capacious fireplace, with narrow slits of windows to right and left, and in the western wall were deep French windows commanding the magic of the view across the valley. The dining-room, too, faced to the west, with more French windows to let in sun and soul. The kitchen was to the east, and off the kitchen lay Grant's bedroom, facing also to the east, as becomes a man who rises early for his day's labor. And then facing the west, and opening off the dining-room, was what he was pleased to call his whim-room.

The idea of the whim-room came upon him as he was working out plans on the smooth side of a board, and thinking about things in general, and a good deal about Phyllis Bruce, who had just arrived from the East, and wondering if he should ever run across Zen Transley. It struck him all of a sudden, as had the Big Idea that night when he was on his way home from Murdoch's house. He worked it out surreptitiously, not allowing even old Peter to see it until he had made it into his plan, and then he described it just as the whim-room. But it was to be by all means the best room in the house; special finishing and flooring lumber were to be bought for it; the fireplace had to be done in a peculiarly delicate tile; the French windows must be high and wide and of the most brilliant transparency. . .

The ring of the saw, the trill of the plane, the thwack of the hammer, were very pleasant music in his ears. Day by day he watched his dwelling grow with the infinite joy of creating, and night after night he crept with Peter into the workshed and slept the sleep of a man tired and contented. In the long summer evenings the sunlight hung like a champagne curtain over the mountains even after bedtime, and Grant had to cut a hole in the wall of the shed that he might watch the dying colors of the day fade from crimson to purple to blue on the tassels of cloud-wraith floating in the western sky. At times Linder and Murdoch would visit him to report progress on the Big Idea, and the three would sit on a bench in the half-built house, sweet with the fragrance of new sawdust, and smoke placidly while they determined matters of policy or administration.

Grant was almost sorry when the house was finished. "There's so much more enjoyment in doing things than in merely possessing them after they're done," he philosophized to Linder. "I think that must be the secret of the peculiar fascination of the West. The East, with all its culture and conveniences and beauty, can never win a heart which has once known the West. That is because in the East all the obvious things are done, but in the West they are still to do."

"You should worry," said Linder. "You still have the plowing."

"Yes, and as soon as the stable is finished I am going to buy four horses and get to work."

"I supposed you would use a tractor."

"Not this time. I can admire a piece of machinery, but I can't love it. I can love horses."

"You'll be housing them in the whim-room," Linder remarked dryly, and had to jump to escape the hammer which his chief shied at him.

But the plowing was really a great experience. Grant had an eye for horseflesh, and the four dapple grays which pressed their fine shoulders into the harness of his breaking plow might have delighted the heart of any teamster. As he sat on his steel seat and watched the colter cut the firm sod with brittle cracking sound as it snapped the tough roots of the wild roses, or, looking back, saw the regular terraces of shiny black mold which marked his progress, he felt that he was engaged in a rite of almost sacramental significance.

"To take a substance straight from the hand of the Creator and be the first in all the world to impose a human will upon it is surely an occasion for solemnity and thanksgiving," he soliloquized. "How can anyone be so gross as to see only materialism in such work as this? Surely it has something of fundamental religion in it! Just as from the soil springs all physical life, may it not be that deep down in the soil are, some way, the roots of the spiritual? The soil feeds the city in two ways: it fills its belly with material food, and it is continually revitalizing its spirit with fresh streams of energy which can come only from the land. Up from the soil comes life, all progress, all development—"

At that moment Grant's plowshare struck a submerged boulder, and he was dumped precipitately into that element which he had been so generously apostrophizing. The well-trained horses came to a stop as he gathered himself up, none the worse, and regained his seat.

"That was a spill," he commented. "Ditched not only myself, but my whole train of thought. Never mind; perhaps I was dangerously close to the development of a new whim, and I am well supplied in that particular already. Hello, whom have we here?"

The horses had come to a stop a short distance before the end of the furrow, and Grant, glancing ahead, saw immediately in front of them a little chap of four or five obstructing the way. He stood astride of the furrow with widespread legs bridging the distance from the virgin prairie to the upturned sod. He was hatless, and curls of silkly yellow hair fell about his round, bright face. His hands were stuck unobtrusively in his trouser pockets.

"Well, son, what's the news?" said Grant, when the two had measured each other for a moment.

"I got braces," the boy replied proudly. "Don't you see?"

"Why, so you have!" Grant exclaimed. "Come around here until I see them better."

So encouraged, the little chap came skipping around the horses, and exhibited his braces for Grant's admiration. But he had already become interested in another subject.

"You Should Worry," Said Linder. "You Still Have the Plowing."

"Are these your horses?" he demanded.

"Yes."

"Will they bite?"

"Why, no, I don't believe they would. They have been very well brought up."

"What do you call them?"

"This one is Prince, on the left, and the others are Queen, and King, and Knave. I call him Knave because he's always scheming, trying to get out of his share of the work, and I make him walk on the plowed land, too."

"That serves him right," the boy declared. "What's your name?"

"Why—what's yours?"

"Wilson."

"Wilson what?"

"Just Wilson."

"What does your mother call you?"

"Just Wilson. Sometimes daddy calls me Bill."

"Oh!"

"What's your name?"

"Call me The Man on the Hill."

"Do you live on the hill?"

"Yes."

"Is that your house?"

"Yes."

"Did you make it?"

"Yes."

"All yourself?".

"No. Peter helped me."

"Who's Peter?"

"He is the man who helped me."

"Oh!"

These credentials exchanged, the boy fell silent, while Grant looked down upon him with a whimsical admixture of humor and tenderness. Suddenly, without a word, the boy dashed as fast as his legs could carry him to the end of the field, and plunged into a clump of bushes. In a moment he emerged with something brown and chubby in his arms.

"He's my teddy," he said to Grant. "He was watching in the bushes to see if you were a nice man."

"And am I?" Grant was tempted to ask.

"Yes." There was no evasion about Wilson. He approved of his new acquaintance, and said so.

"Let us give teddy a ride on Prince?"

"Let's!"

Grant carefully arranged teddy on the horse's hames, and the boy clapped his hands with delight.

"Now let us all go for a ride. You will sit on my knee, and teddy will drive Prince."

He took the boy carefully on his knee, driving with one hand and holding him in place with the other. The little body resting confidently against his side was a new experience for Grant.

"We must drive carefully," he remarked. "Here and there are big stones hidden in the grass. If we were to hit one it might dump us off."

The little chap chuckled. "Nothing could dump you off," he said.

Grant reflected that such implicit and unwarranted confidence implied a great responsibility, and he drove with corresponding care. A mishap now might nip this very delightful little bud of hero-worship.

They turned the end of the furrow with a fine jingle of loose trace-chains, and Prince trotted a little on account of being on the outer edge of the semi-circle. The boy clapped his hands again as teddy bounced up and down on the great shoulders.

"Have you a little boy?" he asked, when they were started again.

"Why, no," Grant confessed, laughing at the question.

"Why?"

There was no evading this childish inquisitor. He had a way of pursuing a subject to bedrock.

"Well, you see, I've no wife."

"No mother?"

"No—no wife. You see—"

"But I have a mother—"

"Of course, and she is your daddy's wife. You see they have to have that—"

Grant found himself getting into deep water, but the sharp little intellect had cut a corner and was now ahead of him.

"Then I'll be your little boy," he said, and, clambering up to Grant's shoulder, pressed a kiss on his cheek. In a sudden burst of emotion Grant brought his team to a stop and clasped the little fellow in both his arms. For a moment everything seemed misty.

"And I have lived to be thirty-two years old and have never known what this meant," he said to himself.

"Daddy's hardly ever home, anyway," the boy added, naively.

"Where is your home?"

"Down beside the river. We live there in summer."

And so the conversation continued and the acquaintanceship grew as man and boy plied back and forth on their mile-long furrow. At length it occurred to Grant that he should send Wilson home; the boy's long absence might be occasioning some uneasiness. They stopped at the end of the field and carefully removed teddy from his place of prestige, but just at that moment a horsefly buzzing about caused Prince to stamp impatiently, and the big hoof came down on the boy's foot. Wilson sent up a cry proportionate to the possibilities of the occasion, and Grant in alarm tore off the boot and stocking. Fortunately the soil had been soft, and the only damage done was a slight bruise across the upper part of the foot.

"There, there," said Grant, soothingly, caressing the injury with his fingers. "It will be all right in a minute. Prince didn't mean to do it, and besides, I've seen much worse than that at the war."

At the mention of the war the boy suspended a cry half-uttered.

"Were you at the war?" he demanded.

"Yes."

"Did you kill 'em in the tummy?"

"We'll talk about that tomorrow. Now you hop up on my shoulders, and I'll tie the horses and then carry you home."

He followed the boy's directions until they led him to a path running among pleasant trees down by the river. Presently he caught a glimpse of a cottage in a little open space, its brown-shingled walls almost smothered in a riot of sweet peas.

"That's our house. Don't you like it?" said the boy, who had already forgotten his injury.

"I think it is splendid." And Grant, taking his young charge from his shoulder, stepped up on to the porch and knocked at the screen door.

In a moment it was opened by Zen Transley.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Common Labor

The cripple thumped his crutch on the ground as he confronted his lawyer.

"Heavens, man!" he exclaimed. "You are taking four-fifths of my damages. I never heard of such extortion!"

The lawyer smiled.

"I furnished the skill, the eloquence and the necessary legal learning of your case," he replied coolly.

"Yes," said the client, "but I furnished the case itself."

"Bosh!" sneered the lawyer. "Anybody could fall down a coal hole!"

Double Danger

"That young man proposed to me last night, mother. What shall I do?"

"But, my child, you've only known him two weeks."

"I know, mother; but if I delay in accepting him he might find out some things about me he won't like, too."—Boston Transcript.

Some Weather Indications

In signals for wind and weather a red flag with a black center indicates a storm of marked violence is expected; a blue flag indicates rain or snow.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 9

THE FEEDING OF THE FIVE THOUSAND

LESSON TEXT—John 6:1-14.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am the bread of life.—John 6:35.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Feeds Hungry People.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Feeds Five Thousand.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ Meeting Human Needs.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Jesus Saves.

In the previous chapter, Jesus showed Himself to be the source of life. He here proves Himself to be the sustainer of life.

I. Jesus' Compassion for the Multitude (vv. 1-5. cf. Matt. 14:14). The sight of the crowd always incited the Lord's sympathy. He knew that they were as shepherdless sheep (Mark 6:34). They were going forth with no one to care for them. Besides, they were ignorant, so much so that they had no appreciation of Him. Added to this, was their awful physical hunger. This condition roused the Savior's pity. This is true of the multitude today. The crowd surges about as daily as shepherdless sheep. There is no one to care for them. Then, too, they are ignorant. Sin has so thoroughly blinded them that they are not conscious of their lost condition. Down deep in their hearts is a hunger for truth and God. The millions of earth are hungering for Christ, though ignorant of their real needs.

II. The Lord's Conference With the Disciples Touching the People's Need (5-9).

This was not done for His benefit, for He knew what He would do (v. 6). He is equal to any occasion. His object in this conference may be summed up as follows:

1. To teach them their sense of obligation to the multitude. Men are slow to recognize their obligation to the great shepherdless multitude. We need to be taught the wonderful truth that God has made man His partner in the salvation of the world. We are workers together with God (II Cor. 6:1). It is a most solemn obligation to co-operate with Him in saving the millions who are groping in darkness.

2. To teach them their true helplessness in the face of such great needs. The loaves and fishes were as nothing in the presence of five thousand men besides women and children. Well might Andrew exclaim, "What are these among so many?" We may plant and water, but the increase comes entirely from God.

3. To teach them that their sufficiency is from the Lord. The mission worker needs to know that Christ is the only source of supply. Without Him we can do nothing (John 15:1-8). We can no more carry on the work ourselves than the branch can bear fruit without the vine. The branch supplies the life and strength for the production of fruit. Philip's arithmetic is of no use in the face of such need. The Lord Jesus has all power.

III. The Lord's Method of Accomplishing His Work (vv. 10-13).

We observe here the orderliness of Christ's work. He pauses to give thanks for their scanty supply, teaching us that we should always bring our abilities and gifts to God, that He might bless them to His use.

1. The Lord's part was to bless and break the bread; yea, even to create the needed supply. This part the disciples could not perform. The Lord must begin the work. The same kind of bread was provided for all, rich and poor, young and old, women and children.

2. The disciples' part was to distribute that which He had blessed and consecrated. This is true of the missionary today. His part is to take from the hands of the Lord that which He has blessed and consecrated, and distribute it among the starving multitudes. We are not responsible for the supply; but we are responsible for its distribution to all those who are hungering and perishing for the bread of life.

3. The people's part was to sit down and eat. They had no part in the provision, neither its distribution; but only to take from the hands of the disciples and eat. This is an illustration of the part obedience plays in our salvation. "When all had eaten to the full, much was left," illustrating the superabundance of Christ's salvation.

IV. The Effect (v. 14).

The people recognized Him at once as the Prophet who should come. They believed Him for His works' sake.

Must Tread the Path

Death's but a path that must be trod, if men would ever pass to God.—Thomas Parnell.

On the Way

Merely being headed in the right direction doesn't get you any place. You have to move if you want to arrive.

Charity

Charity is a virtue of the heart and not the hands.—Addison.

WRIGLEY'S

after every meal

Cleanses mouth and teeth and aids digestion.

Relieves that over-eaten feeling and acid mouth.

Its l-a-s-t-i-n-g flavor satisfies the craving for sweets.

Wrigley's is double value in the benefit and pleasure it provides.

Sealed in its Purity Package.

Dolls Resemble Owners

Dolls made to look exactly like the little girls who mother them are an innovation among this year's toys. Artists model the heads of clay, cover them with stockinette, paint them, and attach silky goat's hair.—Popular Science Monthly.

ALLEN'S KING RANGES

The name 'Allen' on a range signifies 25 years of range making experience. Building consistently good ranges accounts for the ever increasing popularity of Allen Ranges.

Ask your dealer or write us for catalog and name of dealer near you.

ALLEN MFG. COMPANY
Nashville Tennessee

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

Why America Must Have More Paved Highways

Almost every section of the United States is confronted by a traffic problem.

Month by month this problem is becoming more and more serious.

Hundreds of cars pass a given point every hour on many of our state and county roads. Downtown city streets are jammed with traffic.

Think, too, how narrow many of our roads are, and how comparatively few paved highways there are in proportion to the steadily increasing number of cars.

If the motor vehicle is to continue giving the economic service of which it is capable, we must have more Concrete highways and widen those near large centers of population.

Every citizen should discuss highway needs of his community with his local authorities.

Your highway officials will do their part if given your support.

Why postpone meeting this pressing need?

An early start means early relief.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
111 West Washington Street
CHICAGO
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete
Offices in 29 Cities

MUNYON'S PAW PAW PILLS
For Constipation

Aid digestion and promote activity of liver by helping them to work naturally.

"There is Hope" Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic makes you well, keeps you young.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

Shelby County Reporter

Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

ANOTHER REMINDER

Again we wish to remind our friends that their News Letters must reach us not later than Tues day. If letters come later it is sometimes impossible to get them in the paper. Editor.

Sheriff Falkner Commended For Good Work

The Centerville Press in a recent issue said that there is not a set of officers in the whole state doing more to break up the liquor traffic than the officers of Bibb county. The Alabama Traveler quotes the statement from the Press and pays the following tribute to Sheriff J. J. Falkner of Shelby county:

"Without detracting in the slightest degree from the good work of the Sheriff of Bibb county, it is a pleasure to say here, no sheriff in the state is doing more to enforce the prohibition law, than i Sheriff Jeff Falkner, of Shelby county.

It is most unfortunate that law prevents the re-election of such men as Sheriff. No law should stand in the way of such officials succeeding themselves. Such men are all needed. They are in a class to themselves, growing more rare, therefore becoming more valuable to the public."

Box Supper at Harpersville Friday Night

There will be a Box Supper at Harpersville school Friday night October 14, which will be under the direction of the School Improvement Association. Everybody is invited to come and bring a box with you and take more back with you.

Secy. School Imp. Assn.

Attend Club Meeting At Greensboro

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 3—Mrs. T. W. Palmer, Miss Weimer and Miss Vickery of the Studiosis Club, left Thursday to attend the meeting of the fourth district of federated clubs at Greensboro. At the same time there will be representatives from the student clubs which have recently been federated. The student representatives are Miss Winifred Castleman, the Scribbler's club; Miss Frances Selden, Tutwiler Club; Miss Roberta Northrup, Philomathic Club.

Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts attended the Annual Conference at Talladega last week. Mother Roberts spent the week with relatives in Sylacauga.

HUSH baby, my doll,
And don't you cry--
We're going to a party by-and-bye
You look very nice
In that pretty dress--
I'll have to change my frock, I guess.

Find two who will be at the party
Upper side down along dress. Upper side down along sas.

Mrs. Eunice McDonald

Mrs. Eunice McDonald, wife of J. Wilton McDonald died at her home at East Thomas Station, in Birmingham, October 25th. She had been in failing health for some time but her death came as a great shock to her family and friends.

She is survived by her husband and four children, father, mother one brother and one sister. The Lord has said: "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord" and our sister died in the faith.

JOIN

Strain

A quick, sure way to relieve it

Apply Sloan's gently. Don't rub. You'll get relief at once. Sloan's starts fresh, healing blood circulating swiftly through the strained muscle-fibres, easing the pain and repairing the damage. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

It's Much Better to Go Away.

If a wise man contendeth with a foolish man, whether he rage or laugh, there is no rest.—Solomon.

PUBLICATION OF APPLICATION FOS SALE

The State of Alabama, Shelby County, Probate Court.

Whereas, Mrs. Jennie Ozley as Guardian for George Ozley, joint owners, has filed her applicaton in writing under oath, for an order to sell certain property described in said application, belonging to George Ozley, a minor et al

Whereupon, it is ordered that the 18 day of November, 1924, be appointed a day on which to hear such application, at which time all persons interested can appear and contest the said application if they think proper.

Witness my hand, this 17 day of October, 1924. L. B. Riddle,
10 23 3t. Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage executed by H. K. Lewis and Daisy O. Lewis on the 15th day of March 1924, which said mortgage is recorded in the Probate Office of Shelby County, Alabama, in Mortgage Book 136 at page 270, and the law day of said mortgage being past, and the indebtedness secured and evidence thereby being still due and unpaid, the undersigned mortgagee, as such, and under the power of sale contained therein, will, on Saturday, the 8th day of November, 1924, sell, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in front of the Court House of Shelby County, at Columbiana, Alabama, within the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate conveyed in said mortgage, viz:

The South ½ of SW¼ of NE¼ and the NW¼ of SE¼ of Section 4, Township 24, Range 13 East, situated in Shelby County, Alabama.

The proceeds of said sale will be as follows:

1st. To the payment of the expense and costs of said sale and foreclosure, including a reasonable attorney's fee for foreclosing said mortgage.

2nd. To the payment of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Dated this the 22nd day of October, 1924.

Lillie A. Wheatley,
L. H. Ellis. Mortgagee.
Attorney for Mortgagee. 10 23 3t

MORTGAGE SALE

By virtue of the power of sal contained in that certain mortgage executed by L. W. Williams to Connell & Baldwin, a partnership composed of W. V. Connell and Wm. L. Baldwin, dated December 1st, 1919, and recorded in Record of Mortgages, Book 127, page 299, in the probate office of Shelby county, Alabama, the undersigned will sell to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house at Columbiana, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale on Monday, November 17, 1924, the following described real estate to-wit:

One lot or parcel of land in the town of Calera, commencing at a point on the north side of the Southern Railway 35 feet from the center of the main track of said road and 10 inches west of the southwest corner of building known as the Wade and Hill two story brick building, which building is located on the lot herein conveyed and is conveyed in this instrument; thence in a northwesterly direction along the line of said wall to a point 65 feet south of the L. & N(Y) railway track at right angles with the track, meandering from the center of said(Y) railway track; thence in a southwesterly direction parallel with said(Y) railway track 18 2-3 feet, more or less to the west line; thence in a southwesterly direction to the point of beginning, situated in Calera, Shelby County, Alabama.

Said sale will be made for the purpose of paying the debt secured by said mortgage, together with the costs and expense of foreclosing same, default having been made in the payment of said debt.

This the 9 day of October, 1924
CONNELL & BALDWIN
By W. V. Connell, Mortgagee.
Frank W. Smith & L. H. Ellis.
Attorneys for Mortgagee.
10 23 3t

Switchmen Needed.

Many a golden opportunity has wrecked for want of a gentle throw the switch.

Tapirs Here Long Ago.

Tapirs lived in North America ing the period of the great Ice fossil finds show.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamond

P. D. D. PENDLETON

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.

I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.

Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

Is Your Tax Load Heavy Enough?

If Government Ownership of Railroads should ever be realized in this country, two additional tax burdens would inevitably be thrust upon the American people.

1. The Government would have to purchase the railroads at their present value of at least twenty billion dollars, because our constitutional guaranty provides against confiscation.
2. The taxes the railroads pay---a million dollars a day---would have to be assumed by the individual taxpayers, because government property is exempt from taxation.

Disregarding any assessment to pay off the stupendous debt of twenty billions, interest thereon at 4% would amount to $800,000,000 per year; this added to the $365,000,000 railway taxes would make a total of $1,165,000,000 that would be saddled on to the people for the questionable benefit of owning the railroads

The American people are now paying the overwhelming sum of seven billion, seven hundred million dollars in annual taxes. If the Government assumed control of the railroads, and the extra taxes required for their purchase and operation were levied, the annual tax bill of this country would run nearly ten billion dollars; an amount greater than any free people have ever been called upon to pay in the history of the world:

Do YOU favor the increase?

IF YOU'RE THIS KIND OF AN AMERICAN, THIS IS YOUR KIND OF A SMOKE

1.

The man who smokes Old Virginia Cheroots isn't afraid to say he likes corned beef and cabbage, if he does.

2.

He doesn't get ritzy when you offer him a fine value, simply because it's low priced. He appreciates getting his money's worth.

3.

He doesn't judge things by fancy wrappings. He wants the goods. And if he can get the best at a low cost he's proud of it.

4.

He may be a banker or a baker; a toiler or a millionaire; but he isn't ashamed to accept a bargain and tell his friends about it.

5.

He's a keen, homespun, democratic American who opines that four mellow, fragrant cigars for 10c is a "buy" no man can afford to pass up.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands—from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

Putting a tip on a cigar is an expensive job. But you can't SMOKE the tip. We leave off the tip and give you the saving—real Perfecto quality in tobacco and workmanship.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE

Merchants and Planters Bank

Located at Montevallo, Ala., at the close of business Oct. 22nd, 1924.

RESOURCES

1.	Loans and Discounts		$ 148,262.85
2.	Overdrafts		77.12
5.	Banking House		1,300.00
6.	Furniture and Fixtures		1,950.00
8.	Cash
a.	Currency	22,619.00
c.	Gold	110.00
c.	Silver, Nickels and Pennies	1,544.74
	Total		24,273.74
9.	Due from Banks		46,008.13
12.	Checks and Cash Items		94.91
	Total		$221,966.75

LIABILITIES

1.	Capital Stock Paid in		$ 25,000.00
2.	Surplus Fund		5,000.00
3.	Undivided Profits less expenses and Taxes paid		8,799.09
5.	Demand Deposits
a.	Individual Deposits	156,163.48
d.	Due to Banks	10,000.00
f.	Cashier's Checks	357.04
	Total		166,520.52
6.	Time Deposits
a.	Savings	1,647.14
	Total		1,647.14
7.	Notes and Bills Payable		15,000.00
	Total		$221,966.75

THE STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County. Before me came J. C. Slone, Cashier of Merchants & Planters Bank, who being duly sworn, says that the above and foregoing statement is true and gives the actual condition of said Bank, as shown by the books on file in said Bank.

J. C. Slone, Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of Nov. 1924.
ATTEST: W. M. Shaw, Notary Public
C. L. Meroney, F. F. Crowe, E. S. Lyman, Directors.

Court Calendar

CIVIL JURY CASES: NOVEMBER SESSION

Set for Monday, November 10th, 1924.

1022 T W Johnson vs Vandegrift & Son: damages: R H Fries liaynes & Wallace; R D Coffman, Brown, Leeper K Koen ig.

8394 T W Johnson et al vs W L Ednsley: Damages: R H Fries, E S Lyman; Earl Pettus.

8502 A J Terrell vs N Kimbrell; Ejectment: Pinkney Scott, Huey & Welch.

8956 Walter Hoffman vs C E Nivens; Leeper, Wallace; L H Ellis.

9015 Roden Grocery Co. vs Brierfield Lbr Co: Monette, Taylor & Dozier; E S Lyman.
Taylor & D

9015A Georgia Cromwell Johnson vs A R Looney, Ejectment: Lamar: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9016A Georgia Cromwell Johnson vs A A Acker: Ejectment: Lamar, Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9027 Eskind & Sons vs G W Weldon: Asspt. L. Silberman; Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9037 D G Ewing vs J R Taylor: Asspt: D G Ewing; D Tray. wick; P O Luck.

9039 Van Walker vs H C Hawkins et al: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore, Murray & Faircloth; Roderick Beddow.

9097 Ada Spain vs Longview Lime Works: Damages: Saxon & J Burgin; Percy, Benners & Burr.

9098 V L Spain vs Same: Damages: L L Saxon & Jim Burgin; Percy Benners & Burr.

9116 J. J. McDonald vs Southern Ry Co: Damages: L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace, Pettus, Fuller & Lapsley.

9120 Helburn Candy Co. vs. Finley Bakery; Assumpsit; L. L. Saxon; Leeper & Wallace.

9160 Wesley Ozley vs Longview Lime Works: Damages: L H Ellis; Percy, Benners & Burr.

9162 Wesley Ozley vs Saginaw Lime & Stone Co: Damages: L H Ellis; Percy, Benners & Burr.

9162 Wesley Ozley vs Saginaw Lime & Stone Co. Asspt: L. H Ellis; Percy, Benners & Burr.

9163 W. J. Weldon vs Borland Tallman Lbr. Co. Assumpsit; L. H. Ellis; L. L. Saxon.

9167 M B Smith vs Longview Lime Works: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; Percy, Benners & Burr.

9169 M B Smith vs Saginaw Lime & Stone Co: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; Percy, Benners & Burr.

Set for Tuesday, November 11th, 1924:

9174 L R Bradberry vs J W Gmin, et al: Damages :Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; John W Altman, Leeper & Wallace.
Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; John W Altman, Leeper & Wallace.

9175 Renie Bradberry vs Same: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; Leeper & Wallace.

9182 Hanna Motor Co vs J H Lett: Asspt: Monette, Taylor & D; Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9187 Cameron's Specialty Co vs H T Dickens; Monette, Taylor Dozier; L H Ellis.
Taylor & D; L H Ells.

9188 F F Mullins vs B L Bugg, Rec'r. Damages: Clarence Mullins; Leeper & Wallace.

9194 W G Hartley vs David Roberts, Trustee: Asspt; S R Hartley, Longshore, Koenig & Longshore; Nesbit & S.

9200 R H Walker vs J R White et al: Damages, T D McGaughey; P. O. Luck.

9203 Norman Cost vs L & N R R Co Damages L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9208 Southern Coal & Coke Co: vs S M Lawley; Detinue: Leeper & Wallace; L H Ellis.

9209 J R Hunter, vs S M Lawley: Detinue: Leeper & Wallace; L H Ellis.

9210 J R Hunter, vs S M Lawley: Detinue: Leeper & Wallace; L H Ellis.

9211 J R Hunter vs S M Lawley: Detinue: Leeper & Wallace; L H Ellis.

Set for Wednesday, November 12th, 1924.

9212 Hixie A Moore, Admx vs L & R R Co: Damages, C A Calhoun; Leeper & Wallace.

9213 Pheonix Portland Cement Co vs J L Isbell: Asspt: J K Brockman; L H Ellis.

9224 P B Davis vs John C Skates: Damages: L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9225 Walter Aldridge vs John C Skates: Damages; L E Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9226 P B Davis vs Mary E Skates: L H ELLIS; Leeper & W.

9227 Walter Aldridge vs Mary E Skates: Damages: L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9228 P B Davis vs John C Skates: Damages: L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9229 Walter Aldridge vs John Skates: Damages: L H Ellis; Leeper & Wallace.

9230 P B Davis vs Mary E Skates: Damages: L H Ellis;

9231 Walter Aldridge vs Mary E Skates, Damages: L H Ellis. Leeper & Wallace

9234 John W Naish vs Taylor Construction Co. et al: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9235 Wilmer Naish: vs Taylor Construction Co et al: Damages: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.

9239 L K Horton vs Longview Lime Works and Saginaw Lime & Stone Co: Damages: P O Luck.

ATE JURY CASES, NOVEMBER SESSION 1924

Set for Monday, November 17th, 1924.

Lizzie Williams et al: Forfeiture:
William Bice, Carnal Knowledge.
Early Harris. Seduction: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore
L W Williams, Violating Prohibition Law: Appeal from County Court; Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.
Frank Connell, A. M.
Mancy Walker, Making Liquor. Longshore, Koenig & L
Van Walker, Making Liquor. Longshore, Koenig & L
Wiley J Nelson: Murder: Longshore, Koenig & L.
Jim Gordon et al; Forfeiture.
Frank N. Caton, Issuing Worthless Check.
Alex Brasher, Making Liquor.
Alex Etress, Possessing Liquor,
W A Bean, Violating Prohibition Law, appealed from County Court: L L Saxon.
W A Bean et al: Forfeiture.
Dock Lowery, Distilling: P O Luck.
Zeke Pike, Violating Prohibition Law.
Jim Gardner, Distilling.
Jim Gardner et al, Forfeiture.
Oliver Isbell, Distilling.
Charles Snider, Distilling.
Louis Pickett, Distilling.
Fred Cummings, Distilling. P. O. Luck
Billy Patterson, Distilling. P. O. Luck
Bill Patterson et al: Forfeiture:

Set for Tuesday, November 18th, 1924.

Claud Elliott: Distilling: P O Luck
Arthur Dorsey, Distilling J. R. Beavers.
Leonard Collum, Distilling.

3742½ Leonard Collum et al: Forfeiture.
3743 W. T. Roberts, Distilling Roderick Beddow.
3751 Will Cox, Distilling P. O. Luck
3751½ Will Cox et al; Forfeiture.
3753 J. D. Raymond, Distilling.
3753½ J D Raymond et al Forfeiture
3755½ Frank Connell et al: Forfeiture
3760 Forrest Mallory, Burglary.
3765 Thomas Littlefield, A. M. L. L. Saxon
3765½ Thomas Littlefield, et al Forfeiture.
3774 Alvin Kendrick, Distilling.
3774½ Alvin Kendrick et al: Forfeiture.
3777 Arthur Dement, Distilling P O Luck
3779 R T Dement: Distilling: P O Luck
3780 Junius Carden, Distilling P O Luck
3782 Walter Porter, Distilling. L L Saxon
3785½ Will O'Neal et al, Forfeiture.
3786 Hattie King, A. M. Powell & Powell
3786½ Hattie King et al, Forfeiture.
3787 Daisy Powers, Receiving Stolen Property L. H. Ellis
3793 Jeff Garner, Distilling.
3793½ Jeff Garner et al, Forfeiture

Set for Wednesday, November 19th, 1924.

3797 Joe Bunn, Distilling.
3797½ Joe Bunn et al, Forfeiture.
3798 Will Hodges, Distilling.
3799 George Tyler, Distilling
3818 Ross Hope: Distilling: P O Luck
3837 Howard Finley, Defacing School House.
3839 James Spain, Defacing School House L L Saxon
3846 Howard Lecroy, Defacing School House.
3844 Wiley J. Nelson, Grand Larceny.
3845 Wiley J. Nelson, Grand Larceny.
3850 W J Hethcock, Distilling; P O Luck
3851 Eugene Reynolds, Distilling L. L. Saxon
3851½ Eugene Reynolds et al: Forfeiture
3973 Judge Jackson, Distilling.
3974 Jerry Baldwin, Burglary
3857 Dovie Smith, Adultery
3858 Bill Parker, Adultery.
3865 Wm. England, Selling Liquor.
3873 John Gardner, V P L, appeal from County Court, P O Luck

Set for Thursday, November 20th, 1924.

3881 Annie Smith, Distilling.
3881½ Annie Smith et al: Forfeitur e
3882 Rufus Smith, Distilling.
3882½ Rufus Smith, et al: Forfeiture.
3897 Felix Parker, Distilling.
3899 A. M. Walters, Distilling
3903 J. H. Nabors, Distilling.
3904 J. K. Raymond, Distilling.
3907 Warsaw Bryant, Distilling.
3907½ Warsaw Bryant et al: Forfeiture
3908 Charlie Mitchell, Burglary.
3908½ Charlie Mitchell et al, Forfeiture.
3909 Billie Parker, Distilling.
3915 Earl Horn, Distilling.
3917 Dudley McClinton, Distilling.
3917½ Dudley McClinton et ol: Forfeiture.
3918 Clarence Cooper, Grand Larceny.
3919 W K Kimble, V P L, appeal from County Court; J C Adams.
3919½ W K Kimble et al: Forfeiture

Set for Monday, November 24th, 1924.

3920 Dock Mims, Distilling.
3929 Jess Thompson, Adultery.
3929½ Jess Thompson et al; Forfeiture.
3933 Oliver Self, Selling Liquor. Longshore, Koenig & Longshore
3934 Oliver Self, Selling Liquor. Longshore, Koenig & Longshore
3939 John Powers: Grand Larceny: L H Ellis
3940 Alonzo Bean, V P L, appeal from County Court, Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.
3940½ Alonzo Bean et al: Forfeiture
3941 Alonzo Bean, V P L, appeal from County Court, Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.
3941½ Alonzo Bean et al: Forfeiture
3945 Charley Carter, Removing Mortgaged Property: Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.
3952 Will England, V P L (appeal from County Court) L L Saxon
3954 Joe Hollis (appeal from County Court) T J Roe, P O Luck
3956 Egward Etress; Presenting Firearms; (appeal from Co. Court P O Luck.
3957 Egward Etress, C C W (appeal from Co. Ct,) P O Luck.
3958 Egward Etress: A L (Appeal from Co. Court) P O Luck
3959 Clarence Crawford V P L (Appeal from Co. Ct.) Longshore, Koenig & Longshore.
3960 J H Lominick, V P L (appeal from Co. Ct) L H Ellis.
3961 W O Cofer: V P L (Appeal from Co. Court) P O Luck.
3963 Dewey Seale, V P L (Appeal from Co. Court) Longshore Koenig & Longshore.
3971 Monroe Brown: Burglary and grand larceny.

Set for Tuesday, November 25th, 1924.

3975 Charley Seale, Assault to Murder.
3976 B C Collum, Distilling
3977 Ocie Peyton, Grand Larceny.
3978 Aucie Stewart, Distilling
3979 Greeley Stewart, Distilling.
3980 G G Stewart, Distilling.
3981 J. Arthur Dye, Kidnaping
3982 Mack Miller, Distilling.
3983 John Higgins, Distilling
3984 Ed Bradley, Distilling.
3985 Aubrey Winslet, Distilling.
3986 Ross Hope, Distilling.
3987 H H Lathem, Distilling
3988 Leland Melton, Distilling
3989 Dennis Phillips, Distilling.
3990 Bill Morrison, Distilling
3991 Henry Davis, Assault to Murder
3992 A B McClinton, Distilling
3993 Geo W Smith, Distilling
3994 L C Cardwell, Distilling
3995 Helton Lee, Unlawfully Exploding Dynamite.
3996 Ocie Peyton, Distilling.

Set for Wednesday, November 26th, 1924.

3997 James V Bingham, Distilling
3999 Manon Cox, Distilling.
4000 Malcom E Cross, Distilling.
4001 Austin Isbell, Distilling.
4002 Charlie Godfrey Isbell, Distilling
4003 Steve Isbell, Distilling.
4004 Maynard Burnett, Distilling.
4005 A B McClinton, Distilling.
4006 Charlie Seals, Assault to Murder
4007 G G Hartsfield, Distilling.
4009 Quiller Hand, Distilling
4010 West Williams, Distilling.
4011 Theodore Brasher, Distilling
4012 Charlie Brasher, Distilling
4013 A P Brasher, Distilling.
4014 Joe Nicholas. Distilling; Benton & Bentley
4015 Sid Nicholas, Distilling: Benton & Bentley.
4016 Gene Lucas, Distilling.
4017 W O Cofer, Grand Larceny
4018 J E Hawkins, Distilling.
4019 Ernest Crawford, Distilling.
4020 H C Albright, Distilling.
4021 W R Burnett, Distilling
4222 Carl Cox, Distilling.
4023 C Goodwin, Distilling
4024 C Burnett, Distilling

Set for Thursday, November 27th, 1924.

4025 Frank R Brasher, Distilling.
4026 M M Brasher, Distilling
4027 D W Lowery; Distilling.
4028 Clarence Cooper, Distilling.
4034 Will Benton, Distilling.
4035 W W Cogswell and Julia Arwood, Adultery.
4036 W O Coffer, Reckless Driving; Longshore, Koenig & L.
4037 W O Coffer, Reckless Driving; Longshore, Koenig & L.
4038 John Connell, C C W; Longshore, Koenig & Longshore
4039 John Connell: V P L; Longshore, Koenig & Longshore
4040 Odom Benton; Distilling
4042 Will Lane; Bigamy.
4043 Monroe Graves, Possessing liquor
4045 Jim Jordan; Distilling; Benton & Bentley.
4046 Lonnie Oickett; Distilling.
4048 John Lutz, Assault to Murder.
4053 Town of Columbiana, vs Walter Cotton, alias Walter Wood, V P L; appeal from Mayor's Court.
4054 Same vs Henry McClanahan, Same; Same.
4055 Same vs Roosevelt Clisby; Same; Sama.

50,000 IN LIFE-SAVING SERVICE OF RED CROSS

Additional 50,000 Water Safety Experts Probable Gain of Summer Campaign.

A boy watched an expert give a class a lesson in the way to revive a person unconscious from water immersion. The next day the boy tried it on a bathing companion and saved his life. Such a boy justifies all the effort and the cost of the Life-Saving Service, American Red Cross officials declare. The Red Cross method of restoring partly drowned persons is so simple that the continual large sacrifice of life must decrease as an informed public insists upon general instruction in prone pressure practice to induce respiration.

The Red Cross Life-Saving Service in every part of the country, summer and winter, is engaged in teaching this method as an integral part of swimming and life-saving. This service has grown from a single expert in 1914 to a corps of almost 50,000 active life-savers. In this tenth year of the work it is predicted that fully 50,000 more experts will be eligible for membership in the corps. This large accession in a single year is confidently expected as the result of the campaign among 22,000 troops of Boy Scouts under a plan to qualify at least two life-guards in each troop.

During the past year 4,746 men, 3,274 women, 9,731 boys and girls successfully passed the rigid tests of the Red Cross—an increase of 5,321 over 1923. Intensive instruction is developing hundreds of qualified examiners for the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, who supplement the teaching staff maintained by the national organization. The cause of water safety is therefore penetrating to new sections and eventually will cover all American territory.

Recognition of this Red Cross service for humanity is growing apace. At the request of the War Department every military training camp had life-saving instruction last summer. Municipalities have adopted the Red Cross course, public and private schools are offering it to students, business, civic and athletic organizations are promoting campaigns, and police departments are making it a part of the conditioning process for their recruits.

Volunteer life-savers throughout the country, the American Red Cross reports, are eagerly advancing the cause of water safety, 388 volunteers receiving medals for giving from 200 to 300 hours' service in two or three years. In addition 36 rescue bars to medals were awarded members of the Red Cross Corps who saved one or more lives during the year.

It is for the work and extension of life-saving that continued support through memberships is sought, and the American Red Cross urges all persons to join or renew membership during the enrollment campaign opening Armistice Day, November 11.

Red Cross Invites All Into Neutral Army of Service

There are 3,089 counties in the United States and more than 3,500 Chapters of the American Red Cross. The Chapter is the local unit of the national organization, formed to carry out the program, services and policies of the Red Cross. The industry of these 3,500 local units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and sympathy which softens human suffering and distress wherever it arises. This work is absolutely neutral, for the Red Cross knows no race, no creed, no color.

The strength of the American Red Cross being in its Chapters, the organization annually invites the people to join or renew their membership during a Roll Call which always begins on Armistice Day, November 11.

"It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization. "Membership in the Red Cross is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country, we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

The invitation of the American Red Cross is unlimited. The enrollment period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, is everyone's opportunity to join.

Annual Summons to Service

The annual nation-wide Roll Call of the American Red Cross to enroll members for 1925 will open on Nov. 11, the anniversary of that tense and never-to-be-forgoten Armistice Day six years ago, which silenced the crashing arms of the World War. The enrollment will continue for 17 days, through Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27. Preliminary to the Roll Call period will come Red Cross Sunday, Nov. 9. During the 17 days set aside for the enrollment more than 3,500 Chapters of the Red Cross and their thousands of branches will invite the people to join the Red Cross or renew their membership.

SINGING NOTICE

There will be an all day singing at the Church of God at East Saginaw Sunday, November 9th, 1924. We are expecting the Riley quartette, W. R. Crumley, and others from Bessemer and Ensley. Everybody cordially invited to come and bring well filled baskets.

Forrest O. Moore.

GUARDIAN'S SALE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 31 day of October, 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, F. C. Oates, as guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates and Margaret Oates, minors, to sell, for investment, the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 21st day of November, 1924, between the hours of legal sale, before the court house door, in Columbiana, Alabama, the undersigned, as guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land, situated in Shelby county, Alabama, to-wit:

Beginning at a point 107 yards north of the Penn Cost Crossing of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and parallel with the said Louisville & Nashville crossing and on the west side of said railroad crossing, and running in a northerly direction from said point along the right-of-way of said railroad 191 yards, from beginning corner, thence in a westerly direction 136 yards to the center of Buck Creek, at low water mark, thence up Buck Creek in a southernly direction 188 yards, thence in an easternly direction 119 yards to the point of beginning, and bounded as follows: On the east by the L. & N. Railroad, on the north by Keystone Lime Company's land, on the west by Buck Creek, and on the south by lands of John Swiney, and being a part of Section 35, Township 20, Range 3 West.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the purpose of investment in other lands or securities. Terms of sale cash.

F. C. Oates,
As Guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates, and Margaret Oates, Minors.

11 6 3t

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE

Columbiana Savings Bank

Located at Columbiana, Ala., at the close of business Oct. 22nd, 1924.

RESOURCES

1. Loans and Discounts		$144,852.86
4. Other Bonds, Stocks and War-rants		5,852.04
5. Banking House		5,850.00
6. Furniture and Fixtures		1,275.00
7. Other Real Estate		1,593.75
8. Cash
a. Currency	$17,259.00
c. Silver, Nickels and Pennies	455.41
Total		17,714.41
		18,719.04
9. Due from Banks		226.00
12. Checks and Cash Items		$196,083.10
Total

LIABILITIES

1. Capital Stock Paid in		$ 35,000.00
2. Surplus Fund		5,500.00
3. Undivided Profits less expenses and Taxes paid		1,210.90
5. Demand Deposits
a. Individual Deposits	91,648.51
f. Cashier's Checks	1,742.82
h. Unpaid Dividends	4,200.00
Total		97,591.33
6. Time Deposits
a. Savings	56,780.87
Total		56,780.87
Total		$196,083.10

THE STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County.

Before me came W. L. Christian, Cashier of Columbiana Savings Bank, who being duly sworn, says that the above and foregoing statement is true and gives the actual condition of said Bank, as shown by the books on file in said Bank.

W. L. Christian, Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 29th day of Oct. 1924.

W. H. Blankenship, Notary Public

ATTEST:
Max Lefkovits, W. F. Davis, W. L. Christian, Directors.

E. W. CHAFMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. C. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alabama.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

The Difference.

A mountain farmer near Beaufort West, Cape Colony, wanted a telephone. The authorities said a connection would cost him £500. So he laid the line himself. It was inspected and passed—and he has saved £450.

How To End a Cough Quickly

Specialists say to actually end a cough in the shortest possible time the medicine should not only soothe and heal the soreness and irritation, but should also loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. When this is done the worst cough quickly disappears.

This "double-action" method has been brought to perfection in the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. A few drops stop the coughing spells almost instantly, and people who have hardly been able to sleep at night for coughing usually get their full night's rest even after the first doses. It has been very successful, too, for children's spasmodic croup, for bronchitis, laryngitis, bronchial asthma and hoarseness. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

DISSOLUTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I have sold my entire interest in the Vincent Motor Company to Dr. J. W. Arthur who assumes all indebtedness of said company.

B. K. Smothers, Vincent, Ala.
10 23 4t pd.

J. F. AVERYT
UNDERTAKER
Columbiana, Alabama.
Full line of Undertaker's Supplies on hand at all times at my Residence.
REASONABLE RATES FOR HEARSE

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

HARPERSVILLE

C. M. Mauldin is visiting his old home in Georgia.

Prof. S. J. Strock of Woodlawn was with Harpersville friends last Saturday.

Our teachers all attended a school meeting at Vincent last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Posey spent last Saturday in Talladega.

Rev. R. A. Kidd of Vincent preached at the Baptist church here Sunday morning and night.

D. A. Cater attended the conference at Talladega a day or two last week.

Doctor Lyons has treated 970 patients here at the gin and still more to be treated.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baker of Calera, spent Sunday with Harpersville relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wyatt went over to Birmingham Sunday returning Monday.

Mrs. Franklin of Bibb county is visiting her daughter, Mrs. T. H. Davis.

The Halloween social here last Friday night was a splendid affair, and enjoyed by all present. After the fun was all over with, Judge Longshore made one of his political harangues, but as you know the Judge is a dead duck in the pit, and his speech did not amount to anything with the Harpersville people.

Now the election is over and the farmers are all about done gathering their crops, so let us turn our attention to our school building. With a determined Mind and a united people we can have one of the best school buildings in the county, and that will mean one of the best schools. The Wallace school district has already come into ours and there are others that will follow. Hurrah for a Harpersville Consolidated school. R. B. Posey.

WILSONVILLE

Mrs. W. A. Daniels and Mrs. A. A. Ingram motored to Talladega Friday.

Mrs. J. A. Spearman and son, Roland, spent the week-end in Bessemer with Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. Given left Thursday to visit her sons in Maplesville.

Messrs. Horace Reinhardt, Mitchell and Young, motored to Birmingham Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Hilderbrand and Mrs. S. C. Taylor of Birmingham, spent the week-end with Mrs. Nancy Daniels.

Mesdames Grady McEwen, F. P. Hewlett, F. F. Millerr, Simpson and Grimes motored to Talladega Wednesday.

Miss Strain of Houston, Texas, is visiting Mrs. G. R. McEwen.

Mrs. Calvin Weldon and son Jessie spent several days last week in Birmingham.

Mrs. W. A. Taylor of Sylacauga, visited relatives here last week.

Mary John Weldon spent Saturday in Talladega.

Mrs. Grimes of Leeds is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Miller.

Miss Vida Vick of Harpersville, visited her aunt, Miss Dora Vick here last week.

Mrs. J. F. Pope spent several days last week in Birmingham.

The Halloween party given by the senior B. Y. P. U. in the school building Friday evening was a success and was enjoyed by every one present.

Seal Reinhardt of Birmingham, spent Sunday here with his parents

Miss Jane Ray left Monday after visiting friends and relatives here.

FOURMILE

Bill Gray of Dothan is visiting his sister, Mrs. Ed Barkley at this place.

Joe Cherry and Jack Clark spent last week in Birmingham with relatives.

Tom Moore of Ensley spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore.

John Sims and son, Mark, spent the week end in Powderly with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Newton spent the week end with relatives in Columbiana.

Misses Eloise, Verna and Ruby Jackson spent Sunday at the Narrows near Chelsea.

Donnie Forman of Birmingham was in our community Sunday.

We want to thank Mr. Polk for the service of his radio at the school house, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blackerby and their mother and sister, spent Sunday in Sylacauga.

Miss Ada Traffenstedt is visiting Misses Gertrude and Ruby Crane in Columbiana for a few days.

Mr. Montgomery is doing very successful work in our community in his night school. Several of our farmers are planning to enter the dairy business as a result of his efforts.

SPECIALS FOR SATURDAY
NOVEMBER 8TH

Shorts, white sack	$2.20
Cheese, pound	25c
Gloriole Flour, sack	$1.05
Van Camp Pork and Beans, 15c size	10c
Pure Lard, pound	22c
Maxwell House Coffee, pound can	45c
Salt, 100 pound sack	$1.10
Vicks Salve, 35c size	25
Aluminum Percolator	78c
Common Nails, any size, pound	5c

Cut out this ad, bring it to our store Saturday and get any 25c black & white toilet article for 10c

John F. Averyt & Sons
CALERA, ALABAMA

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

State Project No. 44, Shelby county.

Sealed bids will be received by the State Highway Commission of Alabama at the office of the State Highway Department, Montgomery, Alabama, until 12:00 o'clock noon, November 26th, 1924, and at that time publicly opened for the construction of 8.104 miles of road from Calera to Wilton, by way of Montevallo, in the County of Shelby.

The principal items of work are approximately as follows;

10.575 acres clearing and grubbing; 66,753 cu yds common excavation and borrow; 14,161 cu yds solid rock excavation; 45,330 stayds overhaul on excavation; 50 lin ft 15 in pipe; 462.5 lin ft 18-in pipe;82.5 lin ft 21-in pipe; 166 lin ft 24-in pipe;119 concrete R O W Markers; 6600 lin ft galvanized cable for guard rail; 241 concrete posts for guard rail; 30 concrete end post braces for guard rail; 977.77 cu yds class A concrete in culverts; 108,900 lbs steel reinforcing in culverts; 55.32 cu yds class B concrete in headwalls; 38.04 cu yds class B concrete in baffle walls, 2 standard drop inlets; 52 lin ft pipe to be removed, 9 structures to be removed from right of way; 25,742 sq yds Bermuda grass planting;17,190 lin ft fence to be reset; 251 lin ft pipe to be taken up and relaid; 23,746 cu yds chert surfacing within one mile haul; 77,019 cu yds chert to be hauled one-half mile additional.

ALTERNATE SURFACING

23,746 cu yds imported gravel surfacing, clay or artificial mix.

Prospective bidders are notified that the chert surfacing to be used on this project will have to be crushed, and in going over this work, prospective bidders must investigate this contingency.

The pipe used on this project may be either double strength vitrified clay, corrugated metal, reinforced concrete, or cast iron.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the State Highway Department at Montgomery, Alabama, and in the office of the Division Engineer, Lincoln Life Building, Birmingham, Alabama. Any additional information may be secured from the State Highway Engineer, Montgomery, Alabama.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

Cash, certified check or bid-bond for Five Thousand Dollars made payable to the Chairman of the State Highway Commission of Alabama, must accompany each bid as evidence of good faith and as a guarantee that if awarded contract, the bidder will execute the contract and give bond as required.

W. S. KELLER,
10 23 3t State Highway Engineer.

Progress.

The world is getting better. It is now possible to address an envelope with a post office pen.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOT

Estate of W. L. Tumlin, ed. Probate Court.

Letters of Administration Estate of said deceased been granted to the unde on the 23 day of October by the Hon. L. B. Riddle, J the Probate Court of Shelby ty, notice is hereby given persons having claims agai estate, are hereby required sent the same within the lowed by law, or the same barred. Mrs. Maude A T
10-30 3t. Tallapoosa

The WOODSTOCK

Represents the latest achievement in typewriter construction, gives the greatest measure of satisfactory service and a quality of work that is unsurpassed.

Consider these facts: The Woodstock means more far the money, has many superior features and excels in every particular.

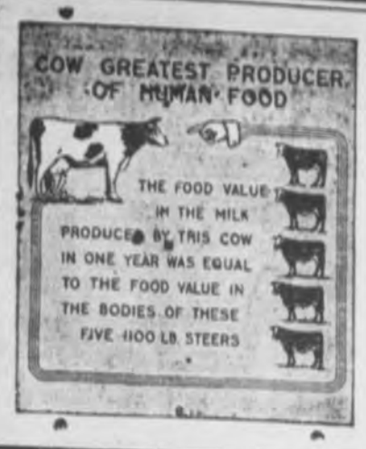
Price and terms most attractive—full particulars on request. Ask for demonstration.

LUTHER FOWLER, Distributor
Columbiana, Alabama

Across Channel in Folding Boat.

Mr. Betts, boatman to the Dover rowing club, made a night crossing of the Channel in an 18-pound folding rowing boat in eight hours. He had worked 13 hours during the day. His only refreshment was a little brandy.

J. W. LANGLEY
Will Be At
Vincent, Friday, Nov. 7th.
Wilsonville, Thurs. Nov. 13
Columbiana, Fri. Nov. 14.
COME EARLY



ANNOUNCEMEN

I am again located in Montevallo. Same office I formerly occupied. All equipment new and modern. I will appreciate your patronage. Lady attendant

DR. W. J. MITCHELL

Mitchell Bldg, Over Woolley & Horn, Montevallo, Alabama.

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE Citizens State Bank ated at Vincent, Ala., at the close of business Oct. 22nd, 1924.

RESOURCES

Loans and Discounts		$ 60,563.08
Overdrafts		24.75
Banking House		1,650.00
Furniture and Fixtures		1,788.50
Other Real Estate		299.81
Cash
a. Currency	5,681.00
b. Gold	842.50
c. Silver, Nickels and Pennies	1,056.87
Total		7,580.37
Due from Banks		12,562.95
Checks and Cash Items		15.80
Other Resources, Teller Short		6.40
Total		$ 84,491.66

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock Paid in		$ 10,000.00
Surplus Fund		1,240.00
Undivided Profits less expenses and Taxes paid		1,606.05
Demand Deposits
a. Individual Deposits	40,482.99
b. Demand Certificates	400.00
c. Cashier's Checks	578.78
Total		41,461.77
Time Deposits
a. Savings	21,879.36
b. Time Certificates	8,300.00
Total		30,179.36
Other Liabilities Credit Items		4.48
Total		$ 84,491.66

E STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County. Before me came J. Wesley Curry, shier of Citizens State Bank, who being duly sworn, says that the ve and foregoing statement is true and gives the actual condition said Bank, as shown by the books on file in said Bank.

J. Wesley Curry, Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 3rd day of Nov. 1924.
TTEST: Lola M. Curry, Notary Public.
J. F. McGraw, A. W. Tucker, T. W. Bell, Directors.

Why Utility Earnings Are Steady!

Do you read the stock and bond market reports ?

They are a good barometer of business, recording constant fluctuations in business conditions and in the market value of industrial securities.

For many years, public utility corporations have maintained far more consistent earnings than general industries.

Theirs is an essential service, based upon a steady demand which remains practically unaffected by recurring periods of business depression.

Dependability of Earnings Commends Alabama Power Company 7 per cent Preferred Stock to careful investors who seek the maximum of safety, regular quarterly dividends and a high yield of 7.14%

Alabama Power Company 7% preferred stock may be bought at 98 and accrued dividends per share, direct from our INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT, Birmingham, or through any employee of this company.

ALABAMA POWER CO.

Birmingham, Alabama

BAY SPRINGS NO. 2

School here is progressing nicely with- Miss Madge Tee Hand as principal.

Mrs. H. A. Smith and children of Chilton spent part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morris.

Richard Benson of Dargin made a business trip to Sawyer's Cove last Friday.

W. T. Morris of Shelby spent a while here Saturday.

Erle Wilson has gone to Chilton where he will work.

Hallie Mims of New Hope visited his uncle Will Wilson Friday.

Ward Thrash of near Montevallo and Ayers Thrash of Jemison were in our community Saturday night and Sunday.

Luther Morris visited relatives near Montevallo last week.

Misses Ether and Bessie Morris and Madge Hand spent the week end with their friend, Miss Emma Porter of Prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morris were in Columbiana Thursday shopping.

Clarence Abbott of Shelby spent Sunday afternoon with his sister Mrs. L. R. Sawyer.

Mrs. Lola Belle Porter and children spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morris Arthur Ellison left here Sunday evening to take up a position with R. L. Sawyer & Co.

George Porter, Jr., of Shelby, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Porter.

Mrs. H. D. Henderson of Birmingham visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Isbell the first of the week.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Batson of Bessemer were visitors to Columbiana the first of the wee.

To Irrigate Jordan Plain.

Canals to irrigate the plain of Jordan, round the Dead sea, are proposed; wide areas covered with fertile soil could then be cultivated.

RED CROSS IS URGING BETTER-HEALTH BATTLE

Tireless In Services Advancing Cause of Freedom from Human Suffering.

Not alone in preparedness for emergencies, but in a tireless offensive battle for better health is the American Red Cross nurse maintaining in peace time the high tradition of her war service. As in war, the same self-effacing service for humanity goes on its quiet, effective way content in its accomplishments, seeking no public acclaim. Enrolled in the Red Cross Nursing Service are 40,636 of these missioners of health, nearly 1,000 carrying the message of a finer public health to as many communities and 1,100 teaching large classes in home hygiene and care of the sick. Exactly 100 Red Cross nurses are still on duty overseas, helping the struggle forward toward the high standard of American nurse efficiency in many countries.

In the Government services 3,117 enrolled Red Cross nurses are on duty with the Army, Navy, Public Health Service and the Veterans Bureau, while the entire active enrollment is maintained as a reserve for the Army Nurse Corps and available to the Navy in a national defense emergency. Nine hundred nurses were added to the roll the last year.

Red Cross nursing, however, has perhaps its finest expression out in the places laid waste by fire, flood and storm, and in the back reaches far from the centers of population. In every disaster the Red Cross nurse is first called for, first to respond, and the last to leave her post of duty among the suffering victims. In the isolated sections of Alaska, North Carolina, Virginia, Idaho, and among the bleak islands of Penobscott Bay, Me., her ministrations are making hard lives easier and working for a brighter future for the children. Her part in the human drama of the time is increasingly important, although it is subdued by the very nature of her work.

The policy of the American Red Cross to establish under Chapter control public health nursing services in communities lacking such facilities has been justified and this pioneering work is everywhere endorsed by authorities who are quick to take it over as a proper municipal function and a duty of taxpayers. The Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick program has further penetrated into the schools as a definite part of curriculums. During the year 29,000 school pupils took this Red Cross course. Three telephone corporations adopted it and graduated 960 employe students.

As good health depends upon right eating the Red Cross Nutrition Service continued to promote individual and community health, particularly the health of mothers and children. This service reached nearly 150,000 persons during the year and found work to do for several thousand Red Cross volunteer workers.

TH' OLE GROUCH

Whale at Montreal.

A whale followed a ship up the St. Lawrence to Montreal some years ago. Rusty old guns were taken out to have a shot at it at the peril of their owners' lives. A ferry boat collided with it and shortly after it was found dead and stranded and sold for a peep-show by the uneducated finder. One man offered him a $10 bill, another a certified check for $50. He took the $10 and the buyer immediately sold it for the check before his eyes.

Have You Appendicitis And Don't Know It?

Much so-called stomach trouble is really chronic appendicitis. This can often be relieved by simple glycerine, buckthorn bark, etc., as mixed in Adlerika. Most medicines act only on the lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, and removes all gasses and poisons. Brings out matter you never thought was in your system. Excellent for obstinate constipation.

Davis Drug Co., Columbiana.
Columbiana Drug Company,
Peoples Drug Co., Calera.

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY

LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Ala.
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abstract of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

On Monday, November 10th, my regular monthly visit. I will be in my office in Columbiana at Columbiana Drug Co. for one day only. I will examine and test eyes free. All of you that have trouble with your eyes or need glasses, remember the date and come to see me.

DR. M. GOLDNER

Eyes Specialist Birmingham office 318 Empire Bldg.

TOMBSTONES MONUMENTS

I am still selling Tombstones and Monuments

My work is of the best, both in material and workmanship.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED

No payment is required until the work is put up. If it is not what you bought you won't have to take it.

If you need anything in this line write to me at Harpersville, Alabama.

R. B. POSEY

THE

Covered Wagon

AT

Strand Theatre

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

THIS WEEK

Thursday-Friday-Sat'day

November 6th, 7th and 8th

Matinee Daily 3:30 P. M.
Night 7:00 and 9:00 P. M.

Admission: 35c and 50c

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

I pray not that men may tremble at my power of place and lordly sway. I only pray for simple grace to look my neighbor in the face full honestly from day to day. —J. W. Riley.

GATHERED FROM TEA ROOMS

One finds in out-of-the-way places, as a traveler, many interesting dishes which many times may be diagnosed and written down, or if too intricate for analysis, the hostess of the tea room will often gladly tell you how the dishes are made. Those who enjoy gathering such recipes find especial delight in visiting the attractive tea rooms all over the country.

If one has enjoyed apple pie a la mode, they have a treat in store in apple pie served with Devonshire cream, or clotted cream. Take fresh milk, bring to the scalding point and set away for 24 hours. Then the cream may be removed almost in one piece. Beat very slightly so that it will pour and serve with a wedge of apple pie.

Chicken Shortcake.—Take two cupfuls of pastry flour, one cupful of bread flour, one teaspoonful of salt, five teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half cupful of shortening, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of rich milk, one-fourth cupful of cream. Mix and roll out, cut into three and one-half inch rounds, melt the butter, brush the pastry circles—there should be twelve, and put together sandwich fashion. Brush the tops with the butter and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown. Break apart, pour the chicken over the buttered cakes, put together in pairs and pour more chicken over the top. Garnish with a halved stuffed olive or a little rosette of parsley. Serve a spoonful of sauted mushrooms, or green peas, or asparagus tips, or a crisp brown corn fritter or some other seasonable vegetable at the side of the shortcake; garnish with parsley or cress.

Maraschino Sandwiches.—Slice and butter Boston brown bread; butter and spread with the following: Cream two small cheeses with a tablespoonful or two of sweet cream, mix with two tablespoonfuls each of chopped maraschino cherries and chopped nuts. Add a bit of the cherry cordial if the cheese seems too dry. Cut into any desired form.

The world needs not so much to be informed as to be reminded.

Success treads on the heels of every right effort.

PENNSYLVANIA GOOD THINGS

Noodles and dumplings of various kinds are a favorite dish with the Pennsylvania Dutch, and as those of other nationalities enjoy them, here are a few recipes:

Godampfte Noodles.—Take one egg, season with a pinch of salt and beat to a froth. Now add sifted flour a little at a time until the mixture is very thick, then knead in a loaf until soft and pliable and then roll on a floured board to the thinnest possible sheet, lay on a clean cloth over the bread board and roll again, then hang cloth and paste in the air for a few minutes to dry. Take the paste from the cloth and roll like a jelly roll, cutting into fine slices. These are afterward shaken out lightly and dropped into boiling salted water. Cook five or six minutes, then drain well and drop into a frying pan with two tablespoonfuls of butter; cook covered for another five minutes, sprinkle with buttered crumbs which have been well browned in melted butter. Serve with prune or apple sauce.

Butter Semmels.—Take three-fourths of a cupful of lard and butter mixed, one and one-half cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, a cupful of sugar, teaspoonful of salt, well beaten to a smooth paste. Cool the mixture and add two well-beaten eggs, one yeast cake dissolved in one-half cupful of warm water; add a cupful of milk. Fold in enough flour to make a very stiff batter and let rise over night. Knead in the morning, adding more flour, if necessary, and roll a half-inch thick. Cut into squares and bring the four corners together in the center, press a piece of butter there and sprinkle with sugar. Set away to rise, then bake in a moderate oven.

Cheese Pie.—Mash one cupful of cottage cheese very fine, adding two tablespoonfuls each of cream and butter, a pinch of salt, three-fourths cupfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of milk, one well-beaten egg, a teaspoonful of vanilla, or the juice and grated rind of half a lemon. Beat all well and bake in a pastry-lined pie plate in a moderate oven.

Paprika Schnitzel.—Select small veal steaks, allowing one for each person, dip into seasoned flour and saute in butter. Mix together a teaspoonful of paprika and a tablespoonful of flour, a cupful and one-half of sour cream and one-half cupful of stock or water. Strain over the meat and simmer very slowly on the back of the stove for 15 minutes. Serve garnished with fried or boiled noodles.

Nellie Maxwell

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

It Fired the First Gun in the Revolution

Contrary to popular opinion, the opening gun of the Revolution was not fired at Lexington, Mass., on April 19, 1775. That honor really belongs to Portsmouth, N. H., where the first overt act in the war for independence of the colonies occurred on December 14, 1774. Curiously enough this affair was also preceded by a ride by Paul Revere, but since there was no blood shed there and no poet chose to immortalize the event in verse, it is now almost forgotten.

On December 13, 1774, Paul Revere, as yet unknown to fame but already acting as messenger in the cause of American liberty, rode posthaste into Portsmouth to warn the local committee of public safety that General Gage was planning to reinforce Fort William and Mary, an ancient fortress of stone in Portsmouth harbor.

Gov. John Wentworth heard of Revere's arrival and sent word to Capt. John Cochran, commander of the little garrison of five soldiers, to be on guard against an attempt by the colonists to seize the munitions in the fort. Accordingly Cochran mounted three four-pounders on the walls of the fort where an attack would most likely come and ordered a sharp watch kept that night.

About four o'clock the next morning a party of 400 citizens, led by John Langdon, later a governor of New Hampshire, and John Sullivan, destined for fame as the conqueror of the Iroquois confederacy during the Revolution, approached the fort in boats. Cochran immediately opened fire, but took care to shoot over the heads of the mob, for he realized what his fate would be if he killed any of them.

Undaunted by the firing, the colonists swarmed into the fort, took Cochran and his men prisoners, but released them after they had carried away 100 barrels of gunpowder (some of which, incidentally, was "returned" to the British from the flaming mouths of patriotic muskets on Bunker Hill a little later) and other supplies. Although Governor Wentworth issued a proclamation calling for the arrest of these "traitors to his majesty," nothing was ever done about it, and in June, 1775, after his efforts to enlist more men to defend the fort had failed, he moved into Fort William and Mary with his family to hold it for King George.

By August the situation had become so threatening that Wentworth was glad to make his escape on a British warship and immediately after his departure the Americans demolished the fortress. Years later another fort was built on this historic spot and it was appropriately named Fort Constitution, a fit successor to the British Fort William and Mary, where the opening gun of the Revolution was fired

Where Narragansetts Fought and Died

It was bitter cold that winter morning in 1675 and the snow lay deep on the ground. But in the Indian fort of Sunke Squaw the hearts of the red men were warm, for in its security they felt little fear of an attack by the white men who had driven King Philip, the Wampanoag leader, out of Massachusetts to seek a refuge among Chief Canonchet's fierce Narragansetts. They did not know that the colonies of Massachusetts Bay, Plymouth and Connecticut were sending Gov. Josiah Winslow of Plymouth with a force of nearly a thousand men against them.

This fort, which stood near what is now South Kingston, R. I., covered several acres of ground and was built on high ground surrounded by a treacherous swamp. It was protected on all sides by heavy palisades driven deep into the ground and its only entrance was over a narrow log bridge. It was probably the finest stronghold ever built by Indians, and in it were 3,000 red men.

Winslow's army arrived late in the afternoon of December 19, and, despite the fact that the colonists were weary from their long march through the snow, an attack was launched immediately. Again and again they were driven back as they tried to gain an entrance over the log bridge. Six of their captains and a large number of soldiers were killed. Then Capt. Benjamin Church, the most famous New England Indian fighter, assailed the rear of the fort where it was least protected, and although he was shot three times he succeeded in leading his men over the walls.

Inside the stronghold the battle raged more fiercely than ever, for the Indians put up a stubborn defense from within their wigwams, made bullet proof by the great stores of food piled in them. Finally Church gave the order to fire the wigwams, and as the lodges burst into flames the Indians were forced out into the open. But it was a costly victory for the whites, for their loss was 80 killed and 150 wounded.

Nearly 1,000 of the Indians were killed or died of cold and hunger soon afterward. The power of the Narragansetts was broken. King Philip escaped, but the capture of Sunke Squaw was the beginning of the end.

EVENING'S ASSURED STYLES; WARMLY CLAD LITTLE ONES

RUMORS of wide skirts, high waistlines, bodices molded to the figure, that floated about, whispering in the ears of stylists, of radical changes, "are all melted into air—into thin air." There are such things as evening gowns—"period gowns"—with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts, but they are the rare exceptions that prove the rule of the slender silhouette. The styles are now assured and the slender line persists.

The evening mode sponsors the straight-line gown, the draped figure and the flared tunic. This last recruit of the slender vogue, to be presented at the court of fashion, has made a decidedly good impression and is said to be fully as slenderizing as the straight-line. It is shown in the illustration made of crepe de chine, with emplacements of georgette embroidered in metallic and silk threads. Among the most brilliant of these tunic dresses are those having the straight upper portion made of silver or gold cloth and the flaring portion of georgette. Flowers embroidered on the metal cloth, match or harmonize with the color of the georgette and pearl-beaded girdles are often placed at the joining of the two fabrics. All the new and fashionable shades combine well with metal tissues and they include violet, mauve, cyclamen, orange, salmon, citron, blue, rose and green, in different shades.

Sheer materials allow skirts to flare without destroying the slender line and costumers who are expert manage by the adroit addition of draperies to lengthen the figure and to conceal curves that are too assertive. The tiered skirt, in sheer fabrics, especially when the tiers are uneven at the hem line, varies the slender silhouette without changing its line. Georgette, beaded with crystal beads, is a favorite for the tiered or straight-line gown and crystal harmonizes with every color. Gold metal lace, worn over a slip of gold-colored silk makes effective evening gowns.

In the estimation of little folks, winter comes rollicking in with the first snowfall—sent for their special benefit. They are not far from right; every flying flake is an invitation to frolic out-of-doors, where they should spend as much time as possible. The snow is a playfellow and the cold will not harm them, so long as they are comfortable.

A little maid clad for a promenade on a snowy day is pictured here. She smiles her approval of things in general and winter in particular—being so well fortified against the cold. Whoever has provided her with a warm, fur-trimmed coat, a cozy muff, a soft, close-fitting hat and long leggings has probably seen to it that she wears a soft wool dress, three-quarters wool stockings (with her oxford shoes) and underwear equally sensible. The hat and coat are made to match, thus insuring a charming ensemble effect.

Many soft wool materials, in plain and in plaid patterns, contribute to the great variety found in children's coats. Beaver and squirrel are among the better furs liked for collars but Australian and American opossum, seal, fitch and many less expensive pelts are used. Suede-finished fabrics, bolivia, chinchilla, certain fabric furs, flamingo and other soft woolens are represented in the displays of children's coats.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Striking Evening Model.

Dressed for Cold Days.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHAT IS BOTULISM?

THE newspapers report another case of botulism in which a number of people were poisoned, several fatally The cause in this case was a jar of ripe olives.

On account of the strange name which has been given to this kind of poisoning, many people regard it as something new. This is by no means the case. For centuries past, the peasants in some parts of Germany suffered from what is called "sausage poisoning." Sausages made of the blood, liver and brain of animals, mixed with beans, peas, and seasoning were stuffed into pieces of the intestines of the animals and then smoked so as to preserve them during the winter. Often when the sausages were eaten severe poisoning followed, entirely different from that following the eating of ordinary "spoiled" food.

In 1895, a Belgian physician found that this poisoning was caused by the growth of a vegetable germ, which is not found in the human body but which grows on fruits and vegetables. When these vegetables are canned or used in making sausages, these germs grow and produce a poison which is extremely dangerous. This germ, which is called the Bacillus Botulinus or sausage germ, is found almost everywhere.

Unlike most poisons botulism poison does not affect its victims at once, the effects usually becoming apparent ten, twenty-four, thirty-six or even forty-eight hours after eating the infected food. Neither does the poison always nauseate the victims, allowing them to throw it off. The patient becomes paralyzed, sometimes blind, grows rapidly weaker and generally dies in a few days. The poison is usually fatal. In 130 cases reported, 454 persons were poisoned of whom 307 died. In one case, 17 died out of 19 persons who were poisoned.

In all cases, botulism followed the eating of canned or bottled goods. In some cases the food was home canned, using what is called the cold-pack method.

Naturally, the American Canners' Association, the California fruit growers and olive producers were not only deeply interested but greatly disturbed. In the last few years they have spent a great deal of money trying to find out how to prevent botulism.

The United States bureau of chemistry has issued this warning: "Don't buy any canned goods where the ends of the can bulge out, snap back when pressed in or feel loose, where the can leaks or has loose seams. Such cans have "leaked air" and the contents are dangerous. Don't use any food, either from cans or bottles which are moldy, cloudy or discolored or which have a bad odor. Don't use any food from cans that are black or corroded inside. If it is spoiled, throw it out where no animal can get it. If in doubt, add half as much boiling water and boil half an hour. Moist heat will kill the germ."

SCARLET FEVER

SCARLET fever is called a "children's disease." This means that if you have it when you are a child and don't die, you'll live to grow up and die of some other disease.

It is one of the so-called "respiratory diseases." It is taken by breathing in or getting into the throat, from soiled hands, handkerchiefs or other means, the discharges from the throat of some one who has it. It gets its name from the scarlet rash which appears about the third day.

Calling scarlet fever a "children's disease" does not mean that it is harmless. Any disease which kills 5,000 children every year, as scarlet fever does, can hardly be considered of no importance.

Scarlet fever is a highly contagious and very dangerous disease.

How do children get it? From other children who have it or have had it; by drinking milk from a dairy where some one who handles the milk has it, or is in contact with others who have it. A milkman who has a child sick with scarlet fever may carry the germs on his hands and so infect the milk. Grown persons may get it, if they have never had it in childhood. Generally a person who has once had it will not get it again. How can you recognize it? A child, previously well, suddenly seems tired, fretful and generally "out of sorts." After a day of restlessness, there is a chill, followed by fever, sometimes by vomiting, or, in a young child, by convulsions. The fever increases, the skin is hot and dry, and the throat is sore. The tongue is coated, red and swollen. After a day or two of illness, little bright red spots appear on the neck, chest and back.

In mild cases, the symptoms may be slight and the rash faint or only on a part of the body. This is misleadingly called "scarlatina," under the mistaken idea that it is another disease or so mild as to be of no importance.

Don't be deceived. Scarlatina is scarlet fever. If your neighbor's children or the children at school have scarlatina, your children can "catch" scarlet fever from them just as readily as from a severe case.

BEFORE TWINS WERE BORN

Was Very Miserable. Felt Lots Better After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyocena, Wisconsin. —"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my twins were born because my sister used it and recommended it to me. I was so I could scarcely go about my daily work I was in such misery. But after I began taking the second bottle I was feeling lots better. I took three bottles and a half before I was confined and finished the bottle while I was in bed. I got up feeling fine and have taken care of the twins alone ever since. I recommend the Vegetable Compound highly and will sing its praises in the future." —Mrs. Ida Gerbitz, Wyocena, Wis.

It is remarkable how many cases have been reported similar to this one. Many mothers are left in a weakened and run-down condition after child-birth, and for such mothers the care of the baby is well-nigh impossible. Not only is it hard for the mother, but the child itself will indirectly suffer.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for the mother both before and after child-birth. It is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and does not contain any harmful drugs. It can be taken in safety by nursing mothers.

Tomatoes in Europe

Tomatoes were introduced into Europe toward the end of the Sixteenth century and about 1583 mention is made of them by the Dutch, who speak of their being good to eat with pepper, salt and oil.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills correct indigestion, constipation, liver complaint, biliousness. Costs you nothing to send for trial box to 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

When firmness is sufficient, rashness is unnecessary.

All men cannot be the best, but every man can be his best!

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Don't Stay Dizzy, Bilious, Headachy, Sick or Constipated.

Feel fine! Let "Cascarets" clean your bowels and stimulate your liver. No griping or overacting. Millions of men, women, and children take this harmless laxative-cathartic. It doesn't sicken you like pills, oils, calomel and salts. Tastes nice—acts wonderful. Sold at drug stores.

Cuticura Talcum Unadulterated Exquisitely Scented

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

ACOLD TODAY - DON'T DELAY
CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE
Cures Colds in 24 Hours La Grippe in 3 Days
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.
SAFE SURE DEPENDABLE

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman. Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

ITCH
Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

Prevents Chapped Hands & Cracked Knuckles

Rub "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly on your hands before working in the cold or wet and you'll avoid chapped hands and cracked knuckles. For cuts, burns, bumps, bruises and sores or skin troubles, apply "Vaseline" Jelly liberally. Always safe, soothing and healing.

Look for the trade-mark "Vaseline" on every package. It is your protection.

Chesebrough Mfg. Company (Cons'd) State Street New York

Vaseline
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY

SORE EYES Dr. Salter's Eye Lotion relieves and cures sore and inflamed eyes in 24 to 48 hours. Helps the weak eyed, cures without pain. Ask your druggist or dealer for SALTER'S. Or from Reforma Dispensary, P. O. Box 151, Atlanta, Ga.

FREE To Housewives

Send us your name and we will send you, FREE and POSTPAID a 16 cent bottle of LIQUID VENEER. Wonderful for your daily dusting. Cleans, dusts and polishes with one sweep of your dust cloth. Renews pianos, furniture, woodwork, automobiles. Makes everything look like new. Makes dusting a pleasure.

Sold by hardware, furniture, drug, paint, grocery and general stores.

LIQUID VENEER COMPANY Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

CONTINUOUS HATCHER An Innovation

Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.

Agents Wanted

Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co. Box 675. Jackson, Miss.

Buy Concord Yarns

Direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Yarn from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

FOR SALE—WEST FLA. BLUEBERRY AND GENERAL FARM. 140 acres, 70 in cultivation, 20 in Blueberries; Dwellings, Barns, Tenant Houses, Tobacco House, etc. Good Soil. Fine Climate. Price and Terms. L. McKINNON, DePuniak Springs, Fla.

The great need of some men we know is a little more sunshine in their system.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION 25 CENTS

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

An increase of 44,881 in the number of children enrolled in the kindergartens of the United States is reported betwee.. 1919 and 1922.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness are oftentime symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paber.—Advertisement

St. Peter's Cupola Safe

Cardinal Merry del Val says there is nothing to the report that the famous cupola of St. Peter's is unsafe. Some defects which have recently been made much of were discovered more than a century ago, the cardinal says, adding that in 1925 some improvements will be made.

Shave With Cuticura Soap

And double your razor efficiency as well as promote skin purity, skin comfort and skin health. No mug, no slimy soap, no germs, no waste, no irritation even when shaved twice daily. One soap for all uses—shaving, bathing and shampooing.—Advertisement.

French Proverb

What orators want in depth they make up for in length.

Strong and Active at 78.

Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh has healed Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Sores on man and beast during all those years. 3 sizes.—Adv.

The balanced-ration idea can apply to a man's life—a time to work, a time to play, a time to rest and think.

For overnight relief to inflamed eyes and sties use Roman Eye Balsam. Once tried, always preferred. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

The language of friendship is not words, but meanings. It is an intelligence above language.—Thoreau.

Genuine BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Safe

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Restores Health, Energy and Rosy Cheeks. 60c

The Dangerous Age

"What is the age of discretion?"

"The age at which you are too young to die, and too old to have any fun."—Georgia Yellow Jacket.

Hypocrisy is the necessary burden of villainy.—Johnson.

It is said that women now comprise the majority of all workers in the vast textile industry of England.

Calumet Nut Cookies

½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup flour
1 level teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and add sugar and eggs, well beaten. Sift flour and baking powder together. Add to first mixture; then add nuts and flavoring. Drop from a spoon on a greased baking sheet, leaving an inch space between them. Sprinkle with chopped nuts and bake in a hot oven (350° F.). This will make about two dozen cookies.

To business that we love, we rise betimes and go to it with delight.—Shakespeare.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

CHURCHES REPORT A GREAT YEAR

BIG INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP SHOWN AT TALLADEGA CONFERENCE OF THE M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

Talladega.—With one or two exceptions, this has been one of the best years in the history of the North Alabama Conference, according to reports made by the presiding elders of the 13 districts. The growth in numbers and finances, as well as in all branches of church activities, exceeded that of previous years, according to these reports. Especially did the accession to membership on confession of faith show a great increase over previous years.

The increase in new members on confession of faith and increased receipt of money constrained Bishop Candler to congratulate the ministers and lay workers in the conference.

"I am glad to hear you report so many conversions," remarked Bishop Candler at the conclusion of the roll call of district. "The scripture says Christ came to save a lost world and in working to save sinners you are following in His footsteps."

At another time, commenting on the statement of Dr. J. E. Robertson, presiding elder of the Florence district, that Ford's withdrawal from Muscle Shoals had cast a cloud of gloom over his district, and that they were praying for another leader, the bishop said:

"Don't be depressed about Muscle Shoals. They have been there since Adam's time, I guess. Geologists may tell how long they have been there, but geologists do not always agree. Our people get too apprehensive. That reminds me of the Arkansan who was on the road to the poorhouse. A stranger asked why he was so gloomy. 'I'm going to starve to death,' he replied. 'I see you have a lot of hogs, shoats and pigs,' said the stranger. 'Yes,' came the gloomy response. 'I have hogs enough for this winter, and shoats enough for next winter, and pigs enough for the third winter, but what am I going to do for meat for the fourth winter?'"

The fifty-fifth session of the North Alabama Conference was called to order by Bishop Warren A. Candler in the First Methodist Church. The handsome new edifice just completed and dedicated recently in one of the finest and best appointed in the State. It was built at a cost of approximately $100,000, and has facilities for Sunday schools, auxiliaries and all other societies and branches of the church's activities.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

A verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree was returned by a jury in the Madison Circuit Court in the case of Charles Byrd, Charles Peyton and Robert Limbaugh, tried jointly for the murder of Erskine Elmore, a farmer from Limestone County. The punishments were fixed as follows: Byrd, 25 years in the penitentiary; Peyton, 15 years and Limbaugh, 10 years. The defense claimed that Elmore and a companion had made themselves obnoxious to girl employes of a soft drink bottling plant and were beaten with no intention of seriously injurying them. Elmore died at the City Hospital of a fractured skull the night after he was injured. The attorneys gave notice of appeal.

Several plans for city government are occupying the attention of H. H. Frazier, secretary of the Selma Chamber of Commerce. One is the city manager idea, which plan is used by many progressive towns. Mr. Frazier has received 35 letters from towns governed by this plan which are all loud in its praise. Mr. Frazier will submit these letters to Mayor Rowell and the City Council at an early date and seek to work out some plan by which the matter may be presented to the people of Selma, if the council favors the plan.

Major General George C. Rickards, chief of the Military Bureau at Washington, has written a letter to Captain W. P. Gwin, of Gadsden, in which he states that the latter's command, the service company of the One Hundred and Sixty-Seventh Regiment, had the best average drill attendance in the Alabama National Guard during 1923-24. The letter congratulates Captain Gwin and his men on the achievement.

E. T. Terry has resigned as chairman of the Madison County Board of Education, because on November 12, he will assume the chairmanship of the Madison County Board of Commissioners. The vacancy has been filed by the election of W. A. Given, of Gurley.

Announcement is made by Superintendent J. A. Keller, of Covington County Schools, that there are 2,000 more children in school in that county now than ever before.

A public rest room for ladies has been established in Opelika on the second floor of the Opelika Sales Store Building on South Eighth Street, next to the National Bank of Opelika.

Selma's cotton receipts for the present year have exceeded the 40,000 mark according to figures just compiled.

Loui L. Loveman was elected president of the Etowah County Tuberculosis Association. Other officers named were: Vice-president, Mrs. Olint Sibert; treasurer, Miss Bessie Hilton; secretary, Mrs. John Jackson; chairman of the Fresh Air Camp Executive Committee, J. W. Penn. Reports showed that patients are being maintained at the camp for an average of $30 a month each and that the camp is now $600 in debt. County Health Officer Murphree exhibited two patients to show types of tuberculosis. Fifteen-year-old Geneva Blackman told how her mother had been cured at the camp and how she hopes to be cured. City and county officials spoke and assured a continuance of their support.

Two unknown negroes are charged with robbing William Carden, farmer of Morrisville, as he was returning to his home from Anniston, after having disposed of a bale of cotton. The farmer's throat was slashed with a dull knife, and after $130 in cash had been taken from his pockets the negroes apparently left him for dead. The holdup occurred on a lonely stretch of road some distance from the city. The injured man was found by passersby and medical aid summoned. In a short while he had sufficiently recovered to describe the attack and later joined in the search for his assailants. He says he could identify both negroes.

Scottsboro is soon to have a new brick business building on the east side of the Public Square. This structure will be the home of The Progressive Age, the local newspaper. The handsome new home of Claude Spivey, on South Andrews Street, is nearing completion, and J. H. Wheeler is erecting a new home on Willow Street. O. D. Kennemer is building a bungalow. Mrs. D. P. Skelton has recently completed an apartment in connection with her home on South Market. R. A. Coffey erected a number of rental houses on Kyle Street and Charlotte Avenue recently.

Harry Whyel, of Uniontown, Pa., who recently purchased a large lot in the business section of Florence, has asked the Florence Real Estate Board to make a survey of the city to ascertain how large an office building would be required to meet the present and future needs of the city. It is Mr. Whyel's intention, he states, to erect a large and modern office building on his lot which is across from the post office.

At a meeting of the Lauderdale County Board of Education, Professor A. R. Springer was elected Superintendent of Education to fill the vacancy created by the death of E. O. Warren, which occurred a few days ago. His term will expire October 1, 1925. Professor Springer is a native of Lauderdale County, but for several years has been engaged in school work in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ford, who live on Ashville R. F. D. No. 1, were given a surprise party when 66 of their children grandchildren, and great grandchildren drove up and announced that they were going to have a family reunion. The visitors brought baskets along and one of the features of the day was a big dinner spread on the lawn in front of the Ford home.

Alabama College has added to its dairy herd seven fine, high-bred registered Holstein cattle bought from the Waites Lakeview Dairy, at Easonville. These seven cows are already adding very materially to the quantity of milk produced. This addition was made necessary by the increased number of students in the boarding department.

Judge C. M. Sherrod has been appointed to the post of Commissioner of Census for the Northern Counties of Alabama. Judge Sherrod will conduct a farm census beginning December 1.

C. E. Stapp, county farm demonstrator, will begin a series of terracing demonstrations November 7, which will cover the major section of Etowah County.

E. W. Beck, general manager of the West Point Georgia Iron Works, to whom the contract has been let for Selma's new $150,000 Y. M. C. A. Building, has reached Selma to begin construction. The work will be put through with all possible speed, Mr. Beck states.

A new wing to the Benevolent Hospital at Albany-Decatur, will be erected soon if plans of the Tennessee Valley Shrine Club are executed. The club has named a committee to arrange a financial campaign to supply the money for the new addition.

The Albany-Decatur Grotto Club is preparing for its first ceremonial, to be held in the Twin Cities on December 12, when hundreds of visiting members of Kamram Grotto are expected to attend.

According to the report of W. H. Edwards, official gin reporter, Lee County ginned 13,000 bales of cotton of the 1924 crop up to and including October 17, which compares with 10,379 ginned to the same date last year.

The Decatur Cornice and Roofing Company, the second largest industrial concern of the Twin Cities, has started its fabrication plant, following a brief period of inactivity.

The Alabama Fox Hunters' Association is holding its annual meeting at Mobile this week. Prizes totaling $500 will be given the winners in the annual hunt.

T. W. Evans, 46, of Ensley, died suddenly while at work in his store. Death is believed to have been due to a stroke of apoplexy.

CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Is truly the world's greatest baking powder

It has produced Pure Foods—Better Bakings—for over one third of a century

Sales 2½ times those of any other brand

BEST BY TEST

Fools are apt to imitate only the defects of their betters.—Swift.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

No man gets into the future tense by sitting safely on the fence.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

Inconsiderate

"My cook is threatening to leave."

"Mine seldom gives me that much notice."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

PIANOS & PLAYERS ORGANS and PHONOGRAPHS Shipped on trial. Write for catalog. Mention which instrument you want. We will save you money. Terms easy. E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Co. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

CASH FOR OLD STAMPS
In lots or collections, especially want them on envelopes.
H. A. REUTER - SANTA ANA, CALIF.

If You Have Enlarged or Diseased Tonsils, avoid operation by the use of TONSOL. Guaranteed to cure or money refunded. Write for testimonials and descriptive circular to E. J. McCann, 803 Charles St., Elmira, N. Y.

Married Women Earn Extra Money at home writing addresses for Lister's Complexion Cream and Sultana Discs. No canvass. Cash for lists. Sultana Co., Lovington, N. M.

HEMSTITCHING AND PICOTING ATTACHMENT, $2. Embroidery attachment, $1. Both fit any machine. Needle-threader, 25c. Dozen needles, 25c. All for $2.50. Name machine. Light's Mail Order House, Birmingham, Ala.

BRASS BUCKET SPRAY PUMPS
$3.60 delivered. FARM NOVELTY SUPPLY COMPANY, ORANGEBURG, S. C.

RARE OPPORTUNITY
Wanted partner with capital to join me in purchasing and operating an electric light and power plant, now serving about 3,000 population. Location, Middle West. A good, sound business investment. Write today. J. E. Sullivan, 304 Main St., Fort Lee, N. J.

Some bees die within three weeks; others live to the ripe old age of three months.

The proud are ever most provoked by pride.—Cowper.

Muffins!

2 cups self-rising flour
1 cup sweet milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter

Beat egg, add milk and melted butter and sugar, then add self-rising flour. Beat thoroughly, pour into greased muffin tins and bake in a moderately hot oven. This recipe makes about 20 muffins.

A book of delightful recipes is offered below; send for your free copy

Ready to serve on a moment's notice

SELF-RISING flour was especially intended for all housewives who want to save time in cooking. The more you use it the more often you'll find out that it helps out wonderfully every time you prepare a meal.

Take muffins. How many times have you wished for a big heaping plateful just to surprise the folks! You'll never taste lighter, better muffins than the kind you make with self-rising flour. And it's safe to say that you'll never realize how wholesome and delicious they can be unless they are self-rising flour muffins.

There's no mystery about self-rising flour or about the dozens of healthful bakings it gives with so little effort. It's just a good grade of plain soft wheat flour with the right amount of pure phosphate baking powder added to save time. As in plain flour you can buy the grade you want—the price you pay determines the grade.

Biscuits, waffles, quick breads, pies and cakes, and any of the other good things you bake with it, are always dainty and tasteful.

Look for the Blue Shield on the bag—it's guaranteed flour.

SOFT WHEAT MILLERS' ASSN., Inc., NASHVILLE, TENN.

Use SELF-RISING Flour

It's Healthful Dependable Economical

HEALTHFUL DEPENDABLE ECONOMICAL

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Every bag of self-rising flour bearing this Blue Shield of purity is fully guaranteed by the Soft Wheat Millers' Association, Inc. The contents are absolutely pure and wholesome and comply with all Pure Food Laws. If you are not satisfied with your baking results, the Association will cheerfully refund your money.

Tells how to make delicious biscuits, cakes, pastries, desserts. Send the coupon.

Get this Free Book of Recipes

Home Economics Dept.
Soft Wheat Millers' Assn., Inc., Nashville, Tenn.

Send your FREE book "Fifty Ways to Use Self-Rising Flour" to:

Name.....

Address.....
(Write or print name and address plainly)

© 1924 S.W.M.A. 1589-1

KINGDOM

Farmers of this place are about through gathering.

Dozier Lovett of Birmingham, spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Naish and daughter, Thelma, spent Sunday with relatives in Spring Creek.

Mrs. Sadie Bolton and Mrs. Opal McKinnon were the guests of Miss Leland Crumpton and Mrs. Talmage Blackerby last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Templin of Birmingham spent the week end with the family of J. M. Hughes.

Ellis Martin of Bessemer spent last week at home.

Talmage Blackerby went to Birmingham Sunday.

School at this place is still improving.

Miss Ruby DeLoach spent the week end at her home in Childersburg.

Misses Ona Templin and Nervie Crumpton of Horseshoe Bend spent a while with Miss Velma Hughes Sunday.

The Hallowe'en party given by Miss Ruby Lovett last Friday night was highly enjoyed by all. The room was decorated with cats, bats, witches, corn stalks, autumn leaves and two jack o' lanterns burning making the room look real spooky. Miss Ruby DeLoach spoke on the history of Hallowe'en. Ghost stories were told while the ghosts walked in dressed in their white robes. Stunts, fortunes and other games were played throughout the evening.

STRAIGHT SALARY: $35.00 per week and expenses. Man or woman with rig to sell Egg Producer. Eureka Mfg. Co., East St. Louis, Ill.

Gin Notice

Beginning next Monday, November 10, my gin at Columbiana, will run only the first three days of each week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

tf W. H. Shrader.

J. W. LANGLEY
Will Be At
Vincent, Friday, Nov. 7th.
Wilsonville, Thurs. Nov. 13
Columbiana, Fri.. Nov. 14.

Culture Club Meets With Mrs. Saxon

Mrs. Saxon delightfully entertained the members of the Culture Club at her home on East College Street, on Thursday of last week. The home was beautiful with chrysanthemums, roses and ferns. The score cards were suggestive of Halloween festival. After an interesting business hour and some readings, Boston Rook was enjoyed during the afternoon, Mrs. Lightcap won highest score and was awarded the club book. A delicious ice course was served.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. W. J. Jackson announces the engagement of her daughter Eunice Nora, to Mr. Chauncey D. Wood of Elizabeth City, N. C., the wedding to take place in Montgomery November 15 1924.

Mrs. Mildred White Wallace spent Saturday in Birmingham with friends. She had the pleasure of seeing her own composition, "Dream Boat" featured and illustrated by Stark's orchestra at the Temple theatre, as it had been run there for the entire week.

Rev. S. L. Lester spent several days with relatives in Columbiana this week. He was returning to his home in Bradford from the annual conference, having been assigned to that charge for another year.

Miss Elizabeth Horsley and Miss Mary Sparks returned last week to Alabama College after spending a month teaching in the home economics department of the high school.

The many friends of John F. Averyt will regret to learn that he has been seriously ill since Friday of last week.

The Hallowe'en party given at the public school by the parent-Teacher association furnished an evening of pleasure for a large crowd of friends of the school. Over $50 was added to the fund for improving the school.

Let Us Save You Money

ON THE GOODS YOU NEED RIGHT NOW!

Red Goose Shoes are the best made; prices way down.

We will sell you a suit of clothes and save you from $5.00 to $10.00

Sweaters of every description; prices so low you can't help seeing where you save.

Bruton Snuff 15c

Brown Mule Tobacco 15c

Just received a lot of Ladies Dresses, worth up to $12, to be sold at $5.50

We have 10 dozen Men's Shirts worth to $2.50, which we will offer Saturday only at $1.45

Full Fashioned Pure Silk Hose - - - $1.50

Nitro Club Shells - - - 95

New Club Shells - - - 75

10 pounds Sugar - - - - 89

5 pounds Sugar - - - - 45

Very best Outing - - - 18

Good 220 denim Overalls $1.2

Pretty Gingham, the yard 10

Cotton Checks and Quilt Calico, yard 10

Good 220 Denim O'alls $1.2

Best Table Oil Cloth, yard 35

Ladies' black & brown Hose 1

Men's Socks 10

For children we handle Buste Brown, and Bear Brand Hose They are the best.

FARMERS EXCHANGE

The Store For Economical People. - - - Columbiana, Alabam

Mrs. Riddle Entertains Wilsonville Club

The members of the Wilsonville Rook Club met at the home of Mrs. L. B. Riddle on Tuesday, October 21st. Six Hundred was enjoyed during the afternoon. At the close of the meeting a business session was held and several items of interest discussed. An ice course was served. Several visitors were invited.

Home For Sale—One of the most desirable places in Columbiana. Eight room house, well furnished throughout, new roof, in good repair in every way; large screened porch, servant house, garage, on large lot. See Mrs. F. G. Koenig, Columbiana, Ala.

Students Lead Services In Montevallo Church

Montevallo, Alabama, Nov. 3.—At the Baptist church in Montevallo at the 11 o'clock service Sunday the services were conducted by the students of the college, who had attended the First Baptist Student Conference at the Judson last week.

Helen Hagood, recently appointed student secretary at Alabama College and elected vice-president of the conference at Marion, presided over the meeting. Her introductory talk was well rececived and she introduced each of the speakers in a very pleasing manner.

Jaunita Rogers, of Russellville, spoke of the journey to Marion and the hospitality of the people of the town and the college. Carmenita Green of Selma, reported the proceedings of Friday night services. Joyce Jackson, Oxford, gave an account of Saturday morning's exercises. Hazel Black, Ashland, Saturday afternoon, Faye Cotney, Lineville, Saturday night.

The consecration service, in which every student at the conference re-consecrated himself to Christian service, was warmly presented by Una Franklin, Gadsden. Era Boyd, Gadsdeo, spoke of the Sunday morning exercises and Thelma Holmes of Murray Cross, closed the meeting with an account of Sunday's afternoon's services in the auditorium. The large audience tendered a rising vote of thanks to these young women for their splendid addresses and unanimously agreed to join with the college in extending an invitation to the conference to meet in Montevallo in 1926. The 1925 meeting having already been selected. At the close of the meeting 12 or 15 messengers were selected to attend the State Convention to be held in Anniston on November 11th.

The church also unanimously decided to make an effort to raise its quota for the $75,000,000 Campaign for the year 1925. The portion assigned to Montevallo is $1,500.

Mrs. W. G. Curry, who has recently been very ill, has sufficiently recovered to make a visit to her son, Rev. J. R. Curry, pastor of the Baptist church.

Box Supper at Mt. Era

The Mt. Era community will give a play and box supper at the Mt. Era school Saturday night, November 15. The public is especially invited.

E. L. Cooper has for sale one Work Ox, five years old, unbroken in good condition. Will sell at a reasonable price. Come to see E. L. Cooper, R 1, Chelsea, Ala. 1t

You Will Find

Pure chemicals and drugs
First class Toilet Articles
Full line of Patent Remedies, Fine Stationery and Fountain pens, school books and School supplies: Fine Candies, Cut Glass, Cigars and Cigarettes

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE

Central State Bank

Located at Calera, Alabama, at the close of business Oct. 22nd, 1924.

RESOURCES

1.	Loans and Discounts		$ 65,629.17
4.	Other Bonds, Stocks and War-rants		18,000.00
5.	Banking House		20,000.00
6.	Furniture and Fixtures		4,000.00
7	Other Real Estate		2,000.00
8.	Cash
a.	Currency	8,016.00
c.	Silver, Nickels and Pennies	527.50
	Total		8,543.50
9.	Due from Banks		4,538.36
12.	Checks and Cash Items		599.79
	Total		$123,310.82

LIABILITIES

1.	Capital Stock Paid in		$ 30,000.00
2.	Surplus Fund		2,800.00
3.	Undivided Profits less expenses and Taxes paid		1,583.33
5.	Demand Deposits
a.	Individual Deposits	68,411.83
b.	Demand Certificates	7,492.74
f.	Cashier's Checks	2,625.58
h.	Unpaid Dividends	4.00
	Total		78,534.15
8.	Notes and Bills Rediscounted		10,393.34
	Total		$123,310.82

THE STATE OF ALABAMA

Shelby County. Before me came E. Harris, for Cashier of said Bank, who being duly sworn, says that the above and foregoing statement is true and gives the actual condition of said Bank, as shown by the books in said Bank.

E. Harris, For Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 28 day of October, 1924.

ATTEST: Gordon DuBose, Notary Public.

Gordon DuBose, W. G. Nichols, C. L. O'Neal, Directors

Red Cross Fighting First Aid Battle To Conserve Life

Reliable records establish the fact that more than 75,000 accidental deaths occur every year in the United States. The records show that 206 American citizens are killed every day; that 38 of these deaths are due to automobiles, 35 to falls, 19 to drownings, 16 to burns.

Facing such distressing sacrifice of life is the First Aid Service of the American Red Cross, fighting through education and demonstration to instill a conciousness of safety in the public mind and teaching approved methods which assure that competent hands will care for injured persons until the arrival of doctors. Trained service in the first few minutes is vital in serious accidents and saves many precious lives.

One of the most encouraging signs of the past year is the record of the Red Cross First Aid Insurance Car No. 1 which traveled 9,700 miles along trunk lines, stopping at 137 places. The car's staff of surgeons gave 911 demonstrations to audiences composed of 42,150 railroad men, 71,000 high school and college students, 13,000 industrial workers, 2,000 members of clubs, and nearly 18,000 policemen, firemen, and other municipal employes, a total of 147,000.

Red Cross First Aid certificates were conferred upon 13,865 persons who took the course last year, an increase of 4,000 over 1923. Telephone, gas and electric companies, public service corporations and other large employers of the country adopted the Red Cross course, and their team contests everywhere were witnessed by huge crowds with as much interest as develops at popular athletic games.

In the industrial field the growth of First Aid practice to fight to reduce preventable accidents and unnecessary loss of life has received wide recognition. The promise of an unprecendented advance in this fine cause lies in the evidence of the great strides systematic instruction in First Aid has made throughout the country through the Red Cross Chapters and the the work of the experts in this service under direction of the national organization.

Sign the American Red Cross roll this year for humanity's sake.

Worst Coughs Yield Quickly to Good Old Pine Tar and Honey

One of the best cough medicines that was ever compounded, according to specialists, is good old pine tar and honey. It often stops a bad cough in 24 hours, and another advantage is that it can be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or opiates. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also healing soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The kind that has been used in thousands of families for many years for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, spasmodic croup, etc., is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey, which was the original compound. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine taf, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. If you want the best, get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggists.

INSIST ON DR BELL'S PINE-TAR-HONEY FOR COUGHS

Real economy and comfo kitchen means a Cole's Dow Range.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND TH

To break up a cold over night short an attack of grippe, influen throat, physicians and druggist recommending Calotabs, the Calomel tablet, that is purified gerous and sickening effects. have tried it say that it acts like far more effective and certain th style calomel, heretofore recom physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed a swallow of water,—that's all. no nausea nor the slightest i with eating, work or pleasures. ing your cold has vanished and tem feels refreshed and purified are sold only in original sealed price ten cents for the vest-po thirty-five cents for the large fa age. Recommended and guara druggists. Your money back if y delighted.—adv.

A Wonderf Range

Equipped with

COLE'S HOTBLAST FUEL SAVIN SYSTEM

of Combustion. This give you a positive saving of one-third to half on your fuel bills means easier work for housewife with its con given heat and its fireholding qualities. Give the wife the best that money buy. Come in and let us tell you of the many fuel saving features of its remarkable rust-resisting construction and its sanitary design. In or gray enamel or black finish. You will agree with us that it is a beauty something that you want in your home.

Cole's Down Draft Range

F. W. Rogan, Montevallo, A
Holcombe MercantileCo., Cal

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

bscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, NOVEMBER 13, 1924. Vol. 81. No. 43.

Circuit Clerk

DGE LYMAN IS GRATEFUL TO VOTERS

ngratulates the People On Quiet Harmonious Campaign

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 7, 1924.
. Editor:—
The result of the recent election veals to me so much of my in- btedness to so many people, for er kindnesses and charity, that want your help in sending to em this message of gratitude.
No man could have better or re loyal friends than those who luntarily, unselfishly and untir- ly devoted themselves to my ction; undiscouraged by my own norance of and inaptitude for the ys of politics; taking upon them ives, with willingness and cheer- ness, and at any personal sacri- e, the burden of all activities nec ary to the end. My heart has en drawn very near to them, re to abide.
The splendid—to me phenomin- -majority accorded to me, is, I sure, in a large measure attrib- able to the favor and power of d women of the circuit, many them relying upon the estimate my life's record as given by ir sisters of my home precinct. all alike, I am humbly grate- , and feel that I can offer no tter recompense than the reso- ion and endeavor to live and agreeably to that estimate; a solution and endeavor to which lemnly pledge and dedicate my- f, in all humility.
The hearty unanimity with ich my opponents in the prima- rallied to my support when the ty's die had been cast, while pected, has, nevertheless contin- d to claim my grateful apprecia n, and has been of incalculable d indispensable benefit in the l contest of ballots.
My colleagues on the ticket in the veral counties, obviously, added estige and contributed immeas- bly to general success. This rvice will be be ever gratefully membered.
To the great body of democrats ho have confided to my keeping e of the greatest trusts I tender ep appreciation, along with the bligation to keep it sacred. No ffort or ability of mine shall be pared in trying, rightfully, to ad- minister the laws of your land, to hich we are all indebted for in- dividual rights and the peace and ppiness of society.
Peculiar acknowledgements are ue, and it is my great pleasure to ive them to very many republi- ans—especially do I know it to e so in Shelby county—who, hrough personal, friendship, or ind regard, honored me with their uffrages. Such departure from arty discipline, I take it, is not merely complimentary, but is a ote of confidence, of which I am deeply sensible, and which shall ot be forgotten or betrayed by ny indifference or discrimination Equal and exact justice, so far as it may be administered by the aw, is the birthright of all.
Finally, may I congratulate our ircuit on the sane, quiet, harmon- ious conduct of the campaign through which it has passed, de- void of bitterness and vituperа- tion with which in times gone, we were so familiar. May we ever be content to rest our destinies and interests in the sober, unprejudic- ed verdict of an intelligent elector- ate, I give due credit to my hon- orable opponent for the manner of campaign he has observed and re- tain for him friendly regards.
Let me subscribe myself with all sincerity, Your humble servant,
E. S. LYMAN.

Thera Strain

Thera Strain died at the Birm- ingham Baptist hospital on October 19, at the age of 26. He was bur- ied at the Crawford cemetery. He leaves a wife and two small chil- dren, father, mother, five brothers and eight sisters besides other rel- atives to mourn his death. His suf- fering during his illness was in- tense but he bore it with patience and prayed to be ready when the end should come.
One Who Loved Him.

Tribute to Rev. S. R. Lester

Rev. S. R. Lester, of Bradford, was received into the North Alaba- ma Conference 40 years ago at Talladega. He has been through all these years one of the strong men of this conference and he carried to the conference this year a re- port of which he may well be proud —Alabama Christian Advocate.

John F. Averyt

John F. Averyt, one of the best known and most useful citizens of Shelby county, died at his home in Columbiana Saturday morning after an illness of one week. He had been in failing health for a- bout a year.
Mr. Averyt was a native of Dal- las county and a member of one of the leading families of that sec- tion of the state. He came to Shel- by county in 1890, locating at Shelby where he established a large mercantile business. In 1916 he was elected clerk of the circuit court of Shelby county at which time he moved to Columbiana and had made his home here since.
He was a life long member of the Baptist church and for many years had served as a deacon of his church. Funeral services were held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. R. W. Stuckey assisted by Rev. T. K. Roberts and Rev. R. L. Durant, a former pastor of Mr. Averyt, now of Birmingham. Mr. Durant paid a splendid tribute to Mr. Averyt, as a good man, a loyal friend, a Christian citizen, whose life exam- ple is worthy to be followed by those who come after him.
Surviving Mr. Averyt are his wife, one daughter, Miss Edith Averyt, of Birmingham, six sons, W. H. Averyt of California, John F. Averyt, Jr., of Townley, A. M. Averyt and G. M. Averyt of Ca- lera, Edwin Averyt of the Univer- sity and Louis Averyt of Colum- biana.
Among the out of town relatives who came to attend the funeral were: Frank Averyt, W. L. Mosley L. H. Mosley and Mrs. A. D. Mos- ley of Selma, Dr. E. W. Averyt, Elbert Averyt, W. R. Averyt, Miss Catherine Averyt and Miss Ella Neely of Birmingham and Mrs. C. A. Bowles of Shelby.

WILSONVILLE

Rev. F. P. Hewlett and family left for Detroit to take up their work for the coming year. They will be missed by their many friends, but we wish them good luck in their new field of work.
Mrs. John Vardaman spent Fri- day in Talladega.
Mrs. J. F. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left Monday to attend the state convention at Anniston.
Rev. Ivey Edwards of Selma, spent the week end here with rel- atives. Mr. Edwards filled the pul- pit of the Baptist church Sunday morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Brindley Nivens announce the birth of a son.
Mrs. Calvin Weldon and son, Jes- sie, left Saturday to spend the winter in Florida with Mrs. Wel- don's mother.
Miss Odell McEwen visited her sister last week, Mrs. Graham at Brent.
Rev. and Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Mil- ler, H. E. Smith and daughter, Miss Pauline motored to Anniston Tues- day to attend the state convention.
Mrs. W. J. Jackson will leave this week for Montgomery, where she will attend the wedding of her daughter, Miss Eunice.
Sam Bradley of Anniston spent the week end here with his sister, Mrs. L. C. Pope.
Aunt Nancy Brazor, a colored woman, who has been a faithful friend to many of the people here died suddenly last Wednesday night
Chester Reinhardt of Calera, spent the week here with home folks.
The school teachers, Mr. In- gram, Mrs. Robertson, Misses Je- ter, Taylor and Lindsey, spent several hours in Columbiana last Saturday.

BOX SUPPER AT BETHEL

There will be a box supper at Bethel School house Friday night, November 14, The proceeds will go for the benefit of the school.

Dr. J. W. Snow, Mayor of Hel- ena, was a visitor Wednesday.

SHELBY COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL WILL OBSERVE AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

The week of November 17th to 23rd, inclusive, has been desig- naated as American Education week. You are most cordially invit- ed to attend the high school assembly each day from 8:00 to 8:50 a. m. and hear addresses on the following topics by capable persons.
Monday, November 17:—The Constitution—the Bulwark of De- mocracy and Happiness, Judge Jno. J. Haynes.
Tuesday, November 18:—The United States Flag is the Living Symbol of the Ideals and Institutions of Our Republic. Judge Lyman.
Wednesday:—The Teacher, the Guiding Influence of Future America.—Luther Fowler.
Thursday, November 20:—Informed Intelligence is the Founda- tion of Representative Government,—Rev. R. W. Stuckey.
Friday, November 21:—Play Grounds and Athletic Fields Mean a Strong Healthy Nation.—Hon. P. O. Luck.
J. M. Tucker, Principal.

KROELL CELEBRATES 48TH ANNIVERSARY

There is in this issue of the Re- porter a full page advertisement that will be of much interest to many people in Shelby county. It is a reminder to the friends and customers of George Kroell of Mon tevallo that he has been in busi- ness at that place for forty-eight years, and gives the details of a great offering of his large stock of merchandise at bargain prices, in observance of his forty-eighth anniversary.
In 1876 Mr. Kroell came to Mon- tevallo and established a modest business. With the passing of the years the business has grown un- til now it is one of the largest in this section of the state.
"It is to show our appreciation of the business given us during these forty-eight years," Mr Kroell says, "that we are putting on this, the most stupendous sale ever held in Central Alabama."
The sale will begin Saturday, November 15th, and will continue for two weeks.

NEW SCHOOL HOUSES ARE BEING BUILT ALL OVER ALABAMA

Reports coming from every part of Alabama indicate that the peo- ple are building new school houses at a rate never before equaled, ac- cording to the state superintend- ent of education who writes each month an article for the Alabama School Journal. In the November number he writes:
Fairhope will have a new brick building of six class rooms.
A new building at Baker Hill, will have six class rooms, office, library and auditorium.
In Chilton county two modern buildings are in course of construc- tion. One at Thorsby with six class rooms, office, library and au- ditorium will cost $18,000. The other at Verbena on the same plan will make provisions for 12 grades.
A new building at Red Level, will have eight class rooms, man- ual training room, domestic science room, office, library, and an audi- torium that will seat more than 500 people. This community will have a fully accredited high school, carrying 12 grades.
At Lockhart a new high school is being built, the community having already a good grammar school building.
A new brick building of 6 class rooms has recently been completed at Straughn. It is well lighted, properly heated and completely equipped. Courses in manual train ing and domestic art are given in the school.
At Ariton a new building with 8 class rooms, manual and domes- tic art rooms, and auditorium will be built at a cost of $27,000.
Application has been made by the people of Pinckard for state aid in erecting a modern school building.
A new building of brick carry- ing six class rooms and auditorium and costing $20,000 has just been completed at Carlowville.
A new building at Valley Head will cost $25,000. A fully accred- ited high school will be maintain- ed.
At Providence, Holtville, Deats- ville, Lightwood, Wetumpka, Tal- lassee, Lebanon and Speigner, sub- stantial new school buildings are being erected. These towns and villages are all in one county.
At Dutton a new building, with six class rooms, office, library and an alditorium that will seat 500 people has been completed recent- ly.
A new building with five class rooms and an auditorium is being erected at Rosalie to take the place of an old building, much out of repair. Transportation will be furnished and the children will be encouraged to remain in school through the high school courses which will be maintained.

OFFICIAL COUNT OF GENERAL ELECTION

Judge Lyman Leads Ticket With 842 Majority

More than 3,900 ballots were cast in the general election, Tues- day, November 4th. according to the official count made the follow- ing Friday. The results of the of- ficial count are as follows:
For Circuit Judge: Lyman, 2,- 375; McKay, 1,533; Lyman's major ity, 842.
For County Treasurer: Minor, 2214; Chism, 1568. Minor's major- ity, 646.
For Board of Revenue: Jones, 700; Reinhardt 637. Jones' major- ity, 63.
For Board of Revenue: Nash 329 Bird, 148. Nash's majority, 181.
For Board of Education: Hen- drick, 2120; Stone, 1593. Hen- drick's majority, 527.
For Board of Education: Arthur 2054; Shaw, 1679. Arthur's major- ity, 375.
For President: Davis, 1881; Cool- idge, 1753; LaFollette, 186. Davis' plurality, 129.

CIRCUIT COURT IS IN SESSION THIS WEEK

Criminal Docket Will Be Takes Up Next Monday

The November session of the circuit court of Shelby county, was begun Monday morning with Judge E. S. Lyman of Montevallo, presiding over the court. This week is being taken up with the trial of civil jury cases of which there were forty-five separate cases.
Beginning next Monday two weeks will be given to the trial of state jury cases of which there are 175 on the docket. Of these 175 criminal cases over 100 are brought for violations in some form of the liquor laws; most of them being for distilling. About 25 of these cases are forfeitures tak- en against defendants in other cases and the remainder of about 40 cases include a number of in- fractions of the law, including bur- glary, grand larceny, assault, de- facing school house, etc. There is one murder case.

Box Supper at Harpersville Friday Night

There will be a Box Supper at Harpersville school Friday night October 14, which will be under the direction of the School Im- provement Association. Everybody is invited to come and bring a box with you and take more back with you.

Devereaux Players Visit Mostevallo

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 8.—Clif- ford Devereux and his company appeared at Alabama College twice on Saturday, November 8, first in The Barber of Seville, at 3:00 p. m. A large and enthusiastic audience greeted the performers. The two leading charactrs were Zinita Graff as Rosina, and Clifford Devereux as the Count Amaviva.
The next performance was at 8 p. m. in The Mummy's Ear Ring. This is the fourth time this com- pany has appeared at Alabama College. A very large audience was enthusiastic from the beginning to the end of each play.

Mrs. Caroline Roberts

Mrs. Caroline Roberts, the Moth er of Rev. T. K.Roberts, and lov- ingly called by those who knew her Mother Roberts, died at her home in Columbiana at an early hour Wednesday morning, after an ill- ness of only a few hours. Mrs. Rob- erts had reached the advanced age of 85 years and had been unusual- ly active for one of her age. She was regular in her attendance at church and Sunday school and was able to assist in the duties about the home. She retired Tuesday night feeling as well as usual and called the members of her family about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning complaining of a severe pain in her head. She became unconscious in about half an hour and just be- fore 6 o'clock quietly and painless- ly passed into her rest.
Mrs. Roberts was the wife of the late Rev. T. P. Roberts, one of the charter members of the North Alabama Conference. They were married in 1863 and until his death in 1901 she loyally shared in the hardships and the glories of the itinerant ministry. During these years Mr. Roberts was three times pastor of the Columbiana Metho- dist church, and it was fitting that Mother Roberts should spend her last years here.
She is survived in her immedi- ate family by one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Lane of Sylacauga and two sons, Rev. T. K. Roberts of Colum- biana, and Joseph P. Roberts of Sylacauga. Funeral services are being held today, Thursday.

M. P. Conference In Session Last Week

Rev. C. M. Nolen and J. W. Shaw returned Saturday from Clanton, where they attended the annual conference of the Metho- dist Protestant church. Mr. Nolen as pastor of the Shelby circuit dur- ing the past year, carried a good report to the conference showing 26 new members received, a net increase of 23, and improvements made during the year to the amount of $270.
Shelby circuit is made up of three churches, Union, Mt. Era and Chelsea. Mr. Nolen was released from the pastorate at his own re- quest and Rev. Mr. Helms of Troy was assigned to the work. Rev. W. G. McDaniel was chosen to serve as president of the Alabama conference for another year.

Missionary Society Elects New Officers

The Woman's Missionary Socie- ty of the Columbiana Methodist church met in a business session at the church Monday afternoon. Officers for the coming conference year were elected as follows:
Mrs. T. K. Roberts, president. Mrs. Roy Lester, vice-president; Mrs. J. F. Norris, secretary; Mrs. D. S. Lightcap, recording secreta- ry; Mrs. L. E. Christian, treasur- er; Mrs. Luther Fowler, supt. of children's work; Mrs. J. H. Smith, supt. local work; Mrs. Lillie Du- ran, supt. social service; Mrs. T. K. Roberts, supt. Missions and Bi- ble study; Mrs. C. P. Smith, supt. publicity.
A week of Prayer is being ob- served by the society this week, beginning with the prayer serv- ice Wednesday evening, which was conducted by the society.

BOX SUPPER

There will be a box supper at Creswell School house Saturday night, Novembes 15, for the benefit of the school. Everybody invited to come and bring well filled pock- et books. Committee.

MR. MAYS PLEASED AT RETURN TO CHARGE

Made Good Report of Last Year's Work

We are delighted to be returned to the Columbiana-Shelby charge for the second year. We feel that the conference year just closed has been in many respects, a great year. The pastor's report for the year is very gratifying; two good revival meetings were held with a net increase in the membership of 36. The assessment for the support of the ministry was paid in full, over $500 was raised by the mis- sionary societies, over $750 was raised by the Sunday school, in ad- dition to a little more than $500 raised to build Sunday school rooms a $25 special was raised by the Sunday school bank with good payments on Centenary, Educa- tion and superannuate endowment Total raised for all purposes $4,- 453.
The better we know the people of the charge the more we love and appreciate them. With the ca- pable official boards and with the splendid church workers, here goes for a better year in 1925.
Sincerely,
W. A. Mays, Pastor.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

The Reporter wishes to acknowl edge new subscriptions received since September 4th from the fol- lowing:
J. L. Carter, C. M. Wooten, F. M. Baker, F. E. Williams, J. P. Mer rell, J. S. Rasco, S. A. Woolf, John A. Hughes, H. A. Miller, Lee Tea- gue, W. W. Clark, King Pearson, J. D. Armstrong, Jr., H. L. Gould, B. E. Hand, W. N. Minor, N. T. Atchison, L. N. Wyatt, Harvey Dennis, S. L. Lillie, J. H. Batie, Oscar Stripling, W. H. Minor, Mrs. Bertha Howard, Miss Lassie Thomp son, Mrs. M. A. Dykes, Miss Lottie McGaughey, L. W. Hartsfield, Mrs. A. O. Caddell, R. A. Blackerby, C. M. L. Fancher, Mella Rutledge, J. T. Crenshaw, F. A. Costen, Ed Bierley, R. T. McEwen, M. J. Gil- bert, W. J. Nelson, Mrs. B. F. Jar- vis, R. T. Kirkland, B. F. Robert- son, J. H. Pennington, T. R. Wal- ton, W. O. Freeman, J. F. Archer, B. W. Almon, J. N. Melton, D. A. Cater, Warren Merrell, B. E. Mc- Clanahan, T. W. Boaz, J. S. Falk- ner, D. A. Wingard, W. B. Crump- ton, Geo. W. Tinney, J. W. Burton W. H. Ray, N. O. Horton, C. W. Jones, T. R. Self, I. S. Chancellor, Jno. S. Storrs, C. S. Frost, G. W. Reynolds, W. M. Allen, W. P. Mor- ris, B. H. Green, Max Allen, D. F. Smith, Mrs. S. Hine, F. E. Mer- rell, Mrs. Wm. Strain, A. T. Thom- as, G. M. D. Ray, J. M. Harkins, J. M. Odell, J. H. Fulton, Mrs. Clarence Harkins, S. C. Crawford, W. W. Stinson, T. A. Eubanks, Mrs A. O. Kellum, Rev. C. M. Nolen, J. E. Cooper, C. E. Barnett, W. N. Baker, Miss Cordelia Vansandt, J. Thomas Heflin, H. M. Russell, J. L. Henson, C. F. Farr, W. H. Coats W. C. Gill, E. B. Coker.

Sunday School Organized

The Sunday school at New Hope has been reorganized and the peo- ple have started in with new de- termination to have a good Sun- day school. The following officers and teachers were elected:
Superintendent, Miss Pratt Spru- iell.
Vice-superintendent, Walter Cruse
Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Kath- leen Allen.
Teacher of Bible Class, Miss Pratt Spruiell.
Teacher of Intermediate seniors Miss Willie V. Bailey.
Primary Teacher, Mrs. J. M. Al- len.
The stunt show and box supper given recently at New Hope school house was a decided success. The neat sum of $65 was realized.

Girls Want to Hear From Jimmie Slemp

The correspondent from Bethel writes: "I have heard a number of our girls say they would like to get a letter from Jimmie Slemp of Harpersville" and adds, "How about sending a few down, Jim- mie?"

FAMOUS CASE IS AGAIN REVERSED

GREW OUT OF ARRESTS FOLLOWING MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE SEVERAL YEARS AGO OF COFFEE COUNTY TAX BOOKS

Montgomery.—The Supreme Court in decisions reversed and remanded the Coffee Circuit Court in two cases in each of which a judgment for $5,000 had been obtained against Lon L. Phillips and his bond for alleged false imprisonment.

Both cases resulted from arrests made by Phillips while chief State law enforcement officer, shortly after the mysterious disappearance of the tax books of Coffee County several years ago. The two men arrested, Marion Morrow and W. M. Bailey, were arrested on warrants sworn out in Montgomery Circuit Court and were brought to jail here. Both brought suit and each received a judgment of $5,000 in the lower court. The Morrow case had been carried to the Supreme Court once before and reversed, a second trial resulting in another verdict of $5,000 for the plaintiff.

The question of the validity of the warrant issued in Montgomery Circuit Court was involved. The Supreme Court held that the warrant was irregular in that it was made returnable at Montgomery but that it was not void. "The irregularity was in respect to the required return, an error of judgment of the Circuit Court issuing the same, which did not render the warrant void," the court held in the Morrow case.

Justice Thomas wrote the majority opinion of the court which reversed this case, it being concurred in by Justices Somerville, Sayre, Miller and Bouldin, while Chief Justices Anderson and Justice Gardner dissented. The companion Bailey case was likewise reversed and remanded, Chief Justice Anderson dissenting in this case.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

For eighteen years the Alabama River has not reached so low a stage at Selma as it did recently, says Charles Brislin, weather observer. One foot and one inch below zero is the record made lately, says Mr. Brislin. The lower river stage caught the United States river boat "Alabama" in Selma where she was taking on coal and cement destined for Mobile. Because of the low water mark much cotton which otherwise would be shipped by river has been sent to Mobile by rail. The water got so low that children waded across it. It has been many years if ever that this happened before.

At a meeting of the directors of the Gadsden Chamber of Commerce it was decided to send a committee before the council at its next meeting and urge that body to make some preparations to provide the city's share of the cost of the four hundred thousand dollar traffic bridge across Coosa river at Gadsden. It is said the city will have to hold an election to authorize bonds, probably to the amount of $35,000. The county will provide its fund from the sale of interest bearing warrants, it is said.

The act of the 1919 legislature which undertook to allow the Sheriff of Dallas County the sum of $600 per year for expenses of automobiles used by him in discharging his duty was held to be invalid by the Supreme Court. The act was passed as a general act providing that the compensation referred to should be paid to sheriffs of counties having a population not less than 53,410 or more than 58,501. The Supreme Court held that the act "in its conception and in its calculated operation was local in character."

A verdict was awarded to C. O. Bowers in Tuscaloosa Circuit Court against Officers Foster, Clements, Murray, R. Pate and L. C. Sims and the Union indemnity company. The officers fired into an auto in which Bowers was riding, it was charged. The shooting occurred last September at Forrest Lake when the officers mistook the back firing of the engine for revolver shots and fired at the auto to stop what they thought to be a car transporting liquor.

Plans for the annual Mardi Gras celebration in February at Mobile is going forward at once as a result of the action taken by the exceutive committee of the retail department of the chamber of commerce. The committee gave its approval to the idea of the Mobile Carnival Association, and it was stated by the association will start plans at once for the Mardi Gras event.

Great flocks of wild geese have been flying over Alabama during the past few days. All of them are flying high and none have stopped according to hunters. The flocks are said to be unusually large.

Henry B. Chase, head of the Chase Nursery company, and former mayor of Huntsville, and Mrs. Chase have gone on a trip around the world.

A brick addition is being made to the Presbyterian Church of Sheffield to provide for a Sunday School room library room and study.

An airplane, making flights for hire, is not a common carrier, Judge W. I. Grubb, in Federal District Court at Anniston ruled, following hearing of evidence in the case of John W. Brown, as executor of the estate of Hugh D. Brown, vs the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company. Brown sought to recover double indemnity from the company for a $7,500 policy held by Hugh Brown, who was accidentally killed when an airplane fell at Camp Walton, Fla., in August, 1923. A clause in the policy called for double indemnity in case the insured person lost his life in an accident while on a common carrier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has on its own motion initiated a general investigation into interstate fertilizer rates in southern territory, according to notification received by the Alabama Public Service Commission. Alabama interstate fertilizer rates will be involved in the investigation, the carriers of this State having filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the interstate rates prescribed by the Alabama commission.

Mayor R. A. Burns of Alabama City will abdicate his office Saturday, November 22, in favor of Boy Scouts who will run the city government for one day. An election will be held November 15 to determine who is to be mayor, aldermen, chief of police and city clerk. The Masons will support Tom Cantrell, the Woodman, Jack Isbell, the Knights of Pythias, Robert Burns, the I. O. O. F., Loui Adkins and the Red Men, Acton Machan.

Large amounts of freight are having to be refused by the Warrior river barge line due to lack of equipment to handle the shipments, and there are no prospects of an immediate improvement in this situation, according to a letter received at the traffic office of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce from R. A. Brown, of Birmingham, Ala., member of the advisory board of the Inland Waterways corporation.

Inspections were made during the month of October by the bureau of inspection of the State Board of Health in 37 communities in 15 counties of the State. A total of 421 inspections, exclusive of dairies and milk plants, was made. Three restaurants, one bottling plant and one soda fount were closed until sanitary conditions had been improved.

The hog growers of the Brundidge territory met at Brundidge and reorganized their association for the coming year. The following officers were elected: J. E. Johnson, E. A. Jones and C. M. Bryan, executive committee; J. E. Johnson, manager; M. C. Bryan, weigher; Grady Caldwell, grader; R. L. King, county agent, was present and assisted in the meeting.

The Town of Valley Head was held by the Supreme Court in a decision to have been properly incorporated in the case of Nevil Cooper vs. the town of Valley Head. Existence of the town of Valley Head as a municipal corporation was brought in issue in the case, the court holding that it does exist as a municipality.

F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for Alabama, was one of three members of the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture to give final approval to the cotton production report which was released in Washington, November 7. The report was the estimate for November 1.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has under advisement a petition of the Alabama Power Company for authority to extend the availability of its service classification "D," a joint electric cooking and lighting rate, so as to make it available to hotels, restaurants, barber shops and other establishments.

The long drouth is causing many cattle raisers to sacrifice their cattle at unheard of prices because pastures have burned up and creeks have gone dry. Many cattle growers have found themselves unable to care for their cattle and are sacrificing them rather than have them die of thirst or starvation.

The rate on fresh fruits from Mobile and New Orleans to Meridian, Jackson and other points in Mississippi, which was raised recently by the railroad by the cancellation of the less than carload rate has been restored to the original figure.

Higher prices than were paid last year for Thanksgiving turkeys is the forecast for this year by J. D. Pope, specialist in agricultural economics for the extension service at Auburn, after receiving information as to the turkey situation.

A posse led by Sheriff S. D. Kilgore came upon some wildcatters in the Pumpkin Center neighborhood of Walker County that were employing a novel method in distilling wildcat liquor. The men had 600 pounds of ice, which had been ordered from Jasper to be used in keeping the still worm cool.

Vester S. Garrett, a young attorney of the class of '21 of the University of Alabama, has accepted a position as legal advisor of the Veteran's Bureau, offices to be located in Birmingham.

A fight for better rates on rock asphalt from the Muscle Shoals district to other points is being made before the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Plans are under way for the erection of a 25,000-foot daily capacity saw mill in Jasper.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 16

PETER'S CONFESSION

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 16:13-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.—Matt. 16:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Speaks Out for Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter Takes His Stand.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Duties and Glory of Confessing Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Does It Matter What One Believes Concerning Christ?

This confession in some sense marks the turning point in Christ's ministry. Hereafter it is more restricted to His disciples. Two reasons why this should be sufficient are (vv. 1-12): (1) The Pharisees and Sadducees show their attitude toward Him in their demand for a sign, His answer is that none shall be given save that of His death and resurrection, as symbolized in the experiences of the prophet Jonah. (2) The disciples show their inability to understand the spiritual nature of His teaching. When He warned them of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees they understood Him to refer to bread, when He meant their doctrine. It was at this crisis when Christ turned from the nation which had rejected Him that Peter made this great confession. It was made in the borders of Caesarea-Philippi, practically Gentile territory.

I. Occasion Of (vv. 13-16).

Two questions of Christ provoked this confession:

1. The question as to the opinion of people concerning Him.

They recognized Him as a teacher or a prophet of more than human authority and power. Today, as then, there is a diversity of opinion among the people as to Jesus Christ. Some think He is only a man; others that He is a great teacher, but nothing more. Had He been content with this He would not have been molested in Jerusalem, for the Jews willingly acknowledged Him as more than a human teacher. It was His persistent claim to be the God-man, the Son of God, that sent Him to the cross.

2. The second question involved the personal opinion of the disciples concerning Him. To be able to tell what others think of Jesus is not enough; there must be definite, correct and personal belief on Him.

II. The New Body, the Church, Announced (vv. 17-20).

Peter had made a noble confession of Christ, so now Christ confesses him. If we confess Christ He will confess us (Matt. 10:32, 33). Christ declared His intention of bringing into existence a new body to the members of which He will give eternal life, and to whose hands He will entrust the keys of the Kingdom. Peter was to have a distinguished place in this body. The keys entrusted to Him were used on the day of Pentecost, and again in the case of Cornelius. Association in this new body cannot be broken by death, for the gates of hades shall not prevail against it. This body, the church, is of a heavenly origin, a heavenly calling and a heavenly inheritance.

III. The Cross the Way to the Throne (vv. 21-33).

This was, no doubt, startling to the disciples. They did not realize that redemption was to be accomplished through the passion of the cross. So unwelcome was this announcement that Peter cried, "This shall not be unto thee." Peter later saw through this darkness to the glory on the hilltop beyond. A new hope then filled his breast (I Pet. 1:3, 4). Victory through death is yet the stumbling block of many. Many are stumbling over the doctrine of salvation and redemption through the suffering of the cross.

IV. The Cost of Discipleship (vv. 24-27).

To follow Christ means suffering. To follow Him is to turn one's back upon the world. Life can only be saved by losing it. If we are going to be Christians we must share Christ's suffering. We cannot go to heaven on flowery beds of ease.

1. There must be denial of self (v. 24). There is a wide difference between self-denial and denial of self. Self-denial is practiced everywhere by all people, but only the disciples of Christ or Christian people deny self. Christ takes the place of self.

2. "Take up his cross." This cross is the suffering and shame which lie in the path of loyalty to God. To do our duty will mean suffering (II Tim. 3:12).

3. Follow Christ. This means to have the mind of Christ, to do like Christ. All such shall be rewarded when Christ comes in glory.

What to Hate

I will tell you what to hate. Hate hypocrisy; hate cant; hate indolence, oppression, injustice; hate Pharisaism; hate them as Christ hated them—with a deep, living, God-like hatred.—F. W. Robertson.

With Every Day

Every day, as it rises out of eternity, keeps putting to each of us this question afresh—What will you do before his day has sunk into eternity and othingness again?—F. W. Robertson

CREPE-SATIN HOLDS LEAD; OVER-BLOUSES AND TUNICS

AMONG other two-faced but pretty things that go to make up this mysterious and enchanting world there is crepe-satin, whose two-faced quality is much admired and adds greatly to its popularity. Designers seem to find pleasure in contrasting its bright satin side with its dull silk side—and by this means they add interest to the frocks made of it. For the simplest afternoon dresses this use of two surfaces is often the only decorative element. In these the satin surface is used outside in one-piece frocks, which are banded by the material with the dull surface outward. Bands usually extend across the front and sides of skirts and sometimes are introduced in the sleeves.

An Attractive Two-Piece Frock.

When greater elaboration is required with this double-surfaced material fur bandings and fancy buttons, or cabochons, or narrow fancy braids may be introduced. An attractive two-piece frock, shown in the picture, is an example. Its skirt, made with crepe side out, has three inverted plaits at each side. The front portion, which wraps across from right to left, is turned back, revealing the satin side, which forms a panel. The bodice is an over-blouse, in which bands are set together, alternating the two surfaces. It has a round neck and fastens at the left side, where it is bordered with a band of fur. Inside the fur band a border of small jet cabochons is placed. The sleeves are finished in the same way. Long loops of the material, satin side out, hang from the shoulders at the back, contriving to add the flowing and graceful lines that give the costume unity.

Because of its two surfaces and for other very good reasons, crepe satin leads the procession of fabrics popular for afternoon gowns, and for tunics it disputes supremacy with crepe de chine. Even in expensive grades it is rich looking, highly lustrous on the satin side and not easily wrinkled. Added to these are dependable wearing qualities.

The tunic-blouse has received more than the glad hand—it has been rapturously welcomed and therefore appears, almost daily, in new developments. It arrived, long, slim and straight as a straw, but designers soon became restive and began varying its line, which remains long but not always straight. Now the tunic-blouse indulges in all sorts of vagaries; it goes to greater lengths than its forebears; it takes on a Chinese aspect (as in this blouse pictured); it models itself on the pattern of a kitchen apron or a man's nightshirt; indulges in painted decorations or is satisfied to remain simple if made of splendid fabrics, like gold or silver cloths, embroidered, rich velvet or metallic brocades.

The blouse shown here is pretty and simple and is made of printed silk with a flared flounce of plain satin set on at the bottom. It is a pleasing variation of the straightline tunic-blouse, popular for afternoon wear. But with all its modifications nothing has appeared that outshines the earlier tunic-blouses of crepe de chine with decorations of silk or bead embroidery. Metallic lace does not sound very practical but proves to be a fine choice for a dinner blouse which proves satisfactory to the tourist. It takes up so little room in the suitcase and is not easily mussed. A single black satin slip will make a satisfactory background for many blouses.

Takes on a Chinese Aspect.

With all this furore for the tunic-blouse the familiar overblouse continues to compel more attention than its new rival. It is widely varied and its story no briefer. Many late arrivals have high necklines and long sleeves, featured on dressy as well as tailored types. In the former, fanciful cuffs and odd sleeves, with colorful embroideries of wool or silk are new and noteworthy style points. Black satin has gained some prominence for semi-dress and tailored blouses, and crepe de chine holds its own as the most popular fabric.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

When Dutch and Swede Fought on U. S. Soil

When Gustavus Adolphus, the great king of Sweden, saw the success of other European nations in planting colonies in the New World, he resolved to establish a colony of Swedes in America. Accordingly he formed a colonizing company for that purpose but his death prevented the plan from being carried out.

Queen Christina and Oxenstierna, Adolphus' famous minister, however, renewed the project and in 1638 they sent out a colony of "plain, strong, industrious people," who settled in what is now the state of Delaware and called it New Sweden. There they built a fort, which stood near the present city of Wilmington, and they named it Fort Christina in honor of their queen.

The new colony was soon in trouble. This ground was claimed by the Dutch, who had settled New Amsterdam a quarter of a century before, and after several years of bitter dispute between the Dutch and the Swedes, Peter Stuyvesant, the choleric old governor of New Amsterdam, resolved to put an end to the trouble by expelling the Swedes from the country.

In 1654 Stuyvesant sailed from New Amsterdam with a fleet to capture Fort Christina. Washington Irving, in his inimitable "Knickerbocker's History of New York," tells how Governor Stuyvesant called upon Gov. John Risingh to surrender, how the proposal was scornfully rejected, and how the doughty Dutch warriors, following their ancient rule of always fighting upon a full stomach ate a mighty dinner in preparing for the fray. Then, according to this historian, "brimful of wrath and cabbage," they moved forward to the attack. Just before reaching the fort they paused, lighted their pipes, gave a furious puff and charged gallantly under the cover of the smoke. After an Homeric struggle in which Governor Stuyvesant vanquished Governor Risingh in single combat, the fort was carried without the loss of a single man.

Although we cannot accept Irving's story unreservedly, the assault on Fort Christina must have been something of an opera bouffe affair, unique in the annals of warfare. But the triumph of the Dutch was short-lived, for in 1664 the English took possession of all the Dutch colonies in America and the British flag supplanted the Dutch banner over Fort Christina. To-day no trace of the fort remains, but nearby stands the little gray stone church, built in 1698, the successor of the chapel in the fort where the Swedish colonists worshiped, as a reminder of the fort where once Dutchman and Swede fought in America.

A "Monument of Folly"

Much has been written about the abandoned farms of New England, but other abandoned forts are not so well known. Of all of these obsolete strongholds none is more interesting than Fort Knox on the Narrows of the Penobscot river at Prospect, Maine.

This fort, which derived its name from the fact that it was built on land once owned by Henry Knox, the Boston bookseller who became Washington's chief artillery in the Revolution and the first secretary of war for the United States, was begun in the early forties to protect the shipbuilding and commerce of the Penobscot, which was then at its height. Work had progressed far enough by the outbreak of the Civil war to enable the War department to use Fort Knox as a training school for many of the artillery officers who served in the Union army. This was the nearest that Fort Knox ever came to a war record, however, for it never heard the shot of a hostile gun. Finally in 1869, after construction had been in progress for 26 years, work on it was abandoned.

"Costing about a million dollars, it stands a monument of human folly," writes one historian. "The recent advance in the science of war is such that Fort Knox would be scarcely more effective in time of danger than an ancient feudal castle of the Middle Ages." "Monument of folly" though Fort Knox may be, it is also a monument to the days when masonry was a fine art. Huge white slabs of granite, quarried from Mount Waldo a few miles north and floated down the river in scows, are set in its walls edge on edge with beautiful precision and a great circular staircase of solid pieces of granite is the crowning piece of workmanship. Near the shore batteries can still be seen the brick ovens where the 42-pound cannon balls were heated, but nearly all of the artillery placed in the fort during the Civil war has been removed to adorn parks, armories and other public places in New England.

Designed to be the finest fortress on the Atlantic coast, Fort Knox is now abandoned, and it is one of the several forts whose sale has been authorized by congress within recent years. Although it lacks the historic background of many other forts, there are few which are as picturesque as the grim old "monument of folly" which stands guard over an unfulfilled dream on the banks of the "Rhine of America," the Penobscot river.

ZEN OF THE Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XIII
—16—

Sitting on his veranda that evening while the sun dropped low over the mountains and the sound of horses munching contentedly came up from the stables, Grant for the twentieth time turned over in his mind the events of a day that was to stand out as an epochal one in his career. The meeting with the little boy and the quick friendship and confidence which had been formed between them; the mishap, and the trip to the house by the river—these were logical and easily followed. But why, of all the houses in the world, should it have been Zen Transley's house? Why, of all the little boys in the world, should this have been the son of his rival and the only girl he had ever—the girl he had loved most in all his life? Surely events are ordered to some purpose; surely everything is not mere haphazard chance! The fatalism of the trenches forbade any other conclusion; and if this was so, why had he been thrown into the orbit of Zen Transley? He had not sought her; he had not dreamed of her once in all that morning while her child was winding innocent tendrils of affection about his heart. And yet—how the boy had gripped him! Could it be that in some way he was a small incarnation of the Zen of the Y.D., with all her clamorous passion expressed now in childish love and hero-worship? Had some intelligence above his own guided him into his environment, deliberately inviting him to defy conventions and blaze a path of broader freedom for himself, and for her? These were questions he wrestled with as the shadows crept down the mountain slopes and along the valley at his feet.

For neither Zen nor himself had connived at the situation which had made them, of all the people in the world, near neighbors in this silent valley. Her surprise on meeting him at the door had been as genuine as his. When she had made sure that the boy was not seriously hurt she had turned to him, and instinctively he had known that there are some things which all the weight of passing years can never crush entirely dead. He had used to rehearse her words, her gestures, the quick play of sympathetic emotions, as one by one he reviewed them.

"You! I am surprised—I had not known—" She had become confused at her greeting, and a color that she would have given worlds to suppress crept slowly through her cheeks.

"I am surprised, too—and delighted," he had returned. "The little boy came to me in the field, boasting of his graces." Then they had both laughed, and she had asked him to come in and tell about himself.

The living-room, as he recalled it, was marked by the simplicity appropriate to the summer home, with just a dash of elegance in the furnishings to suggest that simplicity was a matter of choice and not of necessity. After soothing Wilson's sobs, which had broken out afresh in his mother's arms, she had turned him over to a maid and drawn a chair convenient to Grant's.

"You see, I am a farmer now," he had said, apologetically regarding his overalls.

"What changes have come! But I don't understand; I thought you were rich—very rich—and that you were promoting some kind of settlement scheme. Frank has spoken of it."

"All of which is true. You see, I am a man of whims. I choose to live here."

"I know." And it was then that their eyes had met and they had fallen into a momentary silence.

"But why are you farming?" she had exclaimed, brightly.

"For several reasons. But most of all because I love the prairies and the open life. It's my whim, and I follow it."

"You are very wonderful," she had murmured. And then, with startling directness, "Are you happy?"

"As happy as I have any right to be. Happier than I have been since childhood."

She had risen and walked to the mantelpiece; then, with an apparent change of impulse, she had turned and faced him. He had noted that her figure was rounder than in girlhood, her complexion paler, but the sunlight still danced in her hair, and her reckless force had given way to a poise that suggested infinite resources of character.

"Frank has done well, too," she had said.

"So I have heard. I am told that he has done very well indeed."

"He has made money, and he is busy and excited over his pursuit of success—what he calls success. He has been it his life. He thinks of nothing else—"

She had stopped suddenly, as though her tongue had trapped her into saying more than she had intended.

"What do you think of my summer home?" she had exclaimed, abruptly. Then out and admire the sweet peas," and with a gay little flourish she had led him into the garden. "They tell me Western flowers have a brilliance and fragrance which the East, with all its advantages, cannot duplicate. Is that true?"

"I believe it is. The East has greater profusion—more varieties—but the individual qualities do not seem to be so well developed."

"I see you know something of Eastern flowers," she had said, and he fancied he had caught a note of banter—or was it inquiry?—in her voice. Then, with another abrupt change of subject, she had made him describe his house on the hill. But he had said nothing of the whim-room.

"I must go," he had exclaimed at length. "I left the horses tied in the field."

"So you must. I shall let Wilson visit you frequently, if he is not a trouble."

Then she had chosen a couple of blooms and pinned them on his coat, laughingly overriding his protest that they consorted poorly with his costume. And she had shaken hands and said good-by in the manner of good friends parting.

The more Grant thought of it the more was he convinced that in her case, as in his own, the years had failed to extinguish the spark kindled in the foothills that night so long ago. He reminded himself continually that she was Transley's wife, and even while granting the irrevocability of that fact he was demanding to know why Fate had created for them both an atmosphere charged with unspoken possibilities. He had turned her words over again and again, reflecting upon the abrupt angles her speech had taken. In their few minutes' conversation three times she had had to make a sudden tack of safer subjects. What had she meant by that reference to Eastern and Western flowers? His answer reminded him how well he knew. And the confession about her husband, the worshiper of success—"what he calls success"—how much tragedy lay under those light words?

"I Must Go," He Had Exclaimed at Length.

The valley was filled with shadow, and the level rays of the setting sun fell on the young man's face and splashed the hilltops with gold and saffron as within his heart raged the age-old battle. . . . But as yet he felt none of its wounds. He was conscious only of a wholly irrational delight.

As the next forenoon passed Grant found himself glancing with increasing frequency toward the end of the field where the little boy might be expected to appear. But the day wore on without sign of his young friend, and the furrows which he had turned so joyously at nine were dragging leadenly at eleven. He had not thought it possible that a child could so quickly have won a way to his affections. He fell to wondering as to the cause of the boy's absence. Had Zen, after a night's reflection, decided that it was wiser not to allow the acquaintance to develop? Had Transley, returning home, placed his veto upon it? Or—and his heart paused at this prospect—had the foot been more seriously hurt than they had supposed? Grant told himself that he must go over that night and make inquiry. That would be the neighborly thing to do. . . .

But early that afternoon his heart was delighted by the sight of a little figure skipping joyously over the furrows toward him. He had his hat crumpled in one hand, and his teddy-bear in the other, and his face was alive with excitement. He was puffing profusely when he pulled up beside the plow, and Grant stopped the team while he got his breath.

"My! My! What is the hurry? I see the foot is all better."

"We got a pig!" the lad gasped, when he could speak.

"A pig!"

"Yessir! A live one, too! He's awful big. A man brought him in a wagon. That is why I couldn't come this morning."

Grant treated himself to a humble reflection upon the wisdom of childish preferments.

"What are you going to do with him?"

"Eat him up, I guess. Daddy said there was enough wasted about our house to keep a pig, so we got one. Aren't you going to take me up?"

"Of course. But first we must put teddy in his place."

"I'm to go home at five o'clock," the boy said, when he had got properly settled.

The hours slipped by all too quickly, and if the lad's presence did not contribute to good plowing, it at least made a cheerful plowman. It was plain that Zen had sufficient confidence in her farmer neighbor to trust her boy in his care, and his frequent references to his mother had an interest for Grant which he could not have analyzed or explained. During the afternoon the merits of the pig were sung and re-sung, and at last Wilson, after kissing his friend on the cheek and whispering, "I like you, Uncle Man-on-the-Hill," took his teddy bear under his arm and plodded homeward.

The next morning he came again, but mournfully and slow. There were tear stains on the little round cheeks.

"Why, son, what has happened?" said Grant, his abundant sympathies instantly responding.

"Teddy's spoiled," the child sobbed. "I set him—on the side of—the pig pen, and he fell'd in, and the big pig et him—ate him—up. He didn't 'zactly eat him up, either—just kind of chewed him, like."

"Well that certainly is too bad. But then, you're going to eat the pig some day, so that will square it, won't it?"

"I guess it will," said the boy, brightening. "I never thought of that."

"But we must have a teddy for Prince. See, he is looking around, waiting for it. Grant folded his coat into the shape of a dummy and set it upon the hames, and all went merrily again.

That afternoon, which was Saturday, the boy came thoughtfully and with an air of much importance. Delving into a pocket he produced an envelope, somewhat crumpled in transit. It was addressed, "The Man-on-the-Hill."

Grant tore it open eagerly and read this note:

"Dear Man-on-the-Hill: That is the name Wilson calls you, so perhaps you will let me use it, too. Frank is to be home tomorrow, and will you come and have dinner with us at six? My father and mother will be here, and possibly one or two others. You had a clash with my men-folk once, but you will find them ready enough to make allowance for, even if they fail to understand, your point of view. Do come. ZEN.

"P.S.—It just occurs to me that your associates in your colonization scheme may want to claim your time on Sunday. If any of them come out, bring them along. Our table is an extension one, and its capacity has never yet been exhausted."

Although Grant's decision was made at once he took some time for reflection before writing an acceptance. He was to enter Zen's house on her invitation, but under the auspices, so to speak, of husband and parents. That was eminently proper. Zen was a sensible girl. Then there was a reference to that ancient squabble in the hay meadow. It was evidently her plan to see the hatchet buried and friendly relations established all round. Eminently proper and sensible.

He turned the sheet over and wrote on the back:

"Dear Zen: Delighted to come. May have a couple of friends with me, one of whom you have seen before. Prepare for an appetite long denied the joys of home cooking. D. G."

It was not until after the child had gone home that Grant remembered he had addressed Transley's wife by her Christian name. That was the way he always thought of her, and it slipped on to paper quite naturally. Well, it couldn't be helped now.

Grant unhitched early and hurried to his house and the telephone. In a few minutes he had Linder on the line.

"Hello, Linder? I want you to go to a store for me and buy a teddy-bear."

The chuckle at the other end of the line irritated Grant. Linder had a strange sense of humor.

"I mean it. A big teddy, with electric eyes, and a deep bass growl, if they make 'em that way. The best you can get. Fetch it out tomorrow afternoon, and come decently dressed, for once. Bring Murdoch along if you can pry him loose."

Grant hung up the receiver. "Stupid chap, Linder, some ways," he muttered. "Why shouldn't I buy a teddy-bear if I want to?"

Sunday afternoon saw the arrival of Linder and Murdoch, with the largest teddy the town afforded. "What is the big idea now?" Linder demanded, as he delivered it into Grant's hands.

"It is for a little boy I know who has been bereaved of his first teddy by the activities of the family pig. You will renew some pleasant acquaintanceships, Linder. You remember Transley and his wife—Zen, of the Y.D.?"

"You don't say! Thanks for that tip about dressing up. I may explain," Linder continued, turning to Murdoch, "there was a time when I might have been an also-ran in the race for Y.D.'s daughter, only Transley beat me on the getaway."

"You!" Grant exclaimed, incredulously.

"You, too!" Linder returned, a great light dawning.

Promptly at six Linder drew his automobile up in front of the Transley summer home with Grant and Murdoch on board. Wilson had been watching, and rushed down upon them, but before he could clamber up on Grant a great teddy-bear was thrust into his arms and sent him, wild with delight, to his mother.

"Look, mother! Look what the Man-on-the-Hill brought! See! He has fire in his eyes!"

Transley and Y.D. met the guests at the gate. "How do, Grant? Glad to see you, old man," said Transley, shaking his hand cordially. "The wife has had so many good words for you I am almost jealous. What ho, Linder! By all that's wonderful! You old prairie dog, why did you never look me up? I was beginning to think the Boche had got you."

Grant introduced Murdoch, and Y.D. received them as cordially as had Transley. "Glad to see you fellows back," he exclaimed. "I al'us said the Western men 'ud put a crimp in the kaiser, spite o' h—l an' high water!"

"One thing the war has taught us," said Grant, modestly, "is that men are pretty much alike, whether they come from west or east or north or south. No race has a monopoly of heroism."

"Well, come on in," Transley beckoned, leading the way. "Dinner will be ready sharp on time twenty minutes late. Not being a married man, Grant, you will not understand that reckoning. You'll have to excuse Mrs. Transley a few minutes; she's holding down the accelerator in the kitchen. Come in; I want you to meet Squiggs."

Squiggs proved to be a round man with huge round tortoise-shell glasses and round red face to match. He shook hands with a manner that suggested that in doing so he was making rather a good fellow of himself.

"We must have a little lubrication, for Y.D.'s sake," said Transley, producing a bottle and glasses. "I suppose it was the dust on the plains that gave these old cow punchers a thirst which never can be slaked. These be evil days for the old-timers. Grant?"

"Not any, thanks."

"No? Well, there's no accounting for tastes. Squiggs?"

"I'm a lawyer," said Squiggs, "and as booze is now nitra vires I do my best to keep it down," and Mr. Squiggs beamed genially upon his pleasantry and the full glass in his hand.

"I take a snort when I want it and I don't care who knows it," said Y.D. "I al'us did, and I reckon I'll keep on to the finish. It didn't snuff me out in my youth and innocence, anyway. Just the same, I'm admittin' it's bad medicine in onskillful hands. Here's ho!"

The glasses had just been drained when Mrs. Transley entered the room, flushed but radiant from a strenuous half hour in the kitchen.

"Well, here you are!" she exclaimed. "So glad you could come, Mr. Grant. Why, Mr. Linder! Of all people—This is a pleasure. And Mr. ——?"

"Mr. Murdoch," Transley supplied.

"My chief of staff; the man who persists in keeping me rich," Grant elaborated.

"I mustn't keep you waiting longer. Dinner is ready. Dad, you are to carve."

"Hanged if I will! I'm a guest here, and I stand on my rights," Y.D. exploded.

"Then you must do it, Frank."

"I suppose so," said Transley, "although all I get out of a meal when I have to carve is splashing and profanity. You know, Squiggs, I've figured it out that this practice of requiring the nominal head of the house to carve has come down from the days when there wasn't usually enough to go 'round, and the carver had to make some fine decisions, and, perhaps, maintain them by force. It has no place under modern civilization."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Not a Crime, a Miracle

It was very cold, but still the angler sat patiently by the side of the stream, waiting for the bite that did not come.

An aged man approached and took up a strategic position behind him. "Are these private waters, my man?" asked the angler, looking over his shoulder.

The aged man shook his head.

"No," he said.

"Then it won't be a crime if I land a fish?" pursued the sportsman.

Again the aged man shook his head, till his gray locks fluttered in the breeze.

"No," he said. "It would be a miracle!"

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

We should furnish our families with fruit and vegetables to the amount of 20 per cent of the whole fuel requirement, meats and proteins, 25 per cent, cereals 25 per cent, sugars 10 per cent and fats, 20 per cent.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Baked apples, cereal with cream, coffee cake, coffee. Dinner: Capon stuffed with chestnuts, baked stuffed peppers, mashed turnips, prune souffle. Supper: Milk toast, tea, canned peaches.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Fruit and bran, rolls, bacon. Dinner: Beefsteak, baked potatoes, onion salad, fruit. Supper: Cream of celery soup, roll jelly cake, tea.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Grapefruit, oatmeal with top milk, toast, coffee. Dinner: Meat pie, buttered beets, canned fruit, cookies. Supper: Eggs, poached, baked potatoes, stuffed celery, cocoa.

WEDNESDAY — Breakfast: Baked apples with cream, French fried toast, coffee. Dinner: Boiled ham, cider jelly, custard pie. Supper: Puffy omelet with jam, brown bread, apple sauce, cookies.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Orange, shredded wheat biscuit, graham gems, coffee. Dinner: Pork chops, baked potatoes, scalloped cabbage, banana custard. Supper: Baked hash, lettuce salad, chocolate cake, tea.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Omelet, toast, doughnuts, coffee. Dinner: Oyster stew, creamed lima beans, cole slaw, apple pie, cheese. Supper: Creamed pea soup, stuffed eggs, sandwiches, tea.

SATURDAY — Breakfast: Stewed prunes, corn flakes, buttered toast, coffee. Dinner: Roast of lamb, mashed buttered squash, scalloped tomatoes, cornstarch pudding. Supper: Creamed dried beef, stuffed dates with cream cheese, cookies.

Cider Jelly.

Soften one package of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water and dissolve over hot water; add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and when dissolved and cooled add three cupfuls of sweet cider. Let stand twenty-four hours and arrange by spoonfuls around a platter of sliced boiled ham.

After the hunger, the cold, the labor,
The self-denial, the earnest quest—
Comes the hearth-shine, the friendly neighbor,
The soul's fireside and the Unseen Guest.

GOOD FOODS.

Nature intended that we should enjoy food or such an endless variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and nuts would not have been designated for our use.

Ardmore Fruit Salad.—Beat together three tablespoonfuls of cream, three of sugar, one egg and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt. Cook over hot water till thick; chill, and whip in a tablespoonful of lemon juice and a cupful of whipped cream. Serve on sliced peaches, pineapple, bits of banana, white grape halved and seeded, a few sections of grape fruit and orange; mix well with the dressing and top with a spoonful of the dressing garnished with a few plump raisins and a pecan or two.

Sweet Cider Pie.—Mix three-fourths of a cupful of sugar with one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon or nutmeg and six tablespoonfuls of arrowroot, until the whole is well blended. Put on to heat one pint of sweet cider; when hot, but not boiling, add the sugar mixture all at once and stir vigorously until the whole mixture is thick. Remove from the fire, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and pour into a pastry-lined plate. Arrange strips of pastry over the top and bake until the crust is brown. Serve cold.

Creole Salad Dressing.—Rub the salad bowl with a bit of cut garlic, use a piece of ice to stir the dressing, add a tablespoonful of olive oil to the bowl, with a saltspoon of salt; then add, stirring with the ice, another tablespoonful of oil and one of vinegar; then yet another one of oil. Add a teaspoonful of finely minced parsley and one of onion, with the merest fragment of thyme or a few drops of walnut catsup. Serve with shrimps, oysters or any green vegetable.

For the stuffing of the turkey one has a variety from which to choose. There is none more popular than the plain bread stuffing, though many like oyster, chestnut, and other combinations.

Chocolate Pie.—Bring to a boil two cupfuls of milk, add a pinch of salt, half a cupful of sugar, two squares of unsweetened chocolate, broken into bits, a teaspoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, mixed with a little cold milk, cook till the mixture thickens; then pour slowly over two well-beaten egg yolks, add a teaspoonful of vanilla. Line a deep pie plate with rich pastry, fill with the mixture and bake until the crust is well cooked. Cover with a meringue prepared from the egg whites beaten stiff with four tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar; flavor with vanilla. Brown in the oven.

Nellie Maxwell

WRIGLEY'S
After every meal

A pleasant and agreeable sweet and a l-a-s-t-i-n-g benefit as well.

Good for teeth, breath and digestion.

Makes the next cigar taste better.

Sealed in its Purity Package

WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT THE PERFECT GUM
MINT LEAF FLAVOR

CONTINUOUS HATCHER
An Innovation

Agents Wanted

Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.

Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co.
Box 675. Jackson, Miss.

Raleigh in North America

Queen Elizabeth's infatuation for Raleigh kept him from going to Virginia with his first expedition for colonization. It is said that the queen promised to defray all expenses of the expedition if Raleigh would not go himself. The result was that Raleigh never saw the territory which is now the United States. But several years later, in 1549, Raleigh went to South America at the head of an expedition to conquer Guiana. On his way back to Europe he stopped in Newfoundland. This was the only time Raleigh ever set foot on the North American continent.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Should Use Swamp-Root

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

To err is human in one's best paragraph; to forgive divine; and let it go at that.

Scandal is partly true, but hardly ever, all.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation.

It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL
HAARLEM OIL
CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

Shelby County Reporter

Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

Hallett MacKnight's Last Message to Farmers

Among the papers of the late Hallett K. MacKnight, whose death occurred in August, was found a neat little note book containing a partial outline of an article on "Winter Dairy Profits for Cotton Farmers," which Mr. MacKnight was preparing for publication in the Shelby County Reporter. This was evidently one of the last pieces of work to which he gave his attention.

Through the kindness of Mrs. MacKnight, the Reporter has the privilege of publishing Mr. MacKnight's notes just as he left them, and it is her hope that the article, incomplete though it is, may serve to encourage the farmers of Shelby county to give more thought to the dairy industry as a means of overcoming the difficulties with which they are having to contend since the coming of the cotton boll weevil.

Mr. MacKnight's notes are as follows:

"WINTER DAIRY PROFITS
FOR COTTON FARMERS
Facts compiled by H. K. M."

"Introduction: The world needs an increasing supply of cotton. The boll weevil has helped to cut our cotton yield per acre. That cut has driven much labor from the cotton land. We should use every safe and sane plan to keep our trained cotton labor of the cot ton land at profitable work.

"The experts have proved that many years will be required to wear out the boll weevil and produce a normal, profitable yield of cotton per acre.

"We know that while a crop of cotton is raised in one year, it requires many years to raise a successful cotton grower.

"In establishing the 'Winter Dai ry Plan' on cotton farms to help the cotton farmer build up a sound footing:

"THE AIMS ARE:

"1st. To secure profitable work for cotton labor during the winter

'2nd. To encourage swapping of all surplus cotton seed for cotton seed meal and the use of this meal along with hay, oats, corn and cob meal, corn stalks, etc., raised on the land in properly balanced rations and fed to profitable dairy cows."

CAMP BRANCH

We are glad to welcome John E. Roach and family back to our com munity--

Carl Roach, Herschel Dye and Miss Alma Dye spent the week-end with relatives here.

There was a good attendance at Sunday school Sunday.

Rusian Faust of Ensley spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Faust.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Templin of Ensley were in our community Sunday.

DARGIN

Miss Mary Cooper is ill this week.

Mrs. J. A. England is visiting her son, B. Spain.

Rev. Freeman will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

We are to have another teacher in our school.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atchison of Woodward were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. Atchison Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Allen of Spring Creek, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen Sunday.

KINGDOM

Miss Ethel Walton spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walton.

Mrs. W. B. Crumpton had with her last week end her sister, Mrs. Mertie Wilson of Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wingard of Clanton, visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmes and children of Birmingham, visited the family of J. M. Hughes last week end.

Burnard and Claiborne Lee of Bessemer, spent last week end at home.

Miss Ellie DeLoach of Bethel community was the guesst of her sister, Ruby, Sunday.

Percy Hughes of Birmingham, visited home folks part of last week.

Milton Ingram of Birmingham, spent Sunday with his brother, Alfred Ingram.

Henry Atkinson died suddenly Saturday evening and was buried Sunday.

Glasses fitted of the latest styles. See me and you will see Dr. J. H. Merrell, Optometrist, East Side Court Square, Talladega, Ala. 2t

State Officer C. M. Gardner, whose headquarters are at Birmingham, is spending the week with his family here.

Tax Assessor and Collector's 2nd Rounds.

We will visit the following precincts in Shelby County, Alabama, at the following times and places for the purpose of Assessing Taxes for the year 1925, and Collecting Taxes for the year 1924, to-wit:

Calera beat 3 Monday, November 17
Montevallo beat 4, Tuesday, Nov. 18
Wilton beat 4, Wednesday, Nov. 19, from 8:30 a. m to 12 m
Maylene beat 19, Wednesday Nov. 19, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Boothton beat 20, Thursday, Nov. 20
Bamford beat 5, Thursday, Nov. 20
Helena beat 6, Friday, Nov. 21
Saginaw beat 7, Monday, Nov. 24, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m.
Ebenezer beat 21, Monday, Nov. 24, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Siluria beat 7, Tuesday, Nov. 25, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m.
Pelham beat 17, Tuesday, Nov. 25, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Highland beat 12, Wednesday, Nov. 26, at New Hope Church, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m
Farley's Store, beat 13, Wednesday, Nov. 26, from 1 p. m. to 4 p m,
Chelsea beat 8, Thursday, Nov. 27.
Blue Springs beat 9, Friday, Nov. 28, from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m.
Westover beat 11, Friday, Nov. 28, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Wilsonville beat 9, Monday, Dec. 1.
Dunnavant beat 18, Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Vandiver beat 14, Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 1:30 to 4 p. m.
Sterrett beat 15. Tuesday. Dec. 2, from 10:30 to 4 p. m.
Vincent beat 16, Wednesday, Dec. 3.
Creswell beat 10, Thursday, Dec. 4, from 9 a. m. to 12 m.
Harpersville beat 10, Thursday, Dec. 4, from 12:30 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Shelby beat 1, Friday, Dec. 5, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Farmer beat 2, Friday, Dec. 5, from 11:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.
Columbiana beat 1, Saturday, Dec. 6.

Notice to all Tax Payers—Notice is hereby given that after the 31st day of December, 1924, all tax payers who have failed to make returns to me as Tax Assessor, of all their real estate and personal property, containing a good description of same, in Shelby County, will be delinquent in the eye of the law and will be charged a fee of 50 cents whether demand has been made on them or not for the 1925 tax returns, and all tax payers who fail to make returns to me of all their property on or before the first Monday in February, 1925, will incur a penalty of 10 per cent to be added to their assessments after these demands have been made upon them for the same. The Assessor has no discretion in the matter of remitting penalties, except in case of sickness. The law requires every property owner to meet the Tax Assessor on his rounds and assess their real estate and personal property. Please remember this and assess your own property; and if you can't get a good description of your real estate, I advise you to have same surveyed, as the law requires the Tax Assessor to have all real estate surveyed when a good description is not furnished to him.

W. E. HARRISON, Tax Assessor Shelby County.

NOTICE—I will also visit each precinct at the places and dates above for the purpose of collecting the State and County taxes due for the year 1924.

J. L. ISBELL, Tax Collector Shelby County.

Pine Tar and Honey Still Best for Chest Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the pine tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soon soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. It contains absolutely no opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. It tastes good, too. If you want the best, a medicine that often stops the severest cough overnight, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 30c at any good druggist's.

HARPERSVILLE

Cotton picking about over.

The health of our community is good.

It has been so dry that the farmers have not sown any wheat or oats.

Mrs. R. B. Posey spent several days last week in Birmingham with her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Farrell.

Cary Atkinson came all the way from Boothton to vote in the election. This was his first vote and he made a terrible big X under the Rooster.

Mrs. Minter of Lineville, who has been visiting her son, Will Minter, returned home last Friday.

Our esteemed friend, Ed Kirkpatrick of Birmingham visited Harpersville friends and relatives last week.

We are glad to see Mr. John Gallups out again. He has been sick for a long time. He has lost his eyesight entirely, yet he seems as cheerful as in younger days.

Misses Pollard and Clyde Baker and also Ralph Caddell spent the week end with Mignon friends.

It was the cackling of a flock of geese that saved Rome from burning up, but it was the heroic work of our school boys and the Harpersville citizens that saved Harpersville from burning last Friday. One of the school boys set fire to some papers and the fire began to spread and times were scary for awhile. Be careful boys how you handle fire and matches this dry weather. Let us not burn the dear old town up.

Blue Walls and Flies.

Blue color keeps flies from a room, declares Alexander Duckham, an English experimenter. Lord Avebury, a great bee lover, once experimented to find out the effect of color on wasps. He decided they had no color sense. It is scent rather than color that welcomes an insect, though nature employs color in addition. One plant attracts its necessary insect satellite by smelling like bad meat.

DR. W. J. MITCHEL
—DENTIST—
Phone No. 88. Montevallo, Ala.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

Estate of W. L. Tumlin, deceased. Probate Court.

Letters of Administration on the Estate of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 23 day of October, 1924, by the Hon. L. B. Riddle, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate, are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law, or the same will be barred. Mrs. Maude A Tumlin, 10 30 3t. Tallapoosa, Ga.

ADMINITRATOR'S NOTICE

Estate of Mrs. N. V. Clinton, deceased. Probate Court.

Letters of administration of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 7 day of November 1924, by the Hon L. B. Riddle, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

J. E. McClinton,
11 13 3t Administrattor.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Ala. In Equity.

Dan Garrett, Complainant, vs. Irene Garrett, Respondent.

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidavit of Dan Garrett Complainant, that the Defendant is a non-resident of Alabama, and her postoffice address is unknown, and further that in the belief of said affiant, is of the age of twenty-one years; it is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Irene Garrett, to plead, answer or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 15 day of December, 1924, or in thirty days thereafter a decree Pro Confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 10th day of November, 1924. 11 13 4t

J. M. Leonard, Jr., Register.

GUARDIAN'S SALE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 31 day of October, 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, F. C. Oates, as guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates and Margaret Oates, minors, to sell, for investment, the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 21st day of November, 1924, between the hours of legal sale, before the court house door, in Columbiana, Alabama, the undersigned, as guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land, situated in Shelby county, Alabama, to-wit:

Beginning at a point 107 yards north of the Penn Cost Crossing of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and parallel with the said Louisville & Nashville crossing and on the west side of said railroad crossing, and running in a northerly direction from said point along the right-of-way of said railroad 191 yards, from beginning corner, thence in a westernly direction 136 yards to the center of Buck Creek, at low water mark, thence up Buck Creek in a southernly direction 188 yards, thence in an easternly direction 119 yards to the point of beginning, and bounded as follows: On the east by the L. & N. Railroad, on the north by Keystone Lime Company's land, on the west by Buck Creek, and on the south by lands of John Swiney, and being a part of Section 35, Township 20, Range 3 West.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the purpose of investment in other lands or securities. Terms of sale cash.

F. C. Oates,
As Guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates, and Margaret Oates, Minors. 11 6 3t

DISSOLUTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I have sold my entire interest in the Vincent Motor Company to Dr. J. W. Arthur who assumes indebtedness of said company. B. K. Smothers, Vincent, Ala. 10 23 4t pd.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamonds

P. D. D. PENDLETON
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.

I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.

Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

This National Advertising Is Being Done For Your Benefit

Inducing the right sort of people to move to the L. & N.-served South; pointing out attractions of the Southland to desirable citizens, rather than to those seeking the bonanza of quick profits and temporary residence—this has been the work of the L. & N. Railroad ever since it became one of the great trunk lines of the Nation.

Advertisements of the type shown here are running continously in the great farm magazines which circulate in the North, Northwest and East. They point out to the intelligent class of farmers the greater opportunities which prevail in the South, where weather, labor, and living conditions excel those of colder and more densely-populated sections.

These advertisements supplement the work of the Industrial and Immigration Department of the L. & N., and the results of this combined effort are apparent in every section of the South.

SHERLOCK GIVES DOC WATSON AN IMPORTANT TIP-OFF

1. "Examine this cigar, Watson," said the Great Detective. "Beautifully made, of the finest perfecto leaf. A thoroughbred cigar in every way—BUT IT HAS NO TIP!"

2. "Now this missing tip, Doctor, is a mighty sweet 'tip-off' for cigar smokers. It makes no difference in the quality, but a whale of a difference in the price!"

3. "For, putting the tip on a cigar costs like sin. Leaving it off is the good sense thrift that makes the good cents saving."

4. "Get that bouquet! Mellow, full-flavored, smooth as silk. You'll go a long way for a better smoke."

5. "But the baffling mystery, my dear Watson, is really no mystery at all. It's the 'tip-off' that brings four of these fragrant 4¼-inch Old Virginias to you for one thin dime."

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

A well made smooth smoking cigar, with tobacco-quality worthy of a high-toned label. The triumph of big volume and elimination of frills.

Old Virginia Cheroot

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

Unusual Price Reductions on This Gala Occasion to Fittingly Expres Our Appreciation of Your Patronage.

1876 48th 1924 ANNIVERSARY 1876 48th 1924

Forty- eight years ago we opened our store for transaction of business. At that time we pledged ourselves to lower prices substantially on the necessities of life and to purvey only the highest quality merchandise, so, as along the path of progress we wend our way, it is appropriate that we renew our pledge---to faithfully serve you with merchandise of National reputation at prices that reflect true economies. Now in order to show our appreciation of the valued business given us during these years, we are going to put on the most stupendous SALE ever held in central Alabama. This is the event you have been waiting for, and we suggest that you clamp down on your purse and wait and reap the benefits we are going to offer. Said Sale Begins Saturday, November 15. and will continue Two Weeks

FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION WE QUOTE YOU A FEW PRICES BELOW:

Groceries and Feed

Standard Granulated Sugar, 12 1-2 pounds	$1.00
7 per cent Cotton Seed Meal, per bag	$2.25
Michigan Salt, 100 pound bag	1.15
Best patent Flour, plain,	1.00
Best patent Flour, Self Rising	1.10
2 pound can best Tomatoes, per can	10c
50 pound sack of Salt	70c
25 pound sack of Salt	40c

SHOES

1000 pairs Ladies' Shoes and Slippers, all sizes up to No. 8, go in this sale, your choice for only $1. Besides this special bargain we have a $15,000.00 stock of Shoes to select your wants from at prices that will astonish you.

HATS AND CAPS

Yes, we have a fine line of men' and boys' Hats and Caps. Then too, we have a beautiful line of ladies and children's Hats at live and let live prices. Come and look them over and be convinced.

BUILDING MATERIAL

If you are building see us for Lime, Cement, Composition Roofing and Shingles, Galvanized Roofing and building material of all kinds.

Buster Brown Hosiery. We will discontinue this line of hosiery and every pair will be sold under an absolute guarantee at sacrifice prices.

Hosiery and Underwear

In this line we have a special bargain for you in Ladies' Silk Hose made by the Buster Brown Hosiery Mills. We have grouped together all of line and priced them at the pair 98c
You will find hose in this line worth up to $2.50 a pair. Be sure and supply your wants.

Winter is now at hand and don't fail to investigate our Underwear bargains as we have them by the case and at prices that we are going to offer that other merchants would be glad to purchase same for.

DRY GOODS

This is where we shine, having a stock of the very best that money can buy and all seasons latest novelties and nothing will be reserved from this sale.
Cotton Checks, yard-wide brown Sheeting, fleece back Dress Goods, Calico, Apron Gingham, yd 10c

CLOTHING, GENTS FURNISHINGS

We have to offer you an up-to-date line of men's suits and boys 2-pant suits which you will do well to see before making your fall purchases. Sweaters? yes, we have them and in all colors and prices. To see them means that you will buy.

We have received a big shipment of Ladies Coats and Suits which we offer in this sale at a great sacrifice.

For lack of space we are unable to tell you about all the good things we have in store for you and we request that you come and take advantage of our carload buying. For your information we have now seven cars of merchandise on the way.

Remember this sale will give you the chance to supply your fall needs from a $75,000 stock of General Merchandise. We say this, if you doubt this statement all we ask is for you to come and be convinced that our statement is true. Remember too, that we do not restrict you as to the amount of any article you wish to purchase; so bring your cars and wagons and let us load them up for you.

Where Economy Rules

GEORGE KROELL

Just Down the Street from Everybody

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

PE-RU-NA

The Most Successful Treatment of the Century for CATARRH

Tablets or Liquid

Sold Everywhere

Long Job Ahead

It was an anxious-looking man who entered the garage. "I want to make arrangements for hiring a taxi," he said to the proprietor.

"Do you want it by the hour or by the day?" he asked.

"I want it by the year," replied the man. "I'm looking for a house!"—Chicago Daily News.

Stomach Distress?

Savannah, Ga.—"For about two years I had been a sufferer from indigestion, my food would sour and gas would form, which at times seemed like a hard lump and distressed me terribly. I was getting so bad that I was afraid to eat. Then I learned about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach and liver disorders and after I took one bottle I felt like a different man. I took enough of it to rid me entirely of every sign of indigestion and am able to eat my food with enjoyment because it is digesting properly."—J. A. White, 308 Montgomery St. All dealers. Tablets or liquid.

Are You One of the 80%?

EIGHTY people out of a hundred are handicapping themselves in life. Eight of every ten are victims of Anemia—blood starvation—and don't know it.

Rich, successful, complete lives need rich, red blood . . . vitalizing, energy-building blood. Try the test pictured above unless the inner eyelid shows a rich scarlet color, it means that your lack of energy may also be due to Anemia.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan for thirty-two years has been the choice of thousands of physicians. It is the sure way to add energy-building iron and manganese to your blood.

Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Tonic and Blood Enricher

Silly Superstition

There is no foundation for the belief that phases of the moon have any effect on the nervous system or on the health of individuals.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

An idle tongue is one that works overtime.

Grow Young!

Thousands have received the vigor of youth through Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. Appetite is sharpened, digestion improved, the whole body toned up.

"There is Hope"

For Constipation use Munyon's Paw Paw Pills

MUNYON'S PAW PAW TONIC

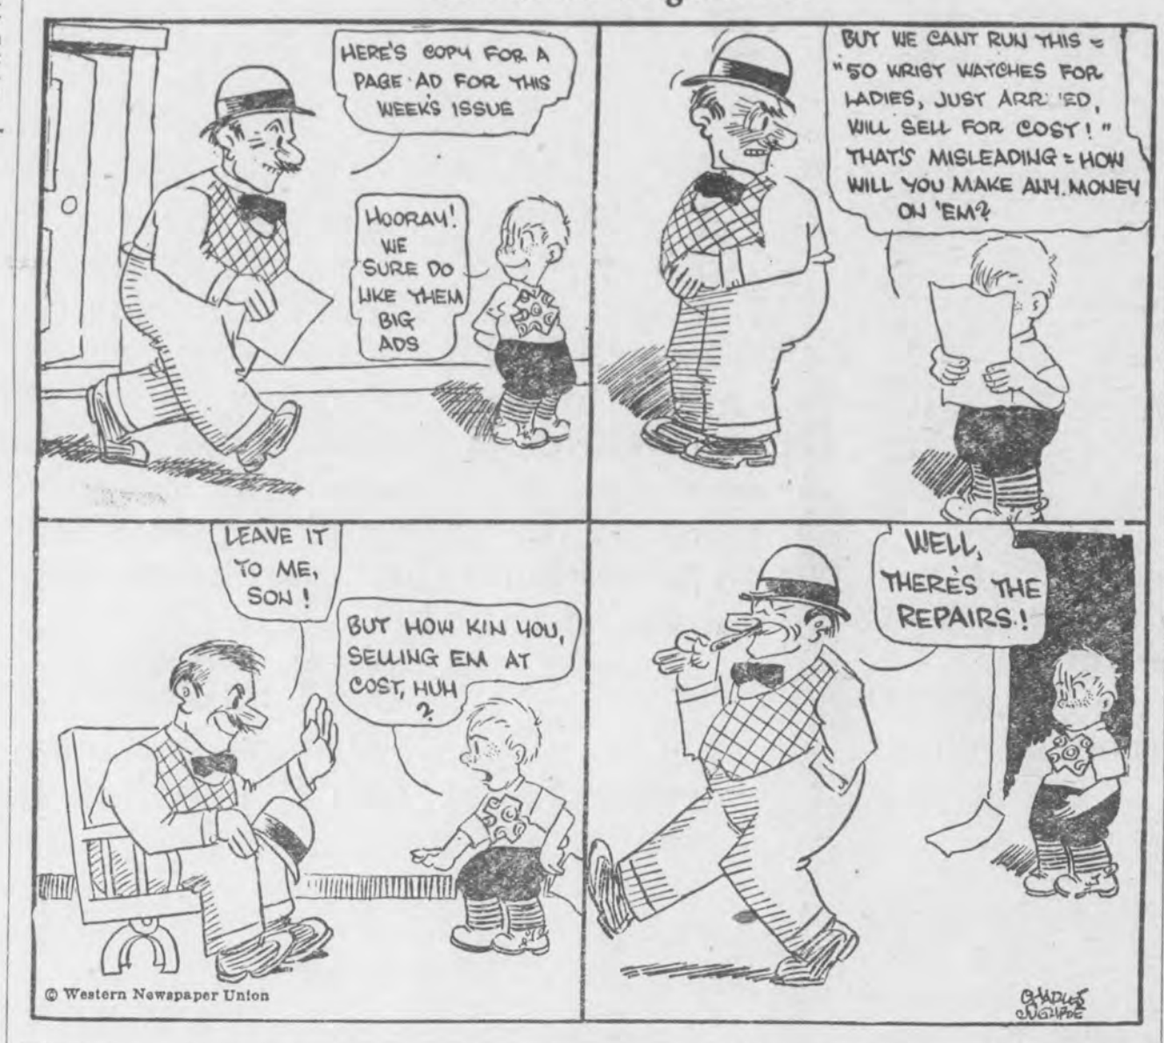
Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

OUR COMIC SECTION

Off the Concrete

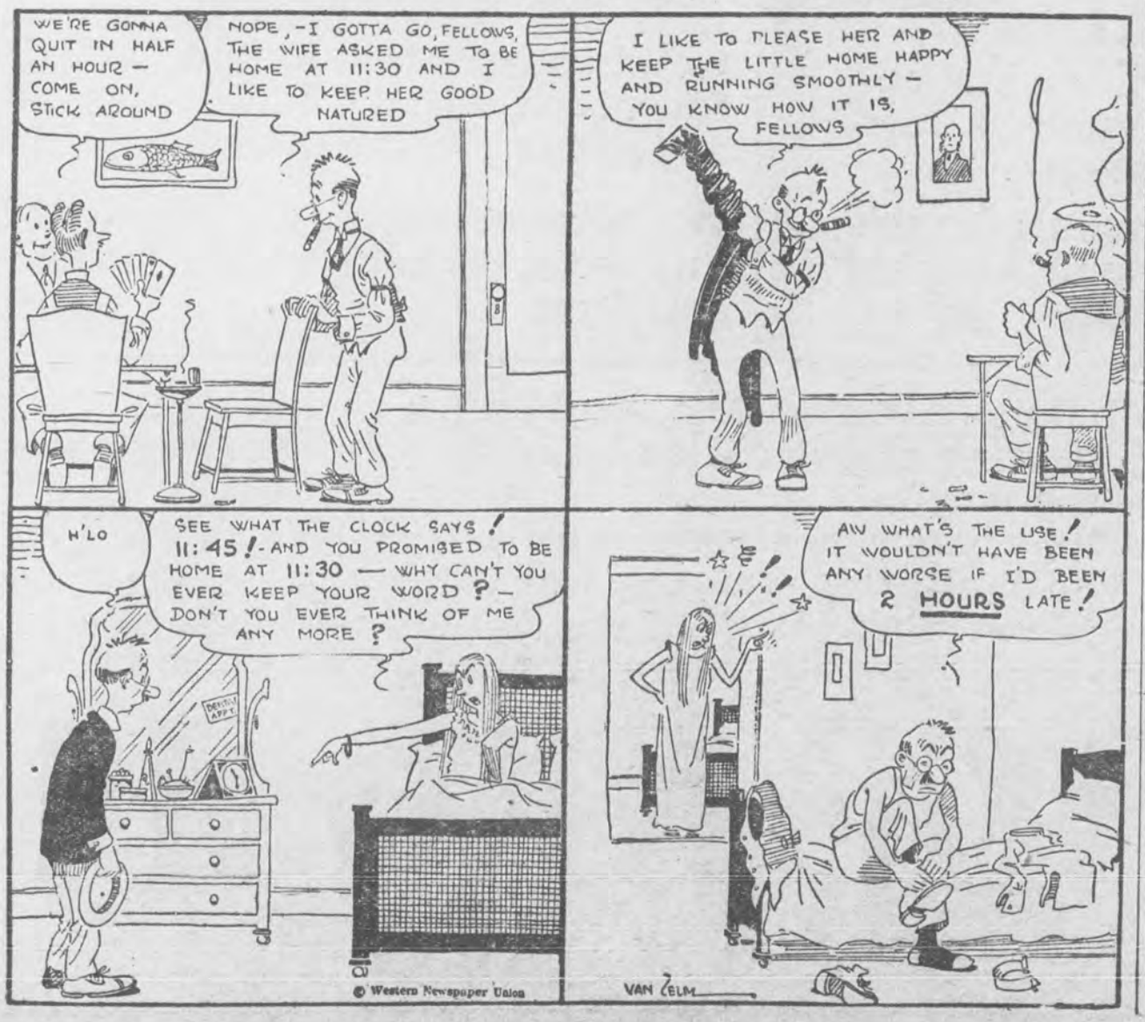
(Copyright, W. N. U.)

It's Not the Original Cost



© Western Newspaper Union

And He Did so Want to Stay With the Boys



© Western Newspaper Union

HOUSEWORK NOT DRUDGERY

For Women In Good Health

Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Changed Conditions For These Housewives

Back Don't Bother Me Now

Lincoln, Nebraska. — "My back would bother me so and when I had to do any heavy lifting it made me sick to my stomach with the pains in my back. I have my housework to do and four babies to take care of so when I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I took it and I feel better. My back don't bother me and I can eat more and work. I do all my housework and washing for six in the family. I will tell other women to take the Vegetable Compound and you may publish my letter."—Mrs. CHARLES F. DOLEZAL, 1201 Garber Ave., Lincoln, Nebraska.

Felt Better At Once

Volga City, Iowa.—"I will tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. I was all run down and could hardly be on my feet. I was so cold I could not keep warm. I had numb feelings and then heat flashes would pass over my body. I had severe pains in my sides and was very nervous. I saw your advertisement in the newspapers so I thought I would try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of the Vegetable Compound and I began to feel better as soon as I started taking it. I have taken it off and on for three years now. I keep house and do all my work for my husband and two little boys and make my garden. I feel fine and I tell others what the medicine has done for me. I think it is the best medicine in the world for women."—Mrs. THOMAS GRINDLE, Volga City, Iowa.

Can Do Any Kind of Work

Fouke, Arkansas.—"I had the 'Flu' and after that I had a pain in my side and was not able to do my work I was so weak. I found an advertisement in a paper and it told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would do, and I took it. Now I can do any kind of work I want to. I think every family ought to keep it in the house all the time and I intend to do so."—Mrs. DORA PHILYAW, R.R. No. 2, Fouke, Arkansas.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

This shows that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This goes to prove that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—can and does do good work. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Toothache in the Movies

An aching tooth in action is the last thing we should expect to find in the movies. "The Ivory Cross," an English society for the protection of teeth, have had a film produced which shows a throbbing nerve.—Scientific American.

An Unexcelled Remedy for Cuts, Burns, Wounds and Sores. Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh prevents infection; heals quickly. 35c all stores.—Adv.

"Old Crusty" Again

"Why is it," queried the fair widow, "that they always say a man 'pines' for a woman?"

"I suppose," growled the fussy bachelor, "it's because pine is about the softest wood there is."

Slight Mistake

Plump Chorus Lady—That bird's dead in love with me. Didja hear what he said about my luminous eyes?

Slim Chorus Lady—He didn't say anything about your luminous eyes. He was talking about your voluminous size.

Cuticura for Sore Hands.

Soak hands on retiring in the hot suds of Cuticura Soap, dry and rub in Cuticura Ointment. Remove surplus Ointment with tissue paper. This is only one of the things Cuticura will do if Soap, Ointment and Talcum are used for all toilet purposes.—Advertisement.

When a man says that a woman "understands him," he means that she listens to him.

Too Conservative

We'd take no stock in the saying that a sucker is born every minute. That would be only 1,440 a day.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

Many people imagine that Worms or Tapeworm cannot be expelled entirely. A single dose of "Dead Shot" proves that they can. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

It doesn't benefit a man much if he happens to be in the right, but headed the wrong way.

To acquire knowledge is easy if you are not ashamed to confess your ignorance.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Absolutely Harmless—No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds	Headache
Pain	Neuralgia
Toothache	Lumbago
Neuritis	Rheumatism

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Is Your Work Hard?

Is your work wearing you out? Are you tortured with throbbing backache—feel tired, weak and worn out? Then look to your kidneys! Many occupations tend to weaken the kidneys. Constant backache, headaches, dizziness and rheumatic pains result. One suffers annoying kidney irregularities; feels nervous, irritable and worn out. Don't wait! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Workers everywhere recommend Doan's. They should help you, too. Ask your Neighbor!

An Alabama Case

C. Barnette, 417 Conecuh St., Greenville, Ala., says: "My kidneys were in an unhealthy condition; the kidneys were highly colored and scalded in passage. I had such pains in my back and nights I couldn't sleep due to the heavy, dull ache across my back. My back was sore and lame. I used two boxes of Doan's Pills and they cured me."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

For that skin eruption

You can have relief within an hour

PERHAPS you have given up hope of getting relief from that maddening itching and burning, but Resinol does bring comfort when many other remedies have failed. One who has used this healing ointment writes—"Resinol Ointment is so soothing it stopped my itching at once and I got the first night's sleep I had had in weeks. Now my skin is well." What it has done for one it can do for others.

Resinol Soap

contains the same soothing ingredients which enables it to thoroughly cleanse the skin yet leave it free from sensitiveness and smarting.

RESINOL

Boosting for His Job

Sam, impaneled for jury service at a murder trial, had seemed a little too anxious to serve.

"Do you know the accused?" he was asked.

"Yassuh—dat is—nossuh," he replied, realizing that if he made an affirmative answer he would be disbarred from serving.

"Have you made up your mind as to his guilt or innocence?"

"Oh, no, suh."

"You think, then, that you could give his case a fair hearing?"

"Yassuh," replied Sam. "Leastways, ez fair ez de ole scamp deserves."

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills contain only vegetable ingredients which act as a gentle purgative. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Radio Row

"Let me have the headpiece, dearie." "Now, love bird—" "Now, nothing I want my listen innings."

Better do a little well than to attempt more than you can do.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Old Standard Remedy for Chills and Malaria. 60c

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

GREAT LANDSLIDES

Highway in China Carried a Mile by Landslide.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

The village of Someo, Switzerland, largely destroyed by a landslide recently, is the victim of a force that has been at work reshaping the face of the earth since the first mountains were built.

It is the younger mountain systems, geologically speaking, which are most subject to these rock avalanches. Thus the Himalayas, which represent but infant industries, though lusty ones, in the mountain building line, have a way, like other youngsters of immature character, of tumbling about in a wholesale fashion which would result in great catastrophes were their slopes and valleys populated to any great extent.

Sir William Conway describes the matter of a little shifting of rock which caused the formation of Gohna lake, in the central Himalayas, where the spur of a large mountain mass pitched bodily into the valley below. The front of the mountain had been undermined by springs until there was no longer sufficient support, and in the twinkling of an eye a large part of the mountain slid down and shot across the valley, damming its river with a lofty and impervious wall. Masses of rock were hurled a mile away, blocks of limestone weighing 30 to 50 tons being sent through the air like huge cannon shots. It is estimated that this slide carried with it 800,000,000 tons of rock and debris.

Plenty of Himalayan landslips quite as extensive as this have been recorded in the last half century.

Aside from the study of landslides with reference to the safety of human life, there is economic value in their investigation as bearing upon man's search for the precious metals. The geologist and the mining engineer look for gold or other metalliferous deposits in certain rock strata, and in ordinary mountain formations these strata are fairly regular; at least their positions can be determined. There may be rock faults, but these the keen geologist can trace. However, it is evident that even men who are supposed to see down a thousand feet into the earth's crust must be perplexed when the surface of a mountain slides off, and two or three strata come tumbling down to pile up on the slopes and the valleys to a depth of from ten to several hundred feet. This chaotic condition of the rocks in a landslide area is therefore the despair of the miner and most trying even to the experienced geologist.

To realize the terrific effect of recent landslides, when associated with human activities, one must turn to the accounts of such catastrophes as the great Elm landslide in Switzerland in 1881, or the Frank slide in Alberta in 1903.

The Elm Catastrophe.

The town of Elm is the highest village in the Sernf meadow. Overshadowing it rose the steep Plattenbergkopf, the outmost buttress of a greater mountain mass. About half way up this hill was a fine slate bed, which was mined in a careless manner for school slates. A crack began to form above the mine, steadily widening, and splitting the top of the hill. It grew to be over 12 feet wide, swallowing up all surface drainage. Every one seemed to have agreed that the mountain would ultimately fall, but no one thought the danger imminent. Rocks began to fall at intervals. September 11 was a rainy Sunday. Rock masses kept falling, and the mountain groaned and rumbled. People gathered at the foot of the laboring rocks to watch the falls. Many were interested, but none foresaw real danger. Yet the villagers then stood viewing an impending convulsion that not all the human engineering ability in the world could avert.

Suddenly a mass of the mountain broke away from the east side of the Plattenbergkopf, crashed down over the slate quarry and spread out upon the flat. Seventeen minutes later a second and larger rock mass crashed downward from the west side. The gashes made by the two united below the peak and left its enormous mass isolated and unsupported. Then four minutes later, as if pausing only to catch its breath for the final plunge, those who were watching the mountain from a distance beheld the whole upper portion of the Plattenbergkopf —10,000,000 cubic meters of rock— suddenly shoot from the hillside. The great mass pitched downward with tremendous velocity until it reached the quarry. Then the upper part shot forward horizontally straight across the valley and up the opposite hill slope.

Rock Torrent Through Valley.

A cloud of dust accompanied it and a great wind was flung before it. Trees were blown about like matches and houses lifted through the air like feathers and broken up as though little toys by its force alone.

The avalanche, shooting with incredible swiftness across the valley, struck the opposite hill slope obliquely, and was immediately deflected, like water, down the level and fertile valley floor, which it covered in a few seconds to the distance of nearly a mile and over its whole width with a mass of rock debris 30 feet deep.

Most of the people who had run up onto the opposite hillside were killed instantly. Only when the avalanche had struck this slope and begun to turn aside from it did the people in the lower village, far down along the level plain, have any suspicion that they were in danger. Twenty seconds later all was over, and the rock torrent had swept away half that village. The sharp edge of the avalanche cut one house in two. All within the fatal edge were destroyed; all without were saved. One or two men had a race for life and won, but most who were in the path of the destroyer were doomed.

In brief, 12,000,000 cubic yards of rock fell about 1,500 feet, shot across the valley and up the opposite hillside to a height of over 300 feet; then deflected and poured like a torrent over a horizontal plane, covering it uniformly throughout a distance of 5,000 feet and over an area of 1,000,000 square yards, to a depth of from 6 to 65 feet. Before the avalanche there lay a peaceful village and fertile green fields; within one minute a solid gray rock carpet had been spread, beneath which rested the remains of 150 human beings, their houses and their fields, while the familiar Plattenbergkopf had vanished and a great hole was in its place. Few were the wounded requiring succor, and few the dead whose bodies could be recovered.

Great Alberta Avalanche.

Only slightly less dramatic and quite similar in character to the Elm rockslide, was the one which partially swept the town of Frank, Alberta. By a hair's breadth only did the community escape complete annihilation. This slide was of much greater magnitude than the Elm disaster, although not so many people were killed.

Turtle mountain, the scene of the avalanche, is a lofty, narrow ridge situated about 14 miles east of the Continental Divide, and is surmounted by a number of rock peaks. The range is pierced, north of Turtle mountain, by a narrow gap, through which flows Old Man river. Near the gap, and where the valley is broadened by the debouchment of Gold creek, and close to the foot of the mountain, nestles the town of Frank, an important coal mining center. The mountain itself is an exceedingly precipitate series of cliffs of limestone, sandstone, and shale rising more than 3,000 feet above the river.

At dawn on April 29, 1903, a huge rock mass nearly half a mile square and from 400 to 500 feet thick in the center suddenly broke loose from the mountain and crashed with terrific violence into the valley beneath, overwhelming everything in its course. The great mass, broken into innumerable fragments by the fall, plowed through the river bed, crossed the valley and hurled itself up the opposite slopes to a height of 400 feet. Within a minute of a minute and a half over a square mile of pleasant valley was covered with a rock-flow from 3 to 150 feet deep. Most providentially the greater portion of the town lay outside the course of the slide; nevertheless, 70 people were killed.

Two and a half miles were traversed by the slide, from the top of the creek on the mountain to the foot, while the material dislodged is estimated at 40,000,000 cubic yards. This is over three times the size of the Elm slide. While it is believed that the coal mining in the valley may have hastened the slide, the primary cause was undoubtedly the structure of Turtle mountain. The huge mass was in a state of unstable equilibrium, and possessed a week base.

POINTS ON KEEPING WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

SLEEPING PORCHES

SLEEPING outdoors is a present-day fad. Some fads are foolish and temporary. Others are so sensible that they become permanent.

Sleeping in the open air is a fad which ought to become a permanent habit. It is getting back to the habits of our ancestors and getting away from one of the dangers of overcivilization. For long centuries primitive man, whatever rude shelters he built for himself during the day, slept in outdoor air.

But modern houses are practically air-tight. Close-fitting windows and doors shut out all air. Hot air, steam and hot-water heating warm our houses and office buildings instead of the open fireplaces of our ancestors. The house is made air-tight with storm doors and windows or is banked up with straw or dry leaves at the first signs of winter. Not only do the inmates live and work all day in a stove or furnace-heated atmosphere, but they often sleep all night in a close bedroom. The result is that every winter brings its regular crop of coughs, colds, influenza, bronchitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis.

There is no medicine you can buy that will prevent these diseases. The remedy is free to all. Pure outdoor air, and plenty of it all night, will revive and stimulate the tired, dried-out throat and lungs.

Here's where the sleeping porch comes in.

All right for millionaires, you say, but you can't afford any such luxuries. Not at all. Any porch corner can be turned into any open-air sleeping room. Select a corner screened from the wind and storm, as sailors would say, on the lee side of the house. Curtains made of canvas, old awnings or tarpaulins will secure privacy and keep out the rain. If you want something more elaborate, it can be glazed in with window sashes, made so that they can be opened and closed easily. An iron bed, or an army cot is all that is needed. If a door opens into this sleeping porch, so much the better. If not, a door can be cut or a window cut down. You can undress in your warm room, step into your sleeping porch and close the door, sleep all night with plenty of life-giving oxygen to breathe, and go back to your warm room in the morning.

If a sleeping porch must be on the second floor, a flat roof of a porch or a one-story addition can be used.

All nonsense, you say. All right. But try it this winter and see how much you save in lost time from sickness, medicines and doctors' bills, and how much better and stronger you feel in the morning.

DIRT EATING AMONG CHILDREN

MOST children have perpetual appetites. They are always hungry. Their young bodies need plenty of food to build them up and to make it possible for them to grow to full sized, strong, healthy men and women. Plenty of milk, good bread and butter, fruits and fresh vegetables and meat are needed.

The healthy child is satisfied with plenty of good food. It gets hungry again, of course, but it is a natural hunger which is satisfied with ordinary food.

But a few children, when they are from one to three years old develop a craving for unnatural things. Some of them eat mud, coal, cinders, gravel or mortar, wallpaper, newspaper, or paint.

Koplik of Philadelphia thinks that this starts from the natural instinct of the child to put anything it gets hold of into its mouth. We all know that the first thing a baby tries to do, with anything it gets its hands on, is to put it into its mouth. Most children outgrow this habit. But in a few, generally those who are weakly or anemic, the habit is kept up and the child eats all kinds of queer substances.

In most cases, these different kinds of dirt are comparatively harmless But the paint eaters and those children who have a morbid craving for painted objects may easily develop lead poisoning.

The child may gnaw or suck painted toys or may gnaw the paint off the window sills, white furniture, crib railings, porch railings, or even off door and window frames. In one case, reported by Dr. John C. Ruddock of Los Angeles, a boy of three years had gnawed every bit of paint off the porch railing, window sills, furniture and doors.

The lead in the paint poisons the child just as it does the painter. It becomes restless and fretful, has a poor appetite, foul breath and pains in the stomach and legs. Its gums bleed and it may have convulsions. These convulsions may become more frequent and severe and may end fatally. In Queensland, Australia, where frame houses are common, these cases of lead poisoning in dirt-eating children became so numerous that efforts were made to prohibit the use of white lead paint in houses where it was within the reach of children.

Children from one to three should be carefully watched, and any tendency to dirt-eating corrected. Paint and painted objects should be kept out of their way

Cut Your Shoe Bills with USKIDE

YOU'VE always wanted a sole that would wear like this, and now here it is.

USKIDE—the wonder sole for wear.

Wears twice as long as best leather. Comfortable, healthful, waterproof, protects against slipping.

The hardest job, the toughest footing, can't faze USKIDE. It wears and wears and wears.

Tell your repairman you want USKIDE Soles on your shoes. Insist on new shoes soled with USKIDE. Look for the name on the sole—it's there for your protection.

And—for a Better Heel to Walk On! —"U. S." Spring-Step Rubber Heels. Made of Sprayed Rubber, the purest, toughest rubber known.

United States Rubber Company

USKIDE Soles

ALLEN'S PRINCESS RANGES

COPPER IRON BEARING

FAMOUS for its perfect baking oven—tested by twenty-five years of constant service.

Write for our illustrated catalog and name of dealer near you.

ALLEN MANUFACTURING COMPANY

NASHVILLE :-: :-: :-: TENNESSEE

A Cheaper Better STOCK FEED

Grains and hays are high. Molasses adds value to cheap roughage and other feeds. Produces milk, beef or pork at less cost. Keeps stock healthy. Sold in barrels, car lots or less. Write for prices and booklet. Agents and dealers wanted.

MOBILE IMPORTING & TRADING CO.
Mobile, Alabama

MOLASSES

No Harm Expecting

"Norah, we expect to have breakfast served promptly at eight o'clock every morning."

"Yes, mum."

"You understand?"

"I understand what you expect, mum."

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Tongue Shows if Bilious, Constipated

Hurry Mother! Even a fretful, peevish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Running into debt may be a pleasure, but running into one's creditors isn't.

No one can plan a fight; he can only plan the beginning.

"CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED—10c A BOX

If Dizzy, Headachy or Stomach Is Sour, Clean the Bowels.

To clean your bowels without cramping or overacting, take "Cascarets." Sick headache, biliousness, gases, indigestion, sour upset stomach and all such distress gone by morning. Nicest laxative and cathartic on earth for grown-ups and children. 10c a box—all drug stores.

Foolish Question

Emma—"Did she marry him for love or money?" Ruth—"For love, of course; he's a newspaper artist."

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

Cuticura Loveliness A Clear Healthy Skin

Insured by Every-day Use of Cuticura Soap

Enormous Profits for Dealers handling second-hand clothing line. Also start you in this business. Exp. unnecessary. Am. Jobbing House, Dept. 70, 2036 Grand, Chicago.

"German Police" Dogs—Silver gray, imp. championship breeding, had distemper. 20-mo. female, due in season, $175. 4-mo. male, $75. STENGEL, Earl St., Rockville Conn.

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES WANTED to sell "Gesco" utility suits. Energetic men in town or country earn $10 daily up. Experience unnecessary. Commission daily. Write "Gesco," 214 Falls Bldg., Memphis, Tenn.

For Sale—Home, Six Acres Land, storehouse and fixtures, warehouse, merchandise stock. Good location, established trade. Real opportunity. Write D. E. Busby, De Soto, Miss.

BE YOUR OWN HORSE DOCTOR—Save veterinary bills. Complete course by mail. Farm Science Institute, Orangeburg, S. C.

BRASS BUCKET SPRAY PUMPS $2.60 delivered. FARM NOVELTY SUPPLY COMPANY, ORANGEBURG, S. C.

FREE PREMIUMS Chinaware, Silveroid Tableware, Lace Curtains, Footballs, Air Rifles, Pocket Knives, Watches, for a few minutes of your spare time. Won't cost you a penny. Send for FREE information. THE MERIT CO., 130 E Third, CINCINNATI, OHIO.

HEMSTITCHING AND PICOTING ATTACHMENT, $2. Embroidery attachment, $1. Both fit any machine. Needle-threader, 25c. Dozen needles, 25c. All for $2.50. Name machine. Light's Mail Order House, Birmingham, Ala.

California—People interested, or coming, can get valuable information concerning positions, business conditions, locating. Particulars for stamp. Box 742, Arcade, Los Angeles.

SALESMEN—Big profits. Dozen quick selling specialties. Write postal card now. N. W. Supply Co., 309 Rose, Bellingham, Wash.

Famous Lower Rio Grande Land 12,500 acres, undeveloped, near Brownsville, Bay Frontage, 75% agricultural and citrus fruit land. Near $300 irrigated lands. Will make a million! Price $25.00 per acre Will accept some trade. A. J. McCOLL, New York Life Bldg., KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Buy Concord Yarns direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.50 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

UNION

G. B. Wheeler went to Columbiana Saturday.

J. S. Rasco made a trip to Leeds Saturday.

Misses Carrie Allen, Edna and Nettie Ray of Yellowleaf attended the prayer and praise service here Sunday night.

J. W. Shaw returned home Saturday from Clanton, where he has been attending a session of the Methodist Protestant annual conference.

J. S. Rasco and family have moved up near Leeds. We regret very much to lose them from our community.

Mr. Pence of North Westover, has moved into our community.

T. A. Blackerby is serving as juror in the Birmingham court this week.

A. B. and C. H. Rasco of Oden are serving on the jury at Columbianaa this week.

Rev. Helms of Troy, was sent as a supply for the Shelby Circuit of the Methodist Protestant church Bro. Helms will move to the parsonage here at an early daate.

The school at this place is progressing nicely with Mrs. Lettie Wheeler, teacher.

Miss Pardue Hostess at Bridge Party

Miss Mayo Pardue was a lovely hostess on last Wednesday afternoon when she entertained at her home in Saginaw. White chrysanthemums, artistically arranged in baskets and vases, adorned the living room where tables were placed for bridge. After a series of delightful games, Mrs. K. L. Hammond was awarded first prize Miss Jeff Nickerson consolation, and Mrs. G. F. Turnipseed, a recent bride, guest of honor.

A delicious salad course was served to the following: Mesdames K. L. Hammond, Birmingham; A. L Hines, W. B. Slaughter, W. M. Steeley, Frank W. Stroud, G. F. Turnipseed, W. C. Weller, Misses Grace Harris, Jeff Nickerson, Josephine Reed, Willodean Richerson, and the hostess.

"Please send the Reporter. I have been without it since July and am anxious to begin getting it again." W. H. Ray, Sellers Ala.

FARM FOR RENT:—Farm of 220 acres with good house and barn at Pelham for rent. Address Alabama Mercantile Co., Birmingham, Ala. 2tpd.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ray, of Ashland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nell Mildred Mr. Harry Mims Roberts, of Talladega, the wedding to take place early in December.

Mrs. D. S. Lightcap returned last week from a pleasant visit to Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Lightcap in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ellis and family were dinner guests of Judge and Mrs. E. S. Lyman in Montevallo Friday night, later seeing The Covered Wagon at the Strand Theatre.

Miss Elizabeth Mays of Helena, spent the week-end with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Mays

T. R. Nash and G. G. Mullins of Helena were in Columbiana on Wednesday. Mr. Nash is the newly elected member of the Board of Revenue from the third district

Mrs. E. S. Lyman of Montevallo visited friends in Columbiana Friday.

Mrs. C. C. Polk of Sylacauga visited the family of her son, W. M. Polk last week.

H. L. Gould left Thursday for Birmingham where he will be for some time at work.

W. J. Horsley of Dadeville was shaking hands with old friends in Columbiana Monday.

A. R. Cooper was called to Clanto on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wyatt of Siluria, visited relatives in Columbiana Tuesday.

Minor Hendrick of Calera spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Christian.

FOUND—A small sum of money on the streets of Columbiana Saturday. W. E. Price.

R. B. Posey of Harpersville was a visitor to Columbiana Tuesday.

H. M. Russell of Birmingham. was among those in town Monday.

J. L. Henson, R 1, Helena, called while in town Monday to enter his subscription to the Reporter.

W. G. Harris of Underwood called at the Reporter office Saturday He gave us the subscription of Mrs. A. O. Kellum.

E. B. Coker, R 1, City, called Wednesday to renew his subscription.

SHELBY

Postell Lyons motored to Birmingham Thursday.

Misses Myrtle Seale and Clarice Curlee have gone to Montgomery to attend the State Fair, as delegates from the Shelby County High School.

Mrs. Willie Carter and daughter Elma Tyler spent Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham.

O. K. Curlee spent last Sunday in Birmingham.

Miss Nalda Cooper, who is working in Birmingham, spent a few days with her parents.

The Methodist Missionary Society held a series of prayer services last week.

An oyster supper will be given at the hotel Friday evening by the Missionary Society. Everybody invited.

Miss Lillian Pugh of Birmingham, is spending the week-end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Pugh.

The Shelby Public School is progressing nicely. An interesting program is rendered each morning by pupils of one of the rooms. This has prevented many tardinesses as the pupils are interested in each morning's exercises.

MT. ERA

Miss Lois Crumpton who teaches at Union Point spent the week end here with her mother, Mrs. S. S. Crumpton.

Miss Grace Meeks attended the Extension class at Columbiana on last Saturday.

J. M. Lee went to Calera Saturday on business.

Sam Horton and family are moving away this week.

Mrs. Essie Cox of Parrish and Miss Madge Tee Hand of Bay Springs spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hand

Elder A. R. Crumpton spent one day last week with his mother, Mrs. S. S. Crumpton.

Remember the box supper and program next Saturday night, November 15th, and also the society meeting for Saturday night, November 22. A good program has been arranged.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

Mrs. John F. Averyt and children take this method of thanking their friends for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of their loved one.

For first class optical service see DR. J. H. MERRELL, Optometrist East Side Court Square, 2t Talladega, Ala.

In renewing his subscription, D. A. Wingard of Clanton, writes: "I think the Reporter is well worth the money."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends who came to aid us in the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one. Mrs. C. L. McDaniel and children.

CARD OF THANKS

May God's richest blessings be upon every one in and around Wilsonville and Straven who so lovingly assisted us in the burial of our son and brother, Thera Strain.
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Strain and family, Midway, Texas.

I will be in Columbiana Saturday afternoon, November 15th, to buy hides and chickens. Will pay 18 cents for hens. J. J. Crane, Wilsonville, Ala.

Music Director Attends Supervisor's Meeting

Montevallo, Ala., Nov. 8.—The Southern Music Supervisor's Association will hold its second annual meeting November 17-21 at Winston-Salem, N. C. Every Southern state will be represented by delegates. Miss May Andrus, director of public school music at Alabama College, will preside over the meeting on Thursday, November 20, and will lead in the round table discussion of high school problems.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perry of Kingdom had a visit last week from their mother, Mrs. J. L. Perry of Randolph who is 81 years old. Notwithstanding her advanced age Mrs. Perry made the trip from her home in a car without inconvenience.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

TINNEY'S NEW ROCK FILLING STATION AND GARAGE

Is now open and ready for business. We carry Standard Gas and Oil; and also That Good Gulf Gasoline and Oil. We do all kinds of repair work and guarantee our service.

We will give a ticket with every 25 ct. purchase. When you have traded $10.00 we will draw your old oil and give you a gallon of oil FREE.

Call Us Either Day or Night.

G. R. Tinney

COLUMBIANA :: :: :: : :: :: :: :: : ALABAMA

STRAIGHT SALARY: $35.00 week and expenses. Man or wo with rig to sell Egg Producer reka Mfg. Co., East St. Louis

Gin Notice

Beginning next Monday, No ber 10, my gin at Columb will run only the first three of each week, Monday, Tue and Wednesday.

tf W. H. Shrad

J. W. LANGLEY Will Be At

Vincent, Friday, Nov.
Wilsonville, Thurs. Nov
Columbiana, Fri.. Nov.

Bad Coughs Ended Quickly by Double Action Reme

Remarkable results in qui clearing up the severest co have been obtained with a pres tion by a well-known specialist does two things at once. It not soothes and heals the soreness irritation, but it very quickly ens and removes the phlegm congestion which are the real c of the coughing. It is often as ishing how speedily the cough s

The prescription is known as King's New Discovery for Coughs. particularly valuable for night coug To promptly end this annoying weakening scourge, simply before re take one teaspoonful of Dr. King's Discovery and hold it in your thro or 20 seconds before swallowing. ple who have been unable to rest o count of continual coughing have gotten their full 8 or 9 hours' slee this simple method.

Dr. King's is excellent, too, for dren's spasmodic croup, bronchitis, l gitis, bronchial asthma and hoarse On sale at all good druggists. A

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

Beauty Specialties

You will find it a pleasure to purchase your toilet preparations at our store.

Our stock is so varied and complete that it will meet the requirements of the most exacting and fastidious taste.

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

SPECIALS FOR SATURDAY

On account of the death of the senior member of our firm we were closed Saturday afternoon, and as a number of our customers were unable to take advantage of this sale we are contin uing these bargains for

NOVEMBER 15TH

Shorts, white sack	$2.20
Cheese, pound	25c
Gloriole Flour, sack	$1.05
Van Camp Pork and Beans, 15c size	10c
Pure Lard, pound	22c
Maxwell House Coffee, pound can	45c
Salt, 100 pound sack	$1.10
Vicks Salve, 35c size	25c
Aluminum Percolator	78c
Common Nails, any size, pound	5c

Cut out this ad, bring it to our store Saturday and get any 25c Black & White toilet article 10c

John F. Averyt & Sons

CALERA, ALABAMA

Old aches

Comforted at last

No matter how obstinate, long-standing and acute, Sloan's gives quick positive relief. Pat it on gently. At once you feel a glowing warmth as freshly purified blood is sent tingling through the infected spot. Then—in no time—release from pain. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

Plenty of Time for Guests

No woman wants to work in the kitche all the time.

Cole's Sanitary Down Draft Range

with its perfect fire holding, cooking an baking results means that the housewi can trust this range to do her wo properly. Not necessary to watch th stove every minute of the time.

Holds Fire Over Night

COLE'S HOT BLAST FUEL SAVING SYSTEM

of Combustion means a one-third to one-half saving of the fuel bill; means positive coo ing and baking results not found in other makes of ranges, and means plenty of ti to spend with your guests. Don't be a drudge to an inferior range. Come in to see at once and let us tell you all about this wonderful fuel, food and labor saver.

F. W. Rogan, Montevallo, Al
Holcombe MercantileCo., Cale

Circuit Clerk

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, NOVEMBER 20, 1924. Vol 81. No. 44.

MONTEVALLO SEES DEMONSTRATION ON ARMISTICE DAY

Montevallo, Alabama, Nov 15.—The largest patriotic demonstration in Shelby county since war days, perhaps, was staged on the campus of Alabama College, November 11, at 11 o'clock. The Armistice Day celebration attracted not only the entire population but also citizens from Centreville, Columbiana, Marvel and Calera. In addition to these, the following schools were brought in body for the celebration: Spring Creek, Dog Wood, Wilton, and Montevallo. The arrangements were made by the Hendrick-Hudson Post of the American Legion and the Josiah Gorgas Chapter of U. D. C. The presidents of these bodies are Major Cage Head and Mrs. T. W. Palmer. It is estimated that 1500 or 2000 people took part in the exercises, which consisted of a parade of the various organizations of town, the schools from out of town and the elementary high school and college of Montvallo. The following program was rendered:

March ---------- College Orchestra
Dr. Cage Head, Post Commander, Presiding.
Song ---------- America
One minute's silence in honor of absent heroes.
Taps,— W. M. Parker, College Orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. P. H. Carmichael
Welcome ------ Mayor R. A. Reid
Reading ------ Miss Lucyle Hook
Violin Solo --- Miss Mildred Vause
Address ---------- J. F. Thompson
Announcements, Post Commander
Star Spangled Banner—Flag Raising Ceremony.

Mt. Era Ladies Organize For School Improvement

The ladies of Mt. Era community have recently organized a community club and through this organization they are at work raising funds to complete their school building and provide equipment for it. The officers of the club are: Mrs. W. F. Atchison , president; Mrs. M. L. Garrett, vice-president; Miss Iris Davis, secretary-treasurer.

At the box supper given by the club Saturday night, $46 was raised.

Thanksgiving Dinner

The ladies of the Vincent Methodist church, will serve their annual Thanksgiving Dinner on Thanksgiving Day in the Odd Fellows Building in Vincent. They give a cordial invitation to all their friends to come to the dinner

Miss Era Pitts is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. E. McClanahan in Anniston.

Fine School Interest Being Shown at Maylene

Our school is making good progress this year. We have two good teachers and the people are taking a great interest in the school. The enrollment is 65.

At the box supper given on November 8th, the boxes brought $60. Cleve Smith was the auctioneer and he made a good one. This money will be used to get shades, curtains, and decorations for the school.

Miss Fannie Smith of Randolph is spending the winter with her uncle here and attending school

Miss Virgie Lacey has been ill but she is able to be up now.

Mack Smith made a business trip to Selma Saturday.

J. D. Perrin was badly hurt last Friday in Straven.

W. M. U. President Will Speak at Old Kingdom

Mrs. John Inglett, president of the Woman's Missionary Union, will speak at Old Kingdom church on the first Sunday in December at 2 o'clock p. m. Everybody is invited to come and hear her.

B. B. Gay, Pastor

Honor Roll of Columbiana Public School

HONOR ROLL—2ND MONTH

First Grade—Roy Coshatt, Grace Stuckey, Clyde Crow, Sarah Nell Carter, Conrad Fowler, Myra Stinson, Second Grade—Jeanette Niven, Fay Falkner, Ellen Ruth Isbell, Wilma Holcombe, Myra Acker, Kathleen Mooney, Billie Haynes Compton, Florence McGiboney, Louise Smith.

Third Grade—Virginia Roberson Beulah Davis, Margaret Howard, Edna Howard, Alvin Barnett, Wm. Mays, Jay Falkner, Charlie Vern Tinney, Ruth Luck.

Fourth Grade—Mamie Middleton David MacKnight, James Taylor, Avis Acker.

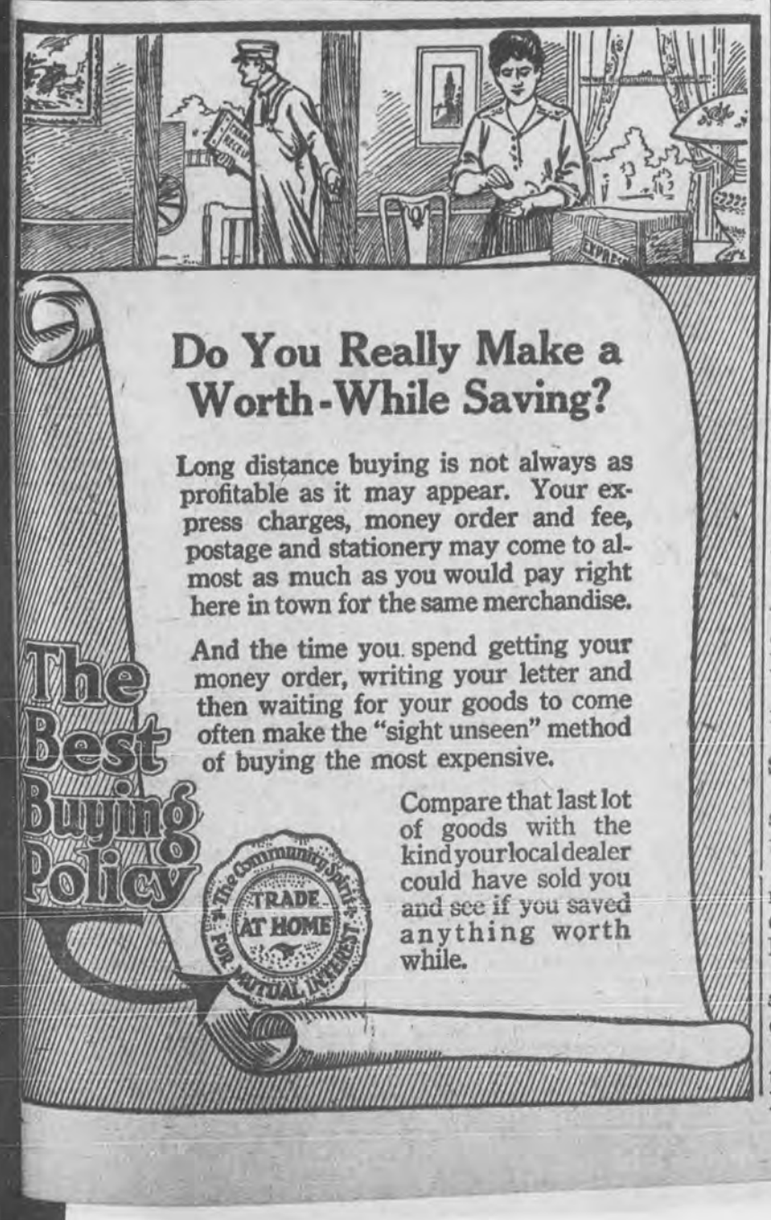
Fifth Grade—Edwin Rush, R.F. Cox, Fred Barnett, Frederick Koenig, Katie Lou Chapman, Helen Ruth Green, Bertha Ellis.

Sixth Grade—Elizabeth Carter, Mildred Dean, Willie Gould, Sunset Polk, Mary Nell Wood, Francis Leonard, Roy Mooney, Hurst Middleton.

First Year Junior High:—Odel Barnett, Inez Coshatt, Bernice Davis, Perrine Minor, Lorene Seale, Helen Chapman, Bertie Horton, Odell Turner, Eleanor Stuckey, J. V. Cooper, Donald Falkner, McCoy Mays, Blenna Walton,.

J. B. King, Prin.

Mrs. J. B, Pitts returned Friday from Anniston where she had been called to the bedside of her little grandson whom she reports much improved.



ALABAMA COLLEGE EQUIPMENT FUND GROWING RAPIDLY

Montevallo, Alabama, Nov 15.—Reports from all sections of the state for the week ending November 8, indicate an increased interest in the Montevallo Equipment Fund Campaign, according to Director O. C. Carmichael.

The total secured during the week from seven counties in the state amounted to $15,617. This brings the amount secured to date above $340,000.

Many of the counties in the state have not yet been touched and it is the plan of the campaign committee to continue the campaign until each county shall have had the opportunity to do its part in the campaign for Alabama College.

Vincent Shows Good Form In Opening Game

Vincent, Alabama, Nov 17.—The basket ball season was opened Friday with two games with the teams from London school house, in St. Claair county, both of which were won by Vincent. The second teams met first, the Vincent boys taking the game 15 to 11. The contest between the first teams was quite spirited, the local boys showing excellent form. The boys from London put up a good fight but went down with only 6 points to heir credit. Vincent's score was 21.

The line-up for Vincent was: Tucker and Milam, forwards: Flory, center: Brown and Wheeler, guards. Four of these players were on the team of last year that won the championship of Shelby county.

Tag Sales Ahead

About 1400 automobile tags have been sold to date by Probate Judge L. B. Riddle; a good many more than were delivered to the same time last year.

About 600 car owners have not yet bought tags.

B. Y. P. U. Program

SUNDAY NOVEMBER 23, 1934
Subject—The Democratic Principles in Religion.
Leader ---------- Vernie Falkner
Practicing Democratic Principles, Adavee Johns.
The Practice of the Apostles, Vernon Isbell.
Piano Solo ---- Ollie Mae Goodwin
Principles Reflected in Proper Spirit, Whitson Finley.

Rev. R. W. Stuckey attended the Baptist State Convention in Anniston last week,

BETHEL

Mr. and Mrs. Mack McCary and their mother of Lineville, spent part of last week here with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Thompson.

J. D. Smith and his sister, Miss Emma, of Maylene, spent Monday night with their mother, Mrs. D. M. Smith.

Miss Ellie DeLoach spent the week end in Childersburg with home folks.

Mrs. P. F. Steele was called to the bedside of her brother, Ped Hamilton, in Sylacauga Thursday. Mr. Hamilton died on Friday.

Will Pitts and Wm. Bazemore, left Sunday for Birmingham where they will work.

Postell Lyon of Shelby was a visitor to our community Sunday.

Tom Hughes of Brierfield visited his brother, Reaves Hughes, on Wednesday.

J. C. Seale spent a few days last week in Birmingham, visiting his daughter, Mrs. F. R. Lane and Mr. Lane.

Blenard Pitts spent Sunday with relatives near Columbiana.

Rev. C. M. Nolen of Union spent Saturday here with friends.

James Finley of Birmingham, spent the week end with home folks.

Preaching here next Saturday night, Sunday morning and Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. W. R. Weaver.

The B. Y. P. U. has arranged an interesting program for Sunday evening at six o'clock.

There will we a measuring party Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lyon-

PLANS FOR CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

(By John F. Allen.

The citizens of School Districts 39, 37, 36 have had several conferences and some committee and individual work has been done in regard to consolidating the three districts and also a strip in Chilton county just over the line, consisting altogether of about 298 children in school age.

Mr. F. H. Hardy, of Newala, kindly offers to give five acres of land for a site just across the highway from his lime plant. Petitions have been sent to the Board of Revenue asking for an election for a 3-mill district tax in the above districts; also a central committee has been appointed with Mr. W. W. Clark, Calera, R 1, as chairman, and Mr. F. H. Hardy, of Newala, as secretary.

If I were to write all the goodthings in favor of consolidation. Brother Fowler would have to give up all his space for this one article; so I will just hit the high places. I will first notice it as a matter of economy.

Considering our District 39 as an example: It starts at Montevallo and runs to Calera. We have 106 white children enrolled with two schools, one two-teacher school and one one-teacher school. Our district is so badly scattered that both schools have only 47 enrolled. However, on account of the number of grades we are obliged to employ three teachers at a salary of $85, $75, and $65, or $220 per month, at a cost of nearly $5 per pupil per month; whereas if these pupils were in one or two grades one teacher could teach all of the 47.

Then again the large room in our school house would comfortably house the 47 pupils leaving the other rooms for other classes; then in equipment of school rooms and play grounds would be much cheaper.

But let us see as to the efficiency, for that is the real issue. One man remarked, if we had a good consolidated high school it would keep our boys on the farm. I hope so, but if they do go, let's equip them so they will be able to taketheir places as business men and captains of industry and not have to get down in a ditch by the side of a negro and dig for a living. As the rural one and two teacher schools are running we only get from 5 to 6 months term. No man or woman of ability who is properly equipped for teaching will accept a position where they can only work 5 months in a year. All schools are graded and no child can finish a grade in 5 months, and too often at next term they are started at the first of the grade they failed to finish. So let's see longer terms, better teachers, better buildings, equipment and play grounds, so the children can finish a grade a year. You can have your children at home through high school where you can look after their health and morals, You can save their board for their work mornings and evenings and Saturdays will pay their keep; then again a school transfer would cause the children to love to go to school and save them from trudging through the cold and rain and mud, thereby preventing sickness causing regular attendance and noteacher can do good work without it.

A little school, a little community; but a big consolidated school means a consolidated community, and Farm Bureau and clubs and societies, in fact, co-operation is the only hope of success for the farmer. Then again in this good land of ours, in this good year of our Lord 1924, a school without athletics is a dead school, With a consolidated school foot ball, base ball, and basket ball teams for the boys and girls we would have the pep and go to make the Agnes Hardy Consolidated School the greatest in the Yellow Hammer state,

Card From M. B. H. Jones

To the Voters of District Number One, Board of Revenue, Shelby County, Alabama:

This notice is to indicate to you my thanks for the hearty support given me in the recent election; for the winning was fraught against many odds, and this at the hands of my friends in both my own party and that of the opposition.

Suffice it to say that I mean to redeem every pledge of mine; and that to the doing of my utmost in giving a "square deal" to every section in my district, and for the best interests of the entire county, when and where I am concerned.

This is my home and our home. Let us make the most of it! Advise with your member; get acquainted with him. Our interests are the same. M. H. B. Jones
Columbiana, Ala.

All Day Singing

There will be an all day Christian Harmony Singing at the court house in Columbiana on the fifth Sunday in November. All singers are invited to attend. On the fourth Sunday there will be an all day singing in the same book at the court house in Talladega.

D. B. Ingram, Chairman.

Mrs. J, S. Falkner of Ensley spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pitts.

Fred Nash, Jim Hooton and Jno Echols of Helena, were in Columbiana Friday buying auto licenses.

FOR SALE OR RENT

I have two farms for sale or will rent for either standing rent or part of crop. One mule for sale cheap. W. M. Polk, Columbiana, Ala.

Auction Sale

On Monday, November 24th, I will sell to the highest bidder for cash the following: Two mules, one two-horse wagon, one buggy, farm tools, corn, hay, and household furniture. J. T. Mathis, 1¼ miles west of Wilsonville, Ala.

KINGDOM

Rev. J .D. Oaks filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Lessie Riley spent last week end with her sister, Mrs. Walter Bennett at East Lake.

Misses Agnes Wingard and Odell Templin visited friends in Shelby Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Perry motored to Bibb county Sunday.

Britt Ingram went over to Birmingham Saturday, returning Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Finley and children of Shelby were the visitors of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Wingard Sunday.

Miss Velma Hughes spent part of last week with her sister Mrs. Leo Templin. Mr. and Mrs. Templin have moved on George Busby's place near Shelby.

Misses Lessie, Lena Mae and Agnes Vardaman, attended our B. Y. P. U. and preaching service Sunday night.

Let's not forget our friend Sunday morning, and let him miss Sunday school.

Ehney Camp who is attending the University of Alabama came over to spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Koenig are planning to leave the last of this week for their new home in Birmingham.

Preston Acker, a student at Howard College, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Acker.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I will make application to the governor of Alabama and the pardoning board of Alabama for pardon or parole. I was convicted at the July Term 1923, of the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Alabama, for Distilling and sentenced to the penitentiary from 2 to 4 years

Jasper Carden.

OFFICERS TAKE SIX STILLS IN TWO DAYS

Sheriff Falkner and his deputies assisted by state and federal officers conducted two raids into Beat 2 on Saturday and Sunday in which they rounded up six stills which they destroyed along with a large quantity of the supplies used in operating the stills.

On Saturday they caaptured 4 stills of a total capacity of 900 gallons, destroyed over 5000 gallons of beer, 87 fermenters, over 1000 feet of lumber, 4 rolls of roofing and 5 gallons of liquor.

On the following day, Sunday, they captured two more stills of a total of 600 gallons capacity, destroyed over 7000 gallons of beer, 123 fermenters, a quantity of liquor, 2000 feet of lumber and 14 rolls of roofing, besides other supplies. One of these outfits located at the mouth of Reid's Creek was one of the largest and most complete the officers have yet taken. Two negroes, who were at work at one of the stills were placed under arrest.

On Friday of last week the officers captured a 5-passenger Chevrolet car on the Cahaba river bridge carrying 50 gallons of liquor. Two men, A. S. and B. L. Tucker were arrested.

Officers having part in these activities were: Sheriff Falkner, Deputies Falkner, Coshatt and Crumpton State Officers Gardner and Dowis and Federal Agent J. W. Adkins.

Harpersville Downs Creswell In Opening Game

Harpersville, Alabama, Nov 17—The basket ball teams representing Harpersville and Creswell schools met in the first game of the season on the Harpersville court on Wednesday of last week. Harpersville won the game by a score of 18 to 5.

The line-up was as follows: Stone and Davis, forwards; Wyatt, center Akinson, and Garrett, guards. Creswell: M. Waites and Edwards, forwards; Brown, Center; D. Brown and T. S. Waites, guards.

Basket Ball Season Opens At Montevallo

Montevallo, Alabama, Nov 15.—The basket ball season opened with a rush on Saturday afternoon at Alabama College with two fast snappy class games. At the close of the morning assembly exercises a pep meeting was called, the four captains of the team were introduced and enthusiastic cheers given them. On the toss-up the first game fell to the lot of the Juniors and Freshmen and the second to the Seniors and Sophomores. In the first game the score stood Freshmen 14, Juniors 6. In the second game Sophomores 59, Seniors 3.

FOURMILE

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stone of Birmingham, spent the week end here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stone.

Mrs. Theron Moore of Brighton spent a few days of last week here with relatives.

Donnie Foreman of Birmingham spent Saturday night with Robert McKinnon.

A large crowd enjoyed the sermon over the radio at the school house Sunday night.

The entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. Lyons Saturday night was greatly enjoyed by all who were present.

Mrs. Chester Stone returned home last Tuesday from Sylacauga where she has been in the hospital for some time.

Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Nall of South Alabama, spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Nall.

Mrs. Eunice Stone nad Miss Bernice Stone spent Friday with their grand mother in Prospect community.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Let's all come to hear our new pastor. Services at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. R. W. Langham, president of Newton Institute, preached to a large congregation at the Baptist church in Columbiana Sunday morning from the subject: Christian Education.

ANTI-ACCIDENT MEETINGS HELD

ITINERARY OF EXPERIENCED WORKERS WHO WILL ENLIST AID OF MINERS TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS

Birmingham.—Safety meetings from November 20 to December 22 were announced last week by the James A. Holmes Safety Council, with central offices in Birmingham. The meetings are to be held at the various mines and will be directed by experienced workers in an effort to enlist the aid and interest of miners in preventing accidents.

Milton H. Fies, chairman of the Birmingham Council, in a letter to the various units, pointed out that explosions and "big" accidents are not the only ones that should be guarded against, but says that 16 per cent of the accidents are caused in the haulage, which should receive the closest attention of the various mine workers.

The schedule of meetings follows:

Sayre (colored), November 20, Maurice Walsh, manager American Mine Owners Mutual; Holly Grove, November 21, H. L. Stewart, inspector Southern Rating Bureau; Acton (colored), November 21, S. J. Dillard, principal Margaret Colored School; Beltona, November 22, J. M. Cobb, safety inspector DeBardeleben Coal Corporation; Empire, November 26, H. S. Salmon, consulting engineer, Birmingham; Carbon Hill, November 26, John Thomas, general superintendent, Western Division DeBardeleben Coal Corporation; Acmar (colored), November 27, mine inspector, American Mine Owners' Mutual; Margaret (colored), November 28, C. E. Saxon, United States Bureau of Mines; Altoona, December 2, J. J. Forbes, United States Bureau of Mines; Gorgas, December 3, Dan McDonald, mine superintendent, Parrish Mine, Railway Fuel Company, New Castle, December 3, William Goodwin, associate mine inspector of State of Alabama; Shannon, December 4, John Gray, mine superintendent, Majestic Coal Company; Parrish, December 4, F. R. Bell, general superintendent of mines, Alabama Fuel and Iron Company; Acton, December 5, Oscar Simpson, mine foreman, Empire, DeBardeleben Coal Corporation; Overton (colored), December 8, W. H. Garrett, principal Acmar Colored School; Majestic, December 11, J. J. Forbes, United States Bureau of Mines; Acmar, December 11, William Neill, associate mine inspector State of Alabama; Margaret, December 12, W. P. Smith, associate mine inspector State of Alabama; Overton, December 22, Maurice Walsh, manager, American Mine Owners' Mutual.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Under the terms of an order made by Judge William M. Walker, in the Chancery Division of the Jefferson County Circuit Court, A. B. Aldridge, receiver of the Ensley Southern Railroad Company, is authorized and directed to pay to the Mississippi (Mississippi-Warrior barge line) $16,404.08. This is the amount due the Mississippi Service, according to a statement filed by Mr. Aldridge, on joint business handled by the railroad and the barge line during his receivership. A claim of the railroad company against the barge line for several thousand dollars alleged to be due for business jointly handled prior to the receivership, is not affected by the order.

The Florence Exchange Club has agreed to handle the campaign for financing the Associated Charities of that city during the coming year. This action was taken by the club at its weekly meeting. The campaign will be started during the month of December. Each year the Associated Charities have experienced considerable difficulty in raising the necessary money for conducting the work of the organization, and the Exchange proposed to relieve those in charge of the charitable body of this part of their troubles and let them concentrate on handling the cases that need attention.

Grover Tucker, poet, inventor and ex-preacher, was found guilty in Tuscaloosa Circuit Court, second hearing, on the charge of statutory offense and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He gave notice of appeal and was freed on a $1,500 bail. The case was first brought to court last February, when the first verdict of guilty was returned and Tucker appealed. The case attracted considerable attention at the time.

Announcement is expected daily of the impending visit to Birmingham of Secretary Weeks of the War Department on an inspection trip over the Warrior barge line and other inland waterways. The trip was announced by General Ashburn, general manager of the Inland Waterways Corporation, as being scheduled to start soon after the election. It was reported that the route was being worked out and formal announcement would be made in a few days.

Tuscaloosa subscribed $2,100 the first day of the campaign for the Alabama Woman's College at Montevallo. The quota for that city is $20,000.

E. L. Thomas, 61, and his son, Edward, 25, were seriously injured at the depot's grade crossing in Oneonta when their truck was struck by a fast Louisville & Nashville through freight train.

Birmingham staged a "Confederate Navy Tag Day," income to be expended in research work.

A remarkable record of convictions secured for law violations was found in the report of Chief Walter K. McAdory, of the State Law Enforcement Department, for the month of October. Of cases made by state officers which were tried during the month, a majority of which were prohibition cases, convictions were secured in 337 instances, while only six defendants were acquitted. Twenty-four cases were nol prossed, and two abated by death. Thirty-seven penitentiary sentences ranging from a year and a day to 20 years were imposed from the above cases, and cash fines assessed during the month reached the record figure of $23,452.19. Expenses of the department for the month were only $9,646.53. The figures, as to the number of arrests, convictions and fines assessed for the month were the highest in the history of the department.

A company of Illinois Congressmen is expected to reach Florence this week for a visit to Muscle Shoals for the purpose of gathering data and making recommendations to Congress in December as to the disposition of the Shoals project. The Albany Decatur Chamber of Commerce has wired members of the party to pay visits to the Twin Cities on their way to and from the Shoals. The party comes under the auspices of the Illinois manufacturers.

The time for the beginning of the service of their terms in the Atlanta Federal Prison by eight residents of Mobile, who were convicted last May on charges of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law was again postponed from December 1 to January 3 by Judge Robert T. Ervin, of the Federal Court. The men were originally sentenced to start their terms on November 1. About a month ago the date was changed to December 1.

The construction volume in Birmingham for the first 10 months of 1924 is 67 per cent greater than the entire year of 1923, according to figures given out by the F. W. Dodge Construction Corporation. In the announcement it is pointed out that in Birmingham the construction increase for the 10 months has been 91 per cent greater than the same period of 1923, amounting to $24,607,200.

Methodists of Alabama will raise $200,000 for hospital purposes. This plan was consummated by adoption by the Alabama Methodist Conference in session at Ozark, of a report and recommendation by the hospital board. The Alabama Conference agreed to raise $125,000 of the total sum, the North Alabama Conference having already taken action in regard to its part.

Coosa County Club boys won first honors at the State Fair at Montgomery for production of cotton. Seventy-six club boys of the county produced 76 bales of cotton on 76 acres of land, the best record in the State this year. Phil'p Smith, Rockford high school boy, was given a trip to Chicago to the International Livestock Show. Only two boys were selected from Alabama.

Twenty-five hundred dollars worth of material has been placed by the Twin Cities Wholesale Grain Company to be used in the construction of the new $10,000 concrete building on Sixth Avenue, near the Louisville & Nashville freight tracks. The new structure will have a basement floor and one above the ground.

John Harkins, 17, and Cecil Alexander, 21, were indicted for highway robbery by the recent Ettowa County grand jury and will be tried for their lives at an early date. It is alleged they held up and robbed Charles Kimball, negro, in Gadsden last month, relieving him of $1 in money after a terrific struggle.

A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, was elected first vice-president of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners at the recent meeting of the association held at Phoenix, Arizona. Mr. Patterson held the post of second vice-president last year.

The case of Police Sergeant C. M. Riggins, who was arrested in Birmingham by Chief Fred H. McDuff on a liquor charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 and $10 costs in Recorder's Court by Judge Henry Martin, threatens to become a test case, as Riggins has appealed to the higher courts.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

At this season foods and more elaborate dishes may be attempted.

SUNDAY — Breakfast: Grapefruit, cream of wheat with dates, doughnuts, coffee. Dinner: Roast turkey stuffed with chestnuts, cranberry jelly. Supper: Milk toast, layer cake, tea.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Grapes, griddle cakes, maple syrup. Dinner: meat en casserole, with vegetables, cornstarch pudding. Supper: Stuffed eggs, toast, lettuce salad.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Slice of pineapple, poached egg on toast. Dinner: Hot potato salad with frankforts, onion salad. Supper: Turkey soup, potato rolls, canned fruit, tea.

WEDNESDAY — Breakfast: Puffy omelet, bacon, rolls. Dinner: Children's plum pudding. Supper: Creamed lima beans, lettuce salad.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Baked apples, French toast. Dinner: Spareribs with sauer kraut, apple pie. Supper: Cream of potato soup, bread sticks.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Prunes with oatmeal, waffles. Dinner: Fish chowder, dill pickles, steamed pudding. Supper: Fried oysters, cabbage salad.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Fruit, bran with cream, bacon, oatmeal, cookies. Dinner: Shepherd's pie, minced lamb with mashed potatoes, pumpkin pie. Supper: Baked hash, cress salad.

Meat en Casserole.

Brown serving-sized pieces of mutton in a little fat, dredge with seasoned flour and cover with boiling water. Cook for a few minutes in the frying pan, then put into the hot casserole, adding diced carrot, one cupful to a pound of meat, the same amount of potato and if liked a bit of finely minced onion. Cover and cook in a moderate oven for two or three hours.

Children's Plum Pudding.

Melt one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of molasses, one cupful of milk, two eggs, three cupfuls of entire wheat flour, one teaspoonful each of soda and salt. Add two cupfuls of seedless raisins. Turn into a buttered mold and steam three hours. Serve with a hard sauce.

A creature not too bright or good
For human nature's daily food;
For transient sorrows, simple wiles,
Praise, blame, love, kisses, tears and smiles.

—Wordsworth.

SOME CHOICE RECIPES

Here is something good for those who love the juicy tomato:

Creole Tomatoes. — Wipe six medium sized tomatoes, remove a slice from the top of each, scoop out some of the pulp and sprinkle the inside with salt. Invert to drain and stand one hour. Melt one teaspoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour mixed with one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of pepper; when well blended pour on gradually, stirring constantly, one-half cupful of cream. Bring to the boiling point, add one cupful of crab meat, one-half tablespoonful each of minced green and red pepper. Fill the tomatoes, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until the tomatoes are soft.

Tomatoes in Brine.—This is an old recipe which has been published before. Peel firm, ripe, smooth tomatoes uniform in size; add a cupful of salt to a gallon of water and when boiling hot drop in a few of the tomatoes at a time. Let them scald until well-cooked through but not broken, then pack carefully in jars while hot. The juice of the tomato will be sufficient to cover them. See that they are put into sterile jars and well sealed. Tomatoes will often spoil because the hard green center which is often not well cooked, is not removed.

Mary Todd Lincoln Cake.—Cream one cupful of butter with two cupfuls of sugar. Sift four cupfuls of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of soda; beat six eggs, separating the yolks and whites. Add the yolks, well beaten, to the butter and sugar, then add gradually one cupful of orange juice and the flour, reserving a little to dredge over the fruit and nuts. Beat well and add three-fourths pounds of pecan meats cut into pieces, not chopped; one pound of seeded raisins cut into pieces with scissors, and one-half of a grated nutmeg. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a well-greased floured pan and bake in a moderate oven three to four hours.

Chestnut Sauce.—Fry one-half an onion, six slices of carrot cut into small pieces, in two tablespoonfuls of butter, five minutes; add three tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until well browned, then add one and one-half cupfuls of brown stock, a sprig of parsley, a bit of a bay leaf, eight peppercorns and one teaspoonful of salt. Let simmer twenty minutes, strain, then add three tablespoonfuls of currant jelly, one cupful of boiled French chestnuts and one tablespoonful of butter.

Nellie Maxwell

TAILORED AND COAT FROCKS; CROWNS REACH NEW HEIGHTS

SO FAR as the modes are concerned the business girl of today finds herself in a satisfying position. It happens that the sort of frocks which are appropriate for her everyday use are just the type that is most fashionable for daytime wear.

This simplicity would become monotonous if it were not for two things—the great variety of fabrics and the ingenuity of designers who vary the straight-line models by an infinity of small details in construction and trimmings. Fabrics include silks as well as cotton goods, fibre silks also, all in many different patterns. The family of flannels boasts many beautiful cross-bar, plaid and striped patterns, fibre silks include the knitted weaves, and silks many crepe materials and crepe satin. Twills, kasha cloth and other woolens play their usual important roles in the tailored mode.

Striped, plaid and cross-bar patterns are made up in the simplest manner on the lines of the frock pictured. The gilet and front panels of silk, in contrasting color, enliven the plain materials, or a little vivid embroidery in bandings, or pipings and facings in strong color contrasts to the dark materials used in the dresses. The illustration is a typical frock of dark blue twill with crepe de chine vestee and collar in tan or shrimp or white. Belts are nearly always made of the dress material. In day dresses made of crepe-satin the two surfaces of the material are used in interesting combinations. Tunics and plaitings, scarf collars or high necks and above all buttons, help out in giving the individual touches that are sought for on tailored frocks.

The fascinating story of winter millinery has reached its climax in brilliant headwear, designed for wear during the strenuous hours of the social season. It is a story of luxurious fabrics and trimmings. Velvet, hatters' plush, metallic cloths and laces, felts and satins, supplemented by malines and chiffons, make the foundations for the adornments approved for the different types of hats. These adornments in tailored millinery are simple—but often intricately made—of feathers, ribbon, metal or composition.

Paris caps the climax of winter millinery with very high crowns—going to extremes that may or may not be followed in America. Certain of the great designers appear to have become a little reckless and they have presented hats of ombre felts having high, conical crowns topped by a big silk pompon. If such great names were not behind them they might be called grotesque and they will be much modified before other than Parisiennes will adopt them. No representation is given these eccentric hats in the group of beautiful models pictured. It includes two smart tailored hats at the top—one of felt with a band of plaited ribbon about the crown and a pretty feather fancy at the front. The felt hat is an all-the-year-round item in millinery which is good style at any season and the shape pictured is above reproach. A tall-crowned hat with graceful brim displays one of the new metallic ornaments as its outstanding style note. The hat may be in velvet, satin, visca or faille and is adaptable to any daytime wear. The lovely wide-brimmed model at the left is of gold lace with rich brown fur as a trimming and is suitable for afternoon or dinner wear. It is rivaled for these uses by the soft velvet hat next it in fuchsia velvet with huge ostrich fancy in orchid and fuchsia tones for trimming.

Frock of Dark Blue Twill.

Group of Paris Hats.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Monument to Shame of Benedict Arnold

In Connecticut history the name of Fort Griswold stands as a monument to the infamy of Benedict Arnold. Late in the Revolution, after Washington had made his dash south to capture Cornwallis, Sir Henry Clinton attempted a counter move by sending a force to ravage Connecticut and attack New London, the home port of the American privateers, who had been harassing the British shipping. The command of this expedition was given to Benedict Arnold, as though the measure of his infamy could best be completed by his carrying the sword and torch into his native state.

New London was defended by two forts on the Thames river, Fort Trumbull on the west side and Fort Griswold on Groton hill on the east. Arnold had an army of about 1,200 men, composed of a few British soldiers, but mostly Tories and Hessians. Sending Colonel Eyre with a part of this force to take Fort Griswold, Arnold led the remainder against Fort Trumbull on September 6, 1781. The militia, 157 in number and commanded by Col. William Ledyard, immediately evacuated Fort Trumbull and crossed over to Griswold. Although poorly armed, many of them having nothing but spears for weapons, they were steeled to a desperate resistance by the knowledge that some of the Tories in Arnold's army were old neighbors of theirs.

So determined was their resistance that they repeatedly hurled back the assaults which Eyre launched on three sides of the fort. The British commander was mortally wounded, as was Major Montgomery, who took his place. Finally Major Bromfield, the next in command, succeeded in carrying the walls at the point of the bayonet. By this time the fighting was virtually over. Colonel Ledyard ordered his men to lay down their arms, but the Tories and Hessians, infuriated by the stubborn resistance of the Americans and the loss of their leaders, began a slaughter of their conquered foes. To the credit of the British officers it must be said that they tried in vain to stop the massacre.

Of the 157 brave defenders of Fort Griswold, 71 were killed, 60 badly wounded and only 26 succeeded in escaping from the place of slaughter unharmed. The British loss was 48 killed and 143 wounded. Ledyard's sacrifice was in vain, for Arnold continued his march to New London and reduced it and its shipping to ashes. But Sir Henry Clinton's expedition failed in its main purpose for Washington, grieved though he was at Connecticut's plight, kept on to Yorktown and to victory.

Where "Star-Spangled Banner" Was Born

It is doubtful if ever America had known a darker dawn than the morning of September 11, 1814. Washington had been captured and burned by the British; our small navy had been driven to port by superior numbers; our army in Maryland had been defeated, and on that morning a British fleet sailed into the Patapsco river, headed for Baltimore, which the enemy hoped to capture.

The only obstruction to this scheme was a little fort three miles below Baltimore at Whetstone point on the Patapsco. Fort McHenry was its name. A small fortification had been built there in 1775 and a more pretentious structure erected on the site in 1794. The only defensive force it could muster was a body of untrained troops, who would be called upon to defend their post against British veterans fresh from the continental wars—Wellington's Invincibles and Nelson's marines, winners at Trafalgar and the Nile. So the outlook was gloomy enough, for if Fort McHenry fell, Baltimore fell, and the whole country lay at the mercy of the invaders.

Early on the morning of September 12 the battle began with an attempt by the British soldiers to storm the earthworks which had been hastily thrown up to aid in the defense of Baltimore. That attack was repulsed by a storm of shot, slugs, scrap iron and nails from the American guns which killed or wounded more than 600 British. The next morning the fleet advanced to bombard Fort McHenry. All day long the battle raged but the defenders of the fort under Col. George Armistead held their own.

Among the many who watched the progress of the battle was Francis Scott Key, who had gone to the British fleet to obtain the release of a friend, a civilian, arrested by the British on a charge of firing on them. All day long and far into the night he followed the fortunes of the fighting forces with painful intensity. He did not believe that Fort McHenry could possibly hold out.

Then "at the dawn's early light" Key looked toward the fort and through the smoke and mist of morning he saw that "our flag was still there." With a heart overflowing with joy he sat down and wrote the words of the song which a nation has ever since been singing—"The Star-Spangled Banner."

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

—17—

The meal passed pleasantly and without incident, and before they realized how the time had flown Linder was protesting that he must be on his way. At the gate Transley put a hand on Grant's shoulder.

"I'm prepared to admit," he said, "that there's a whole lot in this old world that needs correcting, but I'm not sure that it can be corrected. You have a right to try out your experiments, but take a tip and keep a comfortable cache against the day when you'll want to settle down and take things as they are. It is true and always has been true that a man who is worth his salt, when he wants a thing, takes it—or goes down in the attempt. The loser may squeal, but that seems to be the path of progress. You can't beat it."

"Well, we'll see," said Grant, laughing. "Sometimes two men, each worth his salt, collide."

"As in the meadow of the South Y.D.," said Transley, with a smile. "You remember that, Y.D.—when our friend here upset the haying operations?"

"Sure, I remember, but I'm not holdin' it agin him now. A dead horse is a dead horse, an' I don't go sniffin' it."

"Perhaps I ought to say, though,"

With Much Difficulty He Managed to Extricate the Envelope From a Pocket.

Grant returned, "that I really do not know how the iron pegs got into that meadow."

"And I don't know how your haystacks got afire, but I can guess. Remember Drazk? A little locoed, an' just the crittur to pull off a fool stunt like that. When the fire swept up the valley, instead of down, he made his get-away and has never been seen since. I reckon likely there was someone in Landson's gang capable o' drivin' pegs without consultin' the boss."

The little group were standing in the shadow and Grant had no opportunity to notice the sudden blanching of Zen's face at the mention of Drazk. Grant shook hands cordially with Y.D. and his wife, with Squiggs and Mrs. Squiggs, with Transley and Mrs. Transley. Any inclination he may have felt to linger over Zen's hand was checked by her quick withdrawal of it, and there was something in her manner quite beyond his understanding. He could have sworn that the self-possessed Zen Transley was actually trembling.

CHAPTER XIV

The next day Wilson paid his usual visit to the field where Grant was working, and again was he the bearer of a message. With much difficulty he managed to extricate the envelope from a pocket.

"Dear Mr. Grant," it read, "I am so worried over a remark dropped last night I must see you again as soon as possible. Can you drop in tonight, say eight. Yours, ZEN."

Grant read the message a second time, wondering what remark could have occasioned it. For a moment he wondered if she had created a pretext by which to bring him to the house from the river, and then instantly dismissed that thought as unworthy of her. At any rate it was evident that in addressing her by her Christian name he had given no offense. This time she had not called him "The Man-on-the-Hill," and there was no suggestion of playfulness in the note. Then the signature, "Yours, Zen"; that might mean everything, or it might mean nothing. Either it was purely formal or it implied a very great deal indeed. It reflected that it could hardly be interpreted anywhere between those two extremes, and was it reasonable to suppose that Zen would use it in the entirely formal sense? If it had been "yours truly," or "yours sincerely," or any such stereotyped conclusion it would not have called for a second thought, but the simple word "Yours"—

"If only she were," thought Grant, as he felt the color creeping to his face and the thought. It was the first time he had dared that much. He had not bothered to wonder much where or how this affair must end. Through all the years that had passed Zen had been to him a sweet, evasive memory to be dreamed over and idealized, a wild, daring, irresponsible incarnation of the spirit of the hills.

He wrote on the back of the note, "Look for me at eight," and then, observing that the boy had not brought Teddy along, he inquired solicitously for the health of the little pet.

"He's all right, but mother wouldn't let me bring him. Said I might lose him." The tone in which the last words were spoken implied just how impossible such a thing was. Lose Teddy! No one but a mother could think of such an absurdity.

"But I got a knife!" Wilson exclaimed, his mind darting to a happier subject. "Daddy gave it to me. Will you sharpen it? It is as dull as a pig."

Grant was to learn during the day that all the boy's figures of speech were now hung in the family pig. The knife was as dull as a pig; the plow was as rough as a pig; the horses, when they capered at a corner, were as wild as a pig; even Grant himself, while he held the little chap firmly on his knee, received the doubtful compliment of being as strong as a pig. He went through the form of sharpening the knife on the leather lines of the harness, and was pleased to discover that Wilson, with childish dexterity of imagination, now pronounced it as sharp as a pig.

The boy did not return to the field in the afternoon, and Grant spent the time in a strange admixture of happiness over the pleasant companionship he had found in this little son of the prairies and anticipation of his meeting with Zen that night.

Grant prepared his supper of bacon and eggs and fried potatoes, bread and jam and black tea, and ate it from the kitchen table. Supper ended, he noticed he had just time to walk to Transley's house before eight o'clock.

Zen received him at the door; the maid had gone to a neighbor's, she said, and Wilson was in bed. She lighted the dry wood in the fireplace.

"I have been so anxious to see you—again," she said, drawing a chair not far from him. "A chance remark of yours last night brought to memory many things—things I have been trying to forget." Then, abruptly, "Did you ever kill a man?"

"You know I was in the war," he returned, evading her question.

"Yes, and you do not care to dwell on that phase of it. I should not have asked you, but you will be the better able to understand. For years I have lived under the cloud of having killed a man."

"You!"

"Yes. The day of the fire—you remember?"

Grant had started from his chair. "I can't believe it!" he exclaimed. "There must have been justification!"

"You had justification at the front, but it doesn't make the memory pleasant. I had justification, but it has haunted me night and day. For all these years I have been carrying in my heart a secret until it seems to have grown so big I must tell some one, or burst. And then, last night, his name was mentioned, which brought it all back to me as though it had been yesterday. Time doesn't seem to cure some things, ever, does it? And after I had gone to bed, and was thinking it all over, I suddenly knew there was one man I could tell. That is why I sent that note. . . . You weren't angry?"

"Angry! Dear—" He checked his lips on forbidden words.

"Who?" he managed to say.

"Drazk."

"Drazk!"

"Yes. I had killed him that day of the fire. It is rather an unpleasant story, and you will excuse me repeating the details, I know. He attacked me—we were both on horseback, in the river—I suppose he was crazed with his wild deed, and less responsible than usual. He dragged me from my horse and I fought with him in the water, but he was much too strong. I had concluded that to drown myself, and perhaps him, was the only way out, when I saw a leather thong floating in the water from the saddle. By a ruse I managed to flip it around his neck, and the next moment he was at my mercy. I had no mercy then. I pulled it tight, tight—pulled till I saw his face blacken and his eyes stand out. He went down, but still I pulled. And then, after a little, I found myself on shore.

"I suppose it was the excitement of the fire that carried me on through the day, but at night—you remember?—there came a reaction, and I couldn't keep awake. I suddenly seemed to feel that I was safe, and I could sleep."

Grant had resumed his seat. He was deeply moved by this strange confidence; he bent his eyes intently upon her face, now shining in the ruddy light from the fireplace. Her frank reference to the event that night seemed to create a new bond between them; he knew now, if ever he had doubted it, that Zen Transley had treasured that incident in her heart even as he had treasured it.

"I was so embarrassed after the—the accident, you know," she continued. "I knew you must know I had been in the water. For days and weeks I expected every hour to hear of the finding of the body. I expected to hear the remark dropped casually by every new visitor at the ranch, 'Drazk's body was found today in the river. The Mounted Police are investigating.' But time went on and nothing was heard of it. It would almost have been a relief to me if it had been discovered. If I had reported the affair at once, as I should have done, all would have been different, but having kept my secret for a little I found it impossible to confess later. It was the first time I ever felt my self-reliance severely shaken.

"Well, now you know," she said, with an embarrassed little laugh. "You see, I have put my life in your hands."

"Your husband knows?"

"No. That made it harder. I never told Frank."

She arose and walked to the fireplace, pretending to stir the logs. When she had seated herself again she continued.

"It has not been easy for me to tell all things to Frank. Don't misunderstand me; he has been a model husband, according to my standards."

"According to your standards?"

"According to my standards—when I married him."

She paused, and Grant sat in silence, watching the glow of the firelight upon her cheek.

"Your standards have changed?" said Grant, taking up the thread when she had sat down again.

"They have. They have changed more than Frank's, which makes me feel rather at fault in the matter. How could he know that I would change my ideal of what a husband should be?"

"Why shouldn't he know? That is the course of development. Without changing ideals there would be stagnation."

"Perhaps," she returned, and he thought he caught a note of weariness in her voice. "But I don't blame Frank—now. I rather blame him then. He swept me off my feet; stampeded me. My parents helped him, and I was only half disposed to resist. You see, I had this trouble on my mind, and for the first time in my life I felt the need of protection. Besides, I took a matter-of-fact view of marriage. I thought that sentiment—love, if you like—was a thing of books, an invention of poets and fiction writers. Practical people would be practical in their marriages, as in their other undertakings.

"Frank has been all I expected of him," she repeated, as though anxious to do her husband justice. "He has made money. He spends it generously. If I live here modestly, with but one maid, it is because of a preference which I have developed for simplicity. I might have a dozen if I asked it, and I think Frank is somewhat surprised, and, it may be, disappointed, that I don't ask it. Although not a man for display himself, he likes to see me make display. It's a strange thing, isn't it, that a husband should wish his wife to be admired by other men?"

"Some are successful in that," Grant remarked.

"I have not sought any man's admiration," she went on, with her astonishing frankness. "I am too independent for that. What do I care for their admiration? But every woman wants love."

Grant had changed his position, and sat with his elbows upon his knees, his chin resting upon his hands. "You know, Zen," he said, using her Christian name deliberately, "the picture I drew that day by the river? That is the picture I have carried in my mind ever since—shall carry to the end. Perhaps it has led me to be imprudent—

"Has brought me here tonight, for example."

"You had my invitation."

"True. But why develop another situation which, as you say, has no way out?"

"Do you want me to go?"

"No, Zen, no! I want to stay—with you—always! But society must respect its own conventions."

She arose and stood by his chair, letting her hand fall beside his cheek.

"You silly boy!" she said. "You didn't organize society, nor subscribe to its conventions. Still, I suppose there must be a code of some kind, and we shall respect it. You had your chance, Denny, and you passed it up."

"Had my chance?"

"Yes. I refused you in words, I know, but actions spead louder—"

"But when you told me you were engaged what could I honorably do?"

"More—very much more—than you can do now. You could have shown me my mistake. How much better to have learned it then, from you, than later, by my own experience! You could have swept me off my feet, just as Frank did. You did nothing. If I had sought evidence to prove how impractical you are, as compared with my super-practical husband, I would have found it in the way you handled, or rather failed to handle, that situation."

"What would your super-practical husband do now if he were in my position?" he said, drawing her hands into his.

"I don't know."

"You do! He says that any man worth his salt takes what he want in this world. Am I worth my salt?"

"There are different standards of value. . . . Goodness! how late it is! You must go now, and don't come back before, let us say, Wednesday."

CHAPTER XV

Whatever may have been Grant's philosophy about the unwisdom of creating a situation which had no way out, he found himself looking forward impatiently to Wednesday evening. An hour or two at Zen's fireside provided the social atmosphere which his bachelor life lacked, and as Transley seemed unappreciative of his domestic privileges, remaining in town unless his business brought him out to the summer home, it seemed only a just arrangement that they should be shared by one who valued them at their worth.

The Wednesday evening conversation developed further the understanding that was gradually evolving between them, but it afforded no solution of the problem which confronted them. Zen made no secret of the error she had made in the selection of her husband, but had no suggestions to offer as to what should be done about it. She seemed quite satisfied to enjoy Grant's conversation and company, and let it go at that—an impossible situation, as the young man assured himself. She dismissed him again at a quite respectable hour with some reference to Saturday evening, which Grant interpreted as an invitation to call again at that time.

When he entered Saturday night it was evident that she had been expecting him.

She seated herself beside him on a divanette and the joy of her nearness fired Grant with a very happy intoxication.

Grant looked into her eyes, now close and responsive, and found within their depths something which sent him to his feet.

"Zen!" he exclaimed. "The mystery of life is too much for me. Surely there must be an answer somewhere! Surely the puzzle has a system to it—a key which may some day be found! Or can it be just chaos—just blind, driveling, senseless chaos?

"I suppose we disobeyed the law, back in those old days. We heard it clearly enough, and we disobeyed. I allowed myself to be guided by motives which were not the highest; you seemed to lack the enterprise which would have won you its own reward. And those who violate the law must suffer for it. I have suffered."

"I have sometimes wondered," he said, "why there is no second chance; why one cannot wipe the slate clear of everything that has been and start anew. What a world this might be!"

"Would it be any better? Or would we go on making our mistakes over again? That seems to be the only way we learn."

"But a second chance; the idea seems so fair, so plausible.

"For you there is a second chance," she reminded him. "You must have thought of that."

"No—no second chance."

She drew herself up slightly and away from him. "I have been very frank with you, Dennison," she said. "Suppose you try being frank with me?"

"All right," he said, "I will be frank. Fate has brought within my orbit a second chance, or what would have been a second chance had my heart not been so full of you. She was a girl well worth thinking about. When an employee introduces herself to you with a declaration of independence you may know that you have met with someone out of the ordinary."

She Arose and Stood by His Chair, Letting Her Hand Fall Beside His Cheek.

"And you—thought about her?"

"I did. I was sick of the cringing and fawning of which my wealth made me the object; I loathed the deference paid me, because I knew it was paid, not to me, but to my money—I was homesick to hear someone tell me to go to h—l. I wanted to brush up against that spirit which says it is as good as anybody else—against the manliness which stands its ground and hits back. I found that spirit in Phyllis Bruce."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Pays Better

Many a young man who leaves college with the intention of reforming the world, changes his mind and hunts a paying job.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 23

THE TRANSFIGURATION

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:28-36.

GOLDEN TEXT—This is my beloved Son; hear Him.—Luke 9:35.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Glory.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Beholding Christ's Glory.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Glory of Jesus Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Transfiguration a Preparation for the Cross.

While it is true that in this lesson the disciples are witnesses of Christ's glory, the full truth is that the manifestation of Christ in glory was to give to the discouraged disciples a foregleam of the Messianic Kingdom. The hopes of the disciples were crushed when Christ announced His death on the cross. They were unable to see how victory could issue from death.

Jesus took with Him Peter, James and John and went into the mountain to pray. His chief aim in retirement was to get the disciples apart and into a state of receptivity so that He might show them the method of the kingdom. Before going to the mountain He declared that there were some standing in His presence who would not taste of death till they should see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom (Luke 9:27; Matt. 16:28). That their drooping spirits might be revived and their confidence restored, He is transfigured before them. Two men from the upper world are sent to converse with Him about his approaching death in Jerusalem (v. 31)—the very thing about which the disciples refused to talk. Then, too, God's own voice was heard in words of approval of Christ's course, directing them to hear the Master. Surely they cannot doubt His ability now to carry into execution His kingdom plans. The purpose, then, of the transfiguration is to give the disciples a foregleam of the coming kingdom, to enable them to see the kingdom in embryo. That this is true is not only shown by the context and circumstances, but by the inspired interpretation of one who was with Him and knew all that transpired (II Peter 1:16-19 R. V.). Note the outstanding features of the kingdom as displayed in the transfiguration:

I. Jesus Christ the Glorified King on Mt. Zion (v. 29).

The glorified king on this mount was intended to symbolize the Messianic kingdom when Christ returns to the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem (Zech. 14:4-17). This is still in the future, and will be literally fulfilled.

II. The Glorified Saints With Christ (vv. 30-31).

(1) Moses, who was once denied an entrance into Palestine, appears now in glory, representing the redeemed of the Lord who shall pass through death into the kingdom. Many thousands of the redeemed have fallen asleep and at the coming of the Lord shall be awakened to pass into the kingdom.

(2) Elijah now glorified, represents the redeemed who shall pass into the kingdom through translation. Many shall be living upon the earth when the Lord shall come, and shall without dying be changed, and thus pass into the kingdom (I Cor. 15:50-53; I Theses. 4:14-18).

(3) They talk of the very thing which the disciples refused to believe, namely, the death of Christ.

III. Israel, in the Flesh, in Connection With the Kingdom, Represented by Peter, James and John (v. 28).

Israel shall be called from their hiding place among all nations of the earth and shall be gathered to Jesus Christ the King, as the central people in the kingdom (Ezek. 37:21-27).

(1) Peter proposes to build three tabernacles (v. 33). The Feast of Tabernacles looked forward to the glorious reign of Christ. Peter caught a glimpse of the significance of the transfiguration. His proposition showed that he thought of the Feast of Tabernacles and therefore of the Millennium.

(2) The divine voice (v. 35). At this time God Himself uttered His words, assuring them that this One in glory was His Son Jesus Christ.

IV. The Multitude at the Foot of the Mountain (vv. 37-43).

This is representative of the nations which shall be brought into the kingdom which shall be established over Israel. See Isaiah 11:10-12. The people here were grievously oppressed by the devil. About the time of Christ's first coming he did his best to harass men. Just before Christ's coming again he will be especially active, for he knows that his time is short

Life

Life in itself is neither good nor evil! It is the theater of good and evil as you make it.

Our Qualities

The qualities we have do not make us so ridiculous as those which we affect to have.—La Rouchefoucauld.

Repentance

Especially, repentance means a definite refusal to abide any longer in sin.—George Hodges.

Falsehood Has No Future

Falsehood may have its hour, but it has no future.—Pressense.

STOP! THAT BAKE-DAY Waste!

That's what Millions of women have done with CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Being uniform and dependable it never spoils any of the ingredients used on bake day.

BEST BY TEST

Sales 2½ Times Those of Any Other Brand

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

Road Building Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as out of date as the single-track, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago.

Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
111 West Washington Street
CHICAGO
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete
Offices in 29 Cities

We Pay More for Furs

We are always in the market and pay top prices. Honest grading and prompt payment. Satisfaction guaranteed — your furs returned if you are not satisfied. Write for prices and tags. One shipment — and then you will always ship to

H. WAINER & CO.
New Orleans, La.

SORE EYES Dr. Salter's Eye Lotio relieves and cures sore and inflamed eyes in 24 to 4 hours. Helps the weak eyed, cures without pain. Ask your druggist or dealer for SALTER'S. Ord from Reform Dispensary, P. O. Box 151, Atlanta, Ga.

FREE GIFTS FOR YOU! Get them now or you'll miss it. Send for GIF BOOK to select from. Pearls, Watches Jewelry. E. P. OFFENBARIA, 1226 Wes Madison Street, CHICAGO.

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1043

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

New School Buildings Everywhere—

Not many people in Shelby county ever heard of Rosalie and Dutton and Straughn, and Lightwood, and a dozen other villages named in the article in last week's paper about new school buildings.

These little places are scattered through several counties of Alabama. They are small villages, their business interests are small, insignificant in some instances, they have no large industries, no large stores, they are just villages.

But these little places are doing the first and most necessary thing for the building of larger towns, they are making provisions for the education of their children. Over and over the story is told of new brick school buildings, of six or more class rooms, with auditorium and rooms for teaching manual and domestic arts. Many of these communities will have fully accredited high schools so that their pupils can enter the colleges without further examinations.

Those who know conditions in the smaller towns and villages, will not question that such progress is being made possible only by the sacrifices of the people. The Reporter is calling attention to their record in the hope that their example will inspire the people of Shelby county to determine that better provision shall be made for the proper training of our boys and girls.

We Hear From Arab Again

The Reporter has had occasion from time to time to call attention to the activities of the people of Arab, a small community in Marshall county. In a recent issue of the Age-Herald a correspondent of that paper told of a Community Fair that was held at Arab that "was almost equal to a county fair, and actually surpassed some county fairs in both quantity and quality of exhibits.'

The fair had eight departments, was kept open for three days and had over 5000 visitors. Special mention was made of the live stock exhibit, the individual farm exhibits, and the ladies exhibit which included a very fine collection of sewng, fancy work, cooking and canned goods.

IN MEMORY OF OUR DEAR MOTHER

God saw fit to send an angel from Heaven November 7, 1924, to claim for its victim our dear mother, Mrs. M. A. Johnson. It is so sad to have to give her up. O how we miss her. There is a vacant chair that never can be filled; there is a voice so sweet that we never can hear again.

We can not understand why one so dear to us was taken from us, but God does all things for the best She finished her work here so faithful and she was praying most all her time and talking to everyone she met of God's love and telling us all what a happy day it would be with her after awhile. If we would all live as she lived it would be Heaven on earth.

She joined the church at an early age and lived a faithful Christian life. She went to Bessemer to visit friends for a few days and was taken with pneumonia and never returned home alive. She was eighty years and nine days old. She is survived by five children: J. T. Johnson and C. P. Johnson of Chelsea; J. F. Johnson, A. M. Johnson and Mrs. Liddie Davis, of Harpersville; 26 grand children 12 great grand children and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Her funeral service was conducted by Rev. Perkins and her remains were laid to rest in the Quin cemetery near Chelsea.

Her Children.

TH' OLE GROUCH

GUARDIAN'S NOTICE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 18 day of November 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, Mrs. Jennie Ozley, as Guardian of George Ozley, a minor, to sell for the maintenance, education and for re-investment the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 6th day of December, 1924, between the legal hours of sale before the court house door at Columbiana, Ala., the undersigned, as Guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land situated in Shelby county, Ala., to-wit:

The NW¼ of SW¼, Sec 4, and the NE¼ of SE¼, Sec 5, all in Tp 22, Range 2, West, containing 80 acres more or less, together with all improvements belonging thereto, also the SW¼ of NE¼ of SW¼ of Sec. 4, Tp 22, R 2 West, said land being the land on the west side of the South and North Railway, containing 2 acres more or less.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the education, maintenance and for reinvestment of said minor. Terms of sale to be arranged by Guardian and purchaser.

Mrs. Jennie Ozley.
As Guardian for George Ozley.
11 20 3t

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Board of Pardons of the State of Alabama for the parole of Tom Brasher, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, during the month of September 1923, upon a charge of Distilling. Tom Brasher.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a venditioni exponas issued from the Circuit Court of Shelby county, and to me directed, I will proceed to sell, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Columbiana, Ala., on the 22nd day of November, 1924, within the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder, for cash the following described property, to-wit:

Three houses on the Birmingham Montgomery Highway about two and one-half miles north of Pelham, situated in the county of Shelby, state of Alabama, on the east side of said highway, at a quarry near a farm known as Bishop's Farm, and which said houses are now occupied by employees of one Dan Martin, and working in the quarry getting out rock for said highway. Said houses are right together, with a clearance of about fifty feet between them, and there are no other houses on that side of said highway. Said houses are described as follows, to-wit 1 gable 2-room house, and the other two of said houses are lean-to type houses, two rooms each, and being on land leased by said Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a partnership composed of J. E. Mansberger and A. A. Downs, from one T. J. Cross

Ordered to be sold as the property of Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a firm, or partnership composed of J. E. Mansberger and A. A. Downs, to satisfy said venditioni exponas in my hands in favor of Charles McCarroll.

This 18th day of November 1924
12 20 3t J. J. Falkner, Sheriff.

ADMINITRATOR'S NOTICE

Estate of Mrs. N. V. Clinton, deceased. Probate Court.

Letters of administration of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 7 day of November 1924, by the Hon L. B. Riddle, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

J. E. McClinton,
11 13 3t Administrattor.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Ala. In Equity.

Dan Garrett, Complainant, vs. Irene Garrett, Respondent.

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidavit of Dan Garrett Complainant, that the Defendant is a non-resident of Alabama, and her postoffice address is unknown, and further that in the belief of said affiant, is of the age of twenty-one years; it is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Irene Garrett, to plead, answer or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 15 day of December, 1924, or in thirty days thereafter a decree Pro Confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 10th day of November, 1924. 11 13 4t

J. M. Leonard, Jr., Register.

GUARDIAN'S SALE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 31 day of October, 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, F. C. Oates, as guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates and Margaret Oates, minors, to sell, for investment, the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 21st day of November, 1924, between the hours of legal sale, before the court house door, in Columbiana, Alabama, the undersigned, as guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land, situated in Shelby county, Alabama, to-wit:

Beginning at a point 107 yards north of the Penn Cost Crossing of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and parallel with the said Louisville & Nashville crossing and on the west side of said railroad crossing, and running in a northerly direction from said point along the right-of-way of said railroad 191 yards, from beginning corner, thence in a westernly direction 136 yards to the center of Buck Creek, at low water mark, thence up Buck Creek in a southernly direction 188 yards, thence in an easternly direction 119 yards to the point of beginning, and bounded as follows: On the east by the L. & N. Railroad, on the north by Keystone Lime Company's land, on the west by Buck Creek, and on the south by lands of John Swiney, and being a part of Section 35, Township 20, Range 3 West.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the purpose of investment in other lands or securities. Terms of sale cash.

F. C. Oates,
As Guardian of F. C. Oates, Jr., Allen Oates, and Margaret Oates, Minors. 11 6 3t

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

Sure Relief for COUGHS

STOP the worst cough often in 24 hours, with good, old Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. Everybody knows how quickly and surely it brings relief. Although there have been many imitations of the original Dr. Bell's, it still remains the best, for it is carefully compounded of just the right proportions of pine-tar, honey and other healing ingredients which many of the best doctors have found to aid in bringing quick relief. For children as well as grown-ups. Only 30c at any good druggist's.

Be Sure You Get the Original Dr. BELL'S PINE-TAR HONEY

FOR COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

Give The Railroads A Chance To Make Good Under The Transportation Act

Of the large number of legislative measures which will be considered at the coming session of Congress, there are none of more importance to the American people than those effecting the operation of the so-called "Transportation Act".

This act, commonly known as the Esch-Cummins Bill, became a law on February 28, 1920, and the railroads had barely begun to adjust themselves to its regulations when criticisms were directed at the measure and politicians started tinkering with its provisions.

There are many bills pending in Congress designed to repeal or modify important parts of this act, notably Section 15 (a).

In this much-discussed section of the law Congress prescribes what the courts had already decided, that since the Government had taken from the railroads the power to make rates, the Government must itself make rates that would produce a fair return upon the value of the property used for transportation purposes. Anything short of this would be confiscation, and hence unconstitutional. Under this arrangement the Commission fixes the value of the property, fixes what is a fair return (at present 5¾ percent has been designated) and fixes the rates themselves. How else could the interest of the public be more perfectly protected?

So far under this law, the railroads have not in any year earned as much as the rate of return fixed by the Commission. They are desirous, however, of giving the law a fair trial; but the political agitators, never satisfied, are not willing to do this.

L&N

Give The Act A Chance To Demonstrate Its Utility.

THE FABLE OF THE PRINCE— AND CINDERELLA CHEROOT

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

Makes 5c brands envious—and 10 and 15 centers respectful.

A real Perfecto without the tip.

Old Virginia Cheroots
4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

BARGAINS IN USED CARS

One late model Ford touring car in good mechanical condition, good top, self starter and lots of extras for only .....$..... $250.00

One late model Ford Roadster in good mechanical condition, self starter, a bargain for $175

One Ford, as is $35

1 Chevrolet touring, used less than 7 months

We have at our Clanton Salesroom several Ford Trucks that we have taken in on sale of CHEVROLET trucks, that we will sell at par gain prices. One of these trucks used by owner less than one month before trading to us.

We will sell any of the above on terms.

BRING YOUR CAR FOR REPAIRS

We sell Atwater Kent Radio Sets on easy payments.

Polk Bros, Chevrolet Dealers Columbiana, Ala.

Night Coughing— How to Stop It

Night coughing which, through loss of valuable sleep, often makes you feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, and by quickly weakening the system lays you open to the most dangerous infections, can now be promptly checked by a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest on account of coughing spells have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often after the very first trial.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the cough goes in a very short time.

The prescription contains no opiates or harmful drugs. Excellent for children as well as grown-ups. For coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

WESTOVER, ALABAMA.

SALE! SALE!

FOR THIRTY DAYS AT THESE PRICES, AS LONG AS THEY LAST

OVERALLS

Men's Steel Rib Overalls, guarantee with each pair $1.65

Boys' Steel Rib Overalls, guarantee with each pair 88c

Youth's Steel Rib Overalls, guarantee with each pair $1.25

A Full Line of Men, Women and Children's Hose from 10c to $1.50

The Famous

Hamilton Brown Shoes.

Now is the time to Buy your winter supply of shoes. You will save money by buying here.

Men's and Boys' Caps

75c to $2.50

Better lot boys hats, for 75c

Better lot boys hats, for $1.00

Other goods too numerous to mention at Bargain Prices.

GROCERIES

11 pounds Sugar	$1.00
3 lbs good Roasted Coffee	$1.00
4 pounds green Coffee	$1.00
6 bars Octogon Soap	25c
7 bars Export Soap	25c
7 boxes Soda	25c
3 cans Calumet Baking Powder	25c
1 one-pound can " "	30c
7 cans Snow King " "	25c
Self Rising Flour	$1.20
Supreme Plain Flour	1.20
Veribest Plain Flour	1.45
Roller Queen Flour	1.30

Inner Tubes

Grey Inner Tubes, 30x3,	$1.25
Grey Inner Tubes, 30x3 1-2,	1.50
Red Inner Tubes, 30x3,	1.50
Red Inner Tubes, 30x3 1-2	1.75

Snuff and Tobacco

Snuff, 20c size	15c
Tobacco, 20c seller	15c
Tobacco, 30c seller	25c

A Large Lot of Shells Going to the Hunters

Smokeless Shells	95c
Black Powder Shells	70c

ENAMELWARE SALE

14 qt Dish Pan 25c. 10 qt Bucket 35c
3 qt Coffee Pot 25c. Pie pans 10 to 25c
1 gallon Stewers with covers 35c
3 qt Stewers 25c. Dippers 15c

Dry Goods Dress Goods

1 lot Dress Ginghams, yd	10c
1 lot Percale, per yard	10c
All colors Quilt Calico, yd	10c
42-in. Sheeting, per yard	9c
42-in. better grade Sheeting	12c
Outing per yard	18c
Apron Gingham, good grade per yard	15c
20c and 25c Dress Gingham per yard	18c
1 pc Dress Serge, per yard	45c
All wool Dress Serge, yd	89c
Dress Plaids, per yard	40c
Shepherds Checks per yd	40c
Oil Cloth, all colors, yd	37 1-2c

Union Suits

Men's Union Suits	$1.45
Ladies' Union Suits	95c
Ladies 2-piece Under wear, per suit .	75c
Boys' Union Suits	75c to 90c

Boys' all wool Slip-over Sweaters, each $1.98

220 Denim per yard 32c

Misses Hats to go at less than cost

Boys Hats choice 50c

CASH FROM SATURDAY NOVEMBER 22, TO DECEMBER 20. ONLY

Now is the time to save some money; don't wait until last days of sale; come early.

Westover H. E. ARCHER Alabama

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE

Wilsonville State Bank

Located at Wilsonville, Ala., at the close of business Oct. 22nd, 1924.

RESOURCES

1.	Loans and Discounts		$ 41,591.70
2.	Overdrafts, secured		1,542.10
4.	Other Bonds, Stocks and Warrants		275.52
5.	Banking House		2,300.00
6.	Furniture and Fixtures		1,801.00
8.	Cash
a.	Currency	4,110.00
b.	Gold	930.00
c.	Silver, Nickels and Pennies	698.17
	Total		5,738.17
			11,148.44
9.	Due from Banks		84.07
12.	Checks and Cash Items		1,447.72
14.	Other Resources, Cotton
	Total		$ 65,928.72

LIABILITIES

1.	Capital Stock Paid in		$ 10,000.00
2.	Surplus Fund		3,000.00
3.	Undivided Profits less expenses and Taxes paid		1,069.42
5.	Demand Deposits
a.	Individual Deposits	36,885.74
f.	Cashier's Checks	290.51
	Total		37,176.25
6.	Time Deposits
a.	Savings	6,539.77
b.	Time Certificates	8,130.84
	Total		14,670.61
10.	Other Liabilities Cash over		12.44
	Total		$ 65,928.72

THE STATE OF ALABAMA
Shelby County. Before me came E. H. Payne, cashier of Wilsonville State Bank, who being duly sworn, says that the above and foregoing statement is true and gives the actual condition of said Bank, as shown by the books on file in said Bank.

Wilsonville State Bank, By E. H. Payne, Cashier.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 10 day of Nov. 1924.

ATTEST: E. M. Young, N. P. Ex. Off. J. P.

W. H. Pope, R. G. Weldon, E. H. Payne, Directors.

JOIN

Glasses fitted of the latest styles. See me and you will see Dr. J. H. Merrell, Optometrist, East Side Court Square, Talladega, Ala. 2t

DR. W. J. MITCHEL
—DENTIST—
Phone No. 88. Montevallo, Ala.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. C. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alabama.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

Found His Bones.

If you are a Buddhist monk and you die, they bury part of you and embalm the rest of you in honey and burn you. If you have been especially saintly, your bones will be pounded down, made into a paste and molded into an image of the Buddha, to be placed in the monastery.

Tax Assessor and Collector's 2nd Rounds.

We will visit the following precincts in Shelby County, Alabama, at the following times and places for the purpose of Assessing Taxes for the year 1925, and Collecting Taxes for the year 1924, to-wit:

Calera beat 3, Monday, November 17
Montevallo beat 4, Tuesday, Nov. 18
Wilton beat 4, Wednesday, Nov. 19, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m
Maylene beat 19, Wednesday Nov. 19, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Boothton beat 20, Thursday, Nov. 20
Bamford beat 5, Thursday, Nov. 20
Helena beat 6, Friday, Nov. 21
Saginaw beat 7, Monday, Nov. 24, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m.
Ebenezer beat 21, Monday, Nov. 24, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Siluria beat 7, Tuesday, Nov. 25, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m,
Pelham beat 17, Tuesday, Nov. 25, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Highland beat 12, Wednesday, Nov. 26, at New Hope Church, from 8:30 a. m. to 12 m
Farley's Store, beat 13, Wednesday, Nov. 26, from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m,
Chelsea beat 8, Thursday, Nov. 27.
Blue Springs beat 9, Friday, Nov. 28, from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m.
Westover beat 11, Friday, Nov. 28, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Wilsonville beat 9, Monday, Dec. 1.
Dunnavant beat 18, Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.
Vandiver beat 14, Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 1:30 to 4 p. m.
Sterrett beat 15. Tuesday, Dec. 2, from 10:30 to 4 p. m.
Vincent beat 16, Wednesday, Dec. 3.
Creswell beat 10, Thursday, Dec. 4, from 9 a. m, to 12 m.
Harpersville beat 10, Thursday, Dec. 4, from 12:30 p. m. to 4 p. m.
Shelby beat 1, Friday, Dec. 5, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Farmer beat 2, Friday, Dec. 5, from 11:30 a. m. to 3 p. m.
Columbiana beat 1, Saturday, Dec. 6.

Notice to all Tax Payers—Notice is hereby given that after the 31st day of December, 1924, all tax payers who have failed to make returns to me as Tax Assessor, of all their real estate and personal property, containing a good description of same, in Shelby County, will be delinquent in the eye of the law and will be charged a fee of 50 cents whether demand has been made on them or not for the 1925 tax returns, and all tax payers who fail to make returns to me of all their property on or before the first Monday in February, 1925, will incur a penalty of 10 per cent to be added to their assessments after these demands have been made upon them for the same. The Assessor has no discretion in the matter of remitting penalties, except in case of sickness. The law requires every property owner to meet the Tax Assessor on his rounds and assess their real estate and personal property. Please remember this and assess your own property; and if you can't get a good description of your real estate, I advise you to have same surveyed, as the law requires the Tax Assessor to have all real estate surveyed when a good description is not furnished to him.

W. E. HARRISON, Tax Assessor Shelby County.

NOTICE—I will also visit each precinct at the places and dates above for the purpose of collecting the State and County taxes due for the year 1924.

J. L. ISBELL, Tax Collector Shelby County.

BETTER POULTRY FOR ALABAMA IS AIM OF AUBURN EGG-LAYING TEST

Above—A general view of the egg-laying contest plant at Auburn. There are 48 houses, each accommodating two pens of 10 hens each. Below—A close-up of one of the model houses.

Auburn, Ala.—Nine hundred and sixty hens—most of them Alabama hens—are busy minding their business here, which is laying eggs in Alabama's first national egg-laying contest.

The contest has been under way since November 1, when the event was formally inaugurated with a program of speech-making and a chicken barbecue dinner. There are ninety-six pens in the contest, each of which accomodates ten hens, and each hen is identified by means of a leg band bearing the pen number and number of the individual hen in each pen.

The contest will last a year. At regular stated periods during the next twelve months, the progress of the contest will be announced, the standing of each pen and each individual hen being recorded by an official of the Auburn agricultural experiment station.

The purpose of the contest, as explained by John E. Ivey, head of the poultry department, is to stimulate a greater interest in poultry production and to impress on the minds of the people the importance of proper housing, feeding, breeding and management of poultry. It is not planned merely as an event for the awarding of prizes, but to increase the State's poultry industry and make it pay larger dividends.

Big Possibilities in It

"In our poultry work during the last several years," said Mr. Ivey, "we have found splendid conditions in Alabama for poultry and egg production. Natural conditions are favorable, and there is a demand within the State for hundreds of thousands of dozens of eggs more than the State annually produces. Therefore the opportunity is great, but we have problems to solve in our poultry industry. We have found more than 50 per cent of Alabama hens have been kept at a loss because of poor individuals, improper and insufficient feeding, and bad management, all of which we hope to help correct by the egg-laying contest. The contest will continue for one year, or until October 31, 1925, and on November 1 following the second annual egg-laying contest will start. We hope to make it an annual event thereafter."

All the hens in the contest are being kept under exactly the same conditions. Jazz Poultry Feed, manufactured by the W. M. Cosby Flour and Grain Company, of Birmingham, has been adopted as the official feed for the contest.

The ninety-six pens in the contest contain hens that represent 56 of Alabama's counties, and counties from twelve other States. There are twelve breeds of hens that are being fed, managed and housed alike. On October 31, 1925, all the hens will be returned to their owners. A number of prizes have been offered by various concerns interested in promoting the poultry industry in Alabama, including several loving cups. The eggs secured during the contest will be sold to defray the cost of conducting it.

Plant is Worth $35,000

The splendid modern plant in which the egg-laying contest is being conducted was largely made possible by contributions of materials and supplies from firms and individuals. A conservative valuation of the plant is $35,000, but its actual cost will not exceed $17,000 because of these donations. There are forty-eight houses for housing the 96 pens, and one headquarters house for storing feed and supplies. The headquarters house contains two rooms which are being occupied by four students who are on scholarships provided by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, and who will assist in the work of the contest.

There are some entries from the leading poultry farms of Alabama in the contest, but an effort was made by the management to attract entries from every county possible. For that reason, no extra entries from any one county were allowed to keep out possible entries from another county.

Some of the crack prize winning hens from the country's biggest poultry plants are entered in the contest, and, while it is not expected that many of Alabama's "amateur" hens will compare favorably with professional contest birds, it is felt that the contest will stimulate interest in poultry raising throughout the State.

How to Rid Chickens of Mites and Lice

(By J. E. Ivey, Poultry Specialist)

Sodium Fluoride is the best insecticide known for chicken lice. It should be applied by taking a small pinch of it between the thumb and first and second fingers and rubbed carefully into the skin on different parts of the fowl's body.

One pinch should be applied on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on each thigh, and one on the underside of each wing when spread. The sodium fluoride treatment will destroy all lice in four or five days. One pound of powdered sodium fluoride applied by the pinch method will treat 100 fowls.

Chicken mites make their home in the house and nesting quarters so it is necessary to treat these in order to keep them in check. This is accomplished by spraying the quarters with crude petroleum oil or old auto crank case oil thinned with kerosene. The roosting and nesting quarters should be thoroughly sprayed every month or two in order to keep down mites.

Lame?

Drive out stiffness and ache

After heavy exercise, apply a little Sloan's. No rubbing is necessary—the liniment itself starts fresh blood circulating quickly through the aching muscles. At once—the stiffness vanishes, the aching stops! All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

Statistical Report of North Alabama Conference

The following statistical report was made at the recent session of the North Alabama Conference of tne Methodist church, at Talladega:

Thirteen districts, 303 pastoral charges, 864 churches, local preachers, 284; members, 124,988; net gain; 3,990; adults baptized 4,277; infants baptized, 896; Epworth Leagues, 297; members, 9,854; Sunday schools, 705; officers and teachers, 7,110; scholars, 86,139.

Woman's Missionary Societies, 263; members, 7,979.

Educational statistics: Institutions, 5; teachers, 121; students, 1,890; value of property, $1,827,000; endowment, $650,000.

Orphanage statistics: Orphanage 1; superintendents, 1; children in orphanage, 160; value of property $170,349.

Hospitals, 1; money expended, $10,219; value, $377,000.

Finances: Paid foreign missions, $15,909; home and conference missions, $17,549; church extension, $9,034; education, $——; American, Bible Society, $1,345; General Conference expenses, $1,450; Woman's Missionary Society, $156,353; Bishops, $4,636; Presiding Elders, $56,561; Pastors, $427,328; Conference claimants, $11,360. Grand total, $1,975,672.

Houses of worship, 770; value, $5,065,960; indebtedness, $523,417.

District parsonages, 12; value, $103.000; indebtedness, $5,850.

Parsonages for pastors, 271; value, 902,050; indebtedness, $89,658.

Insurance carried, $2,064,576; premiums paid, $13,771.

Damaged or destroyed by fire or storm; Churches, 1; parsonages, 3; amount of damage, $1,845; collected, $1,100.

Superannuate homes, 40; value, $150,000.

If laying hens are kept indoors during the forenoon on rainy days there will be few dirty and muddy eggs in the nests.

If a dozen or more farmers in a county can make a bale of cotton to the acre why don't a thousand farmers do as well?

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

E. W. CHAPMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Ala.
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abstract of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamonds
P. D. D. PENDLETON
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA
Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.
I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.
Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

Bigger and Better Than Ever
A Feast of Good Things for 1925 of the Widest Variety and Highest Excellence.
8 SERIAL STORIES Stories of the Sea, Stories of the Sage Brush Country, Stories of School Life, Stories that will delight you for weeks upon weeks.
50 SPECIAL ARTICLES by Men and Women who write with authority.
200 SHORT STORIES by the most popular writers of American fiction.
Caleb Peaslee's Cape Cod Philosophy—The Best Children's Page—The Family Page—The Boys' Page—The Girls' Page—The Doctor's Corner
START A YEAR TODAY

OFFER No. 1
1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues for 1925
2. All remaining Weekly 1924 issues; also
3. The 1925 Companion Home Calendar (Sent on request)
All for $2.50

OFFER A
1. The Youth's Companion for 1925 . . . . $2.50
2. All Remaining 1924 Issues
3. The 1925 Companion Home Calendar (Sent on request)
4. McCall's Magazine $1.00
All for $3.00

Check your choice and send this coupon with your remittance to the PUBLISHERS OF THIS PAPER, or to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Massachusetts.

"The Voice With a Smile" Answers Growing Needs

THE rapid increase in the number of new telephones inAlabama is directly reflected in the greater use and value of the service as a whole.

Approximately 3,250 new telephones were added to the Bell System in Alabama during the first six months of this year.

The telephone operators are handling an average of 659,263 local calls every day, an increase of 8.4 per cent over last year's record.

Long distance calls average 7,451 each day or 6.4 per cent more than in 1923.

To handle such a volume of traffic, twenty-four hours a day, every day in the year, requires a highly trained loyal organization of young women operators.

They are serving you efficiently and cheerfully and they appreciate the considerate co-operation which you extend to them.

W. E. BARE, Alabama Manager

"BELL SYSTEM"
SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY
One Policy, One System, Universal Service

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK

Montevallo, Alabama

C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slone, Cashier

Checking Accounts Solicited.

gh quality usually means high
—Cole's Down Draft Ranges
you a high quality at moder-prices.

Y WOMEN USE
LYCERINE MIXTURE

omen appreciate the quick ac-of simple glycerine, buckthorn
etc., as mixed in Adlerika medicines act only on lower s but Adlerika acts on BOTH
r and lower bowel, and res all gasses and poisons. Ext for obstinate constipation
o guard against appendicitis.
any case gas on stomach in minutes.

vis Drug Co., Columbiana. mbiana Drug Company,
es Drug Co., Calera.

BOX SUPPER AT CHELSEA

There will be a box supper at the Chelsea schcol house Saturday night, November 22, the proceeds go for the benefit of the Baptist church. Everybody invited.

Mrs. J. L Crane, Sec.
Mrs. Lula Holcombe, Pres

Mattresses Made Over

I have a big lot of new mattresses to make. If any one has an old mattress to be made over please notify me at once. John Hammock, Columbiana, Ala.

John Hammock has built me two mattresses which have come up to the guarantee of his work as one who can build mattresses of good quality for the price which he charges. W. H. Shrader.

$99

After December 1st

Will Be the Sale Price of

ALABAMA POWER CO.

7% Cumulative Preferred Stock

Buy Now at $98

and accrued dividends per share---to yield

7.14 Per Cent

Dividends Payable 4 Times Annually---January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1.

Ask Any Employe, Inquire at Any Office or Write

Investment Department

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

607 Brown-Marx Bldg. Birmingham, Alabama

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11.

Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

58,767 Soldier Cases a Month

The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 58,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 33,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the tedium of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases

The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 Chapters, an increase of 182 communities where problems affected by the war veteran's condition required solution through immediate and intelligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $173,076.36 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,800 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, of veterans of foreign wars and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700

Of a total of 84,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,135 new cases were presented and a total of 20,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service

The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,246 cases. There were 36,995 separate soldiers' and sailors' claims; 20,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharges, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 39,688 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,220 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and nearly 40,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainment and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 9,500 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.

HARPERSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster of Fairfield, visited here last week.

The "Madam" was off last week visiting her daughter Mrs. H. P. Kimbrough at Walco.

Howard Minton is taking in the sights of Birmingham this week.

The box supper here Friday night was a nice affair. $60 was made which goes on the new school building.

Butler Smith whose sickness we mentioned some time ago died in a Birmingham hospital last week and was brought home and burried at Vincent. Butler was a highly respected man, just in the prime of life. He leaves a wife and two small children, besides a mother and several brothers and two sisters, and a host of friends to mourn his depature.

J. H. Jones is assisting Judge Lyman in his court at Columbiana this week.

Since farmer Tolbert has gathed his big crop, he is giving some of his time to painting. When he is not painting his buggy, he is painting his wagon.

"Jemmie Slemp" says that the person who never pays anything to the churches or schools is the one who in always grumbling about paying.

Rev. Young, the new preacher, filled his first appointment here Sunday morning and evening at the Methodist church.

J. R. Dykes of Pell City, was in our community last week, taking options on oil land for a Texas concern.

Rev. C. J. Bentley will preach at the Baptist church at 11 o'clock a. m. Sunday. Everybody invited to come and hear him.

UNION

Prof. Ordis Rasco who is teaching at the Wallace School House, was here Sunday.

W. T. Fancher and family visited the family of L. E. Shaw Sunday.

Quite a number of the Prospect people attended church here Sunday.

E. V. Green and family of Sellers, are visiting the family of T. A. Blackerby.

B. H. Green and wife made a trip to Leeds Saturday and while there visited the family of W. L. Hughes.

J. W. Shaw went to Coiumbiana Tuesday.

Prof. T. P. Guin is moving to Oden, in the house recently vacated by J. S. Rasco.

Prayer and Praise service was well attended here Sunday nlght.

W. R. Gardner made a trip to Sylacauga Monday.

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35,000.00

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA.

N. F DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

MT. ERA

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Papais of Memphis, spent last week with Mrs. Papais' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lee.

Miss Nora Lee spent Sunday with her cousin, Miss Inez Lee in Pelham.

Vaudrey Steely of Jacksonville, was a visitor in our community Sunday.

Mrs. D. C. Hand and her daughter, Miss Orphie, spent Sunday in Shelby.

Raymond Smith and Robert Fortenberry spent Sunday in our community with friends.

Miss Ada Atchison spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Atchison.

Henry Davis who works in Jacksonville spent the week end with his family.

Every one remember the society meeting Saturday night, November 22.

A few head of high-grade livestock on a farm brings a man closer to nature and, in addition to the profits they bring, makes the farmer love farming more.

Gin Notice

Beginning next Monday, November 10, my gin at Columbiana, will run only the first three days of each week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

tf W. H. Shrader.

PROFIT

ON A SAFE BASIS

The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%

Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

$1,500,000

In New Merchandise Being Sacrificed In Our Mammoth Building Jubilee

It will pay you to come Miles to Attend

PIZITZ

Birmingham - - - - - Alabama

WEAK, RUN DOWN AFTER SICKNESS

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Mrs. Dube Well and Strong

E. Hartford, Conn.—"After a severe sickness I was so weak that I could not do my housework, so my mother told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me so much that I took six more bottles and felt fine. I have just given birth to a nice baby girl and am feeling strong and well. So different from the way I felt before. I am taking the Vegetable Compound right along while nursing. The baby seems to be in good health, and my friends say they see a big change for the better in me."—Mrs. EUGENE DUBE, 59 Woodbridge Street, East Hartford, Connecticut.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine to bring back health and strength. Many mothers have found this true, as did Mrs. Dube. Ask some of your neighbors and friends, for there are women everywhere who know by experience the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women."

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

A safe, dependable and effective remedy for Coughs, Colds, Distemper, Influenza, Heaves and Worms among horses and mules. Absolutely harmless, and as safe for colts as it is for stallions, mares or geldings. Give "Spohn's" occasionally as a preventive. Sold at all drug stores.

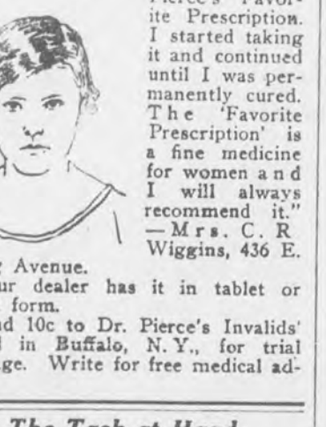
SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND. U.S.A.

NR TO-NIGHT Tomorrow Alright

NR a mild, vegetable laxative to relieve Constipation and Biliousness and keep the digestive and eliminative functions normal.

Get a 25c. Box

Used for over 30 years



Chips off the Old Block

NR JUNIORS—Little NRs

One-third the regular dose. Made of same ingredients, then candy coated.

For children and adults.

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST

Cuticura Soap Is Pure and Sweet Ideal for Children

Sample Soap, Ointment, Talcum free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

If our grandfathers had some strong prejudices, those are usually the first thing we inherit.

The Woman Who Knows

Memphis, Tenn.—"I suffered terribly at times until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I started taking it and continued until I was permanently cured. The 'Favorite Prescription' is a fine medicine for women and I will always recommend it."—Mrs. C. R. Wiggins, 436 E. Trigg Avenue.

Your dealer has it in tablet or liquid form.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package. Write for free medical advice.

The Task at Hand

Hobo A—If you had nothin' else ter do, wot would you do?

Derelict B—Nothin' else.

MUNYON'S PAW PAW PILLS for Constipation

Have aided thousands suffering pain and torments of disordered digestions. A harmless, effective vegetable laxative.

Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic makes you well, keeps you young.

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

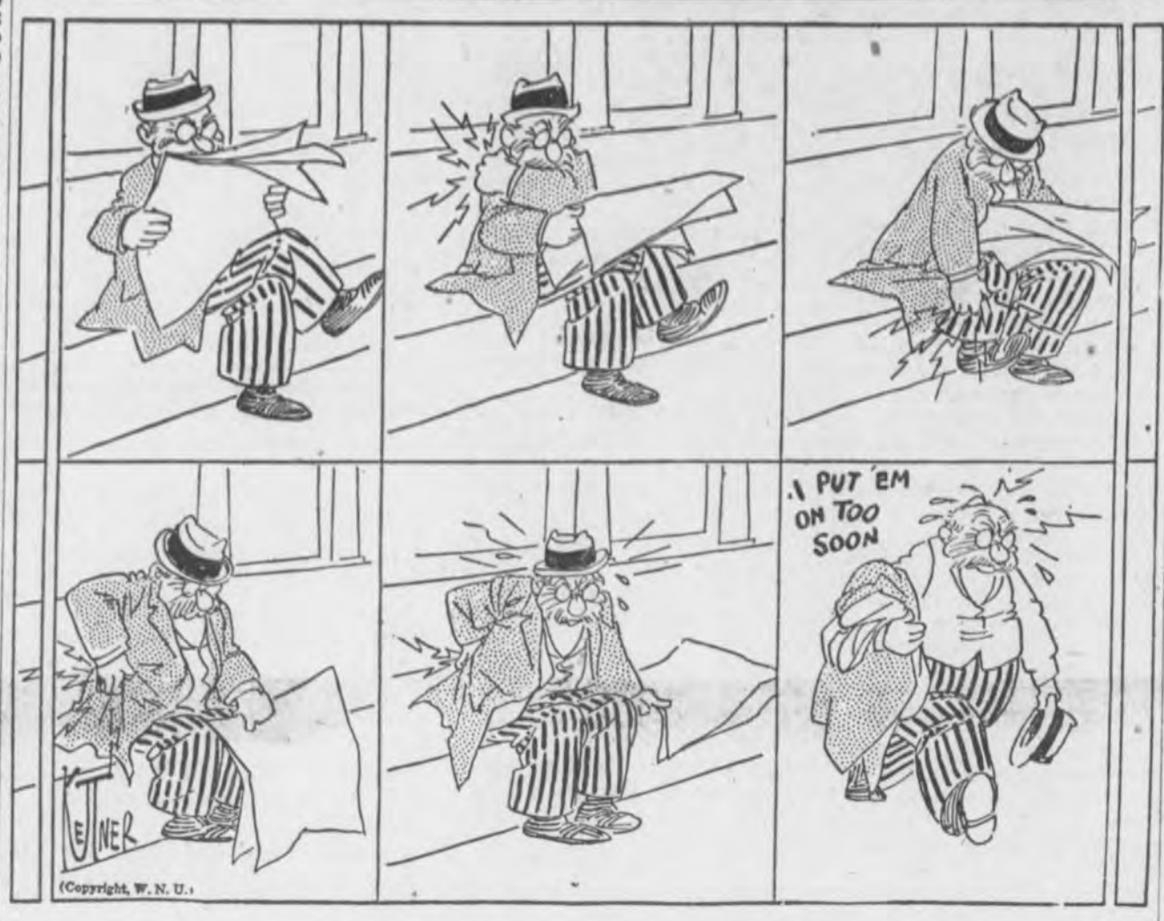
"There is Hope"

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

MUNYON'S • Scranton, Pa.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Our Pet Peeve



Outta Luck Again

A Little Error

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Are Microbes Real?

THE microscope is just ninety years old. Yet in that short time, no longer than the life of many persons still living, it has changed our ideas of the world we live in.

We naturally think of the world as limited to what we can see. Yet we know that there are many things in the world beyond our vision. The sailor knows that the land too far away for him to see will be made visible to him by the telescope, which brings far objects near.

The human eye is limited, not only as to the distance which it can see but also as to the size of the object it can see. The microscope makes small objects visible just as the telescope makes distant objects visible. When the watchmaker has a delicate job of repairing to do, he uses his microscope, so that he can see the tiny springs and wheels plainly enough to work on them. The wheels are there, even if they are too small for his eyes to see. They are just as real as larger objects, only we can't see them until the microscope has given additional power to our eyes.

The microscope was invented in its present form in 1835 by three men—Lister, an Englishman; Chevalier, a Frenchman, and Amici, an Italian.

The microscope is used today in hundreds of factories and workshops, and is indispensable in any work which is too fine for the unaided human eye. Yet there are still many people who regard anything seen through a microscope as imaginary rather than real.

The microscope doesn't create anything or imagine anything. It doesn't increase the size of the object looked at, any more than a telescope brings a distant ship any nearer. It merely increases the power of the human eye, so that it can see an object too small to be seen by the unaided vision.

One of the first discoveries made with the microscope was that there were many living things in this world too small for the human eye to see. These tiny living creatures were called "animalculae" or little animals by old Van Leeuwenhock, the Dutch spectacle maker, who first saw them in 1683. He thought they were animals. In 1878, Sidillot, a French scientist, called them "microbes" or "little lives."

They are little plants, very small but just as real as an oak tree or a cabbage plant. There are many different kinds and they grow from seed just like wheat and corn.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Dodging Diabetes

THE discovery of insulin is a great advance in the treatment of diabetes. But insulin does not in any way prevent this disease. It only enables the doctor to control it and to keep the diabetic alive a few years.

No one knows why, in some persons, diabetes occurs. But we do know that it is increasing. Doctor Joslin, one of the best-known authorities on this disease, says there are probably more than half a million persons in this country suffering from this disease.

We do know that it is more common among the well-to-do than among those in moderate circumstances. It is more common among those who lead sedentary lives than among those who do hard physical work, and, most important of all, it is much more common among the fat than the thin.

During middle life, a fat person is 40 times as apt to have diabetes as a person of normal or slightly under normal weight.

So diabetes seems to be a disease of the prosperous. Those who overeat and under-exercise are preferred candidates for this disease.

After you once get it, there is no cure. You can control it by proper living but you can never get entirely well again. You've got to pay the price, the rest of your life, of eating too much, especially too much sugar and starch, and working too little.

After you get it, the first thing the doctor will do will be to cut out sugar and starch and to reduce your weight. Knowing this, isn't it sensible to do these things yourself, before you are sick, rather than to wait and do the same things after it is too late?

The most common defect of middle age is overweight. Fat is not only a burden but a danger. Cut down on candy, pie, pudding and other sweets. Eat less white bread and cereals and more fresh fruit and vegetables. Drink more milk and fewer ice cream sodas. If your work doesn't give you enough exercise, give your muscles something to do that will keep them active. Drink plenty of pure water and breathe plenty of fresh air.

Good health is easy, if you will live simply. It costs less than the disease and is a great deal more comfortable.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

A Tragic Comedy

The proud possessor of a palatial home was much importuned by a movie company to let them use it for a few takes. One day he assented, left for his office as usual, and in due time returned. He found a bath tub on the lawn, half the windows broken and the front door in splinters. "I didn't know it was to be a comedy," remarked the owner as he surveyed the scene

FREE To Housewives

Send us your name and we will send you, FREE and POSTPAID a 10 cent bottle of LIQUID VENEER. Wonderful for your daily dusting. Cleans, dusts and polishes with one sweep of your dust cloth. Renews pianos, furniture, woodwork, automobiles. Makes everything look like new. Makes dusting a pleasure.

Sold by Hardware, furniture, drug, paint, grocery and general stores.

LIQUID VENEER COMPANY Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

CONTINUOUS HATCHER An Innovation

Agents Wanted

Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.

Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co. Box 675. Jackson, Miss.

One way to judge a man's character s by what he doesn't say.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Swamp-Root a Fine Medicine

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

The smaller the man the greater his vanity.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! Even constipated, bilious, feverish, or sick, colic Babies and Children love to take genuine "California Fig Syrup." No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without griping. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs. Say "California" to your druggist and avoid counterfeits. Insist upon genuine "California Fig Syrup" which contains directions.

Even master minds borrow.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine will do what we claim for it—rid your system of Catarrh or Deafness caused by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co. Sherman Tex.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

A wise man hastens to forgive.

One 50-cent bottle of Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" will save money, time, anxiety and health. One dose expels Worms or Tapeworm. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

He who aspires must perspire.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Don't Let That Cold Turn Into "Flu"

Rub on Good Old Musterole

That cold may turn into "Flu," Grippe or, even worse, Pneumonia, unless you take care of it at once.

Rub good old Musterole on the congested parts and see how quickly it brings relief.

Colds are merely congestion. Musterole, made from pure oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other simple ingredients, is a counter-irritant which stimulates circulation and helps break up the cold.

As effective as the messy old mustard plaster, does the work without blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. You will feel a warm tingle as it enters the pores, then a cooling sensation that brings welcome relief.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE
in 24 Hours — HILL'S — in 3 Days
CASCARA QUININE

Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.
At All Druggists—30 Cents

You can only govern men by serving them. The rule is without exception

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Be good. Be kind. Be charitable. Others may see your faults even as you look upon theirs.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Don't Stay Dizzy, Bilious, Headachy, Sick or Constipated.

Feel fine! Let "Cascarets" clean your bowels and stimulate your liver. No griping or overacting. Millions of men, women, and children take this harmless laxative-cathartic. It doesn't sicken you like pills, oils, calomel and salts. Tastes nice—acts wonderful. Sold at drug stores.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Makes the Body Strong. Makes the Blood Rich. 60c

BOYS & GIRLS Earn Xmas Money
Write for 50 sets St. Nicholas Christmas Seals. Sell for 10c set. When sold send us $3.00 and keep $2.00. No work—just fun. St. Nicholas, 2314 Glenwood Rd., Dept. W, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Household Necessity

For cuts, burns, blisters, rashes, wounds, or skin troubles of any kind. Soothing and healing. Keep it always in the house. In tubes or bottles. Look for the trademark "Vaseline" on every package. It is your protection.

Chesebrough Mfg. Co. (Cons'd)
State Street New York

Vaseline
PETROLEUM JELLY

Thirty Running Sores

Remember, I stand back of every box. Every druggist guarantees to refund the purchase price (35 cents) if Peterson's Ointment doesn't do all I claim.

I guarantee it for eczema, old sores, running sores, salt rheum, ulcers, sore nipples, broken breasts, itching skin, skin diseases, blind, bleeding and itching piles, as well as for chafing, burns, scalds, cuts, bruises and sunburn.

"I had 30 running sores on my leg for 11 years, was in three different hospitals. Amputation was advised. Skin grafting was tried. I was cured by using Peterson's Ointment."—Mrs. F. E. Root, 287 Michigan Street, Buffalo, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

The SANDMAN STORY

LAUGH WAS ON MR. FOX

MR. FOX did not like to be laughed at, and as he most always had the laugh on some one else, he seldom had to, but one day Jack Rabbit, who had often suffered from tricks of Mr. Fox's planning, caught sight of Mr. Fox limping along with a pair of crutches.

Jack was hiding under a cabbage in the garden eating his dinner and happened to spy Mr. Fox, but all at once

"How Did You Get Up Here?" Quacked Granny Duck.

Jack's eyes popped wide open, for Mr. Fox had put his crutches under his arm and jumped over a stone wall.

"Just as I thought," said Jack, "He is up to something. I'm going to see what it is. He isn't lame at all."

Jack scampered out of the garden, slipped through the stone wall and hid where he could see what was going on. Mr. Fox now was using his crutches again and limping slowly towards a place in the barnyard fence where the poultry could be seen on the other side.

"Oh, oh!" screamed a hen as she caught sight of Mr. Fox.

"Come back. He can't hurt us," said another. "He is lame. How did you hurt your leg, Mr. Fox?" she asked. "Jumping from the top of the poultry house?"

All the hens cackled, but Mr. Fox only shook his head. "No. I have not done any jumping lately" (Jack smiled as he thought of the jump Mr. Fox had just made over the stone wall). "I have sprained my ankle. I slipped on a stone crossing a brook."

"How did you manage to get up here, then, if you are so lame?" quacked old Granny Duck. "Seems to me you took a hard walk for a sprained ankle."

"I am obeying the orders of the doctor," solemnly replied Mr. Fox. "He told me I must take exercise walking up hill. I mind most walking alone, though. If I had one or two charming companions like Miss Young Duck or Miss Goosey, I should not mind the pain, I am certain."

"Oh, dear, let's go," giggled Miss Goosey. "It will be such an adventure to go walking with that sly creature."

Miss Young Duck quacked that she thought it would be great fun, and they were just crawling under the fence when Mr. Dog leaped from somewhere and, dropping his crutches, Mr. Fox ran lickety split for home.

Jack Rabbit fell over laughing, and when he crawled out from his hiding place he saw nothing of Mr. Fox or Mr. Dog, but Mr. Fox's crutches were on the ground near the fence.

"I'll just take them to him," said Jack, smiling to himself, but he was wise enough to hide in the woods until he saw Mr. Dog return.

"He got away," said Jack. "Trust Mr. Fox for fooling Mr. Dog."

When Jack first knocked on the door of Mr. Fox's house there was no answer, but after two hard bangs with the end of a crutch Mr. Fox cautiously opened a shutter upstairs and asked. "What's wanted?"

"Here are your crutches," said Jack. "I know your walk over the hill cured your lame ankle, but I thought you might sprain it again some time and need them."

"Yes, I might," said Mr. Fox. "Thank you."

Jack Rabbit ran off shaking with laughter. "I had the joke on him this time, anyway," he said.

"Now, I wonder where that little snapper was?" said Mr. Fox as he crept back into his bed. "Never knew such a nosey little fellow as Jack Rabbit. I wonder just how he knows about that trip over the hill?"

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Virginia Valli

Charming Virginia Valli, the "movie" star, was born and educated in Chicago, where she began her career as an interpretative dancer, later going to Hollywood as a motion picture actress. Her brunette beauty, her acting and her popularity generally brought her rapidly to the fore in Filmland.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

MR. AND MRS. NICK

EVERYONE who visited Nick and Mrs. Nick came away convinced that their home was a wonderful organization—their household ran on greased wheels. "It is better run than anything I've ever seen," each guest would agree, "but—"

Then Dick suddenly turned up from the West. Dick and Nick had not seen each other since their bachelor days years before when they worked from sunrise to sunset and rested from sunset to sunrise.

Dick just telephoned from the station that he was in town; Mrs. Nick said that, if he'd only written ahead that he would come, they would have been prepared for him more formally than he would find them now. Formality was the last thing Dick wanted from Nick's wife, as he explained, starting to carry his valise upstairs. Nick, who knew his wife pretty well, gently but firmly set the big bag on the floor and said with a laugh that discipline must be preserved. Then he and Dick mounted to Dick's room for an old-time talk. They were just well under way when Nick jumped up, saying that they would be late for dinner—there was exactly ten minutes to dress.

At the table they decided on a reunion of all the old crowd within hailing distance. Monday they would have a stag party. But, "not Monday," put in Mrs. Nick gently. Mrs. Nick was "at home" Monday afternoon, and she always planned not to have guests Monday night.

Half an hour later they were comfortably seated round a blazing fire. Dick had his hand in his pocket on his cigarette case when Nick said, "Sorry, old man, I can't ask you to smoke in here—we keep the little room at the end of the hall for smoking."

Then Mrs. Nick had an emergency schedule to present—not, she repeated, what his entertainment would have been had he "written ahead" of his coming. And Dick settled down to the real work of visiting in a well-organized household.

Next summer Mr. and Mrs. Dick asked Nick and his wife to their ranch. At breakfast they served themselves; then they were offered their choice of horses or the library for the day; dinner was the only fixed hour, and everyone was so hungry for that that they were all invariably prompt. No planning was obvious; yet there was variety from day to day. And always there were the mountains and the river and the open sky and a sense of freedom.

On their return in the fall, Mrs. Nick said suddenly: "My dear, has it ever occurred to you that in our life here we need more leeway?"

"What do you mean?" asked Nick cautiously.

"I think we have been over-systematized, over-organized. Too much routine is a bad habit."

HAVE YOU THIS HABIT?

(© by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

URSULA

THE ancient Romans were apparently fond of wolves and bears; at least, many of the masculine and feminine names originating from them, were derived from their terms for animals. One of these is Ursula, which comes from the Roman ursus, meaning bear.

Ursus, as a proper name was popular in early times among semi-Romans and Gallic bishops. But it was perhaps some allusion to the pole-star which made Ursula, (little bear) furnish the name of the heroine of the curious legend of Cologne, that the Breton maiden, who, on her way to her betrothed British husband, was shipwrecked on the German coast and slain by Attila, king of the Huns, with 11,000 virgin companions. The skulls of the maidens are shown at Cologne and their princess' name has been followed by noble ladies.

The Irish word mahon also signifies bear and hence some of the MacMahons of Ireland have turned themselves into Fitz Ursulas. The popularity of the name has spread into all the countries of Europe and has been copied to some degree in America, though most of our Ursulas are of foreign extraction. The English have two other charming forms beside Ursula; they are Ursel and Ursley. France favors Ursule and many a religieuse has borne the name of Sister Ursule. Spain adopted the form of Ursola, while Portugal accepts the English version of Ursula. Italy follows Spain with Ursola. The unmistakable Teutonic interpretation is Uriel or Urschael. Urssala comes to us from the Russian and the Dutch have a peculiarly musical Orseline.

Ursula's talismanic gem is the topaz. This beautiful amber stone is said to shine like the sun in the dark mines where it is found and the ancients believe that certain rays of the sun are imprisoned in the stone. For that reason it has the beneficial effects of sunlight on its wearer and dispels evils and danger as the sun drives away the terrors of the night. But it must be set in gold to be effective. Tuesday is Ursula's lucky day and 5 her mystic number. The chrysanthemum is her flower.

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

THE GOOD WORD

"WHAT'S the good word?"
quoth one to me.
"Well, you can take your choice of three."
Said I. "There's LOVE, and
HOPE, and CHEER,
All sounding sweetly on my ear."
"I'll take the first," said he,
"and you
Can keep yourself the other two,
For if I've LOVE it seems to me
I hold the substance of the three."
And as I thought it o'er that night,
I found the wise old chap was right,
For he to whom true LOVE doth fall
Hath truly won and garnered all.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

LUCKY-BUGS

THE lucky-bug superstition is largely, but not entirely, confined to children. Have you not, as a child, sought to catch in your hand one of those little, black water-beetles which go gyrating about upon the surface of still pools or the calm backwaters of brooks and rivers? Most children have and most children do to this day; while it is not unusual to see a "grown-up" engaged in the same diversion. In some sections they say that the catching of a lucky-bug brings good fortune and in other sections you are advised to bury the captured beetle and make a wish, when you will assuredly "get your wish." In some places this little water-beetle is called the "dollar bug" and the superstition is that you will get a dollar for every one you catch. But generally their capture simply means good luck.

The lucky-bug gets his magic powers principally from the fact that he is a beetle—a sort of scarab; the mystic virtues and powers of the scarab among the ancient Egyptians are well known. The beetle was sacred; it typified the self-created gods, the rising sun, immortality and the resurrection. Beetles of metal or stone were worn by the Egyptians living and placed upon their dead mummies as amulets—for good luck. As we know, much of the ancient mythology of Europe was derived from Egyptian sources and from European mythology we derive directly such of our popular superstitions as have a mythological basis. The little lucky-bug is not. It is true, the same sort of a beetle as the sacred scarab of the Pharaohs but he is nearly enough related to it to partake of its mystic properties and to be a good-luck amulet. The fact that he gyrates about on water, that element so revered by the ancients as a source of life, does not detract from his luck-bringing qualities.

(©, 1924, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Ginger Snaps!

so good that each one calls for more

½ cup sugar (granulated) — 3¼ cups self-rising flour
1 cup molasses — ½ teaspoon soda
½ cup shortening — 1 teaspoon ginger

Heat molasses to boiling point. Add soda when removed from fire. Pour hot molasses over shortening. Mix ginger with flour and combine mixtures. This will make a stiff dough which is easily handled if thoroughly chilled before rolling very thin. Cut and bake on greased pans in moderate oven.

NOTE: In making rolled cookies of any kind, it may be necessary to add more flour to make dough stiff enough to handle.

A book of delightful recipes is offered below; send for your free copy

WHO doesn't love old fashioned ginger snaps—those nut-brown cookies with that tang of spice and fresh molasses? Light enough to be healthful, spicy enough to be appetizing, tasteful enough to make you want to eat a whole jarful—how the folks will enjoy them if they're made from good self-rising flour.

It's real fun to make ginger snaps, hurry-up cakes, doughnuts, waffles and dozens of other delicious things if you use self-rising flour. Like plain flour, it comes in a number of different grades and sells at various prices—the grade determining the price you pay. To save you time in cooking and to insure you light, tasteful bakings, pure phosphate baking powder has been added.

Buy self-rising flour that carries the blue symbol of the Soft Wheat Millers' Association. This Blue Shield on a bag of self-rising flour means you are buying pure, healthful, wholesome flour that has the hearty approval of food officials, dieticians and baking experts. If for any reason you are not satisfied with the baking results, your money will be cheerfully refunded.

SOFT WHEAT MILLERS' ASSN., Inc., NASHVILLE, TENN.

Use SELF-RISING Flour
It's Healthful Dependable Economical

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Every bag of self-rising flour bearing this Blue Shield of purity is fully guaranteed by the Soft Wheat Millers' Association, Inc. The contents are absolutely pure and wholesome and comply with all Pure Food Laws. If you are not satisfied with your baking results, the Association will cheerfully refund your money.

Get this Free Book of Recipes

Home Economics Dept.
Soft Wheat Millers' Assn., Inc., Nashville, Tenn.

Send your FREE book "Fifty Ways to Use Self-Rising Flour" to:

Don't fail to send for this valuable and handsomely illustrated book.

Name.....

Address.....
(Write or print name and address plainly)

© 1924 SWMA 1570-2

Better it is to write of laughter than of tears, for laughter is the natural function of man.

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes

That itch and burn, by hot baths of Cuticura Soap followed by gentle anointings of Cuticura Ointment. Nothing better, purer, sweeter, especially if a little of the fragrant Cuticura Talcum is dusted on at the finish. 25c each.—Advertisement.

One is not often dissatisfied with others excepting because one is dissatisfied with one's self.

For Cuts, Burns, Poisoned Wounds, any sore, mosquito bites, bee stings, use Tanford's Balsam of Myrrh. Antiseptic and healing. Three sizes; all stores.—Adv.

Talents are distributed by nature without regard to pedigree.

Smarting, scalding, sticky eyes relieved by morning if Roman Eye Balsam is used when retiring. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Quarrels would not last long if the wrong were only on one side.

PIANOS & PLAYERS — ORGANS and PHONOGRAPHS Shipped on trial. Write for catalog. Mention which instrument you want. We will save you money. Terms easy. E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Co. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Buy Concord Yarns direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

BE YOUR OWN HORSE DOCTOR—Save veterinary bills. Complete course by mail. Farm Science Institute, Orangeburg, S. C.

Xtra Xmas Money—Refined ladies make big profits selling Odor-No-Mor powder. Send dime for sample and particulars. Odor-No-Mor Co., 1645 Kay St., Washington, D. C.

WANTED—OLD POSTAGE STAMPS on entire postmarked envelopes, also single stamps, in use before 1880; highest prices paid. J. W. Ross, 810 W. 11th St., Erie, Pa.

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 47--1924.

Credit Account

Prison Governor (to released convict)—I'm sorry. I find we have kept you here a week too long.

Convict—That's all right. Knock it off next time!

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds — Headache — Neuralgia — Lumbago
Pain — Toothache — Neuritis — Rheumatism

Safe — Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Fall pruning is timely pruning.

It is not too soon to begin making plans for the 1915 crop.

If you don't know your county agent or your home demonstration agent, get acquainted. They like to be of service.

No, time isn't much to a hog, but a warm dry place in the winter is, and he'll grow faster for it.

The longer you put off terracing the deeper the gullies, the poorer the soil, the lower the yield the cheaper the land become, and the harder it will be to build up again.

Parent-Teacher Assn. Will Sell Christmas Seals

The Parent-Teacher Association of Columbiana, will have charge of the sale of Christmas Seals this year. Seventy-five per cent of the funds derived from the sale of seals is returned to promote health work in the school. They hope that friends of the schools will be very liberal in the purchase of these Christmas seas.

The Association also has samples of very beautiful greetinc cards and they will be glad to receive orders from any who may be interested, for these cards.

Mrs. Joel Chandler, Mrs. R. W. Stuckey and Mrs, R. M. Jones are attending the state meeting of the W. M. U. at Opelika this week.

Mrs. J. M. Leonard and her sons James and Francis, spent Sunday with Mr, and Mrs. J. B. Ozley at Longview.

Mrs. J. C, Curlee of Talladega spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Acker.

P. M, Henderson and his little son Robert, of R 2, Wilsonville, were visitors to the Reporter Saturday. Mr. Henderson is planning to move soon with his family to Boaz, where he recently bought a farm.

Melvin Smith who is in charge of the Jones Auto Company's branch office at Moulton spent the week end with relatives and friends in Columbiana.

Mrs. J. B. Pitts, Misses Emmie John and Louise Pitts, Hazel and Nalda Morrow and Mr, Nathan Frost visited Mr. and Mrs, Ralph Williams in Birminghom Sunday.

The death of Mrs, T. P. Roberts brought a number of her relatives and friends to Columbiana to attend the funeral Thursday. Among these were: Mrs. Jessie Fitz patrick of Bessemer, sister of Mrs. Roberts; Mrs. L. N. Bowden of West End; Mrs, L. L. Whittle of Ensley, Mr. and Mrs. Richter of Bessemer; Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Miller, of Gantt's Quarry, Mr. and Mrs, J. H. Lane and family of Sylacauga; Joe P. Ronerts and sons of Sylacauga; Mrs. Edna Roberts and her son, Harry Mims of Talladega, and Miss Margaret B. Stone of Easonville.

Beauty Specialties

You will find it a pleasure to purchase your toilet preparations at our store.

Our stock is so varied and complete that it will meet the requirements of the most exacting and fastidi- our taste.

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

BUY A RADIO NOW

You are missing some good Programs. We will install a Radio for you for one-third cash and balance on small monthly payments,

POLK BROTHERS

CHEVROLET DEALERS

A

LUCKY BUY

FOR THE MEN

The biggest bargain we ever picked up. 100 suits and overcoats at about one-half their value. The very finest of worsted Suits and Over Coats worth up to $35.00, but we are going to pass our bargains on to you.

Suits, $12.50 to $20.00

Over Coats, worth up to $20, to go at from . .

$10.00 TO $14.00

Also one big lot boys short trouser suits WAY DOWN IN PRICE.

Farmers Exchange

The Store For Economical People.

COLUMBIANA, - - ALABAMA

TEN REASONS

WHY YOU SHOULD VISIT OUR STORE SATURDAY NOVEMBER 22

Red Star Sweet Feed, sack . .	$2.50
Irish Potatoes, peck	35c
Evaporated Apples, per pound .	15c
Evaporated Peaches, per pound .	15c
Tomatoes, can	10c
Bruton Snuff, box	15c
Kerosene Oil, 5 gallons for . .	80c
Ten qt. Galv. Water Bucket . .	20c
Jim Dandy Scratch Feed, sack .	$3.25
Dainty Flour, 10 pound sack . .	65c

John F. Averyt & Sons

CALERA, ALABAMA

John F. Allen Writes About Ladders

Since my little article about the Four Square Man was so kindly received, I will endeavor to interest and help the young readers of your paper.

There are many kinds of ladders, some to go up, some to go down, some of iron, some of wood, some of rope. Jacob saw in his vision a ladder reaching to heaven with the angels ascending and descending. The old blue back speller pictured a ladder reaching to Fame crowded at the bottom and with plenty of room at the top.

But the ladder I wish to speak of is the ladder of Life, which we all must climb, either up or down.

The first step on this ladder is Obedience to Parents, to Teachers, to our Government and to God. Without obedience to our parents we cannot build up strong robust bodies, we cannot have quiet peaceful homes to teach us to use such food and drink as are helpful and to leave off those things that are harmful.

If we are not obedient in school our teachers cannot successfully instruct us. By disobedience we harm not only ourselves but everyone else in the school, we help to break up schools, leaving children to grow up in ignorance and causing the hopes of fond parents for their children to fail.

Unless we obey the laws of our country we will go into a state of anarchy and confusion. No man will be safe in his life or possessions. It is not for us to define the laws and say whether they are just, but to obey.

Without obedience to God there is no love, no peace on earth, no friendship, no hope of heaven. God is wonderfully great and good but he will not save a rebellious and disobedient person.

Let us sum up and see what we gain by obedience. A strong healthy body, a happy home, a quick trained mind, a safe sound government to live under and a home in Heaven.

Lest I tax you too heavily, I will stop here and tell about the next step in the Ladder of Life, Industry, at some future time.

John F. Allen.

FOR SALE:—1½ horse power gas engine; Stover make with Bosh Magneto; will use gasoline or kerosene, Has been used altogether about one and a half months. Selling because I am using electric power. A bargain for some one who need a good engine. Dr. R. E. Styring, Helena, Al., can be seen any Sunday.

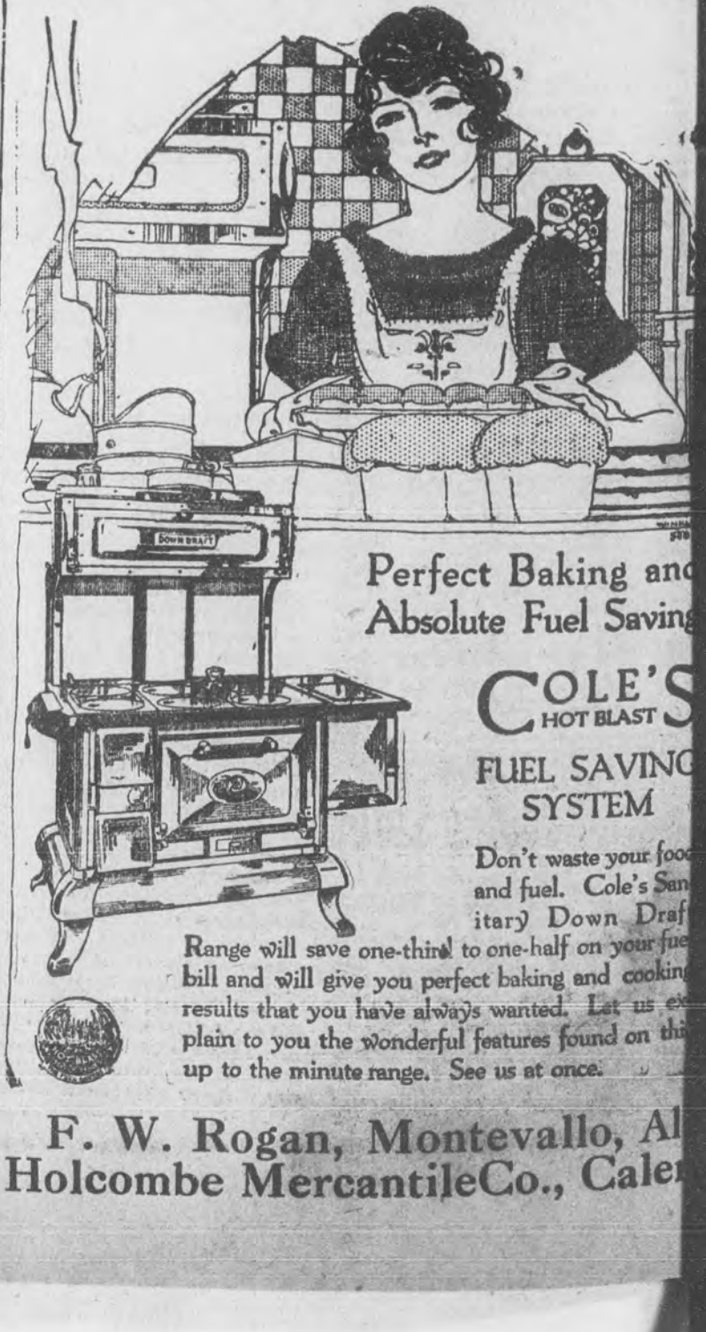
Cole's Down Draft Range saves one-third of your fuel bills. It burns the gases that other ranges waste.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to our friends our grateful appreci of their sympathy, faithful ice and prayerful remembr shown us in our great sorrow bereavement in the almost s translation of our mother, M P. Roberts.

Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Ro and other loved one

Better fruit trees are obt at a smaller price by buyin operatively.



Perfect Baking and Absolute Fuel Saving

COLE'S HOT BLAST

FUEL SAVING SYSTEM

Don't waste your food and fuel. Cole's Sanitary Down Draft Range will save one-third to one-half on your fuel bill and will give you perfect baking and cooking results that you have always wanted. Let us explain to you the wonderful features found on this up to the minute range. See us at once.

F. W. Rogan, Montevallo, Al

Holcombe MercantileCo., Cale

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year.

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, NOVEMBER 27, 1924.

Vol. 81. No. 45.

Circuit Clerk

MONTEVALLO EXCHANGE CLUB WILL AWARD LOVING CUP TO MOST DESERVING CITIZEN

Nominations For the Honor Being Published In The Reporter

The Exchange Club of Montevallo early in the year, voted to award a loving cup, valued at $50 to that man or woman in Montevallo or in the surrounding community, who should be deemed to have contritbuted most during the year, to the welfare of the community.

Nominations for the trophy are to be made to the secretary of the Exchange Club. The club desires that citizens will write letters to the secretary, nominating the person whom they think has done most for the community giving reasons why their nominee should receive the trophy.

Letters nominating C. G, Smith, president of the Exchange Club, of Montevallo, and Rev. P. H, Carmichael, pastor of the Montevallo Presbyterian church have been received and are published below. Other letters will be published as they are received by the secretary:

C. G- Smith is Nominated By Mr. Carmichael

I would like to nominate for this high honor Mr. Charleton G. Smith, president of the Montevallo Exchange Club, Mr. Smith has given freely of his time and service to the development of the Exchange Club, and through it the development of Montevallo. His first notable achievement was as chairman of the committee for the depot at Wilton, he worked persi-stently in the face of many obstacles to secure a much needed extnsion of the station. After more than a year of effort the Southern Railway finally agreed to expend approximately $2,500 for its en-largement.

Mr. Smith has been instrumental in getting the gins, which were shut down year before last, opened up again, thus bringing many of the farmers back to Montevallo.

He was the leading spirit in the organization when it raised approximately $5,000 for the erection of a temporary dormitory on the college campus which brought here sixty girls who would not otherwise have been able to come either last year or this year.

As chairman of the committeefor securing new industries for Montevallo, he has reported the prospect of a new nrick plant which will doubtless be establish-ed near Montevallo shortly.

In addition to these specific achievements, he has been throughout the year the guiding spirit in the work of the Montevallo Exchange Club in all its undertakings, and to him, perhaps more than any other, belongs the credit of whatever success the organization along the various lines of activity, may have achieved.

O, C. Carmichael,

Dr. Palmer Nominates Rev . P. H. Carmichael.

I vote for Rev. P. H. Carmichael as the person who has contributed most to the welfare of the Montevallo community during the preceeding year. I do this for the following reasons:

First, he has been a most active worker in the Exchange Club, serving as its treasurer, performing all the embarrassing and necessary duties devolving upon that office. His efforts in behalf of the Club both as an official and as a committeeman, have accomplished as much as those of any other person connected with that splendid organization.

Second, he has, so far as my observation goes, done more than any other person in looking after the welfare of those who have been in distress. It seems to me that he has done far more than his share in this excellent work. I doubt if any citizen of the town knows just how much he has contributed to the needs of those who really need help from those charitably inclined. He has done this for any who have asked for help without regard to race, creed or previous condition

Third, he has taken active part in the general, educational and religious development of the town and community.

Fourth, he has been fully alive to all the best interests of the college, which is so near to the hearts of all our people.

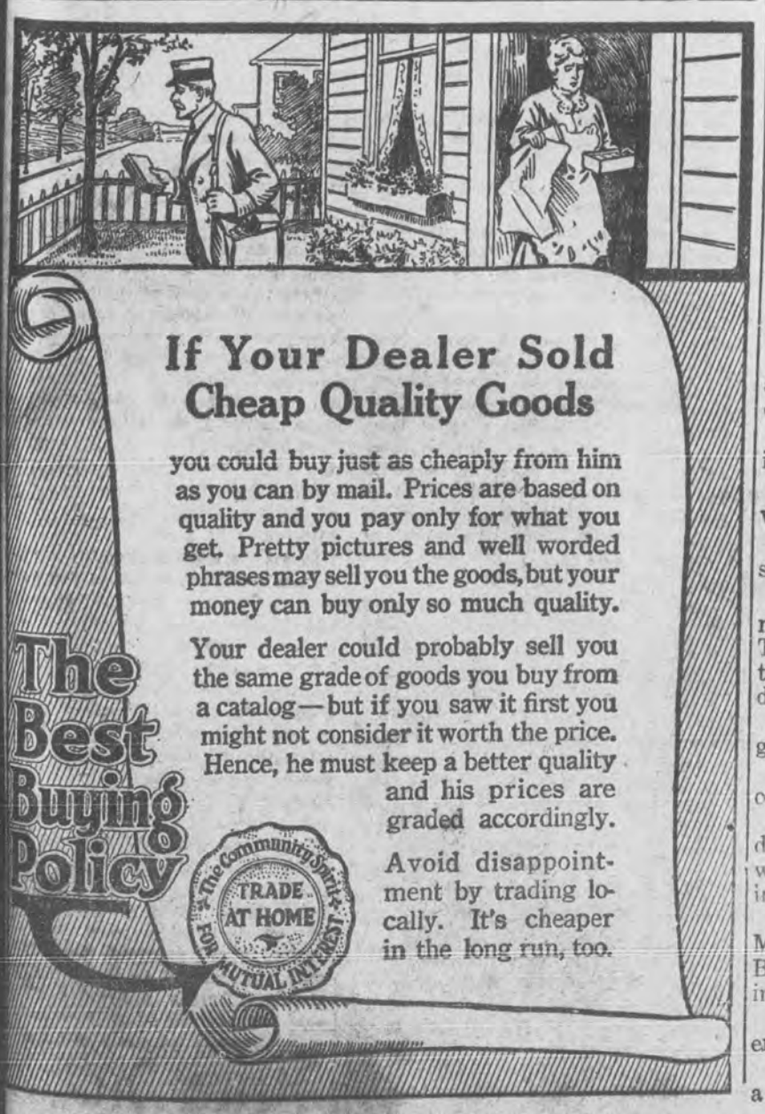
Ffth, he has been deeply concerned and has done as much as anyone in trying to awaken an interest in the improvement of our roads and streets.

T. W. Palmer.

Mr. Ward Names Mr. Smith

There can be no doubt as to Mr, Smith's qualifications in this regard. It is known throughout the state that the Exchange Club of Montevallo has functioned in a splendid fashion. This Club has generated the spirit that has made many things possible, A new road to the cemetery, an addition to the station at Wilton, a new road pro-

(Continued on Page 4)



If Your Dealer Sold Cheap Quality Goods

you could buy just as cheaply from him as you can by mail. Prices are based on quality and you pay only for what you get. Pretty pictures and well worded phrases may sell you the goods, but your money can buy only so much quality.

Your dealer could probably sell you the same grade of goods you buy from a catalog—but if you saw it first you might not consider it worth the price. Hence, he must keep a better quality and his prices are graded accordingly.

Avoid disappointment by trading locally. It's cheaper in the long run, too.

The Best Buying Policy

The Community Spirit—TRADE AT HOME FOR MUTUAL INTEREST

COUNTY WIDE DAIRY CAMPAIGN

Arrangement has been made by County Agent A. A. Lauderdale for a series of meetings to be held throughout the county on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 9th and 10th in order to explain more fully to the farmers and business men the advantages of Dairy Farming.

Competent workers have been secured to assist in the campaign. It is hoped that every farmer and business man in the communities to be visited will use his best efforts to make the campaign a success.

Meetings will be held as indicated below:

Sterrett,	December 9,	2:00	P. M.
Calcis	December 9,	7:00	"
Wallis S. H.	" 10,	2:00	"
Harpersville	" 10,	7:00	"
Westover,	" 9,	2:00	"
Fourmile,	" 9,	7:00	"
Wright S. H.	" 10,	2:00	"
McGowen S H	" 10,	7:00	"
Shelby,	" 9,	2:00	"
Kingdom,	" 9,	7:00	"
Mt. Era	" 10,	2:00	"
Chelsea	" 10,	7:00	"
Enon,	" 9,	2:00	"
Wilton,	" 9,	7:00	"
Spri ngCreek,	" 10,	2:00	"
Ebenezer,	" 10,	7:00	"
Dargin,	" 9,	2:00	"
Keystone,	" 9,	7:00	"
New Hope	" 10,	2:00	"
Bold Spring S. H.	" 10,	7:00	"

KINGDOM

Rev. Dobbs of Wilsonville preached an interesting sermon at the Methodist church here Sunday. Mr. Dobbs will preach here every fourth Sunday.

Talmage Blackerby went to Birmingham Sunday.

Walter Armstrong spent Saturday night and Sunday with Fourmile relatives.

Frank Holmes and family of Birmingham and Mrs, Charlie Tinney and Miss AdaVee Johns of Columbiana, spent Sunday with the family of J. N. Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ray of Wilsonville, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Mansfield Stone.

Ralph Richards of Birmingham, is visiting relatives here.

Miss Myrtis Beard of Wilsonville, was in our community Sunday.

Percy Hughes of Birmingham, spent the week end at home.

Mrs. A. C. Naish and Grady Lee motored over to Bon Air, last Thursday morning, returning in the afternoon accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Grover Bowen,

Austin Farley is visiting his grand fatther Mr. McDanal.

Mr. and Mrs. Green have moved on Ben Riley's place.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Gilbert, Her remains were carried to Birmingham for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King and Mrs. Leon Baker and Miss Alene Baker attended the teacher's meeting Saturday,

L. M. Templin spent the week end at home.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard a son on the 20th of November.

Vincent Wins Easily From Childersburg

Vincent, Ala., Nov. 24.—The Black and Gold cagesters of Vincent won a hard fought game from Childersburg Friday, the score being 26 to 5. Milam was the outstanding star of the game' making 12 points while Wheeler and Dewberry held the opposing team's forwards,

B. Y. P. U. Program

SUNDAY, NOV. 30, 6:30 P. M.

Subject:—Medical Missions,

Leader :—Boling Cooper.

Reading:— Adavee Johns.

Reading —Avavee Johns

Missions Abroad:—E. Crumpton

Violin Solo:—Evelyn Chapman.

Song:—187.

We want the older people to visit us, and see our work, You are cordially invited to be with us Sunday night.

CARD FROM THOS. MINOR

It is indeed very gratifying to me to have the privilege of expressing my thanks and appreciation to those who so loyally supported me in the November election for county treasurer for Shelby county, The honor conferred upon me as one of your servants for the office you have elected me to, will have my very best attention, and will give equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

Very truly yours,

Thomas Minor.

Freshmen-Sophomores Tie at Alabama College

Montevallo, Alabama, Nov. 25—The Sophomores and Freshmen, winners of the games in the interclass contest of last week, played the win off game Saturday before the largest audience ever assembled on the college campus. It was a desperate struggle from beginning to end. At the close of the game the score was a tie, 9 to 9. Another game will be played on Thanksgiving to settle the class champ onship,

Within the next few days the varsity team of twelve members will be selected. The following old members have returned and are practicing daily to be able to hold their places: Helen Townsend, of Russellville; Bill Smith, Opp; Mildred Keahey, Plantersville; Elizabeth Ward, Washington, D. C.; Fay Turner, Mobile Melba Griffin, Montevallo; Norene Martin, Enterprise; Gladys Martin, Enterprise.

Should these eight succeed in retaining their old positions, there will still be four new ones to be selected from the large number of excellent players in the class games. The outlook is bright for the best varsity team ever put forth by Alabama College.

Dr. Willena A. Peck, physician for Alabama College, left Sunday for New Orleans to attend the Southern Medical Association.

Buying Pure Bred Cows

County Agent A. A, Lauderdale and L. P. Mooney left Monday for Starkville, Miss., where they are buying a car load of pure bred cows for the members of the Shelby County Dairy Association.

Negro Minstrel at Shelby

A Negro Minstrel will be given in the Brick church on the hill, at Shelby Friday night, November 27, for the benefit of the school. Everyone invited.

Dewey Lucas Is Being Tried This Week

Dewey Lucas, who is charged with the murder of D. P. Walker at Montevallo, a year ago is being tried in the circuit court this week. The case was called Monday morning and a large number of witnesses were heard. The evidence was concluded at noon on Wednesday and at 2:30 the attorneys in the case were making their arguments.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

In two weeks the Reporter has received new subscriptions from the following:

R. I Dyer, H. W. Wells, A. J. Perkins, W. L. Arnett, Miss Ella Walton, J. R. Allen, Mrs. Inell Hawkins, C. R. Templin, H. E. Templin, Paul Sicard, W. D. Beardin, Wm. Gowers, Miss Olive Williams, J. W. Usrey, R. J. Miles, Mrs S T O'Dell, J T Jahnson, J H Blankenship, Mrs. W. H. Kirkley, Melvin Smith, M. T. Horton, F. H. Champion, E A Taltton, I D Crumpton, D. H. Richards, J. J. Crane, C. C. Cross, R. A. Hicks, M. E. Johnson, Mrs. W. H. Page, Sam Coker, C. H. Raymond, J. H. Raymond, Claude Browne, A. C. Galloway, G H Weldon, D A Thomas, T. L. Kendrick, J. P. Dykes, R. E. Glasgow, D. R. Linholm, W. T. Weaver, W. C. Evans, and Mrs H C Hawkins.

Honor Roll of Fourmile High School

The Honor Roll for Fourmile school as announced by Principal R. L. Newton is as follows:

First Grade:—Ruth Horton, Eloise Clark.

Second Grade:—Preston Wilder, Teddy Vick.

Fourth Grade:—Laura Heaslet, Albert Allen.

Frrst Junior High.—Louis Allen

First Senior High:—Ray Heaslet Marjorie Blalock.

Chicago Show Exhibits for Dixie Automobile Show

Birmingham.—New automobile accessories shown at the Automotive Equipment Show in Chicago last week have been secured for the Dixie Automobile Show, which is to be held at the Municipal Auditorium December 1 to 6. Samuel G. Neuberger, manager of the Interstate Electric Company, one of the local houses which will exhibit at the show, has returned from Chicago with the information that some of the most attractive exhibits seen there will be duplicated here.

The Christmas gift idea will be emphasized in the display of these accessories, and the newest thing in spot lights, electric cigar lighters and similar accessories will be shown.

An air compressor with glass housing instead of steel, so that the interior workings will be visible, is among the Chicago exhibits secured. The Interstate Company will also have and electric testing bench, in order to demonstrate how tests are made for all electrical trouble in an automobile, including starters, generators and charging systems.

Late bumper models and other accessories secured from the Chicago show and also from the recent New Orleans exhibit held by the Interstate Electric Company will be displayed, and there will be a comprehensive exhibit of modern garage equipment.

Entertainment Features

Special entertainment acts are being booked through the leading vaudeville agencies for the Automobile Show, and Nappi's orchestra has been engaged to furnish continuous music.

A minature model of WTAM, Cleveland's largest broadcasting station, will be one of the features of the radio exhibits to be offered in the Dixie Automobile Show.

In the accessories division of the show, Birmingham dealers who handle radio as well as automobile supplies, will have complete and interesting displays, and the model of the big Cleveland station will be a part of the exhibit of the Ewart-Brewer Company of Birmingham. The reproduction, in exact proportion and made to scale from blueprints used in the original construction of the big Cleveland station, shows the towers, the buildings and the surrounding grounds, and is complete in detail, even down to the insulators in the antennae. This exhibit is being sent to Birmingham especially for the Dixie Automobile Show by the manufacturers of Willard batteries, for whom the Ewart-Brewer Company is local representatives.

The Newest in Radio

Many other interesting exhibits showing the overnight development of radio appliances will be offered at the show by local dealers. The radio displays will supplement the showing of automobile accessories, to which many booths will be devoted also, for the purpose of indicating the newest improvements in automobile appliances. One of the latter displays, a valve-grinding exhibit, will demonstrate to car owners just what valve-grinding means and how it is done. The motorist spending an hour at the show, it is promised, will come out knowing a lot of things about his car that he didn't know when he went in. The purpose of the show is educative, and there will be a profusion of instructive exhibits.

All space has been engaged in the motor car section of the show and practically all booths have been contracted or spoken for, in the accessories division.

Fifty types of motor cars will be on display in the show, including the following makes: Paige, Jewett, Hudson, Essex, Hupmobile, Packard, Nash, Pierce-Arrow, Chandler, Chevrolet, Buick, Cadillac, Overland, Willys-Knight, Studebaker, Ford, Dodge, Reo.

SIX COUNTIES G.O.P. IN NOV. 4 ELECTION

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS FOUR ALABAMA COUNTIES CAST LESS THAN TEN REPUBLICAN VOTES

Montgomery, Ala.—Six Alabama counties remained in the Republican column in the Nov. 4 election, according to the official vote as reported by the State Canvassing Board. The counties are Chilton, Cleburne, DeKalb Franklin, St. Clair and Winston.

Below is given the official vote for each county in Alabama, the figures being those cast for the high Democratic and Republican elector:

Counties	Dem.	Repub.
Autauga	781	146
Baldwin	1,922	549
Barbour	1,340	78
Bibb	875	251
Blount	2,083	1,518
Bulloch	763	8
Butler	1,050	95
Calhoun	1,907	766
Chambers	1,922	146
Cherokee	1,280	845
Chilton	848	1,595
Choctaw	1,021	19
Clarke	1,059	78
Clay	1,597	1,017
Cleburne	622	696
Coffee	1,597	323
Colbert	1,503	576
Conecuh	955	92
Coosa	790	508
Covington	1,776	156
Crenshaw	1,107	117
Cullman	1,809	1,639
Dale	1,117	297
Dallas	1,948	50
DeKalb	3,003	3,434
Elmore	1,088	219
Escambia	1,217	152
Etowah	3,081	1,664
Fayette	1,358	977
Franklin	1,985	2,230
Geneva	1,191	478
Greene	408	5
Hale	856	23
Henry	816	179
Houston	1,731	242
Jackson	1,923	885
Jefferson	15,133	5,691
Lamar	1,087	262
Lauderdale	2,266	823
Lawrence	990	468
Lee	1,290	98
Limestone	1,415	136
Lowndes	662	5
Macon	538	48
Madison	2,166	368
Marengo	1,243	17
Marion	1,359	817
Marshall	2,629	1,718
Mobile	4,125	1,814
Monroe	1,155	22
Montgomery	4,422	233
Morgan	2,247	519
Perry	928	25
Pickens	1,045	132
Pike	1,832	30
Randolph	1,307	669
Russell	474	14
Shelby	1,882	1,753
St. Clair	1,281	1,432
Sumter	837	28
Talladega	7,730	628
Tallapoosa	1,713	209
Tuscaloosa	2,363	247
Walker	3,351	2,446
Washington	610	55
Wilcox	938	6
Winston	650	1,096

Senator Heflin Leads Ticket

United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin ran several thousand votes ahead of the rest of the Democratic ticket at the general election November 4 according to official figures from the office of the Secretary of State. Senator Heflin received 123,363 votes, while Frank S. Lathrop, his Republican opponent, received 38,881.

For Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Judge A. D. Sayre received 118,588 votes and Judge Virgil Bouldin 118,749, while the Republican candidates for the Supreme Court judgeship, P. E. Alexander and John B. Isbell, received 38,619 and 39,710, respectively. For judge of the Court of Appeals, Judge Henry B. Foster received 119,582 votes, and his Republican opponent, J. I. Abercrombie, 38,573. I. T. Quinn received a vote of 119,973 for Commissioner of Game and Fisheries, and J. B. Sloan, Republican, 38,526. A. G. Patterson, reelected president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, received 119,319 votes, and J. I. McKinney, Republican candidate, 38,597 votes.

The congressional races, where in all contested races the Democrats were victorious over Republican opponents, showed the following results: First district, John McDuffie, 9,932. Frank J. Thompson, 1,604; Third district, Henry B. Stegall, 10,425, Carlos E. Roberts, 1,457; Fourth district, Lamar Jeffers, 9,945, J. O. Middleton, 3,208; Fifth district, W. D. Bowling, 10,744, J. C. Walker, 2,530; Seventh district, M. C. Allgood, 15,984, B. S. Cooley, 11,987; Eighth district, Ed Almon, 13,353, G. M. Huckabaa, 3,040; Tenth district, W. B. Bankhead, 11,394, W. A. McMurray, 7,706. The other three Democratic congressmen had no opposition, J. Lister Hill, Second district, receiving 15,066 votes; W. B. Oliver, Sixth district, 6,672 and George Huddleston, Ninth, 18,958.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

C. M. Sherrod, of Courtland, will open his offices in Albany-Decatur about the first of December to begin the farm census in North Alabama. A card has been issued to farmers by J. C. Ford, Morgan County agent, urging them to assist the enumerators in obtaining the information sought.

More than 4,000 persons attended the giant trade day celebration sponsored by the chamber of commerce at York. A number of prizes were given including an automobile.

The Alumni Association of the State Normal School in Troy will issue a bulletin in January that will be a brief history of the association and its members.

Four women, convicted of violating the prohibition laws, were given fine of $100 and costs in the Circuit Court at Montgomery.

Coming as an unexpected bombshell in the testimony being presented in the sensational murder trial at Anniston of Bud Thompson and his son, Irvin Thompson, charged with the death of Lawrence Curd, young Ragland business man, the 18-year-old youth took the stand and absolved his father of all blame in connection with the fatal shot and admitted shooting Curd, as the man was alleged to have been reaching for a gun with which to shoot the elder Thompson.

Dr. S. W. Welch, State health officer, has been notified that the Jackson County Court of County Commissioners has voted unanimously to establish a county health unit with an all-time county health officer effective January 1. An appropriation of $5,000 has been made by the county for the purpose. Jackson County will be the twenty-fifth county in the State to organize with an all-time county health officer.

The Farley W. Moody post of the American Legion at Tuscaloosa recommended to the executive committee that the likeness of General Gorgas, chief of ordinance of the Confederate Army for four years, be placed on the Stone Mountain memorial at a recent meeting. The matter will now be taken up by the committee for consideration.

The State Department of Archives and History at Montgomery has acquired under the will of Mrs. J. S. Johnson, of Talladega, paintings comprising copies of old world masters, the value of which is estimated at several thousand dollars. The paintings will be placed in the capitol, to await the erection of a memorial building, which it is hoped will be built later.

State law enforcement officer, Kyle Young, believes he and officers Gilbert and Gore broke all records, in the size and contents of distilling outfits captured, when they raided and destroyed three mammoth stills nine miles south of Girard, in Russell County last week. Two of the stills were of 2,500 gallon capacity each, and the other was of 1,800 gallon capacity.

W. E. Meyers, former Mobile court bailiff, convicted last March in the Circuit Court of attempting to bribe a juror in the first trial of the murder case of Thomas W. Cleveland, and sentenced to a term of not less than four years or more than five, must begin his term within fifteen days. Notice that the Supreme Court had affirmed the decision of the lower court has been received in Mobile.

Riley Cheatham, negro, accused of having caused the death of George McCain, another negro, in a fight in a boat in the Tennessee River, near Finley's Island, when the boat turned over and several negro occupants were drowned, was found guilty of second degree murder in Circuit Court at Decatur and given 25 years in the penitentiary.

Speaking at the National Educational Week program of the Auburn Lions Club, Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, declared that despite Alabama's high rank in potential natural resources she stands almost at the bottom of the list of States in the support of public education, and in the percentage of illiteracy.

Silas Blankenship, 16, has been sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge James E. Horton, of the Morgan County Circuit Court. Blankenship plead guilty before Judge Horton at Decatur to the murder of Robert Tosh, 50, October 28, at a blacksmith shop, said to have been owned and operated by Tosh.

Because of alleged libelous articles appearing in a Birmingham newspaper, Capt. W. H. McElroy, who was in charge of the tag day for the Confederate sailors, has filed suit for $25,000 in the civil division of the Circuit Court Friday against W. H. Brantley, Jr.

Judge R. B. Carr, who was elected Judge of the Seventh Judicial District in November 4, opened his initial term of court in Talladega when the non jury civil docket was taken up. Judge Carr announced that he would open his court with prayer, inviting a minister to officiate.

The first session of the court of honor of the Bessemer Boy Scouts council was held in the Circuit Court room of the court house. Some nineteen boys appeared before the court and all were highly commended for their showing.

A petition has been filed with the Alabama Public Service Commission by H. L. Mims seeking authority to establish a public toll ferry over the Coosa River one mile north of Lock 12. The petition was set for hearing December 2.

Head of a dog sent in by Dr. J. H. Hastie, of Stockton, was examined at the State laboratory and showed the animal was rabit. Three persons were reported to have been bitten.

Lieutenant Tarkington in charge of the Tuscaloosa Salvation Army has left for New York. While there she will attend an important conference in regard to the work of the Salvation Army.

Sale of a lot of 50-foot frontage at Anniston for $30,000, or an average of $400 a front foot, was the outstanding transaction of an auction held there by the Anniston Land Company.

"Illiteracy Day" was observed at the State Normal School at Troy, November 18, at the assembly exercises.

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

He Cut the Cross From the British Flag

In 1636 the colonists of Massachusetts bay were in a state of great perturbation. The master of a British ship which had sailed into Boston harbor had demanded to know why no flag was flying over the little palisaded fort on Castle island to render him a salute and be saluted in turn. That was an embarrassing question, for a short time before one Richard Davenport, acting upon the orders of stern old John Endicott, had cut the cross out of the British flag because to that dour Puritan leader it symbolized the ancient Catholic religion of the mother country. That was one reason why no flag flew over Castle island, and it took considerable explaining to avoid unpleasant results.

Thus early in Massachusetts history, Castle island, this little scrap of land less than a dozen acres in extent, became an important spot. The next incident in its history came in 1689, when the hatred of the colonists for their governor, Sir Edmund Andros, resulted in a revolt and one of the first places they seized, because of its strategic importance, was the little fort on Castle island.

In 1705 Colonel Romer, a famous English engineer, was employed to repair the fort, whose palisades had fallen into sad disrepair. He demolished all of the old works and erected new ones of timbers and earth, and this new fortification, the most formidable that had yet graced Castle island, was named Castle William, or Fort William, in honor of the ruling British king.

During the French wars, Fort William was one of the most important defenses along the Atlantic coast, and at the close of these wars it had a total of 120 guns mounted on its walls. It was strongly garrisoned by the British at the outbreak of the Revolution as an aid in holding the rebellious colonists in subjection, but when Lord Howe evacuated Boston in 1776 the British flag was lowered over Fort William, never to be raised there again.

In 1798 Massachusetts ceded Fort William to the federal government. The next year when President John Adams visited Boston he suggested that Fort Independence would be a more appropriate name for this defender of American liberties, and his suggestion was adopted. In 1832 Fort Independence was enlarged into a casemated, pentagonal, bastioned fortification, and for the first time in nearly 200 years Boston had a defender worthy of the name of "fort."

Where Our Flag First Faced an Enemy

On the morning of August 3, 1777, an army of 1,700 British, Tories and Indians led by Gen. Barry St. Leger, appeared before a little palisaded structure known as Fort Schuyler, which stood on the present site of Rome, N. Y., and which was garrisoned by a small force of Americans commanded by Col. Peter Gansevoort and Col. Marinus Willet. As the enemy drew near, they saw flying above the fort a strange flag, red and white stripes with 13 stars on a blue field.

Having heard that congress had adopted this form of emblem, the garrison had made its own flag—the white stripes from a soldier's shirt, the red ones from the petticoat of one of the women in the fort and the blue field from an old cloak worn by one of the officers. Thus for the first time in history the Stars and Stripes floated in the face of an enemy, and its appearance was a historic occasion.

If St. Leger succeeded in taking the fort, he could proceed down the Mohawk valley without opposition, join forces with General Burgoyne at Albany and together the two generals would march on New York and end the Revolution by cutting off its "head." New England, from the other colonies. For more than two weeks the British leader laid siege to the fort. Then came the fierce little battle of Oriskany where old "Honikol" Herkimer, who was marching to Fort Schuyler's relief, won his costly victory, aided by a brilliant sortie led by Colonel Willet, over St. Leger's motley army. When the demoralized enemy forces retreated, the crude little banner still flew above the fort, and below it hung five British flags.

Fort Schuyler is also known by its earlier name, Fort Stanwix, in honor of Gen. John Stanwix who built it in 1758. In 1768 it was the scene of Sir William Johnson's famous treaty with the Iroquois by which he gained for the English king the title to much of what is now New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. A short time later the fort was destroyed, and when it was rebuilt in 1776 it was named Fort Schuyler in honor of Gen. Philip Schuyler, the defender of the New York frontier. Late in the Revolution Fort Schuyler was destroyed by fire and was never rebuilt, but upon this historic spot another important event occurred. In 1784 what is known as the treaty of Fort Schuyler was signed between the Iroquois and the United States and in it the six nations ceded to the United States forever their claim to the Northwest Territory, the great inland empire which now comprises Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Merging Their Interests

By GRIMBALL AVERY

(Copyright.)

"ALL aboard," shouted the conductor as the "Florida Limited" stood ready to leave New York.

"Hey, there, hold that train a second," yelled an excited but handsome man as he came trudging along the platform with six small children.

John Chapman had just finished landing the two-year-old twins, when the conductor called out: "Hurry up there, we've got to pull out. Here, porter, give him a lift with his excess baggage."

By the time the train had reached Philadelphia Chapman was actually dozing off to sleep. His nap, however, was soon interrupted, when a jolly prosperous looking business man greeted him with a healthy and vigorous slap on the shoulder.

"Why, hello, Chapman! What are you doing here? It's been years and years since I saw you last. What, are all these your children?"

Fifteen years before Chapman had roomed with Henry Smyser. He had joined the same fraternity at Ringer college, had played football with him, and had wooed the same girl.

"What's wrong with you, Chapman?" asked Smyser.

"I lost my wife about two years ago, but before I start, let me ask you a serious question. Are you married and have you any encumbrances?"

"No, I didn't marry that college widow we were both so daft about; she's still frisking around roping in the freshmen. There isn't any progeny to perpetuate my glorious name. But I want to hear how the world has been mistreating you."

As Chapman began to reply his twins started bawling. With a look of despair he opened a large suitcase, the interior of which looked partly like a drug store and a great deal more like a nursery, brought out a big, free-for-all milk bottle and after having abated the children's clamor, the father gave a long sigh, then with tears in his eyes began again: "Smyser, I don't know how to begin to tell you all I've been through since my wife died and left me all these six children on my hands."

Smyser meditated for several moments. Here was a chance to get revenge for that joke Chapman had played on him the night of the graduation dance. Never had he forgotten the time Chapman had poured tabasco sauce into his dancing pumps.

"Why don't you get a good nurse?" he ventured casually.

"Oh, tell me something new! Haven't I had hundreds of nurses already and they always leave me in the lurch?"

"That being the case," interrupted Smyser in a tone of profound wisdom, "then I have a better idea. What you need is a good wife—one that is highly domestic."

"That's not very encouraging, for no woman in her senses will have me."

"Old man," began Smyser gravely, "You are too quick to throw up the sponge. Right now I know a charming young widow at Palm Beach, and I'm sure you two would harmonize. I'd go in for her myself, but she adores tall men, and will not look at short men like myself. We'll have to sidetrack the kids till you've landed her. I'll keep them for you in some nearby town. Is it a go?"

Chapman was "game."

When they reached the famous resort Smyser played his part as a matchmaker admirably. Seldom in the varied history of knot-tying had a couple been so irresistibly drawn together. They decided to get married and leave at once for her native home in Georgia.

Smyser had consented to go on ahead and gather up Chapman's children, who had been interned at Jacksonville during the diplomatic negotiations, and take them with him to Atlanta, so that the bride would not hear of their existence till she reached her home town.

Two days later Chapman and his pretty bride were on their way to Georgia.

On alighting at Atlanta they had taken but a few steps when Smyser walked up with all of the waiting brood.

"Oh, papa, is this our lovely new mamma you said was so beautiful?" called out Chapman's eldest.

Mrs. Chapman simply beamed and looked surprised, then ran to meet an excited old black mammy, who came hobbling toward her with six other children swarming around her.

"Howdy, Miss Jenny! I'se sho glad ter see yo'; I done brung all yo' chillums to show 'em to their new daddy."

Before the grinning nurse could say more, the children were hugging their mother. Then spying their newly acquired father, one of the oldest girls called out: "Is this our papa? He is mighty handsome, just as you wrote."

To his intense delight, his bride leaned down and kissed each one of his little darlings. Never had they seemed so entirely angelic as now. She exclaimed cheerily: "Oh, how I shall love them because they are yours. We've both had such a surprise! They won't be one bit more trouble, for mammy will take perfect care of them as she does of mine, and we'll go right on and finish our wedding tour, won't we, John, dear?"

No one even thought of poor discomfited Smyser. He crawled off to a far corner, and as he watched the happy couple getting in the pullman he muttered to himself: "Well, if that wasn't a regular boomerang. I'll know myself if I ever try again to get even with John Chapman!"

POINTS ON KEEPING WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Bacteriology in the Kitchen

MOST people think of germs or microbes as awful things which produce disease. So they are, some of them.

But there are also good germs that work for man when he knows enough to let them.

Pasteur, in 1862, showed that the air and the soil are full of germs of all kinds, some of which he proved are the cause of fermentation and some of the diseases of animals and men.

At once, scientific men all over the world began to look for these little creatures. They found many different kinds and they also were able to explain by them many everyday things which had for centuries been misunderstood.

When the housewife in the kitchen mixes her dough for bread, she puts in a small amount of yeast. Why? Because she knows from her mother's teaching and from her own experience that the bread won't "rise" unless the yeast is put in.

What is yeast? The human race has used it for ages. When the angels came to visit Lot, before they destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah, he gave them "unleaven bread," that is, bread made without yeast. God commanded the children of Israel, through Moses, that the feast of the Passover was to be of unleaven bread, because they were not to wait even for the bread to rise before leaving Egypt. Everyone knew for centuries that yeast was needed to make bread rise, but no one knew why.

In 1879, Housen and Pasteur showed that yeast was a little plant which grew very rapidly in warm, moist dough; that as it grew, it gave off carbonic acid gas. The gas made little bubbles in the dough and so made it light.

Pasteur found that there were different kinds of yeast. Some made sweet bread, some made sour. He showed the bakers how to make pure yeast, which would always make sweet bread.

Fermentation was another mystery. Why did fruit and vegetable juices ferment and turn sour? Pasteur found that it was due to little plants floating in the air; that if the fruit was heated so as to kill any of these plants that may be in it and then put in airtight cans or jars, it would keep without spoiling.

Every housekeeper, when she bakes bread or puts up fruit, is running a practical bacteriological laboratory and is using the knowledge which Pasteur gave the world.

Before Pasteur's time there wasn't a can of fruit, vegetable or meat in the world.

Today, we can every year millions of pounds of food for future use.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Transplanting the Eye

STARTLING articles have appeared in American newspapers, from time to time, regarding an astonishing operation performed by an Austrian surgeon. This man, according to the accounts, has succeeded in transplanting the eyes of animals in place of human eyes which had lost their sight and has so restored sight to the blind.

Such stories are not only impossible, but are also cruel imposition on unfortunates who have lost the sight of one or both eyes. Sight is the most precious of any of our senses. Any one who has become blind would naturally give anything or all that he possessed to regain his sight. If such a thing were possible, it would be a great boon to the world. So much has been written about the transplantation of glands and organs that the public is quite prepared to believe that the eye could be successfully transplanted and sight restored.

But, alas, in spite of the wonders accomplished by modern surgery, such a miracle is entirely beyond human skill. Successful transplantation of a structure from one body to another, either animal or human, means that the arteries and veins must be so accurately connected that the blood will flow through them and that the cut nerves must be united so that they will grow together and the cut fiber will be continuous. If the nerves could be separated into fibers and twisted together, as the telephone lineman repairs a broken cable, this might be done, but this is not only today but probably forever impossible.

In a few cases glands of animal or of other human beings have been transplanted to other human beings, where they have for a short time produced some effects. But in a little while they shrink up and gradually disappear. There has been no case as yet where any structure from another body actually lived and worked as a part of the new body. Still less would it be possible for as delicate and complicated a structure as the human eye to be taken out of the body where it belonged and put into another human eye socket so that the individual operated on would be able to see.

Sight is the sensation caused by light falling on the retina. This sensation is carried to the brain by the optic nerve. If the eyeball is destroyed or if the optic nerve is cut, no power on earth can possibly restore sight to the eye.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

SUNDAY — Breakfast: Grapefruit cream of wheat. Dinner: Roast duck with apples, orange salad, macaroons coffee. Supper: Tomato cream soup ginger bread, apple sauce.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Pears, oat meal, reheated rolls, shirred eggs Dinner: Creamed duck on toast, apple pie. Supper: Chop suey.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Cantaloupe puffed wheat, milk, drop doughnuts Dinner: Broiled steak with onions buttered beets. Supper: Cottage cheese, roll jelly cake.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Grapes cornmeal mush. Dinner: Boiled dinner. Supper: Oyster stew, cabbage salad.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Orange, shredded wheat, toast, eggs. Dinner: Baked hash, bread pudding. Supper: Graham gems, fried calf-heart.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Stewed prunes, bran, top milk. Dinner: Broiled or fried bass, parsley, potatoes, horseradish sauce. Supper: Parsnip fritters.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Grapefruit puffed rice, poached eggs on toast. Dinner: Apple dumplings. Supper: Sliced ham, potato salad.

Chop Suey.

Take a pound of round steak with plenty of suet. Cut into half inch dice and brown the steak in the hot fat tried out from the suet. Add a pint of boiling water, salt and pepper to taste and one pint of diced celery. Cover and cook slowly. Serve as a stew.

Drop Doughnuts.

Beat one egg, add one-half cupful of sugar, a little salt, a pinch of ginger and a bit of lemon rind. Add one-half cupful of milk alternately with one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with one teaspoonful of baking powder. Drop from a teaspoon into hot fat. This makes two dozen small cakes.

Why should we call ourselves men, unless it be to succeed in every thing, everywhere? Say of nothing, "This is beneath me," nor feel that anything is beyond our powers. Nothing is impossible to the man who can will.—Mirabeau.

LIKABLE GOOD THINGS

Vegetables are now preferably served on the dinner plate with the meat, doing away with side dishes and extra service. Because of this manner of serving a change must be made in the methods of cooking vegetables, using those which keep their form and are not served with a thin sauce which would spoil the appearance of the plate.

Fish Chowder.—Cut into small strips three or four slices of fat ham and cook with one large onion sliced thin. Peel and slice six medium-sized potatoes, remove the skin and bones from two pounds of haddock, halibut or other white fish, cut into slices and arrange in alternate layers of potatoes and fish, with the bits of ham, in a deep kettle until all are used. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper and pour over the whole two cupfuls of fish stock; cover and simmer until the potatoes are done. Add a pint of cream, heat again and serve hot with pilot crackers.

Empress Rolls.—These may be served in place of sandwiches and are a welcome change. Take the long crusty rolls, cut into half, scoop out the soft centers and fill with the following mixture: One cucumber peeled and chopped, one teaspoonful of grated horseradish, one dessert spoonful of cream, salt to taste, and as much mayonnaise as needed to season. Press in the filling with a knife.

Green Peppers, Stuffed.—Cut the tops from six green peppers, remove the insides and simmer gently in water to cover for five minutes, cook the sliced-off tops with the pepper shells. Remove the peppers to a well-greased baking pan and fill with one and one-half cupfuls of minced cooked veal, one and one-half cupfuls of bread crumbs, three-fourths of a cupful of chopped cooked ham, the chopped tops of the peppers, a tablespoonful of minced parsley, one teaspoonful each of salt and onion juice, three tablespoonfuls melted butter and enough cream or rich stock to moisten and bind the whole. Bake for half an hour in a brisk heat, basting every ten minutes with water or stock.

Sweet Potatoes Stuffed With Prunes.—Pare and parboil sweet potatoes of oval shape; core with an apple corer and fill the cavity of each with two or more prunes, previously stoned. Insert into the ends of the potatoes, halving the cores, used as plugs, to keep in the juices. Bake on the grate of the oven with a pan beneath to catch the drippings. For six or eight sweet potatoes place in the pan two cupfuls of water and two cupfuls of sugar and allow to remain until the potatoes are cooked. Remove the potatoes to a warming oven, boil down the sirup, then pour over the potatoes for a glaze. Serve with fried chicken, broiled mackerel or roast goose.

The canned pumpkin when removed from the can and cooked down until rich dark brown makes delicious pies with all the work of preparing and cooking fresh pumpkin eliminated.

Nellie Maxwell

Zen of The Y.D.

A NOVEL OF THE FOOTHILLS

by Robert Stead

AUTHOR OF "THE COW PUNCHER," "THE HOMESTEADERS," "NEIGHBORS," ETC.

COPYRIGHT BY ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XV—Continued.

—18—

"Phyllis Bruce—rather a nice name."

"What was I saying? Oh, yes; Phyllis. I grew to like her—very much—but I couldn't marry her. You know why."

"Denny, you big, big boy!" she murmured. "Do you suppose every man marries his first choice?"

"It has always seemed to me that a second choice is a makeshift. It doesn't seem quite square—"

"No. I fancy some second choices are really first choices. Wisdom comes with experience, you know."

"Not always. At any rate I couldn't marry her while my heart was yours."

"I suppose not," she answered, and again he noted a touch of weariness in her voice. "I know something of what divided affection—if one can even say it is divided—means. Denny, I will make a confession. I knew you would come back; I always was sure you would come back. 'Then,' I said to myself, 'I will see this man Grant as he is, and the reality will clear my brain of all this idealism which I have woven about him.' And so I have encouraged you to come here; I have been most unconventional, I know, but I was always that—I have cultivated your acquaintance, and, Denny, I am so disappointed!"

"Disappointed? Then the mirage has cleared away?"

"On the contrary, it grows more distorted every day. I see you towering above all your fellow humans; reaching up into a heaven so far above them that they don't even know of its existence. I see you as really The Man-on-the-Hill. The idealism which I thought must fade away is justified—heightened—by the reality."

She had turned her face to him, and Grant, little as he understood the ways of women, knew that she had made her great confession. For a moment he held himself in check. . . . then from somewhere in his subconsciousness came ringing the phrase, "Every man worth his salt . . . takes what he wants." That was Transley's morality; Transley, the usurper, who had bullied himself into possession of this heart which he had never won and could never hold; Transley, the fool, frittering his days and nights with money! He seized her in his arms, crushing down her weak resistance; he drew her to him until, as in that day by a foothill river somewhere in the sunny past, her lips met his and returned their caress. He cared now for nothing—nothing in the whole world but this quivering womanhood within his arms. . . .

"You must go," she whispered at length. "It is late, and Frank's habits are somewhat erratic."

He held her at arm's length, his hands upon her shoulders. "Do you suppose that fear—of anything—can make me surrender you now?"

"Not fear, perhaps—I know it could not be fear—but good sense may do it. It was not fear that made me send you home early from your previous calls. It was discretion."

"Oh!" he said, a new light dawning, and he marveled again at her consummate artistry.

"But I must tell you," she resumed. "Frank leaves on a business trip tomorrow night. He will be gone for some time, and I shall motor into town to see him off. I am wondering about Wilson," she hurried on, as though not daring to weigh her words; "Sarah will be away—I am letting her have a little holiday—and I can't take Wilson into town with me because it will be so late." Then, with a burst of confession, she spoke more deliberately. "That's isn't exactly the reason, Dennison; Frank doesn't know I have let Sarah go, and I—I can't explain."

Her face shone pink and warm in the glow of the firelight, and as the significance of her words sank in upon him Grant marveled at that wizardry of the gods which could bring such homage to the foot of man. A tenderness such as he had never known suffused him; her very presence was holy.

"Bring the boy over and let him spend the night with me. We are great chums and we shall get along splendidly."

CHAPTER XVI

Grant spent his Sunday forenoon in an exhaustive house-cleaning campaign. Bachelor life on the farm is not conducive to domestic delicacy. When he was able to view his handiwork with a feeling that even feminine eyes would find nothing to offend, Grant did an unwonted thing. He unlocked the whim-room and opened the windows that the fresh air might play through the silent chamber. When he had lunched and dressed he took a stroll over the hills, thinking a great deal, but finding no answer. On his return he descried the familiar figure of Linder in a semi-recumbent position on the porch, and Linder's well-worn car in the yard.

"How goes it, Linder?" he said, cheerily, as he came up. "Is the Big Idea going to fructify?"

"The Big Idea seems to be all right. You planned it well."

"Thanks. But is it going to be self-supporting—I mean in the matter of motive power. Would it run if you and I and Murdoch were wiped out?"

"Everything must have a head."

"Democracy must find its own head—must grow it out of the materials supplied. If it doesn't do that it's a failure, and the Big Idea will end in being the Big Fizzle. That's why I'm leaving it so severely alone—I want to see which way it's headed."

"I could suggest another reason," said Linder, pointedly.

"Another reason for what?"

"For your leaving it severely alone."

"What are you driving at?" demanded Grant, somewhat petulantly. "You are in a taciturn mood today, Linder."

"Perhaps I am, Grant, and if so it comes from wondering how a man with as much brains as you have can be such a d—d fool upon occasion."

"Drop the riddles, Linder. Let me have it in the face."

"It's just like this, Grant, old boy," said Linder, getting up and putting his hand on his friend's shoulder; "I feel that I have an interest in the chap who saved all of me except what this empty sleeve stands for, and it's that interest which makes me speak about something which you may say is none of my business. I was out here Monday night to see you, and you were not at home. I came out again Wednesday, and you were not at home. I came out last night and you were not at home, and had not come back at midnight. Your horses were in the barn; you were not far away."

"Why didn't you telephone me?"

"If I hadn't cared more for you than I do for my job and the Big Idea thrown in, I could have settled it that way. But, Grant, I do."

"I believe you. But why this sudden worry over me? I was merely spending the evening at a neighbor's."

"Yes—at Transley's. Transley was in town, and Mrs. Transley is—not responsible—where you are concerned."

"Linder!"

"I saw it all that night at dinner there. Some things are plain to everyone—except those most involved. Now it's not my job to say to you what's right and wrong, but the way it looks to me is this: what's the use of all your big-heartedness if you're going to be small in matters like this?"

Grant regarded his foreman for some time without answering. "I appreciate your frankness, Linder," he said at length. "Your friendship, which I can never question, gives you that privilege. Man to man, I'm going to be equally frank with you. To begin with, I suppose you will admit that Y.D.'s daughter is a strong character, a woman quite capable of directing her own affairs?"

"What Are You Driving at?" Demanded Grant Somewhat Petulantly.

"The stronger the engine the bigger the smash if there's a wreck."

"It's not a case of wrecking; it's a case of trying to save something out of the wreck. Convention, Linder, is a torture-monger; it binds men and women to the stake of propriety and bids them smile while it snuffs out the soul that's in them.

"Let me put it another way: Transley is a clever man of affairs. He knows how to accomplish his ends. He applied the methods—somewhat modified for the occasion—of a landshark in winning his wife. He makes a great appearance of unselfishness, but in reality he is selfish to the core. He lavishes money on her to satisfy his own vanity, but as for her finer nature, the real Zen, her soul if you like—he doesn't even know she has one. He obtained possession by false pretenses. Which is the more moral thing—to leave him in possession, or to throw him out? Didn't you yourself hear him say that men who are worth their salt take what they want?"

"Since when did you let him set your standards?"

"That's hardly fair."

"I think it is. I think, too, that you are arguing against your own convictions. Well, I've had my say. I deliberately came out today without Murdoch so that I might have it. You would be quite justified in firing me for what I've done. But now I'm through, and no matter what may happen, remember, Linder will never have suspected anything."

"That's like you, old chap. We'll drop it at that, but I must explain that Zen is going to town tonight to meet Transley, and is leaving the boy with me. It is an event in my young life, and I have house-cleaned for it appropriately. Come inside and admire my handiwork."

Linder admired as he was directed, and then the two men fell into a discussion of business matters. Eventually Grant cooked supper, and just as they had finished Mrs. Transley drove up in her motor.

"Here we are!" she cried, cheerily. "Glad to see you, Mr. Linder. Wilson has his teddy-bear and his knife and his pajamas, and is a little put out, I think, that I wouldn't let him bring the pig."

"I shall try and make up the deficiency," said Grant, smiling broadly, as the boy climbed to his shoulder. "Won't you come in? Linder, among his other accomplishments learned in France, is an excellent chaperon."

"Thank you, no; I must get along. I shall call early in the morning, so that you will not be delayed on Wilson's account."

"No need of that; he can ride to the field with me on Prince. He is a great help with the plowing."

"I'm sure." She stepped up to Grant and drew the boy's face down to hers. "Good-by, dear; be a good boy," she whispered, and Wilson waved kisses to her as the motor sped down the road.

Linder took his departure soon after, and Grant was surprised to find himself almost embarrassed in the presence of his little guest.

Where to start on the bedtime preparations was a puzzle, but Wilson himself came to Grant's aid with explicit instructions about buttons and pins.

"You must hear my prayer, Uncle Man-on-the-Hill," said the boy. "You have to sit down in a chair."

Grant sat down and with a strange mixture of emotions drew the little chap between his knees as he listened to the long-forgotten prattle.

At the third line the boy stopped. "You have to tell me now," he prompted.

"But I can't, Willie; I have forgotten."

"Huh, you don't know much," the child commented, and glibly quoted the remaining lines. "And God bless Daddy and Mamma and teddy-bear and Uncle Man-on-the-Hill and the pig. Amen," he concluded, accompanying the last word with a jump which landed him fairly in Grant's lap. His little arms went up about his friend's neck, and his little soft cheek rested against a tanned and weather-beaten one. Slowly Grant's arms closed about the warm, lithe body and pressed it to his in a new passion, strange and holy. Then he led him to the whim-room, turned down the white sheets in which no form had ever lain and placed the boy between them, snuggled his teddy down by his side and set his knife properly in view upon the dresser. And then he leaned down again and kissed the little face, and whispered, "Good night, little boy; God keep you safe tonight, and always." And suddenly Grant realized that he had been praying. . . .

He withdrew softly, and only partly closed the door; then he chose a seat where he could see the little figure lying peacefully on the white bed.

"The dear little chap," he murmured. "I must watch by him tonight. It would be unspeakable if anything should happen to him while he is under my care."

He felt a sense of warmth, almost a smothering sensation, and raised his hand to his forehead. It came down covered with perspiration.

"It's amazingly close," he said, and walked to one of the French windows opening to the west. The sun had gone down, and a brooding darkness lay over all the valley, but far up in the sky he could trace the outline of a cloud.

"Looks like a storm," he commented, casually, and suddenly felt something tighten about his heart.

He turned to his chair, but found himself pacing the living room with an altogether inexplicable nervousness.

"D—n Linder, anyway!" he exclaimed presently. "I believe he shook me up more than I realized. He charged me with insincerity; me, who have always made sincerity my special virtue. . . . Well, there may be something in it."

A faint, indistinct growling, as of the grinding of mighty rocks, came down from the distances.

"The storm will be nothing," he assured himself. Even as he spoke the house shivered in every timber as the gale struck it and went whining by.

He rushed to the whim-room, but found the boy still sleeping soundly. "I must stay up," he reasoned with himself; "I must be on hand in case he should be frightened."

Suddenly it occurred to Grant that, quite apart from his love for Wilson, if anything should happen the child in his house a very difficult situation would be created. Transley would demand explanations—explanations which would be hard to make. Why was Wilson there at all? Why was he not at home with Sarah? Sarah away from home! Why had Zen kept that a secret? . . .

The gale subsided as quickly as it had come, and the sudden silence which followed was even more awesome. It lasted only for a moment; a flash of lightning lit up every corner of the house, bursting like white fire from every wall and ceiling. Grant rushed to the whim-room and was standing over the child when the crash of thunder came upon them. The boy stirred gently, smiled, and settled back to his sleep.

Grant drew the blinds in the whim-room, and went out to draw them in the living room, but the sight across the valley was of a majesty so terrific that it held him fascinated.

Turning from the windows, Grant left the blinds open. "Only cowardice would close them," he muttered to himself, "and surely, in addition to the other qualities Linder has attributed to me, I am not a coward. If it were not for Willie I could stand and enjoy it."

Presently rain began to fall; a few scattered drops at first, then thicker, harder, until the roof and windows rattled and shook with their force. The wind, which had gone down so suddenly, sprang up again, buffeting the house as it rushed by with the storm.

They Sat for a Long While in a Big Chair in the Living Room.

As the night wore on the storm, instead of spending itself quickly as Grant had expected, continued unabated, but his nervous tension gradually relaxed, and when at length Wilson was awakened by an exceptionally loud clap of thunder he took the boy in his arms and soothed his little fears as a mother might have done. They sat for a long while in a big chair in the living room, and exchanged such confidences as a man may with a child of five. After the lad had dropped back into sleep Grant still sat with him in his arms, thinking. . . .

And what he thought was this: He was a long while framing the exact thought; he tried to beat it back in a dozen ways, but it circled around him, gradually closed in upon him and forced its acceptance. "Linder called me a fool, and he was right. He might have called me a coward, and again he would have been right. Linder was right."

Some way it seemed easy to reach that conclusion while this little sleeping form lay in his arms. Now was the time to do something that would cost; to lay his hand upon the prize and then relinquish it—for the sake of Wilson Transley!

"And by God I'll do it!" he exclaimed, springing to his feet. He carried the child back to his bed, and then turned again to watch the storm through the windows. It seemed to be subsiding; the lightning, although still almost continuous, was not so near.

"What little incidents turn our lives!" he thought. "That boy; in some strange way he has been the means of bringing me to see things as they are—which not even Linder could do. The mind has to be fertilized for the thought, or it can't think it. He brought the necessary influence to bear. It was like the night at Murdoch's house, the night when the Big Idea was born. Surely I owe that to Murdoch, and his wife, and Phyllis Bruce."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Convicted

A young fellow was engaged in a clerical capacity by a friend of his father. He was, however, shiftless, and nothing he said could be relied upon.

One day his employer called him into his private office and gave him a lecture. He dwelt chiefly on his prevarication and wound up by saying: "You know, James, that you are always lying."

"Sir," said James, "I would have you remember that I am a gntleman."

"There you go again," said his employer.

Experience

Experience is a course of teaching that after a while has one hemmed in all round by verbotens

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 30

THE GOOD SAMARITAN

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:25-37.

GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Good Neighbor.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Parable of the Good Samaritan.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Be a Good Neighbor.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Whose Neighbor Am I?

I. How to Inherit Eternal Life (vv. 25-28).

1. The Lawyer's Question (v. 25).

"Lawyer" here means one versed in religious law, the Scriptures—not lawyer in our modern sense of that term. It would more nearly correspond to a theological professor. The lawyer's object was to trap Jesus—to induce Him to take such a stand as would weaken His influence as a teacher. He expected Jesus to set forth some new ceremonies which would conflict with or disparage the law.

2. Jesus' Question (v. 26). Though Jesus knew the motive of the lawyer he did not evade his question. He sent him to the law, the field which was familiar to him. He thus was robbed of his own weapon.

3. The Lawyer's Reply (v 27). He made an intelligent answer declaring that the entire content of the law was embraced in love to God and man. This expresses the whole of human duty.

4. Jesus' Reply (v. 28). This straightforward answer went to the heart of the lawyer. Perfect love to God and man is truly the way of life. No man has yet had or can have such love. His sinful condition precludes its possibility. Man's failure to measure up to this requirement is his condemnation. The lawyer keenly felt this thrust. He was defeated on his own grounds and convicted of guilt.

II. Who Is My Neighbor? (vv. 29-37).

1. The Lawyer's Question (v. 29). This question reveals the insincerity of the lawyer. Christ's answer had reached his conscience, and now he seeks to escape the difficulty by asking a captious question. Lawyer-like he sought to get off by raising a question as to the meaning of words.

2. Jesus' Answer (vv. 30-37). This more than answered the lawyer's question. In the parable of the Good Samaritan He makes clear who is a neighbor, and also what it means to be a neighbor, or what loving a neighbor means. Christ's answer had a double meaning. He not only made clear who is my neighbor, but made it clear that the lawyer was not playing the neighbor. He thus was convicted of not having been a neighbor.

(1) Who is my neighbor? This destitute and wounded man left on the highway by the robbers is the man who needs a neighbor. My neighbor, therefore, is the one who needs my help, whether he lives next door or on the other side of the world. Those who have the Spirit of Christ can see their neighbors on every hand.

(2) What being a neighbor means. Our supreme concern should not be "Who is my neighbor?" but "Whose neighbor am I?" To be a neighbor is, (a) to be on the lookout for those in need of our help (v. 33). (b) To have compassion on the needy (v. 33). Christ's compassion was aroused as He came into contact with those who were suffering and in need. All those who have His nature will be likewise moved. (c) To give to those in need (v. 34). Many are willing to give money to help the poor and needy, but are unwilling to personally minister to them. Many times the personal touch is more important than the material aid. We should give ourselves as well as our money. (d) To bind up wounds (v. 34). (e) To set the helpless ones on our beasts while we walk (v. 34). This is proof that love is genuine. Christians will deny themselves in order to have something to give to those who have need. This kind of sympathy is greatly needed today. (f) To bring to the inn and take care of the unfortunate (v. 34). Genuine love does not leave its service incomplete. Much Christian service is spasmodic, helps and then leaves a man to take care of himself. (g) To give money (v. 35). It costs a good deal to be a neighbor. Love is the most expensive thing in the world. It cost God His only Son. It cost Christ His life. May we go and do likewise!

Christian Life

Probably the most of the difficulties in trying to live the Christian life arise from attempting to half live it.—Drummond

Sin

There is sin that runs deeper in the soul than that of ingratitude.—Western Christian Advocate.

The Hoping Man

The hoping man is always the helping Christian.—Western Christian Advocate.

Losses and Gains

What earth calls our greatest loss are often our highest gains.

PE-RU-NA FOR CATARRH

The Remedy You Need the Year Round in Your Home

Sold Everywhere

Tablets or Liquid

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

MUSTEROLE WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

NR Tonight Tomorrow Alright

Get a 25c. Box.

Your Druggist

When you are forming new acquaintances, cultivate the old.

Boschee's Syrup

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-eight years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.—Adv.

The actual is limited, the impossible is immense.

Constipation generally indicates disordered stomach, liver and bowels. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills restore regularity without griping. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

The slowest in promising is always the most faithful in fulfilling.

Took a Friend's Advice

Augusta, Ga.—"I was in a run-down condition, my blood was poor and thin, and I had a constant pain after eating. I had acute indigestion, constipation and a bad liver. After doctoring for three months with different medicines, I got discouraged and quit. It was then Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was recommended to me by a friend and I began taking it with the hope of recovering my health. After taking a few bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life, and today I can eat and digest anything."—George E. Griffin, 1495 Estes St. All dealers.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Invigorates, Purifies and Enriches the Blood. 60c

Have Good Hair And Clean Scalp Cuticura Soap and Ointment Work Wonders

Try Our New Shaving Stick.

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

Exchange Club Will Award Loving Cup

jected from Calera, via Montevallo to Wilton. Exchange Clubs at Columbia na and Centreville, a rail road shed for passengers at Calera reported, a new dormitory on the campus of Alabama College (a free gift of citizens of Montevallo)—these are some of the monuments to the zeal, foresight and labor of the Exchange Club. But when this is recognized. every Exchangeite has his attention irresistibly drawn to him, who has been at the helm throughout all these accomplishments—Mr. C. G. Smith, president of the Exchange Club of Montevallo. Without him these things would not have been accomplished so soon if at all. He has proved himself a man of courage and vision, a progressive, unselfish gentleman who has given of his time without stint and who, though residing six or seven miles out in the country on his estate, has driven into town in all kinds of weather, an inspiration to us all and the forger of the chain of co-operation to draw country and town together.

J. S. Ward

Winter Egg Production

A. A. Lauderdale

Just a few months ago you were getting from one dozen to several dozen eggs per day, and they were selling for from 15 cents to 20 cents on the market, but now they are 50 cents, and you are getting none or very few eggs.

If we can get the hens to lay when eggs are bringing a good price, we can make money. The more nearly we can imitate spring conditions, the better results we will have in egg production

A comfortable house will add materially to egg production; this house can be provided at very small cost; it can be repaired or built out of waste lumber around the farm. It should be air tight on the north, east and west sides, allowing ventilattion and light to come in on the south side,

A well balanced ration of sufficient quantity should be provided. A laying mash composed of equal parts of corn meal, shorts and bran, with 10 per cent beef scraps should be kept before the hens at all times. They should have a good feed of grain in the afternoon, composed of equal parts of corn, oats, and wheat. Oyster shell should be provided, as a large amount of lime is required for egg productiion.

Green feeds are almost a necessity the year round, but good alfalfa hay can be substituted.

Again I say, to make money on chickens, you must get eggs when there is a market.

NOTICE—MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE,

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage, executed by R. C. Wood and wife, Mattie F. Wood, to J. M. Lyon, and bearing date of February 20, 1922 and due and payable on the 15 day December 1922, said indebtedness being evidenced by one promisory note due and payable on the 15th day of December, 1922, in the sum of $700.00, said mortgage being of record in the office of the Probate Judge of Shelby county, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 129, page 309, which said indebtedness is past due and unpaid; and now therefore under the terms and powers contained in said mortgage the said J, M. Lyon will, by and though his attorney and agent, offer for sale, and sell, to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house door in Columbiana, Alabama, within the hours of legal sale, on Monday, December 15th, 1924, the lands described in said mortgage and conveyed therein the same being described as follows to-wit:

South-east quarter of the South west quarter, and 30 acres lying on the South side of the North-east quarter of South-west quarter, all in Section 4, Township 21, Range 1 East, Shelby county, Alabama, containing seventy acres.

Said sale being made for the purpose of paying the cost of the sale, including a reasonable attorney fee, and paying the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Paul O. Luck, Atty. for Mortgagee. J. M. Lyon, Mortgagee.
11 27. 3t.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

State of Alabama, Shelby county
In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, In Equity.
Mrs. Maude A. Tumlin, vs. A. F. Estes, et al.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by affidavit of R. S. Bingham, as agent for such purpose of the Complainant, that in the belief of Affiant a certain Defendants to the Original Bill is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, that is to say, to-wit: That Mrs. A. L. Jackson, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; J. M. Tumlin, residing at Covington, Ga; G. W. Tumlin, residing at Covington, Ga.; J. C. Tumlin, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Ida J. Mitchell, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Lelia Miller, residing at Waco, Ga.; John T. Drew, George W. Drew, and Myrtice Drew, all residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Bernice Drew, Florine Drew, Harvey Drew, Hermand Drew, Willard and Paul Drew, all residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Mrs. Izora Owens, residing at Leona, Tenn.; Mrs. Della Willingham, residing at 209 Jarvis Street, Toledo, Ohio; and A. F. Estes, of Meriwether county, Georgia.

And, further, that in the belief of Affiant, the Defendants are each the age of Twenty-One years, except that Bernice Drew, Florine Drew, and Harvey Drew are minors over 14 years of age, and Hermand Drew, Willard Drew and Paul Drew are minors under 14 years of age.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in the county of Shelby, once a week for Four consecutive weeks, requiring the said above named parties to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 22 day of December, 1924, or in Thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office in Columbiana, This the 20 day of November, 1924.
11 27 3t J. M. Leonard, Jr. Register.

TH' OLE GROUCH

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Board of Pardons of the State of Alabama for the parole of Tom Brasher, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, during the month of September 1923, upon a charge of Distilling. Tom Brasher.

GUARDIAN'S NOTICE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 18 day of November 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, Mrs. Jennie Ozley, as Guardian of George Ozley, a minor, to sell for the maintenance, education and for re-investment the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 6th day of December, 1924, between the legal hours of sale before the court house door at Columbiana, Ala., the undersigned, as Guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land situated in Shelby county, Ala., to-wit:

The NW¼ of SW¼, Sec 4, and the NE¼ of SE¼, Sec 5, all in Tp 22, Range 2, West, containing 80 acres more or less, together with all improvements belonging thereto, also the SW¼ of NE¼ of SW¼ of Sec. 4, Tp 22, R 2 West, said land being the land on the west side of the South and North Railway, containing 2 acres more or less.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the education, maintenance and for re-investment of said minor. Terms of sale to be arranged by Guardian and purchaser.

Mrs. Jennie Ozley,
As Guardian for George Ozley.
11 20 3t

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a venditioni exponas issued from the Circuit Court of Shelby county, and to me directed, I will proceed to sell, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Columbiana, Ala., on the 22nd day of December, 1924, within the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder, for cash the following described property, to-wit:

Three houses on the Birmingham Montgomery Highway about two and one-half miles north of Pelham, situated in the county of Shelby, state of Alabama, on the east side of said highway, at a quarry near a farm known as Bishop's Farm, and which said houses are now occupied by employees of one Dan Martin, and working in the quarry getting out rock for said highway. Said houses are right together, with a clearance of about fifty feet between them, and there are no other housnea on that side of said highway. Said houses are described as follows, to-wit 1 gable 2-room house, and the other two of said houses are lean-to type houses, two-rooms each, and being on land leased by said Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a partnership composed of J. E. Mansberger and A. A. Downs, from one T. J. Cross

Ordered to be sold as the property of Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a firm, or partnership composed of J. E. Mansbeger and A. A. Downs, to satisfy said venditioni exponas in my hands in favor of Charles McCarroll.

This 18th day of November 1924
12 20 3t J. J. Falkner, Sheriff.

ADMINITRATOR'S NOTICE

Estate of Mrs. N. V. Clinton, deceased. Probate Court.

Letters of administration of said deceased having been granted to the undersigned on the 7 day of November 1924, by the Hon L. B. Riddle, Judge of the Probate Court of Shelby county, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed by law or the same will be barred.

J. E. McClinton,
11 13 3t Administrattor.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Ala. In Equity.

Dan Garrett, Complainant, vs. Irene Garrett, Respondent.

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidavit of Dan Garrett Complainant, that the Defendant is a non-resident of Alabama, and her postoffice address is unknown, and further that in the belief of said affiant, is of the age of twenty-one years; it is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Irene Garrett, to plead, answer or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 15 day of December, 1924, or in thirty days thereafter a decree Pro Confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 10th day of November, 1924. 11 13 4t

J. M. Leonard, Jr., Register.

R. R. and other Fine Watches. Special Prices on Diamonds

P. D. D. PENDLETON
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Ex-Watch Inspector for Frisco and Illinois Central R. R.'s
Sub Inspector for Southern R. R.

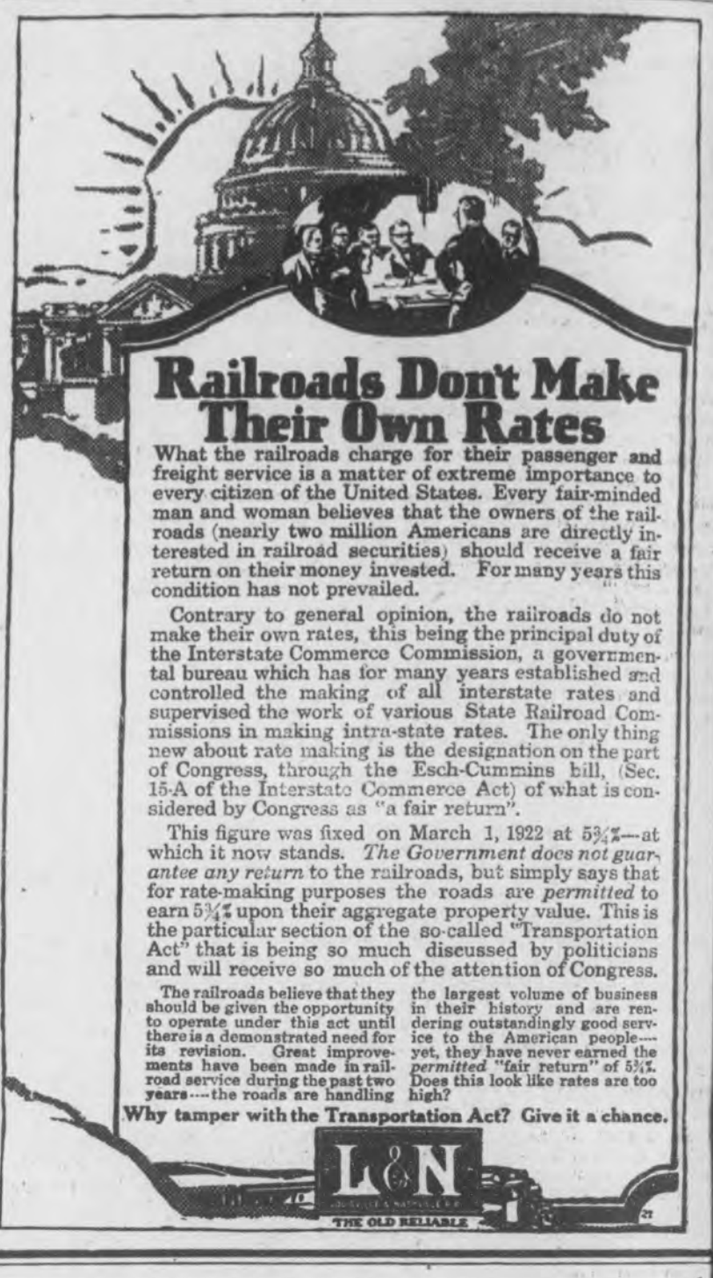
I have the Most Complete Repair Shop in the District.

Wedding Rings. Jewelry
Watch Repairing Engraving Jewelry Repairing

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.



Railroads Don't Make Their Own Rates

What the railroads charge for their passenger and freight service is a matter of extreme importance to every citizen of the United States. Every fair-minded man and woman believes that the owners of the railroads (nearly two million Americans are directly interested in railroad securities) should receive a fair return on their money invested. For many years this condition has not prevailed.

Contrary to general opinion, the railroads do not make their own rates, this being the principal duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a governmental bureau which has for many years established and controlled the making of all interstate rates and supervised the work of various State Railroad Commissions in making intra-state rates. The only thing new about rate making is the designation on the part of Congress, through the Esch-Cummins bill, (Sec. 15-A of the Interstate Commerce Act) of what is considered by Congress as "a fair return".

This figure was fixed on March 1, 1922 at 5¾%—at which it now stands. The Government does not guarantee any return to the railroads, but simply says that for rate-making purposes the roads are permitted to earn 5¾% upon their aggregate property value. This is the particular section of the so-called "Transportation Act" that is being so much discussed by politicians and will receive so much of the attention of Congress.

The railroads believe that they should be given the opportunity to operate under this act until there is a demonstrated need for its revision. Great improvements have been made in railroad service during the past two years—the roads are handling the largest volume of business in their history and are rendering outstandingly good service to the American people—yet, they have never earned the permitted "fair return" of 5¾%. Does this look like rates are too high?

Why tamper with the Transportation Act? Give it a chance.

L&N
THE OLD RELIABLE

WOULD YOU PAY EXTRA TO DRILL YOUR OWN HOLES IN SWISS CHEESE!

1.

Suppose a Swiss cheese maker offered you the privilege of drilling your own holes in the cheese at a heavy extra cost. Would that offer look good to you?

2.

Yet the cigar maker asks you to snip the tip off a cigar before you smoke it—and charges you a fat tax for the privilege.

3.

For nearly one-half the cost of making a cigar goes into the tip. Is it good sense to spend good cents for a point that has no point?

4.

In making Old Virginia Cheroots, we leave the tip off and save you a big chunk of cigar-making expense.

5.

So four of these royal smokes are yours for one thin dime. Made from prime leaf perfecto cigar tobacco. The triumph of volume production.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

A well made smooth smoking cigar, with tobacco-quality worthy of a high-toned label. The triumph of big volume and elimination of frills.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

TWO-LEGS sat on three-legs,
With one-leg in his hand;
Said Two-legs "Um, this chicken meat
An' sandwich is jus' grand."
But when the feast was over,
And all the meat was gone,
He whistled to his bulldog,
And four-legs got the bone.

Find another person who has had chicken for dinner. Lower left fish for down, on suit.

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK

Montevallo, Alabama

C. L. Meroney, President

J. C. Slone, Cashier

Checking Accounts Solicited.

MAS MONEY FOR YOU

rch Your Attic for Confederate Envelopes.

is a new and easy way to get money without trouble or work pense.

ng the old letters of many Southern are hundreds of very rare stamps velopes. Many have been found ld for small fortunes. Single en- have been sold for as high as 0. Many have brought upwards of each. It sounds "fishy," but it's They are valuable because they are They are rare, not because there are few, for there are many of them, mply because most of them are for- being stored away in old trunks ects.

e a thorough search through your for these old war letters. Fortunes stamps have been found in old which no one ever dreamed con- anything of value. Many an old or chest contains letters that may the finder a profitable reward. Send Mr. Harold C. Brooks, Box 229 ll, Michigan, and he will imme- write you, stating whether they value and, if so, will offer you full for them. He is a private collector stamps and envelopes and will pay for those he is seeking than a dealer. the Confederate issues, certain States and foreign stamps are provided they are on the original es and mailed between 1845 and Although the rare issues are espe- desired he also buys many of the ner kinds, and many people are in way getting Christmas money with ry little trouble and no expense.

Advertising Manager of this has known Mr. Brooks ny years and you may place fullest dence in his integrity. He will advise rankly, offering what he regards the es as worth to him and in case the es are not satisfactory they will urned to the sender.

so many stamps are similar in ap- ce, Mr. Brooks cannot quote values written descriptions, but must see velopes. Furthermore, the condi- a stamp or envelope has an impor- bearing on its value. Confederate y, old documents or coins he does llect.

envelopes are sent in a bunch they d be very carefully wrapped—if pos- between cardboard to protect them becoming wrinkled or creased. Do t the stamps from the envelopes, nd the complete envelopes. Also are not to tear the stamps or put through them. Such damage greatly s the value of any stamp. If you reason to believe your envelopes n any of great value send them egistered Mail.

s notice will not be printed again, ke a thorough search now before ddress is lost or forgotten. Tell friends or ask permission to look over old war letters. Many elderly people kept hundreds of such letters. Mr. s' address is as follows:

HAROLD C. BROOKS,
Box 229 Marshall, Michigan.

Tutt's Pills

Unequaled as an ANTI-BILIOUS MEDICINE stimulate torpid liver, strengthen digestive organs, regulate the bowels, relieve sick headache.

Lumbago

End it now

The aching begins to ease up—the stiffness to relax—the moment you use Sloan's. It needs no rubbing. The liniment itself sends fresh blood tingling through the affected spot. In no time—you're free of pain. All druggists—35 cents.

oan's Liniment—kills pain!

Thanksgiving Program To Be Given at Vandiver

There will be a Thanksgiving program rendered and a box supper given at Vandiver school house on Saturday night, November 29. The program will be free but the proceeds from the supper will be used to buy presents for a community Christmas tree, Everybody come prepared to help us and the same will be greatly appreciated.

WILSONVILLE

Mrs, F. F. Miller is at home after visiting relatives and friends at Leeds.

Mrs. H. E. Smith was called last week to the bedside of her sister in law, Mrs. English in Birmingham.

Miss Mary John Weldon spent Saturday in Talladega.

Mr. Renfroe happened to the misfortune of losing his barn by fire Wednesday evening.

Mrs. A. W. Lindsey and children of Wilton spent several days last week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H, E. Smith.

Mrs. W. J. Jackson is at home after visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Miss Lenna Sunderville spent Wednesday in Talladega,

Mrs. J. F. Pope attended the W. M. U. meeting at Opelika last week,

Miss Roselle Smith is at home after visiting her sister, Mrs. O. O. Tinney at Talladega.

The teachers, Prof. A, A. Ingram, Misses Jeter, Lindsey, Taylor and Mrs. Robertson attended the meeting at Columbiana Saturday.

Misses Leatha Martin and Hilda Mae Smith are visiting relatives at Clanton this week.

E. W. CHAPMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

DR. W. J. MITCHEL
—DENTIST—
Phone No. 88. Montevallo, Ala.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. O. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alabama.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

RED CROSS YEAR'S COST $21,366,255

Nearly $12,000,000 Devoted to Helping Victims of Great Japanese Earthquake.

OVER 3,000 BUSY CHAPTERS

Aid to Disabled War Veterans Paramount and Reaches Nearly $4,000,000.

Washington.—More than $21,000,000 was the total of funds expended in all activities of the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year, ended June 30, says a statement issued by the National organization. This expenditure was almost one-sixth of the amount of money disbursed by the Red Cross in the war year, July, 1917, to June, 1918. Of this extraordinary sum $11,631,303 was America's contribution to the Red Cross for relief of the Japanese earthquake victims. This was increased to $11,768,803 by appropriations from general funds of the Red Cross, and it represented probably the largest spontaneous outpouring of beneficence of a single nation in the history of the world.

Over 3,000 active Chapters expended during the year $4,869,000, the National organization disbursed $16,497,255.35, making the total $21,366,255.35—all for humanitarian work which reached practically around the world.

In announcing the year's record of American Red Cross industry the executive officials at Washington emphasize the fact that the extensive and never-halting work of the Red Cross depends almost wholly upon the nation-wide support of the organization from the memberships enrolled during the annual roll call which this year will be in progress from Nov. 11 to 27, when everyone is asked to join or renew their membership in the American Red Cross.

Soldier Service Paramount

Service in behalf of the disabled veterans of the World War and their families is a paramount obligation of the Red Cross. The organization, through its Chapters, is constantly in touch with this duty in 2,609 communities throughout the United States—the Chapters alone during the year expending in service for veterans about $2,000,000. The National organization expended $1,735,825—a total of $3,735,825 applied to assisting war sufferers toward recovery from disability and distress.

This work is constant in hospitals, sanitariums, camps, soldiers' homes, in the community. For example, in helping disabled men and women in places where they were transient residents $173,076 from national funds alone was required to help solve their problems. Every Red Cross service is ever at hand ready to meet the individual need of these men and women.

The enlisted men in the Regular Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps, with their home ties, mean a never-ending Red Cross service which figures cannot fully interpret. In this work a total of $685,285 was applied in meeting an obligation under the Red Cross charter which has been fulfilled for over 20 years.

Domestic Operations Extensive

In the past year Red Cross operations were almost wholly confined to continental United States and the insular possessions. Relief work following disasters called for immediate activities in 192 places and a total of $737,603.87 was spent in this service alone. In 33 major disasters trained workers were kept at the work of rehabilitation for many months.

In carrying on the health activities a total of $444,886.66 from Red Cross national funds, and $808,000 from Chapter treasuries—appropximately $1,252,886 in all—was applied, giving some idea of the extent of Red Cross service in the fields of public health nursing, nutrition instruction, and spreading knowledge of personal hygiene and care of the sick in the home.

For advancing the cause of human safety, the First Aid instruction, locally by Chapters and over extensive national territory by the Red Cross instruction car covering trunk line railroads, and in teaching water safety and increasing the membership of the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, the total cost was $288,234.71, of which $216,234.71 came out of national funds.

Army of Over 5,500,000

The Junior Red Cross in the schools — with over 5,500,000 in its "I Serve" ranks—was aided with $233,510.78 to which it is estimated the Chapters added some $277,000—a total of $510,510,78 In various other domestic activities the Red Cross spent $283,473.19, and the Chapters in their numerous voluntary services expended an additional $1,048,000 during the year.

Foreign obligations, aside from Japan, were met with national funds as follows: Relief of refugees in Greece, $200,887.18; Junior Red Cross projects, $99,579.75; League of Red Cross Societies, $165,000; other insular and foreign work, $221,855.31 The American Red Cross budget for 1924-25 is $4,647,790.85, or $868,286.90 less than the budget for the year ended last June 30.

In good deeds for all peoples in time of distress the American Red Cross never rests. Help this work with your membership dollar—join on Armistice Day.

BOLIN

Jim Martin is spending this week in Gadsden with his son, Jess Martin.

J. D. Hughes, A. L. Harkins and L. B, Harkins of Gadsden spent Friday and Saturday here with home folks.

C. T. Templin, made a business trip to Birmingham Thursday.

Mrs. T. J, Mooney is visiting her son G. W. Mooney in Birmingham.

C. T. Hughes and family are visiting relatives in Gadsden this week.

Mrs. J. C. Mooney of Birmingham, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Templin here this week.

Mrs, Florence Campbell and Miss Annie Morris of Birmingham are visiting home folks, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morris.

First Sunday in each month will be preaching at Old Chapel at 11 o'clock a. m. We want everybody to come to church,

Miss Odel Baker, spent Sunday with Misses Rosa and Myrtle Stone

Dugg Harmon of Jonesboro, La. is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin.

James Melton of Little Rock, Ark., is visiting friends here this week.

I congratulate Miss Pauline Strickland, our school teacher, at Old Chapel for the good work she is doing with our children in her school.

UNION

L. H. Bentley went to Birmingham Monday on business,

Rev. C. W. Walton and wife of Troy, were in our midst last week.

W. R. Gardner of Westover, who has been working at Sylacauga, was here Sunday.

Rev, Robt. Helms, pastor of this charge here, and his wife, have moved here.

Richmond Ray is assisting the judge in the court at Columbiana, this week.

J. W. Shaw made a business trip to Mostello Tuesday in the interest of better roads.

The hunting season is now here and the woods are burned over on all sides, Game is scarce and the people of this section are going to be on the lookout for the bunch that usually come from the different towns and kill up all the game early in the saeson.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy during the sudden death of our dear husband and father, and for the beautiful floral offering, May God bless every one, is our prayer.

Mrs. W. T. Milstead and children.

Play at Harpersville

"Lone Star," a play of five acts will be presented at Harpersville school house on Saturday night, December 6th. Special music between acts. Everybody has a cordial invitation. 15c and 25 cents. Secretary.

Switchmen Needed.

Many a golden opportunity has been wrecked for want of a genius to throw the switch.

PROFIT ON A SAFE BASIS

The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%

Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

Southeastern School of Printing 508 UNION STREET NASHVILLE, TENN.

This great school, estabilissed by the printers and publishers of the South, offers great opportunities to young men and women to learn some branch of the printing industry. Linotyping, Monotyping, Hand Composition, Proofreading and Platen Press Work. $80,000 equipment. Intensive training methods. A good education is essential. Printing pays goof wages—$25 to $50 per week. Send for free catalog. It is fully illustrated and will give you detailed information. A good trade is a great asset for any young man or woman.
SOUTHEASTERN SCHOOL OF PRINTING, 508 Union St., Nashville, Tenn.

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Ala.
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abstract of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Calera Furniture Finishing Company

CALERA, ALABAMA

Are now ready to do all kinds of Furniture Upholstering, Repairing and Furniture Refinishing.

We make a Specialty of Automobile Painting AND UPHOLSTERING. Get Our Prices.....

It costs you nothing to have us call and give you estimates on your work, as we carry a line of the latest tapestrys, velours, damasks, chase leather and Spanish leathers.

See our new vogues in

Painted Breakfast Sets and Bed Room Sets

PHONE NO. 5, AND WE WILL COME.

The SANDMAN STORY

FRIGHT FOR BILLY MOUSE

BILLY MOUSE was inquisitive, there was no doubt about it. As soon as his father or mother came home after hunting in the pantry, Billy Mouse began to poke about to see what they had brought home for breakfast.

Then when he was taken out in the pantry for a run when his parents knew that Puss was not in the house, Billy Mouse always ran to the highest shelf and peeked into all the boxes. And once he crawled up behind some drawers and was caught fast until someone opened one and then he ran across the floor and Puss almost caught him.

One night when his father and mother had planned to explore the dining room to find birdseed for breakfast, Billy Mouse jumped out of his warm bed and ran out in the pantry all alone. "If I don't begin to go about myself I shall never grow up," said he. "Mother and father think I am a baby, but I shall show them I am able to take care of myself."

"How Did You Get Out Alive?" Mrs. Mouse Asked.

First, Billy Mouse found a meat pie which he nibbled at until he could eat no more. And then he should have run home. But not inquisitive Billy. He saw boxes and drawers to explore, so to the highest shelf he made his way and nibbled off the paper that was around a box to find what was inside.

In the box was some wire that had been put in so tightly that when Billy Mouse made a hole in the box the end of the wire popped out and hit Billy on the tip of his nose and sent him tumbling over backward off the shelf.

It was a good thing for Billy Mouse that the trap had been sprung or this would be the end of the story. But it had, so when Billy ran in head first he did not know that his tail and body were outside. He thought he was all hidden in the box.

By and by back came his father and mother from their hunting trip to the dining room, and there they saw Billy caught, as they thought, in the trap.

"Oh, my poor foolish child," squeaked Mrs. Mouse. "He is caught in a trap, and I had such a nice breakfast of birdseed for him, and now he will never eat anything again."

Mr. Mouse led his weeping little wife away, and then Billy, who had kept very still all the time, backed out of the trap, for he did not know he was in a trap, you see, until he heard his mother crying.

"I guess father and mother do not know how to get out of a trap," said Billy Mouse. "You just run in and run out. That is all there is to it."

But just then another silly little mouse ran into another trap and there he was fast. Billy Mouse heard one squeak and a click and off he ran for home.

Mrs. Mouse tumbled over in a faint when she saw her son. "How did you get out alive?" she asked when they had sprinkled her with water.

"Oh, I just backed out; that is all you have to do with some traps. I guess," said Billy, thinking of the poor little mouse that was caught in the other trap.

"You foolish boy," said his father. "Don't you know that trap had been sprung or you couldn't have got out?"

"But it is full of cheese, father," said Billy; "only I could not reach all of it."

Out ran Mr. and Mrs. Mouse, and soon they came back with the cheese, and such a breakfast they had of birdseed and cheese. And while they were eating Billy Mouse said, "I guess I am big enough to hunt by myself now that I have found all of this cheese."

Wise Father Mouse always shook his head when Mrs. Mouse said that Billy knew which traps were safe to look into. "I never could make out how he found out that trap was safe. I wonder if something happened to drive him in there."

But Billy Mouse never told what happened on the top shelf. He kept to himself how he was cured of being inquisitive.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Reginald Denny

This popular "movie" actor began his career on the legitimate stage. He was born in England and embarked on a theatrical career on leaving college. He came to America and starred in a number of road shows. The war took him back to his native land and he became noted as a boxer in the Royal Air force. After the war he returned as a musical comedy baritone, later being induced by a prominent producer to enter motion pictures.

ACCENT NEW STYLE POINTS; LOVELY WHITE KNITTED TOGS

JUST now the shops are making fascinating displays of negligees as they always do before the holidays. This indoor garb ranges all the way from pretty and graceful to splendid and graceful garments—graceful whatever their other attributes may be. They are nearly all cut on flowing lines that pay tribute to classic models by following them more or less closely.

The majority of the new negligees are made with side fastenings and loose, roomy sleeves like the attractive garment of fine, supple corduroy shown here. Sleeves are considerably varied.

Fascinating pure-white knitted sports sets, such as the picture defines, are a veritable challenge to winter to hurry and bring its snow, its sleighbells, its toboggans, skis and skates. Not merely snowlike white-according to the material used. Rayon silk and corduroy are ideal fabrics for negligees that must be practical as well as beautiful. Both are woven in ravishing colors, rayon with very high luster and changeable effects and corduroy with a surface as rich as chiffon velvet. Very often one sees a negligee that looks dignified and luxurious enough to be an opera wrap.

One of the Latest in Negligees.

On negligees of the lightweight or sheer fabrics ostrich fringes and bands or marabou borders, dyed to match, introduce a new trimming note. In this class are those beautiful models in which sheer fabrics, like crepe georgette, are posed over slips in contrasting color of crepe de chine; usually these regal affairs are trimmed with lace or ostrich fringe or both. They are the butterflies of apparel. When the questions of warmth and utility must be considered this season changeable satins, rayon or other silks are called upon and used in plain or quilted garments lined with Japanese silk and warmly interlined with lamb's wool.

Taking all things together corduroy and crepe de chine are most satisfactory in negligees for the average woman—for they are pretty, durable and washable.

A lovely frame for youth in wintertime is heavy sweater, snug cap, scarf and brushed wool gloves all knitted in pure white. A perfect blending into the picturesque wintry landscape, these snow-maidens of fashion clad just so!

Cap, Scarf and Gloves to Match.

ness of these knitted outfits makes appeal of wintry charm, for there is also rugged beauty in the sturdy stitch and heavy yarn. Indeed, it is fashion's decree that the really smart winter knitted sports togs, especially sweaters, be either heavy shaker or rope-knit. So much has this idea of the mannish sweater taken possession of womankind, it has become a custom to patronize men's stores for either slipover or coat style, knitted of jumbo yarn, all-white preferred to color.

Some of us cannot resist an added feminine touch and to such as love the esthetic a bit of brushed wool trimming is quite to our way of thinking. Could any feature more effectively "complete the picture" of winter loveliness than that of downy brushed wool borderings carried out in snowlike whiteness?

Speaking of knitted sports sets, among the newer modes are cap and scarf knitted of either nubbed yarn or in loop-stitch to simulate white fur. These carry brush-wool borders across the scarf and banding the cap.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRVING KING

THE GRAY PINE

WHEREVER the gray pine grows it is called "the unlucky tree," because it is supposed to bring bad luck to anyone who stands under it—especially to women.

This superstition is, apparently, a survival of the worship of the Phrygian god Attis, a worship introduced into Europe through the Greeks. Attis has been identified with the Greek god Adonis and by some, also, with the Egyptian Osiris. At any rate the Attis cult was a most ancient one and profoundly influenced European mythology. Attis was supposed to have met his death under a pine tree into which his spirit entered. At the festival of Attis, celebrated in the spring, a pine tree, the trunk of which was wrapped in wool, was brought into the sanctuary of Cybele and a young man tied to the tree trunk. Then the priests and the votaries gashed themselves until their blood covered the bound man. He was then unbound and the pine tree taken out and burned. Originally the bound man was sacrificed to represent the death of the god, but later it was sufficient that he was covered with blood. This will explain why it is "unlucky" to stand under the tree—the person so standing takes the place of the victim of the old ritual.

That the tree is especially unlucky for women is explained by the fact that the ancient rite took place in the temple of Cybele—the mother of the god who was slain in this incarnate form—and also by certain orgiastic practices which characterized the sacrifice. That the superstition in question should linger about the gray pine and not other pines may be accounted for by suggestiveness of its color—the color of ashes to which the sacred pine of Attis was ultimately reduced—or possibly the color of the natural wool with which the trunk of the sacred pine was covered at the Phrygian festival. Also as the sacred pine of Attis was always burned so the principal use of the gray pine is for firewood.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

WHY?

WHY yield up to despair,
Surrendering to care,
With tears and downcast eye,
When in the morning sky
The glorious sun of cheer
Is shining bright and clear,
And shedding on your way
The golden light of day
To lead you from your stress
Out of the wilderness
If you but seize the gold
The flying minutes hold?

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning: whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

REGINA

THE queen of Heaven, Maria, has votaries called by the Italians Regina or Reina. Reina was found more frequently in Florence. In France, Regina became Reine and Reinette, the former also being a favorite in Germany. All, of course, are translated to mean queen.

The natural conclusion would be that the name Regina is merely the Latin word for queen given a capitalized initial letter, but another explanation of its origin, and one most generally accepted, is that it is one of the many evolved from the Latin rego, meaning rule. If such is the case it has a history as full of adventure as an Arabian Nights and is indeed an heroic name for a woman to bear.

The first Rganar was that hardy soul who, after ravaging France, was put to death in England, whereupon his fierce sons in revenge swept England with merciless devastation. His name therefore became a dread one and in some manner was changed to Rene. At once Renee became popular as a feminine name since the younger daughter of Louis XII of France bore it. When she married into the House of Este, her name was changed into Renata, a form which is very pleasing to the Spanish and Italian. The old Dutch form, Renira, is quaint and quite pretty. The Teutonic influence makes itself evident in Reigi and Regi.

The aquamarine is Regina's jewel. Much superstition centers about this stone and it has therapeutic value, since by its paling color, it gives evidence of the bodily weakening of its wearer. It is even held that its color will stain the flesh against which it is worn as indication of some physical derangement. Thursday is Regina's fortunate day and 7 her lucky number. The violet is her flower.

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Through the Glad Eyes of a Woman

By Jane Doe

OUR NOSEGAY GIRLS

I WAS dilly-dallying alongside the beauty counters of a big store the other morning, treating my susceptible nose to all the fine airs which blow round these parts.

And it occurred to me that the fashionable young woman of today, judging from the amount of money she hands over those popular counters, must be a sort of animated pot-pourri of all the most delicious scents that ever blew across Araby, or—er—the perfumier's laboratory.

Her toilet from her hour of awakening until she lays a tired head on the pillow of forgetfulness is surely just one delicate aroma after another.

She is very liberal, you observe, with the lilac bath salts, and she dries herself on warm towels from a linen cupboard that is smelly with sweet verbena. After that she powders with a gigantic puff.

Her teeth she cleans with a paste tasty with wintergreen, and likes a mouth-wash flavored with peppermint.

She washes her face in waters that are faintly milky with tincture of benzoin, which is not unlike sweet almonds to the nose, and bathes the sleep out of her eyes with eyecups of rose water.

Her hair has to be anointed with a trifle of jasmine brilliantine, and she touches up her lips with a stick that reminds you of cherry.

Over her cheeks and neck she puffs a rachel or naturelle cloud of some delicate powder that can be quite intoxicatingly like a wild rose, or a suggestion of honeysuckle after a shower of rain, or a nodding violet.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Maybe it is a dance night.

Another bath—now with mustard in it. She creams her neck and arms, and wipes it all off with a California poppy toilet water.

She uses her best perfume, which is very alluring and baffles description.

And she goes forth, rustling in silk or taffeta, with the aroma of the looms of far China or Japan still clinging to them.

And we don't see her any more until she comes back with her feet like bits of hot lead, white shoulders that ache with the shimmy-ague, and a head that feels as if it's going to burst.

But she is not too tired to wipe off all that powder and lip-salve and cosmetique with plain, homely cold cream, or spray her pillow with refreshing eau de cologne.

Oh, very nice!

And how grateful we should be for our nosegay girls.

Let us salute them.

Taking respectful care of cherry-tasting cupid bows.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

ALLEN'S PRINCESS RANGES

The Peer of all ranges in baking perfection, kitchen comfort, grace of design, and economy of space and fuel.

Ask your dealer or write us for catalog and name of dealer near you

ALLEN MFG. COMPANY
Nashville Tennessee

CONTINUOUS HATCHER An Innovation

Agents Wanted

Something new, unique, successful. Small settings, more chicks. Hatch every week. Write for catalog.

Continuous Hatcher Incubator Co. Box 675. Jackson, Miss.

Frostp'f Cabbage Plts—Lead'g varieties, 50c; 1,000, $1.50, p'p'd. 90c 1,000, exp. 48-h serv. Clements & Wettstain, Chambers, K

Would You Like More Education Than You have? Neither age, location or financial condition need stand in the way. Write for free information. Helping Hand Bureau, Beipre,

We Pay More for Furs

We are always in the market and pay top prices. Honest grading and prompt payment. Satisfaction guaranteed—your furs returned if you are not satisfied. Write for prices and tags. One shipment—and then you will always ship to

H. WAINER & CO.
New Orleans, La.

Richest man in a small town can always spread the largest wet blanket when he wants to.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Take Tablets Without Fear If You See the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Ad

Think about your own faults and you will talk less about the faults of others.

"CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED—10c A BOX

If Dizzy, Headachy or Stomach Sour, Clean the Bowels.

To clean your bowels without cramping or overacting, take "Cascarets." Sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, gases, indigestion, sour upset stomach and all such distress gone by morning. Nicest laxative and cathartic on earth for grown-ups and children. 10c a box—all druggists.

Where There's Health There's a Way!

ABILITY and will cannot win through to victory in life unless there is also energy—health. And lack of energy in eight cases out of ten is caused by Anemia—blood starvation.

The test above is a guide to blood condition. Press the flesh between hand and thumb firmly: unless the blood comes rushing back, Anemia is indicated.

For thirty-two years thousands of physicians have seen their patients regain health and energy by the use of Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It rebuilds the latent power in run down bodies by supplying the blood with the iron and manganese it lacks.

Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Tonic and Blood Enricher

M PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Bradford Recommends Lydia tham's Vegetable Compound

ebus, Virginia.—"Having this op- ity I just cannot refrain from say- ing a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them as occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot , insomnia, etc.,—and I am d to testify to the wonderful re- I obtained from the Vegetable ound. I heartily recommend it to oman and I will be pleased to an- any inquiries that might be sent to rough the publication of my testi- l."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 ead Street, Phoebus, Virginia. sider carefully Mrs. Bradford's . Her experience ought to help She mentions the trials of middle d the wonderful results she ob- d from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vege- Compound.

you are suffering from nervous es, irritability, or if other annoy- mptoms appear and you are blue es, you should give the Vegetable ound a fair trial. For sale by gists everywhere.

Precaution

st Actress—I asked the manager her I ought to walk off or dance fter my song.

ond Actress—And what did he st Actress—He said run like e!

MOTHER!

ild's Best Laxative is California Fig Syrup" urry Mother! A teaspoonful of lifornia Fig Syrup" now will thor- ly clean the little bowels and in a hours you have a well, playful child n. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, stipated or full of cold, childrer e its pleasant taste.

Tell your druggist you want only the uine "California Fig Syrup" which directions for babies and childrer all ages printed on bottle. Mother must say "California." Refus imitation.

Let It Go at That

"Do you drink coffee in the morn ?" "That's what my wife calls it.'

all's Catarrh edicine will do what we claim for it—your system of Catarrh or Deafness used by Catarrh.

Sold by druggists for over 40 years

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

~have Resinol ready for scalds and burns

The tormenting, insistent pain of a burn or scald is quickly subdued by Resinol Ointment. Its cooling ingredients remove the inflammation, and hasten the healing. Cover the burn well with Resinol and bandage with soft gauze. In severe burns or scalds covering a large surface always se for a doctor.

Resinol products at all druggists.

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex

BOYS & GIRLS Earn Xmas Money

Write for 50 sets St. Nicholas Christmas Seals. Sell for 10 a set. When sold send us $3.00 and keep $2.00. No work- but fun. St. Nicholas, 2814 Glenwood Rd., Dept. W, Brooklyn, N. Y.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

A Threat

THE TRUTHFUL PROMOTER.

How can you expect me to put money into this business? I don't know anything about it?

Well, that was one of the reasons why I expected you to put money into it.

A BLOCK HEAD.

The barber wanted to singe my hair, but I said no.

Your caution was commendable. He might have started a wood fire.

Animal Highbrow

"The most forgiving animal in the oo is the giraffe."

"What makes you think that?"

"Why, my dear, he overlooks everything." —Good Hardware.

MAGNANIMOUS

This year, my love, you can wish for whatever you like for your birthday.

Oh, how perfectly sweet.

For I shan't be able to give you anything at all.

Far Fetched

A local preacher had made the subject of his address "Slothfulness."

"Do you think," he inquired, to the amusement of his audience, "that Adam and Eve walked about the Garden of Eden with their hands in their pockets?"

ELOQUENCE.

Demosthenes practiced oratory with a pebble in his mouth.

Well, you can talk to a girl pretty well with a solitaire on your tongue.

VERY NATURAL.

Sister's Beau: What do you think your sister would like for her birthday?

Bobbie: I think she'd like a new beau.

NOT THE SAME.

He: I hear you referred to me as a rare find.

She: No, I didn't say "rare"—I said "half-baked."

The Lottery of Matrimony

Geraldine—Shall we send our wedding invitations by mail?

Gerald—I guess we'd better deliver them ourselves; there is a Federal law against sending lottery tickets through the mail.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best—Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

The Mexican population of Los Angeles is said to be the largest of any city in the world except the City of Mexico.

Cuticura Soap for the Complexion. Nothing better than Cuticura Soap daily and Ointment now and then as needed to make the complexion clear, scalp clean and hands soft and white. Add to this the fascinating, fragrant Cuticura Talcum, and you have the Cuticura Toilet Trio.—Advertisement.

A fool cannot look nor stand, nor walk like a man of sense.—La Bruyere.

Every Horse Owner and Dairyman should know Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh. Fine for Galls, Cuts, Sores, Caked Udders. Large size bottle $1.25, all stores.—Adv.

None are prevented by their own faults from pointing out the faults of another.

Sore eyes, blood-shot eyes, watery eyes, sticky eyes, all healed promptly with nightly applications of Roman Eye Balsam. Adv.

Humility is the light of understanding.—Bunyan.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

CURES COLDS in 24 HOURS

WORLD'S STANDARD CASCARA QUININE PRICE 30 CENTS FOR TWO GENERATIONS

CURES LA GRIPPE in 3 DAYS

DETROIT, W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN

The most delicious pleasure is to cause that of other people.

It is a long road from the initiation of a thing to its finish.

COUGHS!

Break Them Up Quickly at the start

Never let a cold get a hold on you when you can break it up quickly, as millions have.

Take just one spoonful of Cheney's Expectorant and notice the quick results. Costs only few cents for handy pocket size—pleasant to taste—no harmful drugs. Colds quickly vanish when this powerful, safe, dependable remedy is used.

Relief Begins in Three Minutes!

CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT

Quick and Dependable

Remain Young!

Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic aids digestion, tones nerves and stimulates whole system. Delightful to take. Quickly effective.

For Constipation use Munyon's Paw Paw Pills

"There is Hope"

MUNYON'S PAW PAW TONIC

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded

MUNYON'S • Scranton, Pa.

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

Buy Concord Yarns

direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

BRASS BUCKET SPRAY PUMPS $3.60 delivered. FARM NOVELTY SUPPLY COMPANY, ORANGEBURG, S. C.

WANTED—OLD POSTAGE STAMPS on entire postmarked envelopes; also single stamps, in use before 1880; highest prices paid. J. W. Ross, 810 W. 11th St., Erie, Pa.

YOUR HANDWRITING TELLS WHAT you are fitted for. 100 words and $1.00 brings chart. Tests your adaptability to any position. RICHARD S. ROGERS, P. O. Box 1209, FORT WORTH, TEXAS.

BE YOUR OWN HORSE DOCTOR—Save veterinary bills. Complete course by mail. Farm Science Institute, Orangeburg, S. C.

IF YOU HAVE FOUND IT IMPOSSIBLE TO ECONOMICALLY FIGHT THE MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE, THE BOLL WEEVIL, BORES, FLEA BEETLES or any other kind of insect, send for my free literature. OFFICIALLY INVESTIGATED. Fred Reinlein, 144 W. Kilpatrick St. Portland, Ore.

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 48-1924.

England's oldest road, which is believed to have been made at least 2,000 years ago, runs between Winchester and Canterbury.

Founds Steinmetz Scholarship

Schenectady, N. Y.—The General Electric company has appropriated $25,000 which will be used to provide four scholarships at Union college as a memorial to Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, the company's chief consulting engineer, who died a year ago, it was announced by Dr. Charles A. Richmond, president of the college. Doctor Steinmetz was for many years a professor at Union college, a position which he greatly prized.

Venus de Milo Never Had Arms, Says Dr. Edde

Paris.—It may be some consolation to art lovers throughout the world, who have wondered in what position were the missing arms of the famous Venus de Milo statue in the Louvre, to learn that even the ancients themselves were perplexed on this point.

Doctor Edde, a French physician, has just made known that during a recent visit to Egypt he came into possession of a small bronze statuette of the same period as the Venus de Milo. This statuette is an exact copy of the famous Venus, and like the original, it has no arms. Doctor Edde therefore concludes that the Venus de Milo never at any time had arms.

When the Venus de Milo was discovered on the island of Milo a large reward was offered to anyone who could find the arms, but in spite of extensive search nothing was discovered.

For colds BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN"—Genuine

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Safe

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

A Cheaper Better STOCK FEED

Grains and hays are high. Molasses adds value to cheap roughage and other feeds. Produces milk, beef or pork at less cost. Keeps stock healthy. Sold in barrels, car lots or less. Write for prices and booklet. Agents and dealers wanted.

MOBILE IMPORTING & TRADING CO. Mobile, Alabama

MOLASSES

Flowers will last much longer if the stems are dipped in boiling water as soon as plucked. This is often spoken of as "sealing flowers."

Miss Lillie Linholm of Garnsey, sent in her club of three new subscriptions Wednesday for which the Reporter sent her a new fountain pen.

Beauty Specialties

You will find it a pleasure to purchase your toilet preparations at our store.

Our stock is so varied and complete that it will meet the requirements of the most exacting and fastidious taste.

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

Bigger and Better Than Ever

A Feast of Good Things for 1925 of the Widest Variety and Highest Excellence.

8 SERIAL STORIES Stories of the Sea, Stories of the Sage Brush Country, Stories of School Life, Stories that will delight you for weeks upon weeks.

50 SPECIAL ARTICLES by Men and Women who write with authority.

200 SHORT STORIES by the most popular writers of American fiction.

Caleb Peaslee's Cape Cod Philosophy—The Best Children's Page—The Family Page—The Boys' Page—The Girls' Page—The Doctor's Corner

START A YEAR TODAY

OFFER No. 1	OFFER A
1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues for 1925	1. The Youth's Companion for 1925 . . . . $2.50
2. All remaining Weekly 1924 issues; also	2. All Remaining 1924 Issues
3. The 1925 Companion Home Calendar (Sent on request)	3. The 1925 Companion Home Calendar (Sent on request)
All for $2.50	4. McCall's Magazine $1.00
	All for $3.00

Check your choice and send this coupon with your remittance to the PUBLISHERS OF THIS PAPER, or to THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Boston, Massachusetts.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Get Three One-Year Subscriptions to

The REPORTER

and get FOUNTAIN PEN--FREE

Either Ladies' or Gentlemen's Style.

THE REPORTER IS

$1.50 a YEAR

and worth it. Simply send us three names with $4.50 and we will send the paper for one year to each person you name, and the pen direct to you.

Birthday Party

Calera, Alabama, Nov. 24.—Last Thursday evening Miss Willie Culver celebrated her fifteenth birthday by giving a party for her friends. There were games played and refreshments served. All had a very good time,

Those attending the party were Ruth and Lydia Pilgreen, Nell Ross, Maggie Pearl Bynum, Pauline and Josie Pilgreen, Bert Eason Freda Hobbs, Laura Woods, Inez Tomlin, Eunice V. Harris, Lillian Haynes, Stella Dykes, J. W. Elliott Jeff and Alfred Butler, from Siluria, J. D. Shaw, Johnnie McClendon, George Campbell, Forrest Adkins, E. C. Chevalier, Elton and Johnnie Wilks, E. K. Wood, Layne Key, Joe Ross, Herman Story, Lewis Pilgreen and Dennis Grimes.

Preaching at Mt. Olive

Elder N. P. Vandiver will preach at Mt. Olive, two miles west of Columbiana on the fifth Sunday November 30, and on Saturday before. J. T. Finley,

B. F. Caldwell of Birmingham, writes: "I am glad to note that 'Old Coontown' is going forward so rapidly."

Charles Horsley of Dadeville is expected to come to Columbiana Thursday for a visit with friends.

Singing Society

Florence Singing Society was called to order by the president, E. Vick, who led several songs when a prayer was offered by J. M. Crenshaw, Singing was continued with the following leaders: Berry Barnett, Floyd Ray, Miss Ola Mae Kendrick, Miss Claudie Ray, Miss Lola Ray, Miss Onzell Vick, Miss Eunice Brasher, E. Vick, Vernon Ray, T. P. Ray, J. T. Brasher, A. A. Ray, Rev. W. P. Hale The society was closed with prayer by Rev. W. P. Hale, to meet next second Sunday.

Miss Myrtis Acker who teaches at Cedar Grove, came home Saturday for a short visit.

Miss Annie John Haynes came home from Alabama College on Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving holidays.

Rev. Mr. Helms, the new pastor ofShelby circuit, M P church was in Columbiana Monday. He was accompanied by J W Shaw of Union.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ray and Miss Wood, of Birmingham were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Merrell Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Mays who teaches at Helena, spent the week end at home with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Mays.

W. H. Shrader was in Columbiana Wednesday winding up the ginning season. He states that his total ginning would be about 800 bales.

Under the auspices of the Community Club the patrons of Mt. Era school held an enthusiastic meeting Tuesday night in the interest of a better school.

HARPERSVILLE

George Deloach of South Carolina, visited his sister Mrs. Prince here last week.

Ralph Caddell is visiting relatives in Denison, Texas.

Mrs. Dora Ballard was carried to Tuscaloosa last week for medical treatment.

Our teachers attended a school meeting at Vincent last Saturday.

The horse swappers convention here last Saturday was a failure.

We enjoyed Mr. Allen's article in last week's Reporter very much. Write again Mr. Allen.

Mr, Bozeman is moving to Branchville this week.

Cotton has all been ginned and sold, and corn has been gathered and some of our farmers have already begun work for an other crop.

Rev. C. J. Bentley preached at the Baptst church Sunnay morning and evening. He was elected pastor by a unanimous vote of the church for another year, and the preaching days have been changed from the first Sunday to the fourth Sunday in each month.

White House Martyrs.

The strain of entertaining a nation at the White House killed four wives of presidents of the United States. They were Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Fillmore, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Wilson. The whole labor of conducting the social life of the government falls on the president's wife, and democracy, which makes the presidential pair accessible to every respectable caller, imposes a fearful nervous strain.

Auto Runs Cooker.

An electric cooker has been designed that can be operated with current from batteries on an automobile.

DR. C. HEAD
Veterinarian
will be in Columbiana, Saturday, November 29th, at Farley's Drug Store.

New Way to Stop Night Coughing

Those who have suffered the tortures of sleeplessness due to continual coughing at night, and who as a result often feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, need no longer permit their systems to be weakened and their vitality sapped by this distressing ailment. For through a very simple treatment the trouble can be stopped almost at once, and people often get their full night's rest undisturbed after the very first trial.

Here is the method: Simply get a bottle of the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery from any good drug store. Then to-night before retiring take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. This prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. So your throat is left wonderfully soothed and cleared of irritating gatherings, you can sleep soundly and restfully, and the cough is usually gone in a very short time.

Dr. King's New Discovery is a remarkable remedy for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35.000.00

COLUMBIANA. ALABAMA.

W. F DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

MT. ERA

Mr. aid Mrs. Gurnsie Moore and little son, Buford, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Moore.

Henry Epperson and Miss Florence Payne were happily married last Sunday afternoon. We wish them much joy.

Misses Esther Morris and Madge Hand of Bay Springs spent the week end with Miss Madge's parents, Mr. and Mrn. D. C. Hand.

Mrs. Velenia Haywood spent a few days last week at Siluria.

Mauris Garrett went to Columbiana Saturday on business.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. E, Whitson November 19, a son.

James Foster of Vincent was in our community a short while Sunday afternoon.

J. W. Malone was in Columbiana last week serving as a juryman,

Mr. and Mrs. John Roach and family were visitors at the Society Saturday night.

The singing here Sunday afternoon was a success.

Old-Time Cough Remedy—Pine and Honey—Still

According to specialists, really nothing better or acting for coughs, chest col chitis, spasmodic croup a irritation than good old and honey. No matter wh cough is dry and tight, with much mucus, the quickly aids in the remov phlegm and congestion w the direct cause of the coug relieving soreness, while t both soothes irritation and pleasant taste.

The original compound, w been used in thousands of for many years, is Dr. Bel Tar Honey. It has had m taters, but still remains the it is scientifically compo just the right proportions tar, honey and other he gredients which the best have found to aid in givi relief. It contains absol narcotics or harmful drug be given to young and old you want the best, be sure the original Dr. Bell's Honey and no other. Onl any good druggists.

INSIST ON DR. BEL PINE-TAR-H FOR COU

The WOODSTOCK

Represents the latest achievement in typewriter construction, gives the greatest measure of satisfactory service and a quality of work that is unsurpassed.

Consider these facts: The Woodstock means more far the money, has many superior features and excels in every particular.

Price and terms most attractive—full particulars on request. Ask for demonstration.

LUTHER FOWLER, Distributor
Columbiana, Alabama

HORSES--MULES

We have just received a car load of Horses and Mules.

WILL SELL OR TRADE

Come to see us

McGraw Bros.

VINCENT, - - - ALABAMA

ROLAND TURNER WILL SPEAK FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12th AT THE COURTHOUSE

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Circuit Clerk

ubscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, DECEMBER 4' 19 4. Vol. 81. No. 46.

FIRST CAR LOAD DAIRY CATTLE BROUGHT INTO SHELBY COUNTY

Selected From Choice Herds

The first car load of high grade ersey cattle ever to be brought in- Shelby county for dairy pur- oses was received this week, The r consisted of 31 choice cows and hree pure bred bulls, which were ught at Starkville Miss. last week County Agent A. A. Lauder- le assisted by L. P. Mooney rep- sentative of the Shelby County iry Association and G, W. mphrey of Atlanta, dairy ecialist of the Development Ser- e of the Southern Railway.

Oktibbeha county Miss., of ich Starkville is the county t, is one of the leading dairy nties of the whole South and . Lauderdale and his associates nt three days going from herd herd selecting the very best and nicest cows they could find at prices they were authorized pay.

These cattle will be distributed ong the members of the Shelby nty Dairy Association as fol- s: L. P. Mooney and son, 9 s; G. P. Archer, 4 cows; Sid wson, 4 cows; G. A. Wood, 4 s; D. H. Richards, 4 cows; J. Sims 3 cows; J. A. Cates, 2 s; J. T. McEwen, 1 pure bred l. In addition to these a fine sey cow was bought for L. H. s of Columbiana and a choice ng buli for J. M. Frost of Mon- lo. Mr. Frost has been in the y business for a number of s already and he has decided improve his herd more rapidly dding to it this pure bred bull. he bringing in of this car load igh grade dairy cattle is a inct step forward in a move t that has been under way for e time, Agricultural leaders long realized that Shelby nty is well adapted to the y industry and for some years been urging farmers to give attention to it. Those farm- who have gone into the dairy ness and there are quite a ber of them, usually express nselves as being well pleased results. It is expected that movement to bring in better s will be but the beginning of eatly increased interest in the y industry and will help to dairying, in the course ears, one of the chief sources gricultural prcperity, for the ty, e Shelby County Dairy Asso- n whose members are respon- for this distinctly forward is an organization that grew of the work of the Farmers School, conducted at Fourmile he past two seasons by Mr. Montgomery, Teacher of Voc- al Agriculture in Shelby ty High School. It now has a bership of about twenty five ers, some of them living in adjoining communities to mile.

r. and Mrs. Mims Roberts, of adega, spent Sunday with ives in Columbiana.

r. and Mrs. W. A. Mays and sons, McCoy and William s, spent Thanksgiving with ives in Tuscaloosa.

MONDAY BUSY DAY IN COUNTY COURT

A heavy docket faced Judge Riddle in the County Court Monday and disposition was made of a large number of cases as follows:

Will Garner, violating prohibition law, $50 fine.

Arthur Dement, violating prohibition law, continued.

Emmett Lawley, violating prohibition law, fined $50.

Clarence Crawford, malicious mischief, nol prossed.

Bud and Margaret Hoffman, petit larceny, not guilty.

Sam Mitchell, violating prohibition law, $50 fine.

J. M. Thomas, violating prohibition law, $50 fine.

Walter Hill, public drunkenness, nol prossed.

Carl Horton, violating prohibition law, continued.

Will Fillmore, violating prohibition law, $50 fine.

Clarence Crawford, violating prohibition law, continued.

Clemmy Harkins, violating prohibition law, continued.

Otis Ingram, carrying concealed weapon, continued.

J. H. Lominick, violating prohibition law, continued.

Elbert Phillips, violating prohibition law, continued.

R. C. Sturdivant, violating pro hibition law, continued.

Will Batton, violating prohibition law, $50 fine.

W. O. Freeman, violating prohibition law, continued.

Annie Freman, violating prohibition law, continued.

Will Garner, violating prohibition law, $50 fine; three months hard labor.

Charley Shepherd, violating prohibition law, $100 fine.

B. L. Tucker, violating prohibition law, continued.

A. S. Tucker, violating prohibition law, continued.

J. S. Carden, violating prohibition law, continued.

Alonzo Bean, violating prohibition law, continued.

In addition to those listed above, about 60 cases for violations of the quarantine laws that had been on the docket for some time, were nol prossed.

S. E. Elliott, of Harpersville, came in Monday to add the name of his brother, Rev. W. J. Elliott, of Montgomery, to The Reporter's list of readers.

J. R. White, state inspector of oils, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Luck and other relatives.

Mrs. A. A. Lauderdale returned Sunday from a week's visit with relatives at Marion Junction.

There will be a chicken supper at Vandiver School house Saturday night Dec. 13 It will be for the community Christmas tree. Evrybody is cordially invited.

PLANS MADE FOR BIG DAIRY CAMPAIGN

County Agent A. A. Lauderdale requests that The Reporter again call attention to plans for a County Wide Dairy Campaign to be carried on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, December 9 and 10. The object of this effort is to explain more fully to the farmers and business men of Shelby County, the advantages of Dairy Farming.

Following the bringing into the county of the first car load of high grade dairy cattle, it is felt that now is an opportune time for such a campaign and Mr. Lauderdale is very hopeful that every man and woman who can do so will attend the one of the meetings that is most convenient.

A number of Dairy Specialists have agreed to come next week and assist in carrying on the campaign. Among these are: G. W. Humphrey and R. L. Biggs, of the Southern Railway Development Service; Heyward Walker, manager of the Talladega Creamery, and John Rigdon, of the Agricultural Department of the Central of Georgia Railroad.

Meetings will be held at the following places at the dates given:

Tuesday, December 9, 2 p. m.; Sterrett, Westover, Shelby, Enon and Dargin.

Tuesday, December 9, 7 p. m.: Calcis, Fourmile, Kingdom, Wilton, Keystone.

Wednesday, December 10, 2 p. m.: Wallis School House, Wright School House, Mount Era, Spring Creek and New Hope.

Wednesday, December 10, 7 p. m.: Harpersville, McGowan School House, Chelsea, Ebenezer and Bold Springs School House.

Monthly Honor Roll for Wright School

The following pupils deserve their names to be placed on the Honor Roll for not being tardy, present every day and made the required average in their work during the month of November.

First Grade, Louise Crumpton; Second Grade, Leon Templin; Third Grade, Frank Moon; Fourth Grade, Henry Moon, Naoma Crawford; Fifth Grade, Carlton Naish; Sixth Grade, Margaret Church, Ruth Church, Eleanor Moon, James Moon, O'Neal Crumpton, Leonard Crumpton; Junior Two, Ruth Mae Naish, Claude Crumpton. Allene Baker, Nona Glass.

RECORD PORKER KILLED

One day last week Aunt Betty Payne of Camp Branch kilid a hog that weighed 740 pounds. The day she killed this hog was her birthday and she was 68 years old. She has worked and raised this big hog by herself.

Now why can't some of us boys d girls that are younnger in years than Aunt Becky ralse some hogs like this? Let us try in 1925 to raise some that will weigh half as much anyhow. Now I will say I have the pleasure and good luck to be one of Aunt Becky's neighbors and have been trying some of her good nice sausage she sent us and its fine. We wish for her many returns of her birthday and that she will kill another hog like this next year for I sure enjoy the sausage.

Will say Mr. Editor if you want a good square meal just stop at Aunt Becky's about 12 o'clock some day.

C. B, Davis

Miss Elizabeth Duran, of Alabama College, spent Thanksgiving holidays at home with her mother, Mrs. Lillie Duran. She had as her guests during the visit, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Mamie Miller.

MASONS HELP ALA. COLLEGE DRIVE

Montevallo, Ala., November 29. —Interest in the Montevallo Fund Campaign is steadily growing, according to Director O. C. Carmichael.

During the month of November considerably over $50,000 was turned in in cash and pledges from various parts of the state. It was a few thousand dollars more than was turned in during October. Each week from ten to fifteen thousand dollars are added to the fund.

One of the most inspiring features of the campaign is the interest which the Masonic bodies throughout the state are taking in the work. The Masonic bodies in Woodlawn, seven in number, under the leadership of Dr. A. W. Bell, voluntarily pledged themselves from $125 to $500 for each body.

Similar action followed in Ensley and in Bessemer and later in Montgomery. Then within the last week several lodges have sent in pledges to the fund. Among these are The Adamsville Lodge, and the Akron Lodge.

It has been suggested that all Masonic lodges throughout the State make some contribution, thus giving the cause 100 per cent support. Nothing would mean more to the cause of larger opportunities for the young women of the State than such interest on the part of the Masons, and it would be particularly fitting since it was the Grand Lodge of Alabama that first went on record asking the legislature to make of the college at Montevallo a full four-year standard institution.

In the second place, it is at Montevallo that the girls from the Masonic Home in Montgomery receive their college training. Nine of these young women are at present in attendance at Alabama College. They are as follows: Minnie Jewel Rice, Margaret Butler, Lena Mae Harris, Alice Bargainer, Annie Mae Skinner, Nora Warren, Theresa Conoway, Hixon Conoway, Venerah Strickland.

HARPERSVILLE

Miss Myrtle Baker is visiting in Birmingham.

Miss Annie Lee Borum visited Birmingham friends last week.

Mrs. Anna Lou Snow of Helena spent the week end with Harpersville friends,

J. H. Stone and family and Harvy Baker visited Isac Stone and family at Rock Run last week.

Miss Lockie Posey and Master Richard Farrell were over from Birmingham a few days last week

Our school as well as all other schools over the state vacated on last Wednesday evening until Monday morning and "Jemmie Slimp" wants to know who pays the "freight." But "Jemmie" says things are not like they use to be.

Messrs. D. G. Kimbrough, S, E. Elliot and J. H. Jones have been appointed trustees of the Harpers ville School

Our teachers Misses Long and Pollard spent the week end visiting relatives.

Mrs, Dessie Stephenson of Spring Garden is visiting Mrs. Annie Baker and family.

Re v. Mr. Young preachd at the Methodist church Sunday morning and at night.

S. E. Elliot went to Columbiana Monday on court business.,

Mr. and Mrs. Leonadis Eastis and their pretty little daughter of Birmingham spent the week end here with Mrs. Atkinson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baker of Calera. Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Baker of Columbiana. Norman and Miss Alma Baker of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Mann all spent Thanksgiving with J. R. Baker and family.

More Nominations Are Made For Montevallo Exchange Club Trophy

KING OF THE IVORIES PLAYS DREAM BOAT

Thousands of people throughout the United States had the pleasure Monday evening of hearing two of Mildred White Wallace's compositions, Dream Boat and Wishing for you as they were played in Jefferson City Mo. by Harry M. Snodgrass, known to radio fans as "The King of the Ivories". People from sevral states sent telegrams to the broadcasting station teling of their enjoyment of the evenings program.

PASTOR ANNOUNCES FINANCIAL DRIVE

We will put on our Financial Drive Sunday afternoon. We will kill two birds with one stone. One bird will be Current Expenses, the other will be Missions. We need $1,500 for current expenses and the church has adopted a quota of $1,000 for Missions, making a total of $2,500 for all causes.

If our membership will rally to this program we will assure you that you will not be called on for any outside causes. We will not permit any denominational leader to come before you and make additional calls for missions. The $1,000 covers the whole mission program.

You will be provided with semimonthly envelopes and we sincerely ask that you make a pledge with the idea of paying something every preaching Sunday. We want you to pledge what you feel like you can pay. There is nothing binding about the pledge in case of adversity. You are expected to pay only as you are able We hope that every member will subscribe something to both causes if it is only one cent every two weeks.

If you don't subscribe the pastor and church will love you just the same and will strive at all times to serve you and help make you happy. The small giver is honored as much by our Lord as the great giver provided you have done your best.

Yours for God's glory,
RUFUS W. STUCKEY,
Pastor.

Carl Barclay, former coach of Shelby High, greeted many of his old friends in Columbiana on Thanksgiving Day.

Dan Lester is at home from Akron, Ohio, where he has been for the past several months at work.

Dean Carmichael and Mrs. Hare Named This Week

Because of her sympathy for every one, because of her unselfish charity, because of her devotion to service, I nominate Mrs. Hare for the trophy that the Exchange Club will give to the one who has meant most to Montevall in 1924.

I sincerely believe that Mrs. Hare has done unselfishly more of the really great things than any other person in Montevallo.

J. L. APPLETON.

Dear Mr. Appleton:

In my opinion the thing of out standing importance to both Alabama College and Montevallo as a community during the past year has been the campaign for the million dollar endowment fund—because this will cause the development of both. Therefore, I consider that Dean O. C. Carmichael deserves the trophy, as he has been the director of the drive and has contributed by his enthusiastic work the most to its success.

Very truly yours,
D. H. BACOT.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW HIGHWAY

The contract for the building of the new road from Calera to Milton, by way of Montevallo, was awarded by the State Highway Commission, in session Monday, to Scott-Chambers & Company, of West Point, Ga. The road will be eight miles in length, will be gravel surface and will be built at a cost of $115,179.12.

DEWEY LUCAS ACQUITTED

Dewey Lucas, charged with the murder of D. P. Walker at Monttevallo a year ago, was acquittd in the circuit court last week. The trial was finished late Wednesday afternoon and the jury rendered its verdict about ten o clock Wednesday night.

MINSTREL AT HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

The Chorus Class assisted by a Violin Quartette and members of the Expression Department will present a Minstrel Show on Friday night December 5, at 8 oclock at the High School Auditorium. Plenty of good jokes, songs, orchestra numbers, solos etc. Everybody come. Benefit of the Athletic Association.

PROFIT

ON A SAFE BASIS

he foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors ompound Interest a savings account ith us is a good investment.

4%

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

HORSES--MULES

We have just received a car load of Horses and Mules.

WILL SELL OR TRADE

Come to see us

McGraw Bros.
VINCENT, - - - ALABAMA

LANCASTER CASE SET FOR HEARING

FAMOUS CASE WILL BE TAKEN UP BY COURT OF APPEALS ON DECEMBER 18

Montgomery.—The case of Robert J. Lancaster, former national guardsman, charged with the murder of William Baird, coal miner, will be submitted in the court of appeals December 18, it was learned. The case was called on the docket of the court of appeals, but at request of counsel submission of the case was deferred to allow of correction of certain errors in the transcript. The case was continued to the call of the thirtieth division and will be submitted December 18, it was announced.

The Lancaster case is one of the most celebrated criminal cases in recent Alabama history. Several years ago, while a strike of coal miners was in progress in the Birmingham district, William Baird, a coal miner, was arrested charged with the murder of a member of a National Guard unit on strike duty and placed in jail at Jasper. He was taken from the jail and killed, it being alleged that a party of National Guardsmen of which Lancaster, then a sergeant, was a member, committed the crime.

Lancaster was tried in Marion County, a change of venue being obtained from Walker County. His first two trials resulted in mistrials, but on the third trial he was convicted and given a sentence of 18 years. It is from this conviction that the appeal was taken to the court of appeals. The three trials of Lancaster at Hamilton, Marion County, were among the most memorable in this State and attracted widespread attention.

Judge Horace Wilkinson of Birmingham is special prosecutor for the State in the Lancaster case. Counsel for Lancaster comprise A. H. Carmichael, of Tuscumbia; Foster, Rice and Foster, Harwood and McQueen and H. L. Finley, of Tuscaloosa, and Cecil Gray, of Jasper. Lancaster's home was in Tuscaloosa County.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

The Mayor and aldermen of Tuscumbia will meet with the dairymen supplying the city with milk and decide on the proposed unemployment of a milk inspector for Tuscumbia. The decision was reached at a meeting when the dairymen of the district met with the city officials and discussed the need for milk inspection. A representative of the State Health Department addressed the assemblage and explained the need of rigid inspection of milk and milk products offered for sale to the public.

Deputy Sheriff A. E. Ellison, of Mobile County, has been discharged from the service of Sheriff Paul G. Cazalas for allowing a prisoner to escape while handcuffed. Ellison, according to the Sheriff, was in charge of L. Wilson who had been arrested for the alleged burglary of Aldridge's Grocery Store at Satsuma for possession of a still. While Deputy Sheriff Joe Strickfellow was searching a barn for whiskey the prisoner fell in case of Ellison disappeared.

Plans for organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce at Gadsden is scheduled to be discussed at the regular monthly membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. E. B. Bank, President of the Anniston Junior Organization, and also of the state body, will be present to explain the working of the Junior Chamber. It is understood that some steps toward an organization in Gadsden have already been taken.

Announcement has been made by J. Fred Johnson, Jr., department commander of the American Legion, that the generosity of Gen. R. E. Steiner, a beautiful banner to cost from $60 to $75, will be awarded to the Post of the Legion in Alabama that turns into Department Headquarters by December 31 the largest percentage of renewals of its 1924 membership for 1925.

The University of Alabama sits on top of the world, the undisputed champion of the Southern Conference by virtue of the crushing 33 to 0 blow its hard-hitting eleven dealt the University of Georgia Bulldogs at Rickwood Field, in Birmingham, Thanksgiving Day, before the largest and most colorful crowd that ever saw a game of football in Alabama.

R. E. Smith, of Mt. Pinson, and a member of the legislature from Jefferson County, has been elected president of the Alabama Motor Bus Operators' Association, which was formed at the Tutwiler Hotel at Birmingham. V. C. Hicks, of Kellerman, was selected as secretary.

Funeral services were held at Antioch Church, Morgan County, for John Pritchett, well known farmer, who died at a hospital at Albany from the kick of a horse.

The City Council of Anniston has passed an ordinance which makes loitering on the streets after 11 o'clock at night a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment.

The first of the runners for the 30,000,000 horsepower units of the Muscle Shoals development has been successfully placed at Wilson Dam.

An entirely new complaint is being lodged against the old Attalla depot which has been under fire of the cities of Gadsden, Attalla and Alabama City for six years. It is that rats are actually eating small mail packages thrown off at the station. The complaint has been officially made to the postoffice department because so many damaged packages have been found, particularly in late mails for Gadsden that remain over night in the depot. It is said that many valuable parcels have recently been ruined by marauding rodents.

Dr. G. B. Stewart had just finished marketing a 5,000-bushel apple crop from his orchard near Manchester, in Walker County. Dr. Stewart says he could have sold 500,000 bushels of such apples if he had them. He did not retail any of them himself, but some of his choice ones sold at retail for $4 per bushel. It is estimated that he sold $10,000 worth of his apples from his 1924 crop.

Arrests of all persons found setting woods and grass afire has been ordered by Sheriff Paul Cazalas, of Mobile County, who instructed deputies to urge hunters to use caution in the use of matches and fire in the woods. The sheriff's order followed a disastrous fire which swept the territory between Dog River and Deer River, south of Mobile.

Governor Brandon has been informed by telegram of the death of George L. Lambert, judge of probate for Baldwin County. Judge Lambert, it is stated, had been in bad health for several months. He was a physician until elected judge four years ago. His home was at Bay Minette. Among the relatives of the deceased judge is Prof. J. S. Lambert, of the State Department of Education.

A statement showing receipts and disbursements of the state treasury for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1924, was made public by State Treasurer George W. Ellis. Receipts for the year totaled $24,131,663.21 and disbursements, $24,446,182.84. The disbursements included $1,029,186.95 of warrants issued during previous years and paid during the year ending September 30, 1924.

Thomas H. Stephens and associates have taken up options on a "paint mine" in Cherokee County which has attracted much attention recently. The clay is said to be fine material for commercial paints containing as it does, an oil base. The clay has no grit and when dissolved in water forms an excellent ink and dye. Chemists are now making tests to see just what is in the claim of the promoters.

Postmaster Thomas H. Stephens, of Gadsden, and associates are preparing to develop a "paint mine" which they recently acquired in Cherokee County. They claim to have discovered a clay deposit which forms the base of an excellent paint, one that has all ingredients of the ordinary commercial article.

The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company is rapidly clearing its poles from the business section of Huntsville, the wire having been placed in underground cables. Recent improvements has been under way for a long time past and a considerable amount of money has been spent by the telephone company.

Charged in three government indictments with prohibition law violations, Alfred L. Staples, former Mobile banker, business man and at one time president of the Alabama Bankers' Association was placed under arrest at the federal building in that city.

Lilly Hopper, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Hopper, of Selma, died from the effects of burns sustained when her clothing caught fire from an open grate. The child was rushed to a hospital but her body was so badly burned that her case was thought to be hopeless.

An expenditure of $750,000 for improvements to the Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroad in and around Mobile has been announced. One of the big improvements proposed is the building of what is known as the Chickasaw spur, to connect with the river front docks.

The small dredge which finished the upper canal of Luxapalila near Fayette last July and went into dry dock to wait the decision of the Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the drainage act, was burned with all the machinery, last week.

Ralph Levi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Levi, of Anniston, was killed by an accidental shot at the home of a friend in Alexandria Valley. Reports are that a gun was discharged when dropped to the floor by a companion. The bullet pierced the lad's wrist and entered his abdomen.

According to the latest cotton report there were 5,029 bales of cotton ginned in Cleburne County prior to November 14, as compared with 2,564 bales ginned to the same date last year, being 2,465 bales in excess of last year's crop.

Moved by statements that building costs are mounting because mechanics are scarce, the Ensley Realty Board voted approval of proposals for establishing a trades school at its semi monthly meeting.

The Alabama oyster industry is in better condition than in several years past, according to I. T. Quin, State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries.

Louie Chandler, age 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Chandler, of Opelika, was killed by an automobile on the road between Five Points and Stroud.

GORGEOUS FABRICS IN FAVOR; SHOW DAINTINESS IN STYLES

"NOW is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer"—by the advent of dinner and evening gowns never excelled in beauty. This is the season when they flourish at their best, and the oldest fashion reporter can recall no time in the past when fabrics were so gorgeous and lovely—and so simply handled. Everything in the materials used has a sheen or a shimmer or the glitter of metallic threads or jewel-like spangles or beadings. Rich metallic and silk brocades, metallic laces and tissues and sheer, silky materials are united in the gowns that make this a memorable winter in the history of fashions.

One of the Rich Evening Gowns.

All the heavier fabrics, the brocades, gold and silver tissues, velvets and metallic laces are adapted to the straightline gowns that hold a strong position in the mode. They are occasionally used alone and simply draped. More often they are made up with sheer materials, as georgette or chiffon, as shown in the picture given here. In this gown a front and back panel of silk and metal brocade are posed over georgette, arranged in plaits at each side. Ornamentations of metallic beads on the shoulders and at the sides of the low waistline tell all the story of its decoration. A gown like this might be made up in several different color schemes, in fuchsia and silver lavender with orchid or purple georgette and silver beads it would be splendid. In brown gold and warm tan, in blue and silver or black and gold it would also be gorgeous and in lovely green shades.

Someone has said, very appropriately, of present-day footwear, that women are wearing millinery on their feet. Whoever it was, hit the nail on the head—for in shoes, as in about everything else, style and beauty are factors of paramount importance to their wearers. Miss America, her mother and her grandmother dress their feet in sheer hose and low shoes, for all hours of the day and evening. For sports they make a concession in the matter of hosiery and require special shoes.

The plainest, most substantial and best sponsored of shoes for general wear at present are oxfords in black or brown, made of calf or kid skin with Cuban type of heel. For the street, the country or traveling they are approved by fashionable women—but they are not without rivals, for many women do not like a laced shoe. Among new arrivals there are models that follow the lead of oxfords in all lines except that the front vamp is changed so that lacing is done away with. The foot slips into the shoe which is presented in several styles of front finish, among them a very neat model with three decorative buttons set on the right side. For cold weather spats are worn, or high protecting overshoes, if one prefers the latter.

Following the oxfords, comes a company of many pumps in kid, patent leather, satin, suede and other leathers which are approved for the street and general wear in town. A typical pair is shown in the illustration, finished with a metallic buckle. The pumps pictured are in black patent leather and look well with afternoon as well as morning dress. These shoes are made of varied leathers in black or brown—for street wear other colors appear to have vanished under the horizon of fashion. Comparatively few shoes of this type are finished with buckles but those having flat leather-covered buckles to match the shoes must not be overlooked.

Some Notes on Footwear.

Following the pumps comes an array of low shoes with strap fastenings or built up with varied strap effects over the instep. In this company also are the beautiful and dainty models for afternoon and evening wear in suede, velvet, satin, silk and metallic brocades. Besides intricate strap effects, afternoon shoes show garnitures of buckles or bows. Many variations of the heel appear, according to the degree of formal dress which the shoe is intended for.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Scene of Last Battle in the Revolution

In the summer of 1769 a Virginia hunter came to a high bluff overlooking the Ohio river, and, impressed by the beauty of the spot, he took "tomahawk possession," built a rude shack and remained there for several months. Ebenezer Zane was his name and the next year he returned, bringing with him several of his friends and their families to make a settlement.

When Lord Dunmore, the governor of Virginia, decided in 1774 to make war on the western Indians who had been attacking the border settlements, he ordered several companies of militia to rendezvous at the Zane settlement and build a fort as the base for his military operations. Accordingly a typical frontier stockade was erected here by Maj. Angus McDonald, with Ebenezer Zane and John Caldwell supervising the construction, and it was named Fort Fincastle, in honor of Dunmore, one of whose titles was Viscount Fincastle.

When Dunmore's campaign ended successfully he left a garrison of 25 men at Fort Fincastle, who held the post until June, 1775, when the Revolution broke out and the frontiersmen took possession of it for the Continental congress. In 1777 the fort was enlarged and renamed Fort Henry, in honor of Patrick Henry.

From that time on Fort Henry saw some stirring events. On August 31, 1777, it was attacked by 350 Shawnee, Mingo and Wyandot warriors, and during this attack Betty Zane made her famous dash across the bullet-swept clearing to carry back in her apron the powder so desperately needed by the defenders of the fort.

Again on September 10, 1782, the Indians, aided by a force of British rangers from Detroit, swept down upon the post, but again the frontiersmen beat off the attack. This was virtually the last battle of the Revolution and the war, which was opened by a shot from a little four-pounder on the walls of Fort William and Mary in New Hampshire, ended with the sharp crack of a frontiersman's long rifle at Fort Henry in West Virginia.

After the Revolution the sight of Fort Henry was a welcome one to thousands of emigrants who floated down the Ohio in their quest for homes in the West, for it was the symbol of the conquering pioneer, the outpost of white civilization which had successfully withstood all the savage assaults launched against it. When the frontier days were over the settlement around Fort Henry continued to grow and today it is the important city of Wheeling, W. Va.

The Key to Ownership of the Ohio Valley

It was the keen military mind of George Washington that first saw the strategic importance of the spot where the Monongahela and the Allegheny rivers join to form the Ohio, and it was at his recommendation that Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia in 1753 ordered a fort built there to hold the country west of the Appalachians for the English. Hardly had Dinwiddie's party begun to work on the fort when the French appeared, drove them away, demolished the crude stockade and built on its site Fort Duquesne, named for the governor of Canada.

Thus began the great struggle between the French and English, known as the French and Indian war in America and the Seven Years' war in Europe, and control of this outpost on the American frontier was destined to be the principal factor in deciding whether England or France was to control the Ohio valley, and with it North America. It was against Fort Duquesne that General Braddock set out in 1755 on the expedition which ended so disastrously almost within sight of the fort and three years later Major Grant and his Highlanders, the advance guard of General Forbes' army, met a similar disaster while reconnoitering before it. But Forbes, unlike Braddock, did not scorn the advice of George Washington, and he reached his goal.

When he arrived at Fort Duquesne on November 15, 1758, he found that the enemy had left it a smoking ruin. The next year Gen. John Stanwix rebuilt the post and named it Fort Pitt, in honor of the great English minister. It was soon needed, for in 1763 the storm of Pontiac's war broke over the western frontier, and when one British post after another went down before the scalping knife and torch of the savages, Fort Pitt alone, although besieged for several months, held back Pontiac's warriors from driving the English into the sea. It was to Fort Pitt's relief that Col. Henry Boquet was marching when he won his brilliant victory over the Indians at the battle of Bushy Run, and this fort was the base for his later campaign, in which he smashed the power of Pontiac's confederation.

During the Revolution Fort Pitt was held by the Americans and at the close of the war it became the starting point for thousands of settlers who poured into the Ohio country. Around it sprang up a little settlement, and today the great city of Pittsburgh, marks the site of Fort Pitt, the key to the Ohio valley.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for December 7

THE MAN BORN BLIND

LESSON TEXT—John 9:1-41.

GOLDEN TEXT—One thing I know that whereas I was blind now I see.—John 9:25.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Opens a Blind Man's Eyes.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Heals a Man Who Is Blind.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Loyalty to Our Savior.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Difficulties and Rewards of Confessing Christ.

I. Working the Works of God While It Is Day (vv. 1-5).

1. The Disciples' Problem (vv. 1, 2). In their minds all affliction, negative and positive, was God's retribution for sin. Therefore they argued that this man's blindness proved sin. They recognized, too, that the effect of sin is sometimes hereditary. This they no doubt inferred from the second commandment (Ex. 20:5). The implication is that they held the view that men have a pre-existence, and that suffering in this life may be the result of sins committed in that pre-existent state.

2. The Lord's Answer (vv. 3-5). The Lord avers that in this case there is neither sin on the man's part, nor that of his parents, but that it was an occasion for the display of the works of God, and that He had come to execute this task while it is day, because the night comes when no man can work.

II. The Man's Eyes Opened (vv. 6, 7).

Observe that the means used in this miracle were little less than foolish in themselves. How illy adapted naturally would a plaster of mud be to apply to the eye, the most delicate and sensitive of all the organs of the body. What is more to be avoided than sand in touch with the eye? The object must have been to teach this man the utter inadequacy of the means to the accomplishment of the end that he might be caused to look from the means to the one who used them, that he might be convinced that the power was of God. Then, too, the washing in the pool would teach him the absolute necessity of immediate and explicit obedience in order to enjoy God's blessings.

III. The Man's Testimony (vv. 8-38).

In his testimony we have a fine example of the development of faith. The opening of this man's eyes aroused inquiry among his neighbors. When a man's spiritual eyes are opened there will be a stir among his friends.

1. He testifies to his personal identity (v. 9). This was very easy. His self-consciousness enabled him to know that he was the same man who was born blind.

2. He testifies as to how it was done (vv. 11, 15). So definite was his experience that he was able to tell just how it was done.

3. He testifies that the One who opened his eyes was a prophet (v. 17).

4. He testifies that this healer was no doubt sent of God (vv. 30-33). He is the greatest worker of miracles since the world began.

5. Finally, he worships Him as the Son of God.

IV. The Results of His Confession.

1. As to the people, they were divided in sentiment. Some believed He was from God because of His works; others that He was a sinner because He did His work on the Sabbath day.

2. As to the man, they cast him out. But being cast out by men he found himself in the arms of Jesus. He was led on to a deeper faith. He first knew Him as a miracle worker, then as a prophet, and finally as the Son of God, and when he perceived Him to be the Son of God he worshiped Him.

The whole lesson may be viewed from three angles:

1. As an acted parable of the truth that issues in faith in Christ, an illustration of the spiritual sphere in terms of the physical sphere.

2. Testimony to the Deity of the Lord. This testimony is threefold:

(a) The miracle itself, an unheard of work, that a man born blind should receive his sight; (b) the unwilling admissions of the enemies themselves who made a public and official investigation; (c) the testimony of the man himself and that of his parents.

3. An illuminating example of spiritual development.

True Freedom

True freedom has to do with the spiritual part of man, with that principle in him through which he is related to God. That can be free though the body be loaded with chains. It was so with St. Paul, as with other good and great men.

Faith

Faith in the holiness of God is the first uplifting force in religion. The hope for the greatest sinner is that he can see the immaculate purity of God in contrast with his own sins. The vision of the sinless One reveals fully the sinfulness of our sins.—Christian Standard.

In the Love of God

You must grow in the love of God by means of the root, rather than the branches.

ZEN OF THE Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XVI—Continued.

—19—

The name of Phyllis Bruce came to him with almost a shock. He had been so occupied with his farm and with Zen that he had thought but little of her of late. As he turned the matter over in his mind now he felt that he had used Phyllis rather shabbily.

Grant lit a cigar and sat down to smoke and think. The matter of Phyllis needed prompt settlement. It afforded a means to burn his bridges behind him, and Grant felt that it would be just as well to cut off all possibility of retreat. Fortunately the situation was one that could be explained—to Phyllis.

He had told himself, back in those days in the East, that it would not be fair to marry Phyllis Bruce while his heart was another's. He had believed that then; now he knew the real reason was that he had allowed himself to hope, against all reason, that Zen Transley might yet be his. He had harbored an unworthy desire, and called it a virtue. Well—the die was cast. He had definitely given Zen up. He would tell Phyllis everything. . . . That is, everything she needed to know.

It would be best to settle it at once—the sooner the better. He went to his desk and took out writing paper. He addressed a note to Phyllis, pondered a minute in a great hush in the storm, and wrote:

"I am sure now. May I come? Dennison."

This done he turned to the telephone, hurrying as one who fears for the duration of his good resolutions.

He gave the number of Linder's rooms in town; it was likely Linder had remained in town, but it was a question whether the telephone bell would waken him. He had recollections of Linder as a sound sleeper. But even as this possibility entered his mind he heard Linder's phlegmatic voice in his ear.

"Oh, Linder! I'm so glad I got you. I've a message I want delivered to Miss Bruce. . . . Linder? . . . Linder!"

There was no answer. Nothing but a hollow empty sound on the wire, as though it led merely into the universe in general. He tried to call the operator, but without success. The wire was down.

He turned from it with a sense of acute impatience. Was this an omen of obstacles to bar him now from Phyllis Bruce?

Suddenly came a quick knock at the door; the handle turned, and a drenched, hatless figure, with dishevelled, wet hair, and white, drawn face burst in upon him. It was Zen Transley.

CHAPTER XVII

"Zen!"

"How is he—how is Wilson?" she demanded, breathlessly.

"Sound as a bell," he answered, alarmed by her manner. The self-assured Zen was far from self-assurance now. "Come, see, he is asleep."

He led her into the whim-room and turned up the lamp. The lad was sleeping soundly, his teddy-bear clasped in his arms, his little pink and white face serene under the magic skies of slumberland. Grant expected that Zen would throw herself upon the child in her agitation, but she did not. She drew her fingers gently across his brow, then, turning to Grant:

"Rather an unceremonious way to break into your house," she said, with a little laugh. "I hope you will pardon me. . . . I was uneasy about Wilson."

"But tell me—how—where did you come from?"

"From town. Let me stand in your kitchen, or somewhere."

"You're wet through. I can't offer you much change."

"Not as wet as when you first met me, Dennison," she said, with a smile. "I have a good waterproof, but my hat blew off. It's somewhere on the road. I couldn't see through the windshield, so I put my head out, and away it went."

"The hat?"

Then both laughed, and an atmosphere that had been tense began to settle back to normal. Grant led her out to the living room, removed her coat, and started a fire.

They sat in silence for some time, and presently they became aware of a gray light displacing the yellow glow from the lamp and the ruddy reflections of the fire. "It is morning," said Grant. "I believe the storm has cleared."

He stood beside her chair and took her hand in his. "Let us watch the dawn break on the mountains," he said, and together they moved to the windows that overlooked the valley and the grim ranges beyond. Already shafts of crimson light were firing the scattered drift of clouds far overhead. . . .

"Dennison," she said at length, turning her face to his, "I hope you will understand, but—I have thought it all over. I have not hidden my heart from you. For the boy's sake, and for your sake, and for the sake of 'a scrap of paper'—that was what the war was over, wasn't it?—"

"I know," he whispered. "I know."

"Then you have been thinking, too? . . . I am so glad!" In the growing light he could see the moisture in her bright eyes glisten, and it seemed to him this wild, daring daughter of the hills had never been lovelier than in this moment of confession and of high resolve.

"I am so glad," she repeated, "for your sake—and for my own. Now, again, you are really the Man-on-the-Hill. We have been in the valley of late. You can go ahead now with your high plans, with your Big Idea. You will marry Miss Bruce, and forget."

"I shall remember with chastened memory, but I shall never forget," he said at length. "I shall never forget Zen of the Y.D. And you—what will you do?"

"I have the boy. I did not realize how much I had until tonight. Suddenly it came upon me that he was everything. You won't understand, Dennison, but as we grow older our hearts wrap up around our children with a love quite different from that which expresses itself in marriage. This love gives—gives—gives, lavishly, unselfishly, asking nothing in return."

"I think I understand," he said again. "I think I do."

They turned their eyes to the mountains, and as they looked the first shafts of sunlight fell on the white peaks and set them dazzling like mighty diamond-points against the blue bosom of the West.

"It is morning on the mountains—and on you!" Grant exclaimed. "Zen, you are very, very beautiful." He raised her hand and pressed her fingers to his lips.

As they stood watching the sunlight pour into the valley a sharp knock sounded on the door. "Come," said Dennison, and the next moment it swung open and Phyllis Bruce entered, followed immediately by Linder. A question leapt into her eyes at the remarkable situation which greeted them, and she paused in embarrassment.

"Phyllis!" Grant exclaimed. "You here!"

"It would seem that I was not expected."

"It is all very simple" Grant explained, with a laugh. "Little Willie Transley was my guest overnight. On account of the storm his mother became alarmed, and drove out from the city early this morning for him. Mrs. Transley, let me introduce Miss Bruce—Phyllis Bruce, of whom I have told you."

Zen's cordial handshake did more to reassure Phyllis than any amount of explanations, and Linder's timely observation that he knew Wilson was there and was wondering about him himself had valuable corroborative effect.

"But now—your explanations?" said Grant. "How comes it, Linder?"

"Simple enough, from our side. When I got your telephone call all I could catch was the fact that you were mighty glad to get me, and had some urgent message for Miss Bruce. Then the connection broke."

"I see. And you, of course, assured Miss Bruce that I was being murdered, or meeting some such happy and effective ending, out here in the wilderness!"

"Not exactly that, but I reported what I could, and Miss Bruce insisted upon coming out at once. The roads were dreadful, but we had daylight. Also, we have a trophy."

Linder went out and returned in a moment with a sadly bedraggled hat.

"My poor hat!" Zen exclaimed. "I lost it on the way."

"It is the best kind of evidence that you had but recently come over the road," said Linder, significantly.

"I think no more evidence need be called," said Phyllis. "May I lay off my things?"

"Certainly—certainly," Grant apologized. "But I must introduce one more exhibit." He handed her the note he had written during the night. "That is the message I wanted Linder to rush to you," he said, and as she read it he saw the color deepen in her cheeks.

"I'm going to make breakfast, Mr. Grant," Zen announced, with a sudden burst of energy. "Everybody keep out of the kitchen."

"Guess I'll feed up for you this morning, old chap," said Linder, knowingly. At the door he glanced back. "I think Miss Bruce has something to say to you," he added, mysteriously.

They were alone—Phyllis and Dennison. He caught her hand in his and led her to the French windows. The sun was filling the valley with a flood of silver, and there was sunshine, too, in the heart of Dennison Grant. He had drunk his cup of renunciation, but he had not dreamed that at the bottom could lie a pearl so beautiful.

"Phyllis—Phyllis," he breathed. He reached out to take her in his arms, but she held him gently away; when he looked in her eyes they shone back at him through tears.

"Oh, Denny, you mustn't! I'm so sorry. You know what you have been to me. But you were so long, so long! Yesterday I promised Linder."

In the days that followed Dennison Grant drank his cup of renunciation anew. He worked his fields early and late; he noted the tiny spirals of smoke ascending like incense from Zen's cottage; but he went no nearer the Transley home than the end of his furrow. He had handed back Transley's wife from the edge of the abyss; he had made up his mind; that much was settled.

The battle that raged within him now centered about Linder and Phyllis Bruce. When he had recovered from the first shock of Phyllis' revelation and was able to think sanely he was sure that her heart might still be his if he went after it—and took it. It was another case of a man being worth his salt. But Linder was not Transley. He had spared Transley; could he be less generous with Linder? And what of Phyllis? Would she be happy with Linder?

Then Truth stood up before him in the furrow, as he plowed its slow length one hazy summer afternoon, and called him a hypocrite. He heard the voice as clearly as the champing of his horses on their bits. "Hypocrite!" cried Truth to him. "You make a great virtue of your generosity to Linder. Easy generosity that, while you continue to love—Zen Transley!"

Down by the river a spiral of smoke wound upwards from the Transley chimney, and even as Grant looked he saw an automobile trailing dust about the shoulder of his hill. It was Transley returning to his home.

Transley's wife had fortified her good resolutions behind an outburst of activity.

But there were times when the craving to be quite alone, where she could re-survey her life and bask for a moment in the luxury of old imaginings, became irresistible. On such occasions she would follow the road that skirted the cliffs of the river bank to a point where it turned in the basin of a now deserted quarry. The old quarry lay on the edge of the hills like a cup from which a side had broken and fallen into the river which boiled in a green foam a hundred feet below. The only access to this cup was by the road, no longer frequented, which Zen had chosen for her solitary rambles. Once inside the quarry she was isolated from the world; here her vision could sweep the sloping bluffs across the valley, or the circle of blue sky above, and her thoughts could rove at will without prospect of being interrupted. The road by which she entered the cup was the road by which any intruder must enter it. It was also, as Zen was suddenly to discover, the only road by which one could escape.

"Phyllis—Phyllis," He Breathed.

It was upon the afternoon when Truth confronted Dennison Grant in his furrow that Zen made that discovery. Her self-imposed tasks completed for the day, she scoured the fruit stains from her hands, changed her frock, and took the now familiar trail up to the quarry. "I'll be back in an hour," she told Sarah; "I'm going to the quarry just to 'loaf and invite my soul.'" The quotation was lost upon Sarah, who took refuge in her gift of silence.

At a point where the road rose high enough to command a view of the surrounding valley she stopped and swung a slow, half-guilty glance to the southward. There, sure enough, was the plow team of Dennison Grant, warping its slow shuttle back and forth across the brown prairie. For a long minute she fed her eyes and her heart; then resumed her slow course to the quarry.

Inside the great cup she was conscious of a sense of security.

Zen seated herself in a half reclining position on a great slab of rock and fell into a day-dream, watching the while with unseeing eyes the procession of white clouds which drove across the disc of blue sky above her.

Perhaps it was because of the position which she had taken, or her unconscious study of the sky, that she caught no hint of the presence of a man at the point where the road entered the quarry. From an ambush of willow scrub he had seen her stop and survey the fields where Dennison Grant was at work, and had followed her stealthily down the trail which led to her trap. Now he had her.

"How do, Zen?" he said, suddenly stepping into the open. "Ain't you glad to see me?"

The girl sprang to her feet and turned startled eyes toward the road—the only exit from this stone dungeon.

"Who are you? What do you want? Go away! I don't know you at all—"

The offensive smile broadened. "That is where I have the advantage of you, Mrs. Transley. I have changed, I admit, but you—you are as beautiful as ever."

"How dare you speak to me in such a way! You have learned my name, it is true, but I do not know you at all. Now will you go, or must I call my husband to throw you into the river?"

"That would be some shout, seeing that your husband isn't at home, and hasn't been for two weeks. You see, I may be a stranger, but I know some things. And even if he was at home, wouldn't you be more likely to call Dennison Grant?"

The man had gradually advanced, but still kept himself well between Zen and her only avenue of escape.

"Who are you?" she demanded again. "Why do you follow me here?"

"An old friend, Zen; just an old friend, come to collect an old account. Pay up quietly and there'll be no trouble, but raise a fuss and I'll throw you into the river. That wouldn't leave much evidence, would it? It's wonderful how a person who has been drowned disappears and is soon forgotten."

Zen's eyes had gone large and her limbs were shaking. "Drazk!" she exclaimed.

"Right enough; your old friend, George Drazk." He came up close to her and extended his hand. "Ain't you goin' to shake hands with your old friend, Zen?" he smirked before her.

"You were no friend of mine—never," she flared back, while her brain was hunting wildly for some plan of escape. "I thought I had killed you. And I was sorry I had done it. Now I'm sorry I didn't."

"Well, now, Zen, that's too bad. I was willin' to forgive you, and hopin' we'd be friends. Don't you think it would be better to be friendly-like, Zen?"

There was a menace under his oily words that gripped her in terror. She decided to play for time. Perhaps Sarah—perhaps Denny— If only Dennison Grant would come!

"Sit down, George, and tell me about it," she said. "I suppose I owe you an apology. Tell me how you got away, and where you have been all this time."

"That's better. We're goin' to be good friends, eh, Zen? The best of friends, eh, Zen? You and George 'll just sit down and talk it over."

She led him to the rock where she had been seated, and let him sit down beside her. He seized one of her hands in his; she would have withdrawn it, but he held it tighter.

"No, we're goin' to be good friends," he reminded her. "The best of friends—"

"Yes, but first tell me about yourself. How did you get out of the river that day?"

"Oh, I drifted ashore. Can't kill George Drazk. I was pretty full of water, and I lay on the bank for quite a while, but I came around in time. Then I seen what had happened about the fire, and I reckoned this was a good time to make my getaway. So I beat it right out o' the country, and nobody bothered followin'."

"Yes, yes, go on," she urged, eager to keep him absorbed in his story. "That was very clever of you. And then what did you do—after you got out of the country?"

"Got a job. No trouble for George Drazk to get a job. Then when the war came I tried to get on, but somehow they wouldn't have me. Said I'd be more useful at home. So I stayed on and had some pretty good jobs and some pretty nice girls, Zen, but I never got you quite out o' my head and I kept sayin' to myself, 'Sometime I'll go back and make it up with Zen.' And here I am. Ain't you glad, Zen?"

"Yes—in a way I am." (Oh, will nobody ever come?) "But—how did you find me? You knew I've been married since then?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Living in the Dark

Pit ponies are not the only creatures that live in coal mines, seldom seeing the light of day. Miners are often troubled with rats, mice, flies, and even frogs and toads.

The presence of mice spells danger. They have been known to gnaw cables, causing electric wires to fuse and vapor to be exploded in gassy pits. Their food consists of scraps from the miners' meals, and they have a strange liking for oil, which they lick from the lubricated parts of machinery in the mine. Whatever their diet, however, the mice never grow very big, because the entire absence of light has a dwarfing effect.

Flies seem to thrive underground and are a great nuisance to the miners, especially at mealtimes. Other minute forms of insect life which inhabit the mines explain why frogs and toads are frequently found there, looking fit and well-fed.

Measured in Eighths

In measuring land located in that part of the South once under French rule it was common practice to express fractions of an inch in eighths, not in tenths as now is usual.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

SUNDAY — Breakfast: Orange, puffed rice, waffles, coffee cake. Dinner: Roast duck, creamed onions, baked sweet potatoes, mince pie. Supper: Sliced roast duck, orange salad, loaf cake, cocoa.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Apples, cereal, liver and bacon. Dinner: Pot roast, pork chops, fried apple rings. Supper: Duck soup, potato salad, canned peaches, cookies.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Grapefruit, rolled oats, griddle cakes. Dinner: Meat pie, stuffed onions, savory apples. Supper: Oyster stew, canned pears, Christmas cake.

WEDNESDAY — Breakfast: Bananas, oatmeal, baked mackerel. Dinner: Broiled beefsteak, baked potatoes, lemon pie. Supper: Fried corn mush, canned fruit, cake.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Bacon and eggs. Dinner: Stewed lamb with peas, raisin pie. Supper: Baking powder biscuit, honey.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Baked apples, poached eggs. Dinner: Spiced mackerel, baked potatoes. Supper: Omelet with jelly.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Griddle cakes, sausage. Dinner: Macaroni with chopped meat. Supper: Scrambled eggs, bacon.

Savory Apples.

Cook with two cupfuls of white stock, one teaspoonful of minced onion, one small piece of bay leaf, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of white pepper. Let simmer for twenty minutes and strain. Pare, after coring, eight greenings, place in a deep saucepan and pour the stock around them, cover and simmer until tender. Lift the apples with a skimmer and arrange around the platter of roast. Fill the cavities with four tablespoonfuls of currant jelly mixed with one cupful of chopped pecans and one-half cupful of ripe olives chopped, with a sprinkling of paprika. Pour over the stock which should have been kept hot.

Christmas Cake.

Cream one-half cupful of shortening, add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar gradually. Sift two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add to the butter mixture alternately with three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla and the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Blend well and bake in three layers.

In the school of experience everybody pays his own tuition and nobody ever graduates.—Judge.

SWEETS AND OTHER DISHES

At this time of the year we are looking up our choice candy recipes to use for various occasions. The homemade candy is so much more wholesome and economical that a few recipes for the different kinds will be welcome.

Pecan Pralines.—Take one pound of brown sugar, two cupfuls of pecan meats, one-third of a cupful of butter, one-fourth of a cupful of water. Stir the sugar, water and butter over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved. Add the pecans after the boiling has well begun. Boil until the mixture forms a hard ball in cold water. Drop by spoonfuls on a well-oiled marble slab or a baking sheet. Let the pralines spread until they are about one-third of an inch in thickness and five inches in diameter. One must work quickly before they get too hard. One may use well-greased gem pans for molds, if wished, then the candies are uniform in size.

Angel Dreams.—Stir into five well-beaten egg yolks three-quarters of a pound of fine powdered sugar, with flavoring to suit the taste—lemon, orange peel or extract. Stir the paste until it is smooth, then add one-eighth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, with more sugar if it is necessary. The paste should be firm, but soft enough to flow easily when pressed through a pastry tube. Arrange in any form preferred. Let the cakes stand until a crust is formed on them, then bake in a cool oven.

Funnel Cakes.—Heat a pint of milk to the boiling point and pour it over a pint of flour, beat well and add one beaten egg, one-half teaspoonful of soda and a little salt. Beat hard till the batter is very light; it should be a little thicker than griddle cakes, but not so thick as a drop batter. Meanwhile heat lard for frying. Pour the batter into a funnel, keeping the finger over the hole; hold the funnel over the hot fat, moving it around in rings, letting the batter run slowly; do not permit the rings to touch. The cakes will rise to the top when brown, then turn and serve with hot maple sirup or apple butter.

Horseradish, Apple Sauce With Cream.—Make a smooth sauce, cooking six green apples in as little water as possible and season with one-half teaspoonful of white pepper. Add when cooked one-half cupful of grated horseradish and one-half cupful or more of sugar. Let chill and stir in one cupful of heavy cream beaten stiff. Serve with roast goose, roast pork or baked ham.

Nellie Maxwell

The Same Old Backache!

Does every day bring the same old backache? Do you drag along with your back a dull, unceasing ache? Evening find you "all played out"? Don't be discouraged! Realize it is merely a sign you haven't taken good care of your kidneys. Take things easier for a while and help your kidneys with Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Then the backache, dizziness, headaches, tired feelings and other kidney troubles will go. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Alabama Case

Mrs. J. E. Andrews, 86 Eufaula St., Ozark, Ala., says: "My kidneys acted too freely, and I had sharp pains in my back. When I stooped the pains became more severe and my rest was broken at night. Headaches and dizzy spells were almost constant, and I became nervous. I used Doan's Pills and one box gave the desired relief."

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

STIMULANT DIURETIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

NR TO-NIGHT Tomorrow Alright

NR A vegetable laxative aperient, adds tone and vigor to the digestive and eliminative system, improves the appetite, relieves Sick Headache and Biliousness, corrects Constipation.

Chips off the Old Block

NR JUNIORS—Little NRs

One-third the regular dose. Made of same ingredients, then candy coated. For children and adults.

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST

MEN—Order Your Tobacco Direct From Factory

Save money; select natural leaf chewing and smoking; 24 Big DIME TWISTS, $1.68, postpaid; genuine leather billfold free; satisfaction guaranteed; send money order to Southern Tobacco Co., 352 N. Front St., Memphis, Tenn.

Even Better

"I'm going to call my baby Charles," said the author; "after Charles Lamb, you know. He is such a dear little lamb."

"Oh, I'd call him William Dean," said the friend. "He Howells so much."—Wisconsin Octopus.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Probably

Gerald—The waiter has a pretty hard face.

Geraldine—Well, I suppose he will have to wear it out, now that he's got it.

A torpid liver prevents proper food assimilation. Tone up your liver with Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Got It Right

Teacher—"Know what the mouse does, Tommy?" Tom—"Naw." Teacher—"Correct."

Motherhood

Athens, Ga.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the expectant mother. I had become all run-down, weak and extremely nervous, was nauseated, suffered from backaches and bearing pains, but after taking the 'Prescription' all my trouble ended, I had no more aches or pains, all nausea stopped, and my nerves were good. I just got along fine the remainder of the time."—Mrs. J. C. Pope, 275 Grace St. All dealers.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. tablets.

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Aia., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

P. M. Henderson, former secretary of the county farm bureau in discussing the bringing into Shelby county of the first car load of dairy cows, called attention to the fact that it was nearly eighteen months ago that the first effort was made to arouse an increased interest in dairying. At that time the farm bureau joined with Mr. Montgomery and the Reporter in the first county wide dairy campaign ever undertaken in the county.

The greatest work before the people of Shelby county is the building of a better system of rural schools.

TRIAL OF THE SCRUB BULL

"The Trial of the Scrub Bull" will be given at the Fourmile school house, Saturday night Dec. 6 by the members of the Vocational Agriculture class. The play will be free and everyone is invited.

FOURMILE

Furman Stone of Birmingham, spent the week end here with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stone.

John Sims and son Johnnie, spent the week end in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Newton spent the week end with relatives in Columbiana.

Lester Stone of Sylacauga, spent a few days of last week here with relatives.

Miss Ruby Stone visited Miss Myrtle Stone in Kingdom Sunday.

Miss Edian McDuffie spent Thanksgiving at her home in Jacksonville.

Ocie Moore spent part of last week in Bessemer.

WILSONVILLE

Miss Jeter spcat the week-end in Lineville with relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. Barnes motored to Cropwell Saturday.

Miss Pauline Strickland visited friends in Dogwood last week.

Mrs. Powers is at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Brendly Nivens, who at this writing is very sick.

Miss Iris Spearman entertained the senior Sunday school class of the Baptist church Friday evening in her home.

Mrs. Annie Smith is visiting relatives in Birmingham.

Howard Hill of Sylacauga spent Saturday here with his parents.

Mrs. McCraven and little daughter, Mary Elizabeth, of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrss Yerby here last week.

Dent, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith is very sick with pneumonia.

Miss Frances Smith of Montevallo and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith of East Lake spent the week end here with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Smith.

Terrell Jackson of Birmingham, spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. W. J. Jackson.

Mrs. Grady McEwen and children visited relatives on Fourmile, last week.

Dewel Miller of Birmingham, spent the week end here with his parents.

BETHEL

Miss Ellie DeLoach spent part of last week at her home in Childersburg.

Mrs. J. F. Thompson, Miss Mary Pitts, Miss Irene West and Alton West visited Montevallo Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ida Hughes spent part of last week in Livingston.

Rev. W. R. Weaver of Birmingham, spent the week end here with friends.

Mrs. S. C. Schofield of Brierfield spent last week here with her sister, Mrs. Edd Smith.

R. I. Dyer and Hugh McDanal are spending a few days in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smith of Kingdom spent Sunday here with Mr. and Mrs. Edd Smith.

Mrs. Arthur Bazemore of Demopolis is visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Bazemore.

Burl Mooney of Dogwood spent Sunday here with his brother, L. P. Mooney.

Miss Thompson of Alabama College spent Thanksgiving holidays here with her brother, J. F. Thompson.

There will be a Pie Supper Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Bazemore.

Miss Ruby DeLoach of Kingdom spent Sunday here with her sister Miss Ellie DeLoach.

FOR SALE:—One good milch cow, cheap for cash. W. W. Kendrick, Rt. 1, Chelsea, Ala. 1t

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I will make application to the Governor of Alabama and the Pardoning Board for pardon or parole. I was convicted at the July Term, 1923. of the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabaama, for Distilling and sentenced to the penitentiary for from 2 to four years.

Jasper Carden.

NOTICE—MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE,

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage, executed by R. C. Wood and wife, Mattie F. Wood, to J. M. Lyon, and bearing date of February 20, 1922 and due and payable on the 15 day December 1922, said indebtedness being evidenced by one promisory note due and payable on the 15th day of December, 1922, in the sum of $700.00, said mortgage being of record in the office of the Probate Judge of Shelby county, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 129, page 309, which said indebted ness is past due and unpaid; and now therefore under the terms and powers contained in said mortgage the said J, M. Lyon will, by and though his attorney and agent, offer for sale, and sell, to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house door in Columbiana, Alabama, within the hours of legal sale, on Monday, December 15th, 1924, the lands described in said mortgage and conveyed therein the same being described as follows to-wit:

South-east quarter of the South west quarter, and 30 acres lying on the South side of the North-east quarter of South-west quarter, all in Section 4, Township 21, Range 1 East, Shelby county, Alabama, containing seventy acres.

Said sale being made for the purpose of paying the cost of the sale, including a reasonable attorney fee, and paying the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Paul O. Luck, Atty. for Mortgagee. J. M. Lyon, Mortgagee.
11 27. 3t.

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

State of Alabama, Shelby county

In the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabama, In Equity.

Mrs. Maude A. Tumlin, vs. A. F. Estes, et al.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by affidavit of R. S. Bingham. as agent for such purpose of the Complainant, that in the belief of Affiant a certain Defendants to the Original Bill is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, that is to say, to-wit: That Mrs. A. L. Jackson, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; J. M. Tumlin, residing at Covington, Ga; G. W. Tumlin, residing at Coving.on, Ga.; J. C. Tumlin, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Ida J. Mitchell, residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Lelia Miller, residing at Waco, Ga.; John T. Drew, George W. Drew, and Myrtice Drew, all residing at Tallapcosa, Ga.; Bernice Drew, Florine Drew, Harvey Drew, Hermand Drew, Willard and Paul Drew, all residing at Tallapoosa, Ga.; Mrs. Izora Owens, residing at Leona, Tenn.; Mrs. Della Willingham, residing at 209 Jarvis Street, Toledo, Ohio; and A. F. Estes, of Meriwether county, Georgia.

And, further, that in the belief of Affiant, the Defendants are each the age of Twenty-One years, except that Bernice Drew, Florine Drew, and Harvey Drew are minors over 14 years of age, and Hermand Drew, Willard Drew and Paul Drew are minors under 14 years of age.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in the county of Shelby, once a week for Four consecutive weeks, requiring the said above named parties to plead, answer, or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 22 day of December, 1924, or in Thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against them.

Done at office in Columbiana, This the 20 day of November, 1924.
11 27 3t J. M. Leonard, Jr.
Register.

GUARDIAN'S NOTICE

Whereas the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, on the 18 day of November 1924, made and entered an order authorizing the undersigned, Mrs. Jennie Ozley, as Guardian of George Ozley, a minor, to sell for the maintenance, education and for re-investment the hereinafter described land, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 6th day of December, 1924, between the legal hours of sale before the court house door at Columbiana, Ala., the undersigned, as Guardian, will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following described land situated in Shelby county, Ala., to-wit:

The NW¼ of SW¼, Sec 4, and the NE¼ of SE¼, Sec 5, all in Tp 22, Range 2, West, containing 80 acres more or less, together with all improvements belonging thereto, also the SW¼ of NE¼ of SW¼ of Sec. 4, Tp 22, R 2 West, said land being the land on the west side of the South and North Railway, containing 2 acres more or less.

Said sale to be made under said order of said court for the education, maintenance and for re-investment of said minor. Terms of sale to be arranged by Guardian and purchaser.

Mrs. Jennie Ozley,
As Guardian for George Ozley.
11 20 3t

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of a venditioni exponas issued from the Circuit Court of Shelby county, and to me directed, I will proceed to sell, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Columbiana, Ala., on the 22nd day of December, 1924, within the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder, for cash the following described property, to-wit:

Three houses on the Birmingham Montgomery Highway about two and one-half miles north of Pelham, situated in the county of Shelby, state of Alabama, on the east side of said highway, at a quarry near a farm known as Bishop's Farm, and which said houses are now occupied by employees of one Dan Martin, and working in the quarry getting out rock for said highway. Said houses are right together, with a clearance of about fifty feet between them, and there are no other houses on that side of said highway. Said houses are described as follows, to-wit 1 gable 2-room house, and the other two of said houses are lean-to type houses, two-rooms each, and being on land leased by said Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a partnership composed of J. E. Mansberger and A. A. Downs, from one T. J. Cross

Ordered to be sold as the property of Mansberger & Downs Construction Company, a firm, or partnership composed of J. E. Mansbeger and A. A. Downs, to satisfy said venditioni exponas in my hands in favor of Charles McCarroll.

This 18th day of November 1924
12 20 3t J. J. Falkner, Sheriff.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The State of Alabama, Shelby County. In the Circuit Court of Shelby county, Ala. In Equity.

Dan Garrett, Complainant, vs. Irene Garrett, Respondent.

In this cause it being made to appear to the Register by affidavit of Dan Garrett Complainant, that the Defendant is a non-resident of Alabama, and her postoffice address is unknown, and further that in the belief of said affiant, is of the age of twenty-one years; it is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Shelby County Reporter, a newspaper published in Columbiana, Alabama, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Irene Garrett, to plead, answer or demur to the Bill of Complaint in this cause by the 15 day of December, 1924, or in thirty days thereafter a decree Pro Confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Columbiana, Alabama, this the 10th day of November, 1924. 11 13 4t

J. M. Leonard, Jr., Register.

Cough Remedy Mother Gave Us Still Best

Pine Tar and Honey Beat All Modern Drugs

In thousands of families it has been the custom for many years to keep pine tar and honey always on hand for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, and throat irritations. Our mothers knew that it was good, that it often broke up the worst cough in 24 hours, and that it could be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

And now we are told that in spite of modern medical discoveries there is still no better or quicker cough remedy. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion that cause the coughing, also healing soreness, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste, but helps soothe irritation.

The original compound, made up many years ago and used by millions of people, was Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically composed of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. If you want the original and the best, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggists.

There Is No Transportation Problem —

When Congress convenes this week, it will consider many issues more deserving of serious discussion than the various bills affecting the rail transportation lines of the Nation. "The Transportation Problem" has always been a subject for political haranguing but, during the past two years, while stump speakers and radical editors have been talking and writing—the railroads have been solving the so-called problem.

Look at the figures for yourself—during the week that ended October 25, 1924, more than one million one hundred thousand loaded freight cars were handled by the railroads of the United States (1,112,345)—the greatest tonnage ever handled in their history.

In the month of Oct. the L. & N. Railroad handled a total of 169,822 cars of freight—nearly 10% more than the best previous record.

If you are neither a shipper nor a receiver of freight, ask some of your friends who are in business whether or not the railroads are doing their part towards increasing prosperity.

Congress should give the "Transportation Act" a fair test and the railroads should not be annoyed by useless changing of rules and regulations governing their operation.

Merry Christmas To All

What better Christmas present for your wife or your children than one or more shares of

Alabama Power Company Cumulative 7 per cent Preferred Stock which will net them a regular dividend four times each year—January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1.

FOR SALE AT 99 AND ACCRUED DIVIDENDS PER SHARE TO YIELD

7.07%

Ask any employe, inquire at any office, or write INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

1004 Brown-Marx Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

A TIP ON A CIGAR IS LIKE THE HOLE IN THE DOUGHNUT

1.

They're brothers! The fellow who "holes" the doughnut and the chap who puts the tip on cigars. Both contributing to art but not utility.

2.

With this difference—the hole does not interfere with eating the doughnut. But you can't smoke a cigar until you behead the tip.

3.

Nearly one-half the labor cost in cigar making goes into the tip. That's taxation for you—without realization.

4.

In making Old Virginia Cheroots we leave the tip off and take the substantial saving off the price.

5.

That's why Old Virginias are the miracle value of cigardom. Four fragrant, mellow, 4¼-inch cigars for one thin dime. Made from prime leaf perfecto cigar tobacco.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

A well made smooth smoking cigar, with tobacco-quality worthy of a high-toned label. The triumph of big volume and elimination of frills.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

LAST BIG SALE

OF THE YEAR

Sat. Dec. 6

10 lbs. Standard Granulated Sugar 89c

Sat. Dec. 13

IT MUST BE DONE!

It is nearly Christmas time. Cold bad weather was late coming. It is here and we have a store full of goods you must have right now. We must have room for our Christmas goods that are arriving daily. So here goes for Seven Days of the greatest money saving event you will ever have offered you.

Tri-Hex Clothing

No better line of men's and boys clothing can be found anywhere and during this sale we are going to forget about cost or profit. We will put out one rack of about 50 suits for men that cost at factory up to $18, your choice $12.50

One rack worth much more to go at - - - $16 50

$30 to $35 Suits $25.00

We are going to close out our entire line of boys' short trouser suits from 2 to 18 years, priced from $2 to $9. This is less than they cost us, and you must remember we have no old stock. We don't keep it, we sell it.

About 100 pairs of boys knee trousers well worth $1.50 to $2, this sale : : : : 98c

Octagon Soap, 7 bars for : 25c

YARD GOODS

Heavy fleeced, best grade Outing, the yard : : : 17c

40-in wide Sea Island Domestic, the yard : : : 12½c

Good grade Dress Gingham 10c

Quilt Calico, oil colors, yard 10c

Hickory Shirting, best grade 17½c

Cheviot Shirting, good grade 15c

36-inch Percales : : : : 15c

Narrow Sheeting, smooth : 8c

Best Grade O'all Cloth, yard 27c

Best grade table oil cloth, yd 35c

All our woolens, fine crepes, etc to close out at and below cost.

Smart! Stylish! ---A Lion Hat

In style, in shape, in color, this new Lion Snap-down Hat reflects the latest decrees of fashion. It's for the man of fastidious taste who is satisfied with nothing less than the newest and the best.

And it's here in all the popular shapes and shades.

Ladies' Coats

and a few Dresses to be closed out at about one-half off regular prices.

SHOES! SHOES!

Men's and Boys' heavy work shoes, the kind to turn the water and wear a long time. Just look and get our prices is all we ask. You will buy for you can't help but see the value.

Red Goose School Shoes are undoubtedly the best you can buy. For the first and only time we are going to cut prices on these down to cost.

Large girls and ladies, size 2 1-2 to 9 : : : : : $2.75

Misses, size 11 1-2 to 2 : $2.25

Childs size, 8 1-2 to 11 : $1.65

We have all the latest styles in Ladies' Oxfords, Cut-Outs; also high shoes at a saving to you of not less than $1.00 per pair.

About 2 dozen overcoats worth $15, take your choice for $9.98

We handle the famous Hoffman Odd Trousers, none better in style, material and workmanship Yes, we have reduced these, too:

$7.00 Trousers : : : . $5.75

5.00 " 4.25

3.50 " 2.98

Smokeless Shells - - . - 95c

Black Powder Shells - - - 75c

Bruton Snuff, 7 boxes for $1.00

Brown Mule Tobacco 7 for $1.00

A dandy good blue work Shirt 65c

$2.50 Dress Shirt for only $1.50

Farmers Exchange

The Store For Economical People.

COLUMBIANA, - - ALABAMA

All our 20c and 25c Gingham Sacrifced at this sale, the yd. 15c

THIS WOMAN RELIEVED FROM SUFFERING

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A Remarkable Story

Dover, Del.—"I wish every woman would take your wonderful medicine as it has done so much good to me. I had cramps and faint spells and very bad pains. One day I was over to my neighbor's house and she told me I ought to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I went to the store on my way home and got a bottle, and took the first dose before supper. I have been taking it ever since, and you can hardly believe how different I feel. I had just wanted to lie in bed all the time, and when I started to brush up I would give out in about ten minutes. So you know how badly I felt. I used to go to bed at eight and get up at seven, still tired. Now I can work all day and stay up until eleven, and feel all right all the time. My housework is all I do in summer, but in winter I work in a factory. I have told a good many of my friends, and I have had three come to me and tell me they wouldn't do without the Vegetable Compound." —Mrs. SAMUEL MURPHY, 219 Cecil St., Dover, Delaware.

Teamster's Life Saved

"Peterson Ointment Co., Inc. I had a very severe sore on my leg for years. I am a teamster. I tried all medicines and salves, but without success. I tried doctors; but they failed to cure me. I couldn't sleep for many nights from pain. Doctors said I could not live for more than two years. Finally Peterson's Ointment was recommended to me and by its use the sore was entirely healed. Thankfully yours, William Haase, West Park, Ohio, March 22, 1915, care P. G. Reitz, Box 199."

Peterson says: "I am proud of the above letter and have hundreds of others that tell of wonderful cures of Eczema, Piles and Skin Diseases."

Peterson's Ointment is 35 cents a box. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo.

Use Cuticura Soap And Ointment To Heal Sore Hands

American Plows in Demand

Proof in demonstration in Paraguay cotton fields that the iron plow is an essential factor in production caused such a demand for American plows at Asuncion this year that the supply was less than the demand.

Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" not only expels Worms or Tapeworm but cleans out the mucus in which they breed and tones up the digestion. One dose does it. Adv.

Kept Well Posted

"Tom's wife is blind to his faults."

"But not deaf. Trust the neighbors to point them out to her."

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

The Household Necessity

For cuts, burns, blisters, rashes, wounds, or skin troubles of any kind. Soothing and healing. Keep it always in the house. In tubes or bottles. Look for the trademark "Vaseline" on every package. It is your protection.

Chesebrough Mfg. Co. (Cons'd)
State Street New York

Vaseline
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
PETROLEUM JELLY

2 TIRES FOR $7.95

FREE TUBE WITH EACH TIRE

Sensational Cut in Standard Tire Prices

Here is another of our record-breaking sales. Two tires less than the usual cost of one, and a free inner tube with each tire! Cut your tire bills in two. Thousands of steady customers are getting full mileage out of these tires and you, too, can get 12,000 Miles

You can see the mileage in our tires. Order and prove it, but ORDER NOW! Supply limited and going fast!

Note Big Saving on Orders For Two Tires

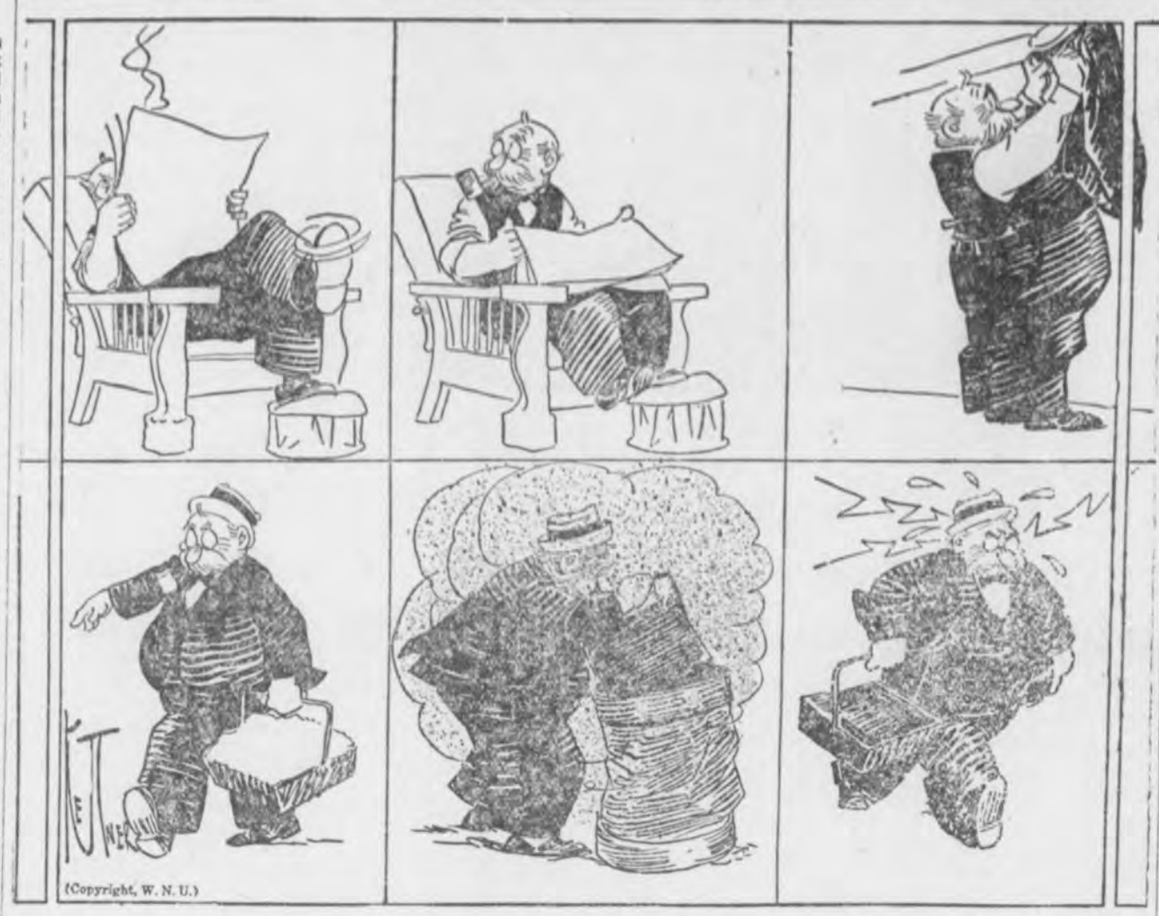
Size	1 Tire	2 Tires	Size	1 Tire	2 Tires
28x3	$6.95	$ 7.95	34x4	$13.95	$20.95
30x3	7.35	10.95	32x4 1-2	17.95	27.95
30x3 1-2	8.25	13.95	33x4 1-2	18.45	30.45
32x3 1-2	9.45	15.95	34x4 1-2	18.95	30.95
31x4	10.65	16.95	35x4 1-2	19.45	31.45
32x4	11.85	18.75	36x4 1-2	19.95	31.95
33x4	12.45	19.95	33x5	21.95	33.45

Send No Money We Require No Deposit. Shipment C.O.D. If not fully satisfied on examination your money will be promptly refunded including shipping charges. You take no risk.

ALBANY TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
1506 S. Michigan Ave., Dept. K121, Chicago, Ill.

OUR COMIC SECTION

Our Pet Peeve



In a Hurry Too

"Accidentally" Sounds Correct

POINTS ON KEEPING WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

NEARLY one hundred years ago, an English doctor, Richard Bright, wrote a paper for a medical journal, in which he described certain symptoms which he had found were associated with definite changes in the kidneys. Since 1827, this condition has been known as Bright's disease.

Bright found that, in all cases of this disease, both the kidneys were affected. They were small and hard, the part of the kidney which does the work of excreting the urine from the blood was much smaller than it should be and the kidney was largely made up of tough scar tissue, showing that the kidneys had for years been subject to prolonged irritation.

Along with this change in the kidneys are changes in other organs. The arteries become hard and thick; the heart, which has to force the blood through these stiff and narrowed tubes, has become enlarged, especially the left side, which pumps the blood throughout the body. This produces a high blood pressure.

The symptoms caused by this condition are not sudden and marked, but come on so slowly as to be hardly noticeable. The peculiar thing about them is that they apparently have nothing to do with the kidneys. A popular belief, largely due to patent medicine advertisements, is that pain in the back is an early symptom of Bright's disease. This is not true. Most people who think that they have Bright's disease, have no kidney disease at all. Many people who do not suspect it, have it, or are in the early stages of it. Even an advanced case may be entirely unconscious of it and may possess great mental and physical ability. It is this very insidiousness that makes Bright's disease such a danger to middle age.

How does this disease show itself? In a general feeling of poor health. The patient is tired, sleeps poorly, has frequent headaches and digestive disturbances. The tongue is coated. The patient has to get up, sometimes several times a night to empty the bladder. The amount of urine is increased and there is constant thirst. Attacks of bronchitis are common and the patient suffers from breathlessness, especially after walking briskly or climbing stairs. There is often trouble with the eyes. The skin is dry and the perspiration scanty. Sometimes the ankles will swell or the skin under eyes will puff up.

These symptoms, especially in men and women of middle age, are danger signals and should call for an immediate and careful physical examination. Don't wait for them to become worse. Find out now what the trouble is and how far it has gone.

GETTING THE RIGHT KIND OF FOOD

MUCH has been written about the need of a properly balanced diet for both children and adults. The need of milk, fresh fruits and vegetables has been often urged. A certain amount of meat is known to be necessary. How can the average housewife know whether she is feeding her family in the proper proportion? She can't stop to weigh or to calculate the exact number of calories in each. She needs some general practical working rule by which to check up her food purchases and to estimate the relative amount of each kind of food she is giving her family.

Volumes have been written by doctors, chemists, dietitians and food experts, but the real need is something that will make it possible for the busy mother to answer the question, "What shall we have for dinner today?" and to be sure that her answer will give her family the food it needs and in proper quantities and proportions.

In a recent book on "Food Products," Prof. Henry C. Sherman, the well-known authority on foods, has tried to answer this question, not in terms of food values and calories, but in the very practical terms of dollars and cents. Nor is he simply theorizing, as he says that the plan has been followed in his own household with marked success. The advantage is that it is suited to any family, of any number and of any income.

How much money do you pay out each week for food? It may be five or ten or twenty or fifty dollars. No matter. Divide this amount into five equal parts. Spend one-fifth for fruits and vegetables, one-fifth for meat, fish and eggs, one-fifth for milk, one-fifth for breads and cereals, and one-fifth for sugars, fats (such as butter, salad oils, etc.) and miscellaneous groceries.

Such a diet would probably be not only more healthful but also more economical than the average. It would provide less meat and more fruits and vegetables.

If this seems too much trouble, two simple rules can be followed. These are, spend at least as much for milk as you do for meats of all kinds, and as much for fruits and fresh vegetables as you do for either.

Check up your bills next month and see how you're running. Try this plan and see how it works.

Grandmother Knew

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Try Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

CROUP

Relief Begins in Three Minutes

Mother! Don't be frantic with fear when your child wakes up in the night choking with croup.

Just give a pleasant tasting spoonful or two of Cheney's, as millions of mothers have done. See how thankful you will be when that labored breathing stops and in a few minutes the little one is sleeping peacefully again. Mothers who once use this quick dependable remedy always keep an inexpensive bottle on hand.

for Coughs, Croup, Colds

CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT

Quick and Dependable

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

India Likes U. S. Hose

India is taking to hosiery made in this country, and is buying cheap cotton, silk, artificial silk and lisle stockings manufactured here.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Who Wouldn't?

Jack—Imagine two horses racing for $100,000!

Jill—Imagine them not racing!

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

is a Combination Treatment, acting through the blood on the mucous surfaces, local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for more than forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

MUNYON'S PAW PAW PILLS

for Constipation

A mild, effective laxative. Quickly relieves ills and discomforts resulting from sluggish liver and bowels.

Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic makes you well, keeps you young

"There is Ho"

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refu

MUNYON'S • Scranton, Pa.

Itching PILES

PAZO OINTMENT instantly Relieves ITCHING PILES and you can get restful sleep after the first application.

All druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to Cure any case of ITCHING, BLIND, BLEEDING or PROTRUDING PILES. Cures ordinary cases in 6 days, the worst cases in 14 days. 60c.

WANTED—Women to make money at Plain home sewing. No canvassing. To prevent curiosity seekers, send 10c (coin) samples and particulars. SUCCESS SEWING SYSTEM, Box 207, Long Branch, N. J.

Genuine BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY 'BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds	Headache
Pain	Neuralgia
Toothache	Lumbago
Neuritis	Rheumatism

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

Head Noises and Deafness

Frequently go together. Some people only suffer from Head Noises.

LEONARD EAR OIL

relieves both Deafness and Head Noises. Just rub it back of the ears, insert in nostrils and follow directions of Dr. J. H. Bergeson for "Care of Hearing," enclosed in each package. Leonard Ear Oil is for sale everywhere

Interesting descriptive folder sent upon request

A. O. Leonard, Inc., 70 5th Ave., New York

RESINOL

Soothing and Healing For Skin and Scalp Troubles

ACOLD TODAY—DON'T DELAY

CASCARA QUININE

Cures Colds in 24 Hours
LaGrippe in 3 Days

W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

SPOHN'S DISTEMPER COMPOUND

Don't take chances of your horses or mules being laid up with Distemper, Influenza, Pink Eye, Laryngitis, Heaves, Coughs or Colds. Give "SPOHN'S" to both the sick and the well ones. The standard remedy for 30 years. Give "SPOHN'S" for Dog Distemper. 60 cents and $1.20 at drug stores.

SPOHN MEDICAL CO. GOSHEN, IND.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

RADIOS

From $5.00 to $200

A type for every home. You should have one. Return your old crystal set and get credit for $12.50 on a new 3,000-mile radio. Circulars FREE.

TRESCO SALES, INC., DAVENPORT, IOWA

FARMER'S HAIR BALSAM

Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

R. P. Hall & Co., Mfg. Chems., Nashua, N. H.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hindercorn Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Proposes Again

"But I gave you the mitten last week."

"That is why I came back," said the young man. "I might as well have a pair."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

About the Way

Bolter (having just submitted to an intelligence test)—Well, sir, how am I?

Noted Psychologist—Wonderful, sir! I congratulate you. According to our standards you measure up to the mentality of a twelve-year-old.—Boston Globe.

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-eight years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-eight years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER is found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

Practical Training

Libraries in 24 Wisconsin cities served as training fields for students from the Wisconsin university library school, Madison, this year, and six Wisconsin daily papers were run for a week by students of the school of journalism.

Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh should be in every home. Unexcelled for Cuts, Burns, Wounds and Sores. Heals quickly. Three sizes; all stores.—Adv.

The Way Today

"Nobody wants me."

"You can't win a girl in that way these days, young fellow. Make 'em think they've got to take you away from somebody else."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Don't Stay Dizzy, Bilious, Headachy, Sick or Constipated.

Feel fine! Let "Cascarets" clean your bowels and stimulate your liver. No griping or overacting. Millions of men, women, and children take this harmless laxative-cathartic. It doesn't sicken you like pills, oils, calomel and salts. Tastes nice—acts wonderful. Sold at drug stores.

Literal Truth

"And do you really want me?" he asked.

He was rich and she knew it. She was forty, and he didn't know it.

"I'm dying for you," she answered simply.

CHILDREN CRY FOR

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

"Between the Rivers"

Ruins of Library Building 4,000 Years Old, at Nippur.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Disputes between Great Britain and Turkey over the border petroleum region around Mosul and a general restiveness to the southeast bring Iraq repeatedly before a world that has hardly yet learned the significance of this new state name. But when it is explained that "Iraq" is merely another name for Mesopotamia, now under Arab rule and British mandate, the country is easily oriented.

Something more than convenience to the older generations was lost, it would seem, when Iraq took its new name. This is pre-eminently the land of the Tigris and Euphrates, and "Mesopotamia" means "between the rivers."

Gashing the cool highlands of Armenia and Kurdistan, the Tigris and Euphrates flow out upon the ancient plain where the civilization that matters most to the western world was born. Within the sweep of their changing river beds they inclose a and whose capitals at Nineveh and Babylon were once the wonders of the world.

Near the traditional site of the Garden of Eden they unite to worm their way across a blistering plain on their way to the hot Persian gulf, or in flood-time spread across the land a sea in which their channel is obscured.

Here patient scholars, using countless spades in operations for which a scalpel might well prove too crude a tool, have won back the treasures of the past and made them speak to us. And young Rawlinson, on his way to train the troops of Persia's shah, transcribed the inscriptions of the Behistun rock, facilitated the decipherment of cuneiform writing, and so shoved back the horizon of world history by many hundred years.

Here Britain's soldiers and administrators are trying to prepare this ancient highway for the bustling future and a gifted prince of Mecca is trying to bring prosperity to the reborn kingdom of Iraq.

Here modern boatmen whirl in kufas such as men used at the dawn of time and Kurdish porters introduce into the racial complex of Bagdad such faces as one sees portrayed on old Assyrian tablets antedating Abraham.

Tommy Atkins playing Haroun-al-Raschid in the tortuous lanes of old Bagdad, across which New street cuts its unromantic way, and wireless men using the traditional Tower of Babel as an aerial listening post seem novel because we still are hypnotized by the glamor of the past.

The veil of centuries has added mystery to a dull and dreary land, just as the Moslem veil has made each shadowy form, whose flowing vestments brush us as we pass, a figure full of interest.

A Twilight Land.

Mesopotamia is a twilight land, never entirely awake and never wholly still. The summer roofs, deserted to the sun by day, become alive beneath the velvet dome of night, and the drama of the East gains mystery from the dim obscurity of its setting. Skies so clear that they made astronomers of the Chaldeans look down upon these roofless upper rooms, whose ceiling is the changing stars and the luminous Milky Way.

Persia has lent her lustrous tiles and soft carpets from Shiraz and Hamadan. Turkey's tarbouche adds its carmine glow to the open-air cafes. The stately Arab, in head shawl and camel-hair crown, sweeps through the streets with dignity which few can match.

Copper and brass glint from door-knocker and fruit-tray piled high with lusciousness. The tinkling armlets of the women faintly echo to the clink of ice in the huge carafes of the sherbet venders.

The hammering of huge caldrons from soft copper adds its own noisy note to the chorus. The sharp rap of markers on the backgammon boards hints idleness on the part of some desert son ensnared by city charms. From overhanging balconies the lattices drip sound muffled by silks and deep-piled rugs.

In the Occident such colors, sounds and smells would reach high heaven by the virtue of barbaric strength; here they seem a natural attribute of the land of the caliphs.

To see Mesopotamia clearly is to tear aside the curtain of romance which exaggerates her charms. Viewed in a dispassionate light and by western standards, she cannot be thought beautiful; but when one lets the ancient spirit of the land unfold its spell, the past is eloquent and in the moonlight of imagination rude mud huts become towering, dimly lighted palaces of the shadowy past.

Mesopotamia can be cold. The salubrious winters of the Nile never become so chill. But summer beats down with a violence that makes one realize that only by the sweat of many brows was civilization nurtured here, amid natural forces against which modern man must needs renew the fight if the land is once more to blossom as the rose, with crops three-hundred-fold, such as Herodotus described.

Great Northern Plateau.

Far to the north lies the plateau which stretches from the Taurus to Mount Ararat, bitter cold in winter, though with a clear sky which makes the noon delightful, even beside the ruined homes of Van. In spring warm rains descend, the summer rushes north, and heavy snows which block the mountain roads melt quickly on the slopes, from many of which the forests have long since disappeared.

Through the rounding country of Assyria and the Hittite lands the Tigris and Euphrates flow, confined by cliffs and hills to comparatively narrow valleys; but at the fall-line which marked the boundary as well as the difference in geographic character between Assyria and Babylonia, the piled-up waters tend to spread across a wide alluvial plain.

Once the floods were laboriously tamed and turned aside to reservoirs and there impounded against a later need; but even then the lower plain was so submerged that dikes were built to save the towns and fields from devastating waters. Now the old canals are clogged with silt and useless marshes occupy the field where a hungry world might win back a spreading granary.

Slowly the rivers are carrying down their delta to the sea and pushing back its tides; but man has not kept pace with this slow growth nor claimed the land thus made. Optimists see the day when the twin rivers, once more tamed, will bring prosperity through irrigation and drainage directed by western engineers.

Wrestling with the raging waters and tried by the heat and cold of a savage climate, the Babylonians not only became strong, but came to understand the irrigation problems higher up the rivers, and thus sought to extend their sway over the region where the water supply could be stored up.

Pushing Out the Shore Line.

The rivers offered life and peace in return for toil, and man gradually conquered natural forces until great cities rose above the wide clay plain and muddy floods. Sumer, Akkad, Babylonia, Assyria grew through toil and held their position through constant vigilance on the part of their people; but the day came when man, at war with other men, withdrew his supervision. Silt and flood came down to drown the city states and hide their corpses under shapeless mounds.

When one enters the Shat-el-Arab and passes through the swamps that lie below Abadan, he realizes that here the combined Tigris and Euphrates have spewed forth their load of silt throughout the centuries until the shore line of the Persian gulf has retreated for a hundred miles.

Ocean liners run up to Basra, a modern, bustling port on the Shat-el-Arab. Here one is shown the house of Sinbad the Sailor, for traditions live longer than human beings in such a feverish land, and the visitor can picture a scene which has not changed since the caliphs ruled; but as one listens to a camel roaring a useless protest in the bazaars, the deep whistle of a modern steamship booms forth to remind one that the Twentieth century cannot wait for dreams.

Bagdad, with its melons and kufas, desert Arabs and veiled women, whose veils are becoming distressingly thin, deserves a story of its own.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

No busy man wants more than three suits of clothes to take care of, but he accumulates more.

Freshen a Heavy Skin

With the antiseptic, fascinating Cuticura Talcum Powder, an exquisitely scented, economical face, skin, baby and dusting powder and perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticura Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Advertisement.

Most of the joy in doing one's duty is subsequent.

FREE To Housewives

Send us your name and we will send you, FREE and POSTPAID a 10 cent bottle of LIQUID VENEER. Wonderful for your daily dusting. Cleans, dusts and polishes with one sweep of your dust cloth. Renews pianos, furniture, woodwork, automobiles. Makes everything look like new. Makes dusting a pleasure.

Sold by Hardware, furniture, drug, paint, grocery and general stores.

LIQUID VENEER COMPANY Buffalo, N. Y.

LIQUID VENEER

NEW FORD ACCESSORY

Every car owner, both man and women, will buy one or two. Not a luxury but a necessity. They sell themselves. Live man with some capital and good references to represent us exclusively. Big sellers. Write for descriptive matter.

MORTON TRAILER COMPANY
37 Pearl Street - Boston, Mass

PIANOS & PLAYERS

ORGANS and PHONOGRAPHS Shipped on trial. Write for catalog. Mention which instrument you want. We will save you money. Terms easy. E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Co. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Buy Concord Yarns

direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

Oil, Best Investment for Small Investor regardless of what has been your experience. Many investments of $500 have made that many thousands. We may not do so well, but by my plan I see no chance to lose. Let me send you my plan. T. B. LAUMANN, Mid-Continent Building, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

SALESMAN WANTED

With automobile, to sell on the agricultural trade. Previous experience unnecessary, as district manager will school. The Lennox Oil & Paint Co., Dept. Sales, Cleveland, Ohio.

BOYS & GIRLS Earn Xmas Money

Write for 50 sets St. Nicholas Christmas Seals. Sell for 10c a set. When sold send us $3.00 and keep $2.00. No work—Just fun. St. Nicholas, 2314 Glenwood Rd., Dept. W, Brooklyn, N. Y.

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 49--1924.

Youth and cynicism are allied.

Cottage pudding!

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
2¼ cups self-rising flour

Cream butter and sugar, then egg. Beat vigorously, then add flour and milk alternately. Bake in greased muffin tins, or a shallow cake pan in a moderate oven. Serve with lemon sauce.

A book of delightful recipes is offered below; send for your free copy

...you never dreamed such good dessert could be made with so little effort

WHEN the clock points to the hour of meal time and you're wondering what to serve for dessert, why don't you try cottage pudding made with self-rising flour? It's so easily—so quickly—made. No rushing about ingredients—just a minute or two to mix the batter, a moderately hot oven—and there's a dessert that's not only delicious but healthful as well.

Big cottage pudding is only one of the many good things you can cook with self-rising flour. Every meal, in a score of ways, you'll find self-rising flour a handy all-purpose flour that always unerringly produces light, perfectly raised, bakings.

Self-rising flour is merely plain soft wheat flour to which has been added the proper amount of pure phosphate baking powder to make the dough rise just right every time.

You can buy it in a variety of grades just as you do plain flour. Naturally the higher grades command a higher price. Whatever the grade, if you find the Blue Shield of the Soft Wheat Millers' Association on the bag, you are assured of a healthful, wholesome self-rising flour.

SOFT WHEAT MILLERS' ASSN., Inc., NASHVILLE, TENN.

Use SELF-RISING Flour

It's Healthful Dependable Economical

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Every bag of self-rising flour bearing this Blue Shield of purity is fully guaranteed by the Soft Wheat Millers' Association, Inc. The contents are absolutely pure and wholesome and comply with all Pure Food Laws. If you are not satisfied with your baking results, the Association will cheerfully refund your money.

Get this Free Book of Recipes

Home Economics Dept.
Soft Wheat Millers' Assn., Inc., Nashville, Tenn.

Send your FREE book "Fifty Ways to Use Self-Rising Flour" to:

Name.....

Address.....
(Write or print name and address plainly)

You will prize this attractive collection of tested recipes.

© 1924 SWMA 1571-S

A Cheaper Better STOCK FEED

Grains and hays are high. Molasses adds value to cheap roughage and other feeds. Produces milk, beef or pork at less cost. Keeps stock healthy. Sold in barrels, car lots or less. Write for prices and booklet. Agents and dealers wanted.

MOBILE IMPORTING & TRADING CO.
Mobile, Alabama

MOLASSES

Mrs. Irby Garner of Selma spent Thanksgiving in Columbiana with her sisters, Mrs. J. F. Baker and Miss Linnie Hughes.

Misses Catherine Parker, Mary Sparks and Maurine Chapman, who attend Alabama College, came home to spend Thanksgiving.

T. E. Norris, of Memphis, is in Columbiana this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Norris and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Friedberger.

M. E. Woolley, of Underwood, was a visitor to The Reporter Monday.

HOLIDAY GIFTS

Our Store Is HEADQUARTERS For Appropriate Holiday Gifts Such as: FOUNTAIN PENS, FINE STATIONERY, TOILET SETS SMOKING SETS CUT GLASS Whitman's and Nunnally's FINE CANDIES

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

We Have Just What You Desire In The Way Of Attractive Gifts

For The HOLIDAY TRADE

See our display before making your purchases.

Watch NEXT WEEK'S AD

THE LEADER

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA

MT. ERA

Miss Lois Crumpton spent the week end at home with her mother, Mrs. S. S. Crumpton.

Misses Nora and Irene Lee visited friends at Eureka Sunday.

Miss Grace Meeks who is teaching at this place spent the week end at her home in Birmingham.

Miss Mildred Aldridge and Chester Crim motored to Columbiana Sunday.

Ezra Crumpton who attends Shelby County High School at Columbiana, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. S. S. Crumpton.

Mrs. Louise Pruitt of Birmingham, was a visitor in our community Sunday.

We are sorry to report that Miss Zemma Atchison is ill this week.

John Smith of Calera visited Jim Lee Sunday.

Misses Orpha and Edith Hand attended preaching service at Mt Olive Sunday.

The Mt. Era school is making plans for a Christmas program.

The Last Big Sale of the Year is announced by the Farmers Exchange of Columbiana. Read their full page announcement in this issue of the Reporter.

The Hendrick - Hudson post of the American Legion will give a Minstrel at the Strand Theatre, Montevallo Wed. night Dec. 10th.

New Way to Quickly Stop Worst Cough

A remarkable new and simple method for treating a cough gives relief with the first doses and usually breaks a severe cough in 24 hours.

The treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. People have been astonished how quickly the coughing stopped with this new treatment, and the whole cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. It is excellent for children as well as grownups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

Ladies Society Plans Bazaar and Dinner

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will hold a bazar and will serve a chicken dinner on Thursday, December 11.

Many beautiful articles of fancy work suitable for Christmas presents and delicious home made candies will be on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tucker spent the Thanksgiving season with relatives in Boaz.

S. L. Little, of the High School faculty, spent Thanksgiving at his home, Franklin, Tenn.

P. M. Henderson, Route 2, Wilsonville, was in Columbiana Monday making his preparations to move with his family near Boaz, on Sand Mountain, where he recently bought a new home. Mr. Henderson is a valuable citizen and his going will be a loss to Shelby County. As secretary of the Farm Bureau he worked faithfully for the improvement of agricultural conditions.

KINGDOM

Mrs. Opal McKinnon spent the week end with the family of W. M. Stone.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Walton and children of Birmingham, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walton Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Acker and family of Columbiana spent Sunday with Mrs. Acker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crumpton have with them this week. Mrs. Crumpton's brother from Houston, Texas; her sister, Mrs. Ada Jackson, of Sylacauga, and Mrs. Crumpton's sister, Mrs. Chas. Farris.

Mrs. A. M. Richards of Birmingham, visited relatives in the Kingdom Sunday.

We are sorry that Emory Perry is quite sick this week with flu.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hughes and family will leave this week for Sycamore to make their future home. We are sorry to give them up and we will miss them in our community, in our church and as neighbors.

J. S. Jackson and his daughter, Misi Verna, of Fourmile, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crumpton.

Little Farris Crumpton came near getting killed Sunday when a mule which he was driving kicked him on the head inflicting a severe wound.

Terrell Jackson of Birmingham visited relatives in Wilsonville and Kingdom Sunday.

Martin Farr, of Fourmile, visited his sister, Mrs. Ellis Atkinson, Sunday,

Mattresses Made Over

I have a big lot of new mattresses to make. If any one has an old mattress to be made over please notify me at once. I will pay freight on all mattresses shipped to me, John Hammock.
Columbiana, Ala.

John Hammock has built me two mattresses which have come up to the guarantee of his work as one who can build mattresses of good quality for the price which he charges. W. H. Shrader.

Tutt's Pills

Induce regular habit, good digestion. Relieve the dyspeptic and debilitated and tone up the system

AGAINST MALARIA

Limbs ache?

Get this immediate comfort

Take that aching stiffness out of overworked muscles at once. Apply Sloan's lightly. Don't rub it in. Its stimulating ingredients send fresh blood to the place that hurts—and this swiftly clears out the fatigue poisons and stops the ache. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

The National Encyclopedia and LOOSE LEAF EXTENSION SERVICE

Covering the world's knowledge and advancement day by day. Every subject on which men would be informed is changing constantly. The Loose-Leaf Extension Service keeps you up-to-date on all matters. New words, new laws, great happenings, biographies, inventions, and all matters pertaining to progress and evolution is kept up to the minute by this Loose-Leaf Service. The old encyclopedia ceases to function only for the past and the day it is published. We are living in the future. Nine times out of ten information you want is of current issue, topics of the day. Using an encyclopedia five or ten years old today is like using a telephone directory of the same age. This service is furnished every six months. You wlil receive 150 pages or more in each six month's installment. Beautiful binders are furnished for this Service with the original volumes You will find this Service the supreme authority day by day. Its compilers are the leading educators of the country. Once used—always used.

PRICE:

10 Vol. National Encyclopedia . $110.00
10 Years Loose Leaf Service . . 57.50

TOTAL . . $167.50

Easy Monthly Payments. For Sale by National Encyclopedia Company

Chicago, Illinois

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN

Why send your money away for merchandise when you can do just as well, and sometimes better, right here at home?

We merchants are your friends. Always ready to lend a helping hand in times of trouble or distress. Always ready to help when any matters come up for the welfare or betterment of our communities.

The taxes we pay helps to educate the children. We help build and support the schools and churches. So why not give us your business? If we haven't what you want we will do our level best to get it for you.

If anything goes wrong we are right here on the ground to adjust it. You do not have to return the merchandise and wait a long time to get your money back. We believe in a "live and let live" policy.

We could sell goods cheaper if we were to take your money and let you wait 'till we ordered the goods for you, but we try to keep a complete stock of merchandise at all times ready for you any day you come for it. This store, for one, certainly appreciates the liberal patronage that you have given us in the past and we trust that you will continue to give us a liberal share in the future. If anything goes wrong, tell us about it. If you are pleased with our service, tell your friends and neighbors about it.

Cold weather has gotten here at last and this is a mighty good time to lay in your winter's supply of good, warm clothing, and this store is a mighty good place for you to get it. We have one of the largest and most complete lines of general merchandise that you will find anywhere and, while we are not offering any $2 values for $15, nor any $5 values for $1,98, we ARE selling our merchandise just as reasonable as we can in order to make a legitimate profit.

Take our stock of shoes; we have the Edmonds and Freeman in men's dress shoes that we do not think can be beat. For our general line we have the Star Brand Shoes that we KNOW cannot be beat. When it comes to clothing we have the Curlee clothing for men and the Merit for young men and boys. Neither line can be beat for the price we are asking for it.

Our line of dress goods and notions is most complete. Hosiery of all kinds. Underwear for men, boys and children—ladies, too, if they want it.

And when it comes to work clothing all we can say is WE HAVE IT.

BELOW WE OFFER A FEW SPECIALS FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

Belle of Mt. Vernon—a good honest flour—per barrel	$ 8.5
Beauty—a higher grade flour (not Dunlops)	9.2
Velvo—Few as good and none better	10.5
Trumpet—a blended coffee in 1-lb. cartons	.37
This coffee would cost us 40c today
3 lbs. Good roasted coffee, whole bean or ground	1.
C. D. M.—a high-grade blended coffee	.
No. 2 Tennessee packed tomatoes, per dozen	1.
No. 2 Home packed tomatoes, not labeled	1.
No. 3 White Pears, home packed, not labeled	2.

Better lay in a supply of flour and coffee. They tell us both are going higher, and we are away under the market now. Come to see us and give us a chance at your business. We want it because we need it.

THE J. F. POPE CO., Inc.

WILSONVILLE, ALA.

MT. CALVARY

Mrs. C. M. Gardner and her children, of Columbiana, spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Shaw.

Miss Mabel Evans, of Alabama College, spent a few days of last week in our community with relatives.

J. A. Swindall, of Powderly, was in our community last week.

Miss Eda Stone is spending a few days with her sister in Fairview.

J. W. Minor and A. C. Ray made a business trip to Birmingham last week.

J. W. Farr is visiting friends in Birmingham.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Turner, on November 19, a daughter.

Miss Una Minor is visiting her brother at Oxmoor.

W. L. Hughes and family, of Leeds, spent the week-end with Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Minor.

Parnell Mitchell, of Ensley, spent a few days of last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Minor.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION

The uniform State Examinat for teachers will be held at High Sihool building in Colum ana, Monday, Tuesday and W nesday December 15, 16 and at nine o clock.

Applicants will furnish pen ink. I will furnish paper at a sonable price.

An examination for certific to teach music in the public sch of Alabama will also be held the High School building on M day December 15th.

S. P. Williamson
Supt. of Education

Miss Linnie Hughes is agai her place in the postoffice a having spent several weeks her mother at Brierfield.

Mrs. R. E. Evans, of Wi Tenn., visited relatives here week.

Miss Julia, Hugh and Bill S attended the singing at West Sunday.

Miss Julia Minor has retu from a visit with relatives Leeds.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. M Mooney on November 29, a whom they have named Calv

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35,000.00

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA.

W. F. DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

W T Taylor

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, DECEMBER 11, 1924. Vol. 81. No. 47.

ROLAND TURNER WILL SPEAK AT THE COURTHOUSE TOMORROW

AGRICULTURAL LEADER WILL DISCUSS SHELBY COUNTY'S NEEDS

Roland Turner, Agricultural Agent of the Southern Railway will speak in Columbiana tomorrow, Friday, December 12th. His subject will be the development of the agricultural interests of Shelby county, and every citizen of the county, farmer, business man, and professionnal man, who can come to Columbiana, should hear Mr. Turner's address.

Mr. Turner is one of the outstanding leaders in agricultural development work in the South. He knows conditions and the needs and he knows how improvements can be made. The meeting will be held in the court house and will begin at 10 o'clock.

ANOTHER BUSY WEEK FOR THE OFFICERS

The past week has been a busy one for the county, state and federal officers in their efforts to stop violations of the laws in Shelby county.

On Wednesday state and federal officers captured a 75 gallon still in Beat 2, which they destroyed with 1000 gallons of beer, 20 gallons of liquor, 28 fermenters and 15 5-gallon cans, Tom Jones and J. D. Owens were placed under arrest. County officers on the same day destroyed a 100-gallon still and 4 500-gallon vats and arrested Arthur Carden. A 200-gallon copper still and cap that had not been used were found and destroyed.

On Thursday, the following day the officers captured two stills: one at the mouth of Spring Creek and the other on an island in the creek. About 2000 gallons of beer and 33 fermenters were destroyed.

During the week before the officers took four stills. One about 8 miles from Boothton of 200 gallons capacity, a 100-gallon still in Beat 2, and two others just over the line in Coosa county, Along with these they got about 3200 gallons of beer, 5 300-gallon vats 72 fermenters and 11 5-gallon cans In one place the officers found a still that had been burned in a forest fire.

Officers having part in the work were. Sheriff Falkner, Deputies Falkner, Godwin and Lester: state officers Gardner and Dowis and Federal agents Adkins and Gillespie.

Long Drouth Was Broken Sunday

The long drouth was broken in Shelby county with an abundant rainfall that began Sunday night and continued through Monday morning. The morning rain was unusually heavy in Columbiana and in other parts of the county.

Old settlers say the drouth just closed in one of the longest and severest they ever saw. The Water supply in different sections is reported to have failed this year for the first time.

Another serious result of the dry weather is the delay in getting fall plowing started. Very little has been done to date. There would have been the largest acreage of hairy vetch and other cover crops ever planted in the county had the rains come sooner,

Mrs. J, W. Usrey of Ensley visited relatives in Columbiana first of the week.

SHELBY SENDS FIRST TRUCK LOAD OF MILK

The first truck load of milk from Shelby county was carried into Birmingham Monday by G. A. Wood for the members of the Shelby County Dairy Association, Mr. Wood, himself, being a member. Ninety five gallons were carried on the first trip, one member having made his usual shipment of 25 gallons by express. This would have made a total of 120 gallons for the first trip,

It is the plan of the dairy association for Mr. Wood to make daily trips with his truck and it is expected that the amount to be sent will soon reach 200 gallons.

The car load of dairy cows brought in last week for the dairy association reached Columbiana on Tuseday afternoon and were delivered to the members of the organization on Wednesday. Considering the conditions under which the cows were brought in they made a satisfactory showing and members expressed themselves as being pleased with their cows. Ten of these cows had young calves when they were brought in and two have calved since and others will come in fresh in a short time.

It is expected that after the cows have had time to recover from the effects of being shipped in and to become accustomed to feed and their new surroundings the flow of milk will be appreciably increased.

Harpersville Pupils Will Give Play

"Lone Star" a play of 5 acts, will be presented at the High School Friday night at 8 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come. Admission 15c and 25c.

This play will be given by pupils of Harpesville school for their consolidated school fund.

Tick Eradication Makes Steady Progress

The report of the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry on the results of tick eradication work in Alabama shows that only eight counties will be under quarantine December 15.

The work of tick eradication was started in 1906, when the whole state was placed under quarantine by the laws of congress By November 1, 1922, fifteen counties had been released from the quarantine. During the following year 11 more counties were cleaned up making 26 ready for release By November 1, 1923, the work had been extended to bring the total up to 41 counties. During the past year the work has been completed in 18 more counties so that by December 15, 59 of the 67 counties in Alabama will be tick free and will be released from quarantine.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Waverly Palmer, of Montevallo, announce the engagement of their daughter, Stella, to Dr. Henry Gustav Holtz of Little Rock, Ark., the marriage to be solemnized on December 22, at Jackson Heights, Long Island, New York.

I'd Like to See Old Santa

The Window Lookers

By Mary Graham Bonner

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

AGAINST the window of a big store was a row of small faces. The children who owned these faces were pressed close, close against it. They seemed to think that the closer they were to it the more they could see.

They were very ragged, their boots were not all that respectable boots should be, their coats were not all that respectable and warm coats should be.

But more than that, their eyes were not all that the eyes of children at Christmas-time should be.

She noticed it at once. There was something hungry about their eyes. Something there, too, which looked so strange and unnatural.

She had finished her Christmas shopping. Every one on her list now had a present wrapped up and awaiting delivery. She had saved a little of her Christmas money, too, and she was going to buy herself one of those pretty many-colored silk scarfs, and a gold head-band. She had always wanted these, and they were too elaborate to ask her friends to give them to her for Christmas. She was going in this store to purchase them when the children attracted her attention. She stood by them, watching them, listening to them. They weren't paying any attention to her.

"Santy won't come to us this year, mamma says," one child spoke. "Mamma says he's awful hard up this year, just as folks get hard up."

"My papa says that, too," the second said.

"I didn't know Santy ever was hard up," said a third, "but I guess he has bad times, too."

She would try out the wild scheme which had just come to her.

"Children," she said, "I am a niece of Mr. Santa Claus, and he told me you would be here—he looked into your homes this afternoon—just peeped in—I don't believe even your mothers saw him, but he heard where you had gone—and he asked me to take you in and buy you each a Christmas present from him.

"He has had a busy time and he isn't as well off this year as usual, but he has something for each of you."

Yes, it was all right. Nothing was too wonderful for children to believe! They went in—all of them.

And each had a present which they fondly clung to and which drove that strange, hungry look from their eyes.

They sent many thanks to Santa Claus, these grateful little window lookers. Curious, she thought to herself, that she had ever thought of spending that extra money on a scarf and head-band!

The Things I Have Not Had

I PRAY I may be glad
For the things I have not had;

Glad that somewhere they wait,
And that near, or far, or late

I shall find them, lingering so,
In the dawn or even glow

With never a trace of tears
Left by the passing years.

They know no time nor space,
For they have not taken place.

Love which I never knew,
Beautiful, pure and true,

Awaits, and the distant gleams
From the hearth fires of my dreams

Which will one day come to be
Such a bright reality.

Glad for the past am I,
And for today's blue sky.

But I am more than glad
For the things I have not had.

—Elizabeth Scollard, in N. Y. Herald.

"Merry Christmas"

OF Christmas past let us remember now
Only the smiles, forgetting all the tears,
Only the hopes, forgetting all the fears;
Life's way is all too long, that we should bow
Beneath the ancient burdens of dead years.

Of Christmas to the future let us speak
Only with courage, looking for the best,
Only with hope, leaving to faith the rest!
Life's day is all too short that we should seek
To dim its brightness at our own behest.

And in the present Christmas, let us give
All help, from care the suffering to release,
All zeal, to share our happiness and peace!
For life is long enough for love to live,
And short enough for bitterness to cease.

The Child and Christmas Night

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

I THINK he's very young and white,
The child who comes at Christmas night
And shining is his hair!
I think his feet scarce touch the snow,
As softly, sweetly forth they go—
His feet so small and bare!

I think his voice is like the brook,
I think he wears a laughing look,
And sunshine in his eyes!
I think his hands are little, too,
But strong his Christmas work to do,
And peace upon him lies.

I think he comes to touch our sight,
The little child so young and white,
To make us see
How simple are the ways of love,
How great the blessings from above
For you and me!

—Martha B. Thomas.

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS GOODS FROM THE HOME MERCHANTS

This Paper Tells You Where Every Need Can Be Supplied

This week the Reporter breaks all records in the volume of advertising by home merchants.

This fact is very gratifying to the management of the paper; it is necessary for a paper to have adverttising support if it is to render the service that is expected of it, The Reporter hopes that every reader will study the advertisements with unusual care. Now is the time for Christmas buying and the home merchants have large stock of Christmas goods. These merchants are our neighbors, let's patronize them. The following merchants are advertising in this issue:

George Kroell, Montevallo,
Wilson Drug Co., Montevallo.
Farmers Exchange, Columbiana.
Columbiana Leader, Columbiana.
P. Baer, Calera and Wilton,
W. E. Riddle, Wilsonville.

Kanter's Cash Store. Montevallo, begins a big sale Saturday and will have a full page advertisement next week.

The J. F. Pope Co., Wilsonville, have large stocks of Christmas goods; their advertisement will appear next week.

INTER HIGH SCHOOL MEET ANNOUNCED AT ALABAMA COLLEGE

Montevallo, Alabama, Dec 9.—Inter High School Meet, February 26-28, 1925, is the title of a new bulletin just issued by Alabama College, Basket ball, declamation, music art, and Home Ecnomics are the features for this state wide contest. This is the third year for the basket ball tournament, the second year for art, declamation, and home economics Music will be added this year. Perhpas no educational undertaking has created such great interest as this annual meet for the high schools at Montevallo. The Selma team was the winner of the silver loving cup in 1923, and the Ramar team won the silver basketball in 1924. Two teams will be selected from each congressio nal district, or twenty in all to battle for the championship in February 1925.

The contest in art, home economics and declamation were the most interesting, attracting as much or more attention, than the exciting games of basket ball.

Prizes have been offered by the Birmingham News, Birmingham Age-Herald, Montgomery Advertiser, Alabama College, and several private citizens. A copy of the bulletin will be sent free upon application.

DAIRY CAMPAIGN COVERED COUNTY

A series of meetings was held throughout the county Tuesday and Wednesday for the purpose of arousing a greater interest on the part of business men and farmers in the dairy industry. Twenty communities were visited and the advantages of dairying as proved by the experience of many other communities in other counties and states were explained.

The campaign was planned by County Agent A. A. Lauderdale, who himself had charge of the meetings in one of the five sections into which the county was divided for the campaign. Assisting Mr. Lauderdale were: Heyward Walker manager Talladega Creamery, who worked in the Vincent territory; G. W, Humphrey, dairy specialist in the Southern Railway Development Service, who was assigned to the Wilsonville section; Dr. D. L. Biggs also of the Southern Railway who worked in the territory adjacent to Montevallo; John Rigdon of the agricultural department of the Central of Georgia Railway; J. P. Montgomery of the High School faiulty who had the meetings in Columbiana territory. Mr. Lauderdale's meetings were up the L. & N, Railroad from Calera.

Messrs. Humphrey and Biggs reached Columbiana Monday night to hold a conference with other workers at which plans for the meetings were discussed. It was agreed that each speaker should urge the importance of growing into the dairy business carrying it on in connection with general farming, Under this plan farmers would be advised to start with a few cows, not more than five, and learn all the details of dairying before undertaking the work on a larger scale.

Following immediately as it does, the bringing in of the first car load of dairy cattle into the county, it is expected that this series of meetings will do more than has yet been done to attract attention to the possibilities of Shelby as a dairy county.

Honor Roll For Columbiana School

First Grade:—Roland Bolton, Roy Coshatt, Conrad Fowler, Grace Stuckey, Sarah Nell Carter, Myra Stinson.

Second Grade:—William Haynes Compton, Katheleen Mooney, Elen Ruth Isbell, Myra Acker, Florence McGiboney, Marene Edmonson, Wilma Holcombe, Beatrice Looney, John A. Carter.

Third Grade:—Alvin Barnett, Jay Falkner, Harris M. Gordon, Edna Howard, Margaret Howard, Jane Fowler, Charlie Vern Tinney William Atkins Mays, Fourth Grade:—Eldron Crawford, David MacKnight, James Taylor, Rux Carter, Avis Acker, Mamie Middleton.

Fifth Grade:—Edwin Rush, A. D. Gordon, Clark Polk, R. F. Cox, Gavin Minor, Katie Lou Chapman, Helen Ruth Green, Lois Stuckey, Sixth Grade:—Mildred Dean, Willie Gould, Sunset Polk, Mae Acker, Francis Leonard, Charles McDaniel, Hurst Middleton, Roy Mooney.

First Year Junior High:—Odell Barnett, Helen Chapman, Inez Coshatt, V, L. Crumpton, Bernice Davis, Bertie Horton, Perrine Minor, Eleanor Stuckey, Lorene Seale, Odell Turner, J. V. Cooper, Donald Falkner, McCoy Mays.

J. B. King, Prin.

BOX SUPPER

There will be a Box Supper at Blue Springs Saturday night, December 13th, for the benefit of the church.

Mrs, W. N. Carson, Miss Eva Moseley, and E. B. Moseley, of Marion Junction, and Mrs, Clifton Kirkpatrick of Cahaba, spent Sunday with Mrs. John F. Averyt.

GASOLINE MOTOR TAX $1,510,572.62

FIFTEEN COUNTIES PAY IN MORE THAN THEY RECEIVE. JEFFERSON LEADS WITH $344,579.62

Montgomery.—Jefferson County paid into the State treasury during the past year in gasoline tax $344,579.62 and received back from the same fund $22,546.86.

There were 14 other counties that paid more than they received. The other 52 counties benefited by the act passed by the last legislature levying a tax of two cents a gallon upon gasoline and dividing the proceeds, after the costs of collection, equally among the 67 counties.

The first year of the operation of the act has just closed, with a total collection of $1,510,572.62. This represents gasoline used by 158,019 motor vehicles.

State examiners are charged with the duty of seeing that the money collected from the gasoline tax is expended exclusively in the care and building of public roads. Reports to State officials indicate that the tax money is enabling many counties to put their roads in better shape than ever before.

The other counties besides Jefferson which turn in a larger tax than they get back are Baldwin, Calhoun, Colbert, Dallas, Etowah, Houston, Lauderdale, Madison, Mobile, Montgomery, Morgan, Talladega, Tuscaloosa and Walker. Greene County pays the smallest tax, $5,063. Each county receives $22,546,86.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

Work has been started on the necessary excavation for the approach to Wilson Dam over which three highways will be brought together across the Tennessee river. Steam shovels and other necessary equipment are busily engaged in preparing the road bed which will connect the giant dam with the Shoals. It is expected the work of connecting the dam with the roadways which are near the banks of the river, will begin at an early date. Work on the 58-foot gates which will regulate the flow of the river, above the spillway sections of the dam has been going forward at a rapid rate and the superstructure is rapdily taking shape.

Residents of Coming entertained members of the Tuscaloosa county board of Revenue and members of the construction crews to a chicken dinner in celebration of the completion of the gravel road through that section. The thoroughfare is 20 miles long and runs to the county line from Tuscaloosa. The folks in that section were so pleased in getting this good road that they got together and entertained those responsible for it.

Action in connection with the citation of the Northern Alabama railroad and the Southern railroad to show cause why they should not furnish adequate depot facilities at Parrish, Ala., was deferred by the Alabama Public Service Commission, until the call of the January docket.

Two Morgan County deputies reported that they had found a still which they were informed was being operated on a community plan. Customers were permitted to use the still to make their own liquor, and the owner of the outfit took a share of the output for pay.

The Confederate Square in Greenville is being beautified by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Walks in the Square are being paved, and when completed an experienced gardener will plant flowers, evergreens and grass.

The Birmingham Water Works Company has filed in the Jefferson probate office a mortgage on all of its properties and its franchise, to secure $5,500,000 of gold bonds dated October 1, 1924, and due October 1, 1954.

The State Docks Commission has authorized the purchase of a $270,000 suction dredge to be used in connection with the building of the State docks at Mobile.

A new corporation known as the East Alabama Hatchery, has been organized at Opelika. The purpose of the organization is to do custom hatching of eggs.

A negro laborer, while cutting timber at the Mills Lumber camp near Loachapoka, was instantly killed by a falling tree.

Grading of the State highway between Fayette and Winfield is now under way, and is to be completed by next June first.

Dr. Robert A. Lovelady, of Birmingham, was elected junior grand warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Alabama, at the concluding session of the grand lodge in Montgomery. He fills the vacancy created by the death of Albert L. Reese, of Birmingham.

The Tuscaloosa Baptists have just completed a Sunday School building which cost $110,000.

The Autauga County negro training school building was destroyed by fire. Loss $12,000

Illiteracy campaigns will be waged in 14 Alabama counties next summer. Miss Clutie Bloodworth, director of the division of exceptional education of the State Education Department, made this announcement, following a conference of county superintendents of education, supervisors and teachers experienced in schools for adults. Counties to be included in the campaign are: Butler, Calhoun, Choctaw, Covington, DeKalb, Elmore, Marshall, Pickens, Randolph, Shelby, St. Clair, Tallapoosa, Tuscaloosa, and Washington. Most of these schools which will hereafter be known as "opportunity schools," will not open until crops are "laid by," it is stated. The work of preparation, and the selection of teachers has already begun, however.

The Ensley Steel plant is the only one in America now ahead of its 1923 record, according to information. Following the smashing of all November records at the steel plant and blast furnace, it was stated that the plant will have a record for 1924 surpassing any in this country. The prevailing opinion is that the open hearth furnace produced over 2,000 more tons of steel during November than ever before in one month. The Ensley works during the present year has assumed gratifying proportions and there is wide interest among industrial men in the knowledge that the Ensley steel works will lead all plants in the country for 1924.

Talladega's new $500,000 water system was put out of commission when the bottom literally dropped out of the 2,000,000 gallon storage reservoir. As a result the water in the big container was emptied in about three minutes. Cost of the big concrete bowl alone is estimated at $100,000. The hole in the bottom of the reservoir is large enough to place a two-story residence. Cause of the bottom giving away is a puzzle to citizens of the city. The reservoir is located on a hill four miles from the city. Oldest citizens know nothing of any cavern that existed there. Where the water went after the cave-in is a mystery.

The Colbert County Medical society elected officers for the ensuing year at a meeting held in the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce. Dr. G. F. Littlepage was chosen president, Dr. E. W. Gray, vice president, Dr. J. P. Long secretary-treasurer, and Dr. D. T. Boozer, censor, all of Sheffield. At this meeting the medical society expressed themselves as being desirous of having an adequate hospital erected in the Muscle Shoals district and pledged themselves to sponsor a movement looking to its erection.

Mrs. John Baily, of Oxford, turned over to the Anniston Salvation Army post a fruit jar filled with pennies which she had saved since January 1, 1924. There were 1,450 pennies in the jar.

Sale of the weed known as "marithuana" from which a species of cigarettes called "muggles" are made, was prohibited by ordinance adopted by the City of Mobile. The ordinance also forbids the growing of the weed.

Mrs. Susie Hodd, of Mobile, when she discovered J. F. Lowrey peering into her window at night, rushed into the yard and held him at bey with a pair of scissors until officers arrived and placed him under arrest.

Organization of a platoon of the national guard at Birmingham-Southern college will take place soon, according to recent announcement.

Robert M. Chambliss, charged with killing Alonzo H. Graves, was acquitted by a jury in the Montgomery circuit court.

M. J. Bray and wife, of Montgomery, were killed when their automobile was struck by a Central of Georgia train at Kenyon's Crossing.

Mrs. Florence Adams, probation officer of Etowah county, handled 37 cases during November, according to her report.

Two negro highwaymen held up W. M. Ragland, of Anniston, as he was walking home at night and robbed him of $13.

According to City Warden Gus Waters, the Anniston police department docketed 258 cases during November.

Alabama City will sell $50,000 worth of bonds to retire a floating debt.

Robinson Brown, of Tuscaloosa, has been appointed land agent of the University of Alabama.

The jitneys have been barred from Huntsville streets by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

The girl's dormitory of the Eldridge Academy at Eldrige, was destroyed by fire.

G. W. Russell, of Morgan County, killed a hog weighing 592 pounds. The meat brought $82.

Pupils of the negro high school at Decatur donated $15 to the poor of their race on Thanksgiving Day.

Jim Hany and Bob Hany, brothers, were sentenced to 12 months hard labor, by the Etowah County court, charged with decoying 16-year-old Myrtle Bland from her home in Attalla. An appeal was taken.

Captain Thomas Craig died in a Selma hospital of gunshot wounds accidentally received the day before Thanksgiving.

G. L. Duncan was killed in an automobile near Tuscumbia, when he lost control of the machine while going down Russellville mountain.

COATS FOR MIDWINTER; PRACTICAL SCHOOL FROCKS

BREATHES there a woman with soul so dead, who never to herself—and to her husband—has said, that she simply must have a new fur coat? If such there be, there must also be something the matter with her sense of clothes; for the female of the human species loves fur with a constancy that has lasted for centuries.

Furriers versed in the lore of their business are always planning new splendors in wraps made of expensive skins, and manipulating inexpensive pelts into far less costly garments. There is a market for all of them. The transformation these furriers work are all wonderful, and many rich looking wraps are made of skins that began life in the humble ranks of the rabbit, the muskrat, and other plentiful animals, with very little pretension to beauty.

Among the handsomest coats this winter are models that show a combination of two furs in the body of the garment, as seal and ermine, astrakhan and fox, leopard and seal, ermine and sable. Nearly always a coat or wrap of one fur has collar, cuffs, and often trimming of another fur, as in the beautiful leopard skin pictured, made up with seal accessories. Leopard is more fashionable then ever, and its wonderful markings reveal their fascination in these long coats. All the well-known skins may be found made up in lines similar to those in the coat pictured and the winds of fashion are not so variable in coat styles as in others. Mink, sable and squirrel coats usually have their collars and cuffs of the same skins.

A new whim of fashion in this season's garments appears in accessories and trimmings in shaded effects. For instance, on a brown astrakhan coat, collar, cuffs and bands are made of astrakhan shading from very dark to light brown. This may be a passing fad—or it may have come for a prolonged stay. A good fur coat is really an economy—it costs no more in the long run than shorter-lived garments.

Fashion has proved a good dictator this season in bringing about extreme practicality in dresses for schoolgirls. It has been a long time since our junior and older girls were so suitably and becomingly dressed, as they are today. But there is nothing dull or uninteresting about their simple, comfortable, everyday frocks—they are redeemed by the fabrics used and clever variation of design.

In fabrics striped flannels and those in plaid and fine cross-bar patterns have made wonderful contributions to the diversity and liveliness of school dresses. Tan, dark blue or brown grounds varied by Roman stripes make cheerful frocks even when reduced to the last extreme of simplicity. Strong contrasts in plain stripes, as blue and tan, tan and green, gray and blue, in which the stripes are cleverly used in transverse or bias bands for decoration, have all the chic in the world. On these striped materials linen collars and cuffs, in natural or white, are an important item in the ensemble this season. In these dresses belts made of the material are cut lengthwise of the cloth, showing the darker stripe edged with a line in the lighter shade. Fashion gives hearty approval, also, to narrow leather belts.

When plain materials are used—as twills, flannels, suede fabrics or broadcloth they are sometimes varied by the introduction of a fancy weave in the same color, as shown in the dress pictured. Here a wide panel, in a big checker-board pattern, almost covers the front of the dress. Color contrast is provided by rows of flat braid stitched on it and the color is repeated in groups of buttons at one side. The belt, which is much wider than the average, is made of the plain fabric.

Pipings, facings, narrow embroidered or fancy bindings, in vivid colors brighten the popular dark blues, browns and greens that are liked for everyday, and plaids must not be neglected when the matter of outfitting school girls comes up for attention

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

A Gorgeous Winter Coat.

A Practical School Frock.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

COOLIDGE GIVES VIEWS IN MESSAGE

Urges Congress to Practice Economy to Make Reduction in Taxes Possible.

Washington.—President Coolidge advised congress in his annual message that perhaps the most important work it could do at its present session would be to practice such economy as to make possible a reduction of taxes for the next fiscal year.

"The government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public expenditures," he said, "than can be accomplished through any other action."

The President renewed his plea for American adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice; declared the United States would not join the League of Nations; appealed for support for the European reparations settlement plan, and repeated his declaration of opposition to cancellation by the United States of the debts owed the country by foreign nations.

The text of the President's message, which was read to congress, in part follows:

The nation holds a position unsurpassed in all former human experience. This does not mean that we do not have any problems.

Our domestic problems are for the most part economic. We have our enormous debt to pay, and we are paying it. We have the high cost of government to diminish, and we are diminishing it.

We still owe over $21,000,000,000, the cost of the national government is still about $3,500,000,000, and the national taxes still amount to about $27 for each one of our inhabitants. There yet exists this enormous field for the application of economy.

In my opinion the government can do more to remedy the economic ills of the people by a system of rigid economy in public expenditure than can be accomplished through any other action.

For Repeal of Publicity Act.

Combining discussion of tax revision with his statement on economy, the Executive declared publication of income tax payments to be "detrimental to the public welfare and bound to decrease public revenues," and urged the repeal of that section of the revenue act.

If at the close of the present session the congress has kept within the budget which I propose to present, it will then be possible to have a moderate amount of tax reduction and all the tax reform that the congress may wish for during the next fiscal year. There is every prospect of an era of prosperity of unprecedented proportions.

Our country has a well-defined policy of reclamation established under statutory authority. This policy should be continued.

For Relief of Agriculture.

No more important development has taken place in the last year than the beginning of a restoration of agriculture to a prosperous condition.

The government cannot successfully insure prosperity or fix prices by legislative fiat. Every business has its risk and its times of depression.

The government has been constantly increasing its efforts for the relief and permanent establishment of agriculture on a sound and equal basis with other business.

Every effort must be made, both by government activity and by private agencies, to restore and maintain agriculture to a complete normal relationship with other industries.

It is my opinion that the support of agriculture is the chief problem to consider in connection with this property.

I should favor a sale of this property, or long-time lease.

The railways during the last year have made still further progress in recuperation from the war, with large gains in efficiency and ability expeditiously to handle the traffic of the country.

In my message last year I emphasized the necessity for further legislation with a view to expediting the consolidation of our railways into larger systems.

Simplify Labor Rules.

Another matter before congress is legislation affecting the labor sections of the transportation act.

It would be helpful if a plan could be adopted which, while retaining the practice of systematic collective bargaining with conciliation and voluntary arbitration of labor differences, could also provide simplicity in relations and more direct local responsibility of employees and managers.

I am of the opinion that the national law governing the choice of members of the congress should be extended to include appropriate representation of the respective parties at the ballot box and equality of representation on the various registration boards, wherever they exist.

During the last session of the congress legislation was introduced looking to the payment of the remaining claims generally referred to as the French spoliation claims.

The United States ought to pay its debts. I recommend action by the congress which will permit of the payment of these remaining claims.

Wage Earner Aided.

Two very important policies have been adopted by this country which, while extending their benefits also in other directions, have been of the utmost importance to the wage earners. One of these is the protective tariff. The other is a policy of more recent origin and seeks to shield our wage earners from the disastrous competition of a great influx of foreign peoples.

This has been done by the restrictive immigration law. This saves the American job for the American workmen.

The merit system has long been recognized as the correct basis for employment in our civil service. I believe that first, second and third-class postmasters, and without covering in the present membership the field force of prohibition enforcement should be brought within the classified service by statute law.

One way to save public money would be to pass the pending bill for the reorganization of the various departments.

Army and Navy.

Little has developed in relation to our national defense which needs special attention. Progress is constantly being made in air navigation and requires encouragement and development.

Under the limitation of armaments treaty a large saving in outlay and a considerable decrease in maintenance of the navy has been accomplished.

We should maintain the policy of constantly working toward the full treaty strength of the navy.

A special commission also is investigating the problem of petroleum oil for the navy.

I believe thoroughly in the army and navy, in adequate defense and preparation. But I am opposed to any policy of competition in building and maintaining land or sea armaments.

Says Veterans Deserve Best.

With the authorization for general hospitalization of the veterans of all wars provided during the present year, the care and treatment of those who have served their country in time of peril and the attitude of the government toward them is not now so much one of needed legislation as one of careful, generous and humane administration.

Through its officers the Legion will present to the congress numerous suggestions for legislation.

America has been one of the foremost nations in advocating tribunals for the settlement of international disputes of a justifiable character.

About $12,000,000,000 is due to our government from abroad.

Coolidge's Recommendation

Recommendations contained in President Coolidge's message are:

Rigid economy.

Reduction of the cost of the government.

Repeal of the income tax publicity law.

Further tax reduction effective in the next fiscal year, provided congress helps create the necessary treasury surplus.

Reduction of the surtaxes on large incomes.

Improvement and flood control on inland waterways.

Continued negotiations with Canada for the building of the St. Lawrence waterway.

Enactment of the reclamation legislation called for by the fact-finding commission.

Legislation relative to agriculture as soon as the new agricultural commission can make recommendations.

Sale or lease of Muscle Shoals and creation of a subcommittee of the committees on agriculture of congress to negotiate with possible purchasers. Increase in the powers of the interstate commerce commission to stimulate consolidation of railroad systems.

Amendment of existing law relative to relations of railroads to labor.

Amendment of federal election laws to provide equal representation of all parties at the ballot box and on registration boards.

Establishment of a national police bureau.

Amendment of immigration law to permit families of citizens to enter the United States.

Protection of the negro in his full constitutional rights.

Extension of the civil service law by congress to include all postmasters and the prohibition-enforcement force.

Reorganization of the government departments.

Adequate national defense and preparation.

Sympathetic reception by congress for the legislative recommendations of the American legion.

International co-operation, but no membership in the League of Nations.

Membership in the Permanent Court of International Justice, with reasonable reservations.

Postponement of further disarmament conferences here until pending European proposals for conference in Europe is worked out.

Many Attend Wedding, But Bride Fails to Appear

Boston.—After inviting Mayor Quinn of Cambridge and 100 other guests to his wedding, William J. Mehigan, a blacksmith, was forced to meet the guests alone and to explain to them that his intended bride had disappeared. Where he did not know, and said he didn't care.

All night long the wedding guests kept dropping in at 229 Elm street, to wish the bride and groom joy and happiness and all night long the blacksmith groom-to-be was obliged to wait there and explain why there was no joy and happiness for him.

Mr. Mehigan's associates in the street department had brought him $100 in gold, but were obliged to take it away again with them for Mehigan declined to accept it. Other guests who had sent wedding gifts were likewise asked to take them back.

Those who knew Miss Kelleher attribute her disappearance to changing her mind.

NOTICE—MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE,

Default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by a certain mortgage, executed by R. C. Wood and wife, Mattie F. Wood, to J. M. Lyon, and bearing date of February 20, 1922 and due and payable on the 15 day December 1922, said indebtedness being evidenced by one promisory note due and payable on the 15th day of December, 1922, in the sum of $700.00, said mortgage being of record in the office of the Probate Judge of Shelby county, Alabama, in Mortgage Record No. 129, page 309, which said indebtedness is past due and unpaid; and now therefore under the terms and powers contained in said mortgage the said J, M. Lyon will, by and though his attorney and agent, offer for sale, and sell, to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the court house door in Columbiana, Alabama, within the hours of legal sale, on Monday, December 15th, 1924, the lands described in said mortgage and conveyed therein the same being described as follows to-wit:

South-east quarter of the South west quarter, and 30 acres lying on the South side of the North-east quarter of South-west quarter, all in Section 4, Township 21, Range 1 East, Shelby county, Alabama, containing seventy acres.

Said sale being made for the purpose of paying the cost of the sale, including a reasonable attorney fee, and paying the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

Paul O. Luck, Atty. for Mortgagee. J. M. Lyon, Mortgagee.

11 27. 3t.

DR. W. J. MITCHEL

—DENTIST—

Phone No. 88. Montevallo, Ala.

E. W. CHAPMAN

REAL ESTATE

Insurance and Bonds.

Farm Lands a Specialty

Hoffman Building

Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW

COLUMBIANA, ALA.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON

Agents

New York Life Insurance Company

COLUMBIANA, ALA.

WILSON DRUG CO.

P. C. Wilson, Proprietor

Phone 41.

Montevallo. Alabama.

LUTHER L. SAXON

—LAWYER—

PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS

COLUMBIANA, ALA.

GIFTS THAT LAST

P. D. D. PENDLETON

JEWELER

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

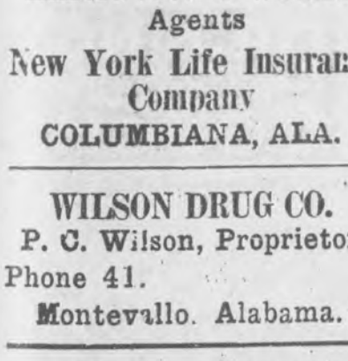
O. K. MERCANTILE CO.

SHELBY, ALABAMA

Undertakers

High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

Rheumatic?



This will give you quick relief

The lightest application—and pain and stiffness begin to give way as fresh, new blood is sent tingling through the infected spot. No bothersome rubbing. Just pat it on gently. Get this quick sure relief today. All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

The Christmas Announcement

By Mary Graham Bonner

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WALLACE TREADWAY, or Wally, as his friends knew him, sang the tenor part in the moving picture and vaudeville theater quartette. Magnificent songs they sang ("program changed weekly") with beautiful stage settings as their background. "By the Old Camp-Fire" thrilled his listeners, and Wally, sitting over a stage fire consisting of two electric light bulbs shining upon a strip of painted tin with a red streak of paint in the curtains above him to indicate the glow from the fire's embers; Wally in a khaki hat and suit and silk handkerchief about his neck singing the song of haying, or making the tears come to the eyes of the audience when he sang "As I Sat Upon My Dear Old Mother's Knee," was about the "grandest" man Blanche Draper, the head usher, had ever seen.

True, Wally had never seen a camp fire, nor had he ever sat upon his mother's knee, for he had spent his youth in an orphanage and he could love the golden light which was sent down from the green and gold ceiling upon the "new-mown hay" as he stood pitchfork in hand, even though he had never seen the real country.

They went out a great deal together, yet as the time went on Wally seemed to grow quieter. Perhaps he was tired of her. He had sent her a Christmas gift that afternoon of Christmas Eve, and yet with it had come this note, shattering all her happiness:

"Blanche Dear: I know it will seem awful to you reading of the engagement announced in this afternoon's paper, but if you'll only give me a chance I'll explain so you won't think me such a cad. Give me the chance to put myself right. At least for the sake of our friendship and the grand times we've had, don't judge me hastily. Not that I don't want to be engaged—I do! But I want to talk to you about everything soon! So I can explain. Perhaps after the show tonight?"

So there was some one else, and the engagement had been announced. That was why Wally had grown quieter and quieter. He had been trying to break it to her, and she had thought at times he was shy. He hadn't been so shy, after all!

She would not go to the theater tonight. What did she care for explanations? Cora Brown, her roommate and assistant usher, would take charge.

"I Got a Couple of Extra Copies of the Paper."

She heard Cora's step now.

"What! You in, Blanche?" she asked.

"Yes," came from Blanche a moment later.

"You're a queer one—thought you'd be out celebrating. Only you might have slipped me the news first. I got a couple of extra copies of the paper."

"Let me see," Blanche said sadly. She had to see it sooner or later, and face the situation. And then suddenly her eyes lighted upon her own name. With a rush and an explanation which seemed mad to Cora, she had hastened from the room. She could just catch Wally at the pastry shop where so often they had eaten their supper together.

And then—as she saw Wally at a table at the far end—it dawned on her that Wally had never proposed to her. It was a mistake! And that was why he was apologizing.

He beckoned her to his table. "Darling," he said, "it was not my fault. I didn't brag to Jennings, our publicity man, you know, of what I had no right. I only said I hoped it would be an engagement, and he just thought he'd stick it in, for he believes we are engaged.

"Oh, Blanche, can you forgive me! And can't you make—the announcement come true?"

"I—I'll make it real if you urge good and hard, Wally," she said.

That night before she went to bed she took one of the newspapers to tuck under her pillow.

"Oh, what a merry Christmas you've given me," she whispered to the paper. "You're a blessed Christmas announcement, that's what you are. I could almost hug you—you beautiful printed words!"

And she smiled at the announcement in a most approving way!

Amid Christmas Festivity

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Pause now, for a space,
In the midst of your mirth.
Remember the Christ,
And His coming to earth;
His life and His work,
And the purpose in view,
And question each heart
Of the work still to do.

—F. H. Sweet.

We Want to See Old Santa Claus

Sunday School Christmas Tree

By Laura Elaine Cameron

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

DOROTHY HERNDON pleaded with her daddy a long time before she got him to consent to go with her and her mother to the church Christmas tree, and when finally he did consent to do as she wished, his face wore such a martyr-like expression that Mrs. Herndon only saved herself from laughing aloud because Dorothy was present, and after the child had gone to bed she brought up the subject and insisted that she did not see why he could not have consented with a better grace. She also talked to him at some length about his unwillingness to go anywhere, telling him what a mistake he was making in acting thus, and how much happiness he was missing and depriving her and Dorothy of, too.

But her words were wasted upon George Herndon, for he had made up his mind that he was going to be bored to death with the whole affair, and he told her again that he was just going because of her and the child. "You know how much I care for such doings," he finished up.

George Herndon was the sort of husband that is known by the title of "good provider." He saw to it that his wife and child wanted for nothing; their every need was almost anticipated, and he was kind and loving at all times. But he had one great fault, which, of course, he himself did not admit was any fault at all, and that was he never seemed to think his wife and daughter needed any companionship or amusement outside of what was in the home. He felt that they ought to be content as he was, to sit and enjoy the evenings quietly, never stopping to think that even the softest and most comfortable nest in the world would grow tiresome, were the bird to remain there all the while.

But he had given his consent to go to Dorothy's party, so when Christmas Eve came he accompanied her and his wife to the church, still wearing the martyr-like look upon his face. He told himself as he went along that he had no business to come—that his wife and child could just as well have come without him, if they had insisted upon going.

The church was one of those neighborly little churches to be found in every city, where the stranger is made to feel at home and where the spirit of comradeship and good-fellowship is at its best. The minister was the sort of man who never permitted a stranger to take a back seat, and the moment his eyes fell upon George Herndon he came forward. He chatted pleasantly a few minutes and then, without waiting for a refusal, dragged him off to the busiest corner of the auditorium, where he left him to the mercy of half-a-dozen men, who plied him with work for the next hour.

That evening changed George Herndon, for he found that it was a sort of pleasant feeling to meet and mingle with people in a social way, and to know that he had worked and helped in a worthy cause. He found that it gave a fellow a sort of buoyant feeling to be called upon to lend a hand here and there, and the memory of the joy and delight that filled the children when Santa Claus finally came upon the scene remained with him a long time. For he came to the conclusion that evening that even such a good thing as sitting around the home fires can be overdone.

O, Christmas Bells!

Ring, gaily ring, O, Christmas Bells,
Across the miles of snow;
Ring soft and clear, the day is here
That brings us joy for woe.
Let children sing the wondrous song
That angels sang of yore
At Jesus' birth, of Peace on Earth
When war should be no more.

Ring, sweetly ring, O, Christmas Bells
While morning star shines bright,
The sun's clear beams like happy dreams
Subdue the shades of night.
This day to us was born a King,
The Savior of mankind,
"Peace and Good Will" His message still
With love all hearts shall bind.

—Ruth Raymond
in Michigan Farmer.

PROFIT ON A SAFE BASIS

The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%

Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.

Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK

Montevallo, Alabama

C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slone, Cashier

Checking Accounts Solicited.

Southeastern School of Printing 508 UNION STREET NASHVILLE, TENN.

This great school, establissed by the printers and publishers of the South, offers great opportunities to young men and women to learn some branch of the printing industry. Linotyping, Monotyping, Hand Composition, Proofreading and Platen Press Work. $80,000 equipment. Intensive training methods. A good education is essential. Printing pays goof wages—$25 to $50 per week. Send for free catalog. It is fully illustrated and will give you detailed information. A good trade is a great asset for any young man or woman.

SOUTHEASTERN SCHOOL OF PRINTING, 508 Union St., Nashville, Tenn.

SPECIAL REDUCTION AT

P. BAER'S

FOR SEVEN DAYS

To show our appreciation to our customers by offering complete lines of new winter goods at remarkable reductions. To celebrate the tremendous prosperity being enjoyed by our customers, to offer bargains that will crowd this big store to capacity. Come! Quantities are limited on some items, therefore, you will profit by Shopping Early.

WOMEN'S SWEATERS Half Price
Shaker Knit
Brushed Wool
Newest Novelties

Men's Cotton and Wool mixed Sweaters $1.95

Men's Dress Shirts, newest patterns, stripes and checks.. 79c

Men's Half Hose, all colors pr 10c

25c Outing per yard 16c

MEN'S UNION SUITS
A suit that will give genuine comfort and real service $1.38

Men's all leather Scout Shoes
All sizes and leathers $1.95

Nice quality Dress Ginghams 32-in. wide. Nice range of patterns to select from, at yard 16c

Large size Blankets at 95c

Best grade Work Shirts 75c

A special purchase for our Two Large Stores enables us to offer you these wonderful values for the next seven days. A large assortment of styles and colorings in almost any line.

Two Stores Calera, Ala.

P. BAER

Two Stores Wilton, Ala.

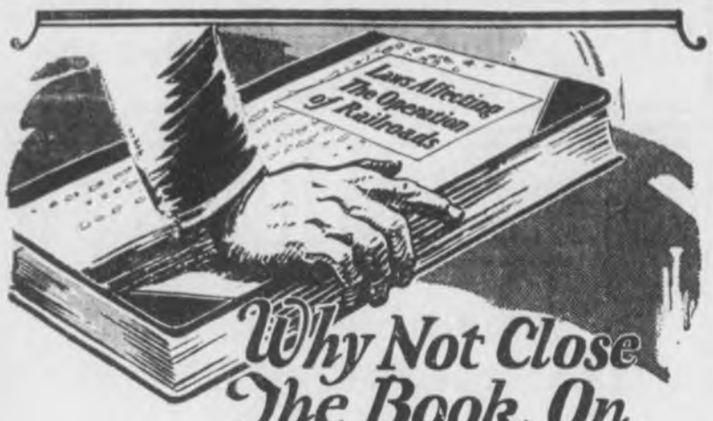
The Old-Reliable

Dr. BELL'S PINE-TAR HONEY FOR COUGHS

FOR COUGHS DUE TO COLDS

FOR quick, sure cough relief there is nothing like the pine-tar and honey, which our parents and grandparents relied on. But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey, the original compound which has been used in thousands of families for years. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best. Often stops a bad cough in 24 hours. Perfectly safe for children as well as grown-ups. Insist on Dr. Bell's and no other. Only 30c at any good druggist's.

Quick and Sure



Why Not Close The Book On Law Making

Too many laws and too stringent regulations are just as detrimental to the public welfare as too few. The greatest problem which confronts the American railroads to-day is not one of transporting freight and passengers, or of its dealings with the public or its employees.

The real transportation problem is the never-ceasing activity on the part of politicians and lawmakers in suggesting changes in present laws and substitutes for those railroad regulatory measures which are working satisfactorily. In addition to suggested changes, new laws affecting the railroads are being proposed in many states, in the National Congress.

Why not give the railroads a legislative holiday? Why not close the book on lawmaking until there is a well-demonstrated need for new or different regulatory measures; and permit the carriers to operate efficiently and satisfactorily; continuing to afford to the people of the United States the best transportation facilities on the face of the globe, and at the lowest cost to the people?

Just at this time, it is interesting to know that the actual Governmental expenditures on account of railroad regulation during the year of 1923, totaled $5,293,444.00.

L&N LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R. THE OLD RELIABLE

Mr. Goodwill Ends War

By Christopher G. Hazard

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE fields sparkled as though covered with diamond dust, the hills looked like big frosted cakes and, as the wind chased them about, the snow particles gleamed like winter fireflies or tiny meteors. It was a brightly beautiful December morning.

But Mr. Goodwill was not looking at the pictures that Mr. Frost had painted upon his windows, or, through as much clear glass as was left, upon the white landscape; his eyes were fixed upon the paper that lay before him upon his desk, and his thoughts searched for an illustration of the idea that he strove to express. For Frank Goodwill was at work upon the article that was not only to win an offered prize but also to end war.

He was not in a peaceful state of mind, for destiny, which had run him up against several disagreeable people of late, had ruffled him again that morning by confronting him at the post office with the most disagreeable one of them all. Wondering why he had so often to meet people whom he wanted to avoid, he had almost quenched the Christmas glow that had begun to exhilarate his heart.

It was not, therefore, with pleasure that he greeted a visitor when the door opened and admitted Hiram Grudge, for Hiram and he had not been upon speaking terms for years and there was still an unspeakable objection to him as he stood there, uninvited to have a seat.

But there seemed to be something unusual the matter with Hiram as he attempted to speak, halted and was silent and downcast, and there began to be something the matter with Lawyer Goodwill as, with broken voice and hesitating utterance, his enemy laid a burden of trouble before him. There came into the lawyer's mind one of the treasured sayings of a wise man of the past, "I know that the man does not love me, but I am resolved to wish him well until I get the better of him," and he rose and took his adversary by the hand.

Returning to his task, Mr. Goodwill discovered that he had found his illustration!

Nearness of the Big Day

Christmas is close enough for the small boy to begin counting the days, but Santa Claus began making overtures a month ago.

It Must Be

Any turkey that can survive Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's is a tough old bird.

The Christmas Spark

By Christopher G. Hazard

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"IT WAS only a spark," said the angel, as he turned away from the shepherds and lifted his pinions toward the glorious place where there was no darkness at all and mounted heavenward. It had seemed to them fearfully splendid, that light that shone round about them, but to the angel it was as but an atom of the dazzling radiance of his sphere, like the tiny star point above him, shining through upon the darkened world.

But it was a spark from the warm heart of infinite love, an unquenchable love. It has never gone out. It shines still in the Shepherds' field, like a grain of radium. Every Christmas eve many people go to see it. The Shepherds carried it away, but there it is. Ever since that night cold hearts have taken a little of it for heart cure, but it remains. As late as last year a little girl cried out: "Come, mamma, sweetie-my-lovey, and put me to bed, so I can wake up and feel it's Christmas," and when she woke up some of it had sent her the lovely gift that she had wanted most of all.

It was a spark of everlasting pity that prompted and answered a child's prayer not long ago, when she said, "And try to take care of the poor little childen, who haven't any fathers, and where Santa Claus can't go." It is a point of pity in the world for all who feel deserted and lonely, sending peace and cheer to drive away misery. Some are so self-sufficient that they will not let others even step on their shadows, and they get no good from the spark that is so glad to put our shadows away. Such should learn their golden text as well as young Arthur did, before reciting it at home after this manner: "Let me love each annuder."

This Christmas spark of light, this shining of the glory of God, was bright with news of that new life that had come into the world to illuminate every one: to be a constant upspringing of the eternal Spirit in souls: to grow and spread over the earth until there should be an earthly firmament, a reflecting back of the starry spangles of the heavens. The Babe of Bethlehem became the Man of Galilee. The Christmas Spark of Life rose from this earthly plain to become the Light of the World. He lives in loving, compassionate truthful hearts, the genius of all the gladness and good cheer of this holiday season, the spirit of Christmas and the hope of following the Angel to his starry home.

The Christmas Spark of Life Rose From This Earthly Plain to Become the Light of the World.

Every year the children grow excited about this Christmas spark. You may pass by and hear them—

"Oh, wrinkling star, wrinkling up so wise.
When you go to sleep, do you shut your eyes?"

A little Christmas play is arranged thus: "Mary'll be the mother and Ruth the father, and I'll be an angel and bring you a baby. . . . Sarah, I don't think you better stay through this. I'm afraid it'll make you cry. You're all right, I think, until the second act. . . . Now, up with the curtain." Again, for Christmas eve: "Last night I had a dream. I saw myself there sleeping,' with a smile. I felt the smile, too." Again, for a Christmas gift: "I'm going to buy a pink rose bush and pick the first bud that comes. Then I'll put it in my jewel box and just leave it. At the end of the third day it will be changed into a fairy." Again: "All the world is pure in the lightning of the Grail." And again: "I wonder if I could have a fairy come and help me with my Christmas presents. They work like lightning: and I find I have so many friends this year."

It is listening to the children tha

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35.000.00

COLUMBIANA. ALABAMA.

W. F DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

DINAH DON'T CARE

DINAH DON'T CARE was a careless Ethiopian. The china cups that passed through her hands fell to the floor and many a plate bore the nick of the time when she had handled it. The meat was scorched in the oven and the gravy was upset out of it, but Dinah merely said, "What's got ter be, is got ter be," and dismissed the unpleasant incident. The bathroom tap flowed on after her departure, to the release of a large area of plastering, but Dinah only thanked "de good Lawd" that she wasn't under it when it fell.

There was an anxiety underneath that polished ebony smile, however, for, after Dinah had earned the rest of her name by declaring that she didn't "care nuffin 'bout Chrismus," it was discovered that a long black stocking, that just matched her complexion, had been hanging from the shelf in her room for more than a week preceding the great holiday!—Christopher G. Hazard.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Carol

There as a Babe born under a Star
(Oh, see how bright the heavens are!)
Laid in a manger, in the sweet hay,
Under the Star's five-pointed ray.

The dumb cattle, they spoke that night
(From end to end the skies are bright)
And Three Wise Men to the Baby came,
For the sky was all song and silver flame.

They bore rich gifts, meet for a King
(Listen . . . the morning stars sing!)
To lay at those small, sorrowful Feet
Where the proud of earth with the humble meet.

—N. E. W.

To the Unwise.

Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is.—Ephesians 5:17.

Mattresses Made Over

I have a big lot of new mattresses to make. If any one has an old mattress to be made over please notify me at once. I will pay freight on all mattresses shipped to me, John Hammock.
Columbiana, Ala.

John Hammock has built me two mattresses which have come up to the guarantee of his work as one who can build mattresses of good quality for the price which he charges. W. H. Shrader.

Quick Way To Break Heavy Cough

Many have been astonished how quickly a bad cough disappears when treated with a new double-action treatment that is simple but wonderfully effective.

Here is the method, which is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and inflammation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. When the cause is removed, the severest cough quickly disappears.

This treatment is for coughs, chest colds, tickling, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Recommended for children as well as grown folks—no narcotics or opiates. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS

FOR AFTER BREAKFAST—THE HAPPY MEDIUM CIGAR

1.

No man likes Grand Opera with his ham and eggs—nor a heavy black banquet cigar in the morning.

2.

Nor does he like jazz and cigarettes for breakfast when he is just steadying down for the day.

3.

The happy medium after the morning meal is an Old Virginia Cheroot—a 4¼-inch compromise between cigar and cigarette.

4.

Not too heavy; not too light. Flavorful, satisfying—a morning tonic.

5.

And you get four for one thin dime. Golden blended perfecto leaf 4¼-inch cigars—as smooth and even smoking as a 15-center.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

Putting a tip on a cigar is an expensive job.
But you can't SMOKE the tip.
We leave off the tip and give you the saving, real Perfecto quality in tobacco and workmanship.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

A Mutual Interest

BECAUSE there is a large investment in telephone property in Alabama, there exists a popular impression that the Telephone Company possesses great money wealth.

The only revenue the Telephone Company receives is the money the public pays for the service.

The only funds the Company has to expend for extensions and new additions to its plant is the money it can induce investors to put into the telephone business.

During the five year period, including 1924, the Bell System must spend more than $9,300,000 for additions and extensions to the telephone plant in Alabama, in order to keep pace with the telephone needs of the State.

This enormous sum of money must be obtained by the sale of securities or be borrowed in the money markets in competition with more profitable enterprises.

To interest investors, there must be assurance of a reasonable return on their money.

To produce this return there must be economical and efficient management, and a service so adequate and satisfactory that the public is willing to pay a fair rate for it.

There are more than 650 Bell Telephone stockholders in Alabama. You can buy the stock at any telephone office on a liberal monthly payment plan.

W. E. BARE, Alabama Manager

"BELL SYSTEM"
SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY
One Policy, One System, Universal Service

Christmas Shopping List

Our store offers you the finest array of Christmas Gift Goods to be Found Anywhere In Shelby County

Below is a list of Appropriate things for Christmas, which we have propared for your convenience in making your selection:

FOR MEN

Cigars—25 and 50 to box
Cigar Cases
Cigarette Cases
Smoker Sets
Cigar Holders
Cigar Clippers
Pipes—25c to $7.50
Pocket Knives
Safety Razors
Razor Strops
Shaving Brushes
Shaving Mirrors
Shaving Sets
Shaving Pads
Traveling Sets
Military Brushes
Hat Brushes
Clothes Brushes
Bill Books
Tie Clasps—25c to $2.50
Watches
Watch Chains
Watch Fobs
Stick Pins
Link Buttons
Collar Buttons
Emblem Buttons
Emblem Pins
Emblem Rings
Pocket Books
Fountain Pens
Paper Weights
Paper Holders
Ink Wells
Card Cases
Flash Lights
Belts
Ever Sharp Pencils

FOR LADIES

Pearl Beads
Mesh Bags
Party Cases
Coin Purses
Beauty Pins
Bar Pins
Belt Pins
Hat Pins
Brooch Pins
Collar Pins
Hand Bags
Rings
Card Cases
Vanity Cases
Mirrors
Bonnett Brushes
Trinket Boxes
Letter Openers
Bracelets
Neck Chains
Pendants
Gold Pins
Pearl Holders
Ink Wells
Hand Bags
Stationery
Stationery Sets
Comb and Brush Sets
Manicure Sets
Sewing Sets
Work Baskets
Spoons
Tea Spoons
Table Spoons
Orange Spoons
Ice Tea Spoons
Dessert Spoons
Ladles
Tea Bells
Knives
Forks
French Ivory
Nail Files
Jewelry Cases
Cut Glass
Perfume
Perfume Bottles
Toilet Bottles
Face Powder
Chamois
Post Card Albums
Cards
Combs
Brushes
Mirrors
Sets—Parisian
Sterling and Plated Silver
Pictures
Fountain Pens
Traveling Sets
Puff Boxes
Kodaks
Candy
Water Sets

FOR BOYS

Watches
Watch Chains
Watch Fobs
Cuff Links
Scarf Pins
Tie Clasps
Belt Buckles
Fountain Pens
Ever Sharp Pencils
Rings
Pencil Sets
Pocket Knives
Sleeve Buttons
Collar Buttons
Brushes
Knife Sets
Balls
Sling-Shot Rubbers
Pocket Books

FOR GIRLS

Rings
Lavalliers
Bar Pins
Stick Pins
Brooches
Watch Bracelets
Flexible Bracelets
Mesh Bags
Vanity Cases
Beads
Stationery
Neck Chains
Manicure Sets
Pictures
Music Rolls
Paint Colors
Toilet Water
Perfume
Candy
Mirrors
Hat Pin Holders
Chamois

Make Our Store Your Headquarters While You Are In Montevallo.

WILSON DRUG COMPANY

Edison Machines — Montevallo, Ala. — Nunnally's Candies

APPRECIATION SALE!

DEAR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS:

The Yuletide season is near at hand; our cup of cheer and good will is full to the brim. Wishing to spread joy throughout this grand land, and to show our appreciation of your patronage in the past, and to further merit same in the future, we have decided to inaugurate for your special benefit one of biggest sales of merchandise that has ever been held in central Alabama. No one can deny the fact that we have one of the largest and most varied, and best selected stocks of GENERAL MERCHANDISE in Shelby county. Our stock has been recently replenished in all departments. For your information: we have just received SIX solid car loads of merchandise and local shipments enough to make three more cars. Be wise and prepare to be on hand at this sale which begins, rain or shine,

Saturday, December 13th AND WILL CONTINUE TO January 1st, 1925

Bring the children Christmas week as Santa Claus will make his headquarters with us, and he will wish to shake the hands of all good boys. For want of space we are unable to quote you all the good things we have in store for you; hence, we only quote the articles below.

Clothing AND LADIES' Ready-to-Wear

Men's Overcoats, special	$2.98
Men's Overcoats, extra special	$4.98
Men's Hats up to $5 val.	$1.00
Men's extra coats,	$1.98, $2.98, $3.98
Ladies Long Coats. Extra value	$3.48
Ladies Long Coats, values up to $20	$4.98
Boys Suits from	$2.98 up
Boys extra Coats from	$1.48 up
Boys Overcoats	$2.98 up

See this line of merchandise early as our supply is limited.

SHOES

In this line we will have something special in children's shoes Don't fail to get your share.

Ladies silk Hose up to $2.50 value 98c

GROCERIES

Octogon Soap	4c
Octagon Soap, per box of 120 bars	$4.75
Best Patent Plain Flour per 24-pound bag	$1.10
Best Patent Self Rising Flour, per 24-pound bag	$1.10
16 per cent Protein Pure Shorts, per 100 pounds	$2.35
7 per cent Cotton Seed Meal	$2.25
Hen, Feed, grain, per 100 pound bag	$3.10
Standard Granulated Sugar, 12 1-2 pounds for	$1.00

HARDWARE

Ford size Auto chains Buy now for	$2 25
Ford size Goodyear Inner Tubes	$1.50
Guaranteed Ford Front Springs	$2.85
Champion X Spark Plugs	60c
Champion X Porcelains	30c
Auto Jacks only	$1.25
30 lbs cut Nails, size 6 to 40, for	$1.00

Dry Goods and Underwear

Yd wide Brown Sheeting per yard	10c
Apron Gingham, per yard	10c
32-inch Dress Gingham, 25c value, one case only, per yard	15c
9-4 Brown Sheeting, per yard	40c
9-4 Bleached Sheeting per yard	45c
36-inch Percal, all colors per yard	15c
Men's Unions, $2 value,	$1.25
Men's Shirts and Drawers, regular $1 grade, each	75c
Boys and Misses Unions $1 values	75c

HOSIERY

We still have quite a nice lot of the famous Buster Brown Hosiery for Ladies, Misses and Children that we are closing out at spedial prices.

All ladies, misses' and children's 50c, 65c and 75c quality at per pair 35c; three pairs for $1.00

Be sure and come to this sale. We want to have you with us and shake your hand. If you don't come we will be disappointed and you will be too, after you learn from your neighbors the big values we are giving. We are going to expect you. Bring your eggs, chickens, aud turkeys and we will pay you the highest market prices for same. Remember this sale is for the CASH as we need the money to meet our obligations. Also remember we sell as we advertise and we will not limit you to the amount you purchase of any article. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and may life's brightest blossoms bloom for thee---Love, Joy and Prosperity---for the year 1925

48 Years
In Business

GEO KROELL

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

Just Down the Street from Everybody

ZEN of the Y. D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

Author of "The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

Copyright by ROBERT STEAD

CHAPTER XVII—Continued.

—20—

"So you have, and it hasn't spoiled you a bit. Oh, it didn't take me long to run you down. But I didn't go breezin' up to your house, like I might 've done if I hadn't been considerate of you. I didn't want no scandal about it, on your account. So I just laid low for awhile. That is how I found out about Grant."

"About Grant? What did you find out about Mr. Grant?"

He made to draw her closer to him, but she held him at bay. "Oh, you're innocent, ain't you, Zen? What about Grant? That's a good one. Your husband would enjoy that!"

"If you're going to talk to me like this we can't be friends, Mr. Drazk." (Still no sign of help). "My friends mustn't think evil of me."

Drazk laughed. "They say a friend is one who knows all about you and loves you just the same," he leered. "That's me, Zen. I know all about you—you and this Grant fellow. How he's been visitin' you when your husband was away, and sometimes when the maid was away, too. I've kept pretty close tab on him. Hasn't been comin' around so often lately. Well, true love never did run smooth. Now I could tell your husband all this, and perhaps I ought to; Transley and me is old friends, worked together for years, but I ain't that kind of a fellow. You see, Zen, I know all about you, and I love you just the same. I love you—just—the same!"

He forced her toward him, and she knew that she had spun out her reprieve to its end. She was in the power of this madman. She tried to break from his grasp, but her efforts were puny and wasted against his passionate strength. She struck out wildly, but he crushed down her blows; wrapped his arms about hers; drew her face to his.

"I came to collect an account, Zen," he hissed, "and now you are goin'—to pay!"

CHAPTER XVIII

Transley, returning by an earlier train than he had expected, found Sarah at the house and Wilson engaged in dialogue with the family pig. The lad, on hearing the motor, rushed to his father's arms.

"Well, well, what a big boy you are!" cried Transley, swinging him up to his shoulders. "And how is the pig? And how is your friend Grant?"

"Mother hasn't let me go to see him lately. I don't know why. Ever since the night I slept at his house—"

"You slept at his house? When?"

"The day you went away. And mother was there in the morning—"

"Wilson, where is your mother?"

"I don't know, daddy."

He strode sharply into the house.

"Sarah, where is Mrs. Transley?"

"I don't know, sir," said the maid. Then, frightened out of her reticence by her master's unusual severity—"I think she has gone to the old quarry, sir. She often goes up there of an afternoon."

"A trysting-place!" Transley gasped inwardly. He dropped the boy and, in his own room, found a revolver and cartridges. A moment later he was swinging in long, angry steps up the quarry road. Wilson, puzzled by the sudden interruption of his father's greeting, followed at a discreet distance.

"I've suspected—I've suspected," Transley was raging as he walked; "I've suspected—more than I've said. Give 'em enough rope. That's my plan. And now they've taken it. By God, if they have!"

With every step the wrath and horror within him grew. He was at the quarry before he knew it. He paused for a moment to listen. Yes, there were people present. There were sounds—God, it sounded like a fight! Transley rushed in. A man and a woman were reeling in each other's arms. "I hate you! I hate you!" the woman was crying. "You coward! You coward!" The woman was his wife. The man was—not Dennison Grant.

Although Transley had a revolver in his pocket it was not his customary weapon, and his thought did not turn instinctively to it. In this tremendous moment he forgot it altogether. He rushed upon his wife's assailant, clutching him about the throat.

With the strength of a madman Drazk flung Zen to the ground, where she fell unconscious at his feet. Then he tore himself free from Transley's grip about his throat. The next moment the two men were swaying about in a struggle of death.

As they swung in each other's arms, crushing, choking, clutching at each other's throats, it was slowly forced home upon Transley that his was a losing fight. His assailant had the strength, and after a hesitating moment of surprise, the ferocity of a lion. He had broken Transley's first grip of advantage about his throat and seemed in momentary prospect of reversing the situation. There were no talk, no cries, no oaths; it was a silent fight save the grunting and panting which became more and more labored as the minutes drew on. In their clutches Drazk's stubbled face rubbed into Transley's well-groomed cheek; his snarling teeth snapped, but missed, at Transley's jaw.

Then it was that Transley remembered his revolver. Breaking Drazk's grip by a superhuman effort, he drew the weapon and fired. The shot went wild, and the next instant Drazk was upon him again. In the struggle the revolver fell from Transley's hand, and both men began fighting toward it. As Drazk's fingers clutched it Transley kicked his feet from under him, and the two went down together. Rolling about on the rocky floor of the quarry they approached, slowly, unconsciously, the edge of the precipice that fell away to the river.

On the very edge Transley realized this new and hideous danger, and scrambled to his feet, dragging Drazk with him. Drazk realized it, too, and gleefully, fiendishly joined again in the combat, deliberately forcing the fight toward the river.

"I've got you, Transley!" he hissed, speaking for the first time since Transley's fingers had clutched about his throat; "I've got you, and you're goin' over there—with me. Zen tried to drown me once; now I'll drown you, if I have to go with you. I've got you, Transley!"

"Drazk!" Transley exclaimed, a light of recognition breaking upon him. "You!"

"Yes, me—Zen's old lover, and you give her to me, or we go out together!"

"You're mad, Drazk, mad!" Transley cried. "Why—"

But at that moment Drazk, by a sudden contortion, whipped a knife from his pocket. Transley felt its sting—once, twice, three times; then darkness fell. Zen, recovering from her stun, sat up in time to see her husband staggering in the arms of Drazk.

Half a mile away Dennison Grant had been lazily plowing up and down his prairie field when he suddenly saw

The Next Moment the Two Men Were Swaying About in a Struggle of Death.

Wilson approaching at his topmost speed. Since the night of the storm he had missed the boy tremendously; sometimes he had thought that if only he might have the companionship of Wilson he could be reconciled to the loss of Zen. He knew that a veto had been placed on Wilson's visits, and he bore Zen no ill will; he felt that he understood her motives. But now, as the boy came racing toward him, Grant felt his heart bouncing about in an extraordinary manner.

"Why, what's the matter?" Grant cried, as Wilson drew up beside him. "Has something happened to the pig?"

It was a moment before the boy could speak.

"A man—is—fighting my—father—and shooting at him," he gasped. "And my mother's—dead!"

Grant cleared the plow at a bound. "Where?" he demanded.

"At the old quarry. I ran all the way."

But Grant was already stripping the harness from Prince. The next moment he had flung himself upon the horse's back, and, leaving the boy to follow as he could, was galloping across the prairie to the quarry trail. Under his urging the astonished plow horse developed a quite surprising speed; in a couple of minutes they were on the old road to the quarry, and a moment later horse and rider dashed into the rock-rimmed cut which overhung the river.

Grant's first glimpse was of Zen; she had struggled to her feet; thank God, she was not dead. Then he saw the two men by the edge of the cliff; Transley he recognized; saw the knife rise and strike—

The blow Grant landed in Drazk's face sent that gentleman spinning like a top. Like a top, too, Drazk wobbled at the end of his spin; wobbled over the edge of the precipice, and dropped out of sight.

Grant fell on his knees beside the stricken Transley; leaned over; raised the quivering form in his arms. Zen, beside him, drew the sorely mangled head to her breast and whispered words of endearment into ears soon closing to all mortal sounds. . . .

Presently Transley opened his eyes. They were sane, quiet eyes now; the fight was over; only the eternities lay ahead.

"Grant—tell me one thing," he murmured. "You have been straight—with Zen?"

"As God hears me," Grant answered.

For an instant the eyes of the rivals—and friends—met; rivals no longer; friends only, forever. Then the form of Transley shivered in the arms of Zen and Dennison Grant! shivered, and settled into eternal sleep.

* * * * * * *

The sun of another summer was flooding the tawny flanks of the foothills when Zen and Dennison Grant rode together over the old trail to the Y.D. Since Transley' death Grant had not spoken to Zen of love; he seemed to know that at the proper time Zen herself would break silence. And now she had asked him to accompany her to her father's home, and to spend a few days roaming their old haunts in the foothills.

Y.D., older, but in unimpaired vigor, greeted him boisterously. "Well, well, you old coyote! Had to come back to the hills! They all do. If I was a young man again I'd get me a herd o' heifers an' trek into the back country spite o' hell an' high water—"

The greeting of the rancher's wife was less effusive, but no less sincere. The evening was spent in hospitality.

The next afternoon Zen appeared at the gate with horses saddled for two. "Come, Denny, we are going for a ride," she announced, "and in a few minutes their mounts were pounding down the trail which led over the foothills to the South Y.D.

Zen was strangely silent upon their ride, and Grant, after futile attempts to engage her in conversation, was content to ride at her side and admire her horsemanship and her beauty. The suffering and the years had left her strangely unscarred; she seemed to Grant wholly as adorable as on that day of her unspoken confession when they had met at the ford. Soon she must speak! Well, he had waited; he still could wait.

They followed the trail, little changed by all the passage of years, down the slopes to the South Y.D. They forded the river, and Zen swung her horse about in the grove of cottonwoods.

"You remember this spot, Denny?" she asked. "It is where we first met."

"I remember," he said. No, he would not be tempted into a demonstration. She must lead.

The sun was gilding the mountain tops with gold, and gilding, too, Zen's face and hair with beauty ineffable. For a moment she sat in the slanting light like a statue of bronze. For an instant her eys met his; then fell. She spurred her horse to a plunge and galloped ahead up the valley.

Miles passed, and the quick twilight of the foothills was upon them before she drew up again. This time it was by a great bowlder, a sort of flat rock stranded on the sloping shoulder of a hill. Something seemed to burst in Grant's throat as he recognized it—the rock on which they had spent that memorable night so long ago when the world and they were young! Thank God, Zen was young still! Romance burned in her heart—who but Zen would have thought of this?

He sprang from his horse, and she from hers. He approached her with open arms.

"Zen—you have brought me here for a purpose! Don't deny it! I understand!"

She was in his arms. "How well you read one's mind," she murmured. "But oh, how slowly!"

He held her tight. There were worlds to say, but he could whisper only "Zen—my Zen," into the tangled glory of her hair.

At length she held him gently away. "I believe some one is coming up the trail," she said.

It was true enough; a horse and rider were rapidly approaching. As he skirted the hill he caught sight of them, swung off from the trail and rode up beside them.

"Ah, here you are!" he exclaimed. "Hope I didn't keep you waiting, Mrs. Transley?"

"You are punctuality itself," Zen said, as she took his hand. "You haven't met Mr. Grant? Denny, this is Mr. Munroe—the reverend Mr. Munroe."

"The reverend! What! How! Zen explain things!"

"Very simple. Mr. Munroe was to meet us here at eight. It's eight o'clock, and here he is."

Zen was unstrapping a kit from her saddle. "I have a document here—if I haven't lost it—which will interest Mr. Munroe. Ah, here it is!"

She produced an envelope, and Mr. Munroe examined the contents. "Seems all in order," he remarked. "A license authorizing the marriage of Dennison Grant and Zenith Transley. This rock should make a very acceptable pulpit. Suppose, Mr. Grant, you take this woman's hand in yours and stand before me?"

It was dark when the minister, having completed the ceremony and shared in the supper which Zen produced from a saddlebag, said a hearty adieu and turned his horse's head down the valley. Dennison and Zen listened to the pounding of hoofs until it died out in the distance. Then the tremendous the immeasurable silence of the hills wrapped them all about, folded them in its friendly arms, fondled and caressed them on the threshold of their new life. . . .

After awhile the moon came up white and glorious, as it had that night so many years before.

[THE END.]

Some men ought to be thankful that the world doesn't understand them.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for December 14

THE RAISING OF LAZARUS

LESSON TEXT—John 11:1-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—"I am the resurrection, and the life."

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Comforts a Family in Trouble.

JUNIOR TOPIC — Lazarus Raised From the Dead.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC— Christ's Power Over Death.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC —Christ, the Resurrection and the Life.

I. The Revelation of Christ's Love (vv. 1-36).

The Bethany family held a peculiar place in the affections of Jesus. When the doors of other homes were closed against Him, the door of this home flung wide open to receive Him.

1. Lazarus Sick (vv. 1, 2). Even those who are in close fellowship with the Lord are not immune from sickness.

2. Martha and Mary Send for Jesus (v. 3).

Because they had come to know Jesus more than a mere man they instinctively turned to Him when this shadow fell across their home. Those who receive Jesus into their homes, when all are well and happy, can be sure of His love and sympathy when sickness and death overtake them.

3. Jesus' Strange Delay (vv. 4-19). Martha and Mary sent for Jesus because He loved Lazarus. Now, Jesus "abode in the same place" because He "loved Lazarus and his sisters." Mere human sympathy would have moved Him to hasten to the home of trouble, but Divine love, which rests upon perfect knowledge, caused Him to tarry.

4. Jesus Meets Martha and Mary (vv. 20-37).

Martha and Mary knew the peril to which He would be exposed and therefore did not request that He come, but merely gave Him notice. They were willing that His coming should be left to Him.

(1) Martha Met Jesus (vv. 20-27). As He was nearing the village, Martha, who with her sister had passed through the awful ordeal of the sickness and death of a dear brother, met Him with a complaint for His delay. Because of His love He ignored her complaint and taught her concerning the resurrection and life. Martha, like many today, had a vague belief that God would raise Lazarus some time in the remote future. To her came the compelling declaration, "I am the resurrection, and the life." The great truth to be apprehended is that here and now we are united to the living Christ, the source of life, and that this is the pledge of bodily resurrection and eternal reunion.

(2) Mary Met Jesus (vv. 28-35). Mary came with the same words, but with a different voice and attitude. She fell down at His feet. She had been sitting at His feet in the days of sunshine. Therefore she knew where to go when sorrows cast their shadows across her path. Her words were answered by His tears. "Jesus wept."

II. The Resurrection of Lazarus (vv. 38-44).

The great sympathy now expresses itself in supernatural power. Sympathy would be valueless without its connection with divine power. In this stupendous miracle we see an illustration of the quickening into life of those dead in trespasses and sin.

Observe:

1. He Was Dead. This is a type of the sinner, dead in trespasses and sins, even morally corrupt (Eph. 2:1).

2. The Stone Must Be Rolled Away. This is the part the human must play.

3. In Unbelief Martha Protests Against the Stone Being Removed. She insists that Lazarus had already undergone putrefaction.

4. Christ's Intimacy and Fellowship With the Father as Revealed in His Prayer.

5. His Manner of Dealing With Lazarus. It was by a call. He is calling men and women today by His Spirit, His Word and His providence.

6. The Response of Lazarus Shows That His Call Was With Authority and Power. With the call goes the power to hear and obey, even though one be dead in trespasses and sin and therefore helpless.

7. The People Are Commanded to Remove the Grave-Clothes and Set Him Free. They could not make Lazarus alive, but they could remove the grave-clothes which bound the man whom Christ made alive.

III. The Effect of This Miracle (vv. 45-47).

This mighty work caused division of sentiment. Some believed on Jesus and some went to the Pharisees with the news.

Lacking Something

Some men are all man except heart, brain and "backbone." — American Evangelist.

Citizenship

A Christian citizenship can spell out nothing but "clean citizenship."—American Evangelist.

No Apology

A three-foot rule does not have to apologize for being thirty-six inches long.—American Evangelist.

POINTS ON KEEPING WELL

Dr. Frederick R. Green, Editor of "Health."

(@ 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

THE ATTRACTIONS OF THE MYSTERIOUS

HUMAN nature is much the same in all ages. Here is an old Greek fable that is just as true today as it was four thousand years ago.

Irene, at great expense, journeys to Epidaurus to see Esculapius in his temple, to consult him about her maladies. First, she complains that she is weary and harassed with fatigue; the god declares this is because of the length of the journey she has taken. She says she has little appetite in the evening; the oracle tells her to dine sparingly. She says that she is liable to insomnia; he prescribes that she shall remain in bed only at night. She asks why she is growing fat and the remedy; the oracle replies that she should eat less, get up before midday and sometimes make use of her legs. She asserts that wine is bad for her; the oracle tells her to drink water. She complains that she suffers from indigestion and he adds that she should regulate her diet. "My sight is growing weak," says Irene. "Wear spectacles," says Esculapius. "I am growing feeble, too," she continues, "and I am not as strong and healthy as I have been." That, says the god, is because you are getting old. "But how can I cure this languor?" "The shortest way, Irene, is to die as your mother and grandmother did before you." "Son of Apollo," exclaims Irene, "what kind of advice is this? Is this the knowledge which men publish abroad, which causes you to be reverenced by the whole world? What have you taught me that is rare or mysterious? Did I not know all the remedies you teach me?" "Then why do you not make use of them?" answers the god, "without coming so far to seek me out and shortening your days by a long journey?"

Another story with the same moral is found in the Old Testament. Naaman, the commander in chief of the Syrian army, had leprosy, a name given in those days to any chronic skin disease. He traveled a long way with an imposing retinue to see Elisha, the Jewish prophet. He expected that Elisha would go through a lot of mysterious and elaborate performances that would impress him with awe and wonder. But Elisha never appeared at all. He sent him word by his servant to go and take a bath. And Naaman "was wroth." But the servant had more sense than the master. He said, "Good master, if the prophet had bidden thee do some great thing, wouldst thou not have done it?" Surely he would, that was what he came for. "How much rather then when he saith unto thee, wash and be clean."

Good health is common sense. Eat sensibly and moderately. Keep the body clean inside and out. Breathe clean air, drink clean water. Avoid fats. Keep the muscles firm. Work hard, play hard, get plenty of sleep and sunshine.

But we know all that, you say. Then do it.

SNAKE BITES

FEAR of snakes is a universal instinct. Ever since our common mother, Eve, met the snake in the Garden, the human race has feared and hated snakes.

This is not only foolish but actually harmful. Black snakes, bull snakes and all the grass snakes and garter snakes are not only harmless but are also friends of the farmer and gardener, as they destroy quantities of rats, field mice and other destructive animals.

There are 163 varieties of snakes in the United States, of which 17 varieties are poisonous. Venomous snakes all belong to one of four varieties: rattlesnakes, copperheads, water moccasins and coral snakes.

The coral snake is found almost exclusively in Florida. Water moccasins and copperheads are common in the Southern states. Rattlesnakes are distributed widely all over the country.

It is a common belief that whisky is an antidote for snake bites and that the only thing to do is to give the victim all the whisky that he can possibly drink. As much as five or six quarts of whisky have been given in a few hours. Such an enormous dose of alcohol is quite as dangerous as the snake poison.

In case of snake bite, tie a bandage around the arm or leg (the parts most usually bitten) above the bite. This may be made of a belt, garter, suspender, handkerchief or strip of underwear. Twist it with a stick, pencil or knife handle, until the flow of blood is shut off.

Then, with a sharp knife, cut through the bite, making two cuts at right angles to each other and going at least as deep as the bite. The freer the flow of blood the better.

Suck the wound thoroughly, being careful that there is no crack or raw place on the lips. Spit out the blood, rinsing the mouth each time with a weak solution of permanganate of potash.

Wash the wound out thoroughly with a strong solution of permanganate. Then loosen the bandage slowly.

Don't pour whisky into the patient. It may kill him even if the snake bite doesn't.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry Mother! Even a bilious, constipated, feverish child loves the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Easy to Blaze

She—"You should get your temper insured." He—"Why?" She—"It's so fiery."—London Answers.

SWAMP-ROOT FOR KIDNEY AILMENTS

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Blindness at Seashore

"Oh, I say, officer, you ought to censor that girl's bathing suit."

"Bathing suit? What are you talking about? I don't see any bathing suit."—Judge.

Boschee's Syrup

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-eight years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.—Adv.

No Harm in That

Doctor—I forbid all brain work.
Patient—But I am a poet.
Doctor—You can go on with that.

Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" is not a lozenge or syrup, but a real, old-fashioned medicine which cleans out Worms or Tapeworm with a single dose. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Live fish have been found by artesian well borers 200 and 300 feet beneath the burning sands of the Sahara desert.

PE-RU-NA

Recommended by an Ohio Farmer

W. J. Temple, 292 W. Central Ave., Delaware, Ohio, for five long years could not eat a meal without distress. His trouble was catarrh of the stomach and bowels brought on by exposure. Mr. Temple says: —"A druggist recommended Pe-ru-na. I took five bottles and am a well man. While formerly I could not do a day's work. I now never become fatigued. Pe-ru-na is the best medicine and tonic in the world. It is especially fine for catarrh and colds."

The value of any medicine is determined by results.

Pe-ru-na has been accumulating results for over fifty years.

Sold Everywhere
Tablets or Liquid

Insist upon having the genuine remedy for catarrhal conditions.

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Aia., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

Western Farmers Profit By Diversification.—

No state in the whole union suffered more severely the effects of agricultural depression than North Dakota. A year ago the state had 200 defunct banks and citizens were withdrawing their deposits from other banks. Today the entire state is in an optimistic attitude; bumper crops at good prices have brought a remarkable business recovery,

It is not, however, the big yield of wheat, the great staple crop of the northwest, that alone has done so much to restore prosperity in North Dakota as the yield of diversified products. Sales of butterfat amounted to $23,7000,000, as compared with $3,700,000 in 1914; 13,000,000 bushels of potatoes were grown as compared with 7,000,000 bushels in 1921; the number of hogs increased from 400,000 in 1920 to 600,000 this year; and corn plantings doubled between 1919 and 1924.

The people of North Dakota have learned by hard experience what successful farmers in all ages and in all lands have had to learn; that is that no one crop system of farming will bring genuine, lasting prosperity.

It is in the light of this experience that our agricultural leaders are urging the farmers and business men of Shelby county to give more thought and more attention to diversified farming.

Club Work Trains Boys and Girls.—

In Minnesota there are 200 boys and girls clubs with 20,000 members engaged in raising high grade stock, growing grains and vegetables and learning bread making, dress making and canning One boy ten years old exhibited at the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago last week, his grand champion baby beef which won blue ribbon at the Junior Live Stock Show in St. Paul in November.

There is no other educational work being done in our day that will yield richer returns in the lives of future citizens than the work that is being done with the farm boys and girls in and through their clubs.

—0—

STRAYED:—Sunday, November 30th, black mare mule, weight 900 pounds, straight ears,, star in face. Notify L. N. Wyatt, Vincent, Ala., Rt. 1, and receive reward. 11 3t.

Alabama Power Co.

Announces that effective

January 1, 1925

The Sale Price of

Alabama Power Company

7% CUMULATIVE PREFERRED STOCK

WILL BE ADVANCED FROM $99 AND ACCRUED DIVIDENDS PER SHARE TO $100

and accrued dividends PER SHARE

All subscriptions at $99 and accrued dividends per share should reach investment office not later than December 31, 1924.

Ask any employe, inquire at any office, or write INVESTMENT DEPARTMENT

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

1004 Brown-Marx Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

MR. REID SECONDS NAME OF MRS. HARE

Montevallo, Dec 8, 1924

Dear Mr. Appleton:

I want to second the nomination of Mrs. M. L. Hare for the Montevallo Exchange Loving Cup. That she and her Christian work are not more widely known is due to her retiring diposition that ever shrinks from the limelight of publicity. If she knew of any intention to nominate her she would doubtless protest against it. But those who know her see the snows of winter falling on her and cannot but hope that ere she reaches the end of her earthly journey, her fellow citizens may show their appreciation of the unselfish ministry of one who has never sought any other reward than the Master's "Well Done."

Whoever recalls her kindly face her gentle voice, and knows how readily her sympathetic heart responds not only to public appeals, but also to innumerable cases of personal needs, must feel that the loving cup can be awarded by a unanimous vote.

While no doubt she has lived her three score and ten years and her head is almost white, still it never rains too hard, the weather too cold, or the nights too dark that she is not willing to go and minister to the needy or attend upon the services of her church. She, in my opinion, is an inspiration to the whole community in which she lives, and sometimes when we may becoue discouraged or when our task seems hard, just a work of encouragement or a gentle reminder of our duty is sufficient encouragement to go forward. It seems to me that it would be a fine thing to honor one who has been such an inspiration to this community and in doing so pay tribute to her God in whom she has such abiding faith.

I beg respectfully to urge the name of Mrs. M. L. Hare as one who, in my opinion, should be honared for her unselfish service.

Very sincerely yours,
R. A. REID.

From Dr. Cameron

To the Citizens and Cattle Owners of Shelby County:

I take this method to thank you for the many courtesies extended to me and for your co-operation during the year in tick eradication work. While we have had some violations, we expected this, as this goes with the work.

We have been very lenient in the prosecution of cases this year: far more than we expect to be next year, as getting the last tick calls for more co-operation and law enforcement than the first year's work.

We have a few places where fever ticks were found after June 15th. It will be necessary to dip at these places. But that will not necessitate dipping at other places. unless fever ticks are found in other places.

Your county is not released from quarantine and will not be until eight months after the last ticks are found. It is a violation of the regulations to move cattle within the county or out of the county, without a permit from a duly authorized inspector. The idea for this is not to let any more ticks spread where we have cleaned up. You do not want any ticks on your premises to cause you to have to dip, so you should not let any cattle come on your premises or range without a permit.

I am spending two or three days a week in Columbiana and can be found at the Leonard Hotel where I will be glad to serve you in any way I can. I will be away on my annual leave from December 15, to January 1st, After my return I will be in Columbiana as above stated.

Again thanking you, all the county officials, the business men, the attorneys and the two papers for your interest in the work and wishing a Merry Christmas for every one, I remain,

Yours for service
W. W. CAMERON,
Inspector in charge of Shelby Co.
Room 44 P O Bldg, Birmingham

The following men can give you permits to move cattle: J. W. Swinford, Montevallo; Wesley Ozley, R 1, Siluria; J. T. Wilder, Calcis; H. G. Cameron, R 1, Columbiana,

TH' OLE GROUCH

Play at Ebenezer

A play, "The Cabbage Hill School," also several amusing dialogues, will be given at Ebenezer school house, Friday night, December 12. Admission charged.

Mattie Ingram, Teacher.

Honor Roll

Honor Roll of Hopewell School for November,

First Grade—Edward Hayes.

Fourth Grade—Lillian Hardaman

Fifth Grade—Imogene Mitchell,

Jr. 1.—Vandine Bristow, Lola Mitchell.

Jr. 2—Olive Hayes.

Jebus E. Cooper,
Teacher.

Tapirs Here Long Ago.

Tapirs lived in North America during the period of the great Ice Age, fossil finds show.

Stockholders Meeting

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Columbiana Savings Bank, a corporation, is hereby called for Wednesday, the 14th day of January, 1925, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Said meeting to be held in Columbiana Savings Bank, in Columbiana, Alabama.

W. F. Davis, President.
W. L. Christian, Cashier

FARM FOR RENT

I have several good farms well located for rent. J. W. Cordell, Columbiana, Ala.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATRIX SALE.

Notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 20th day of December, 1924, during the legal hours of sale, the undersigned, Luseta Horton, as administratrix of the estate of I. P. O, Horton, deceased, will sell to the highest bidder for cash all of the personal property belonging to the estate and ordered sold by a decree of the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, rendered on the 15th day of September, 1924, and which was advertised to be sold by former notice of said sale under said decree of said court published in the Shelby County Reporter, and which sale was advertised to be held and was held on the 18th day of October, 1924, and the property now to be sold on the date, aforesaid, is that part of said personal property which was not sold at said former sale, and consists in part of the stock of merchandise in connection with the store operated by intestate at the time of his death, one filling station, one Bell Thresher, and all the residue of said personal property which was not sold, as aforesaid.

Said sale will be had and conducted ot the home where the said I. P. O, Horton died and where he resided for a number of years prior to his death, and for the purpose of paying debts of intestate.

Luseta Horton,
12 11 2t As Admnistratrix.

For Christmas GIFTS

What would be more appropriate than a

Suite of Furniture or a Perfection Mattress?

WE HAVE THEM

We also have Iron Beds, all shades, Maple and Fiber Rockers, Dining Chairs, Cane Bottom Chairs, Dressers, Wash Stands, Chifforobes, Kitchen Safes, Cook Stoves, Never Rust Ranges and Heaters.

A beautiful line of Ladies' Sweaters will go at remarkably low prices.

Men's and Boys' Suits at wholesale prices. We are closing them out.

Special prices on Men's Heavy Underwear

We are overstocked on Men's and Women's Work Shoes and are offening them at sacrifice prices.

15 Misses and Children's Coats at less than half first cost—they must go.

We are in position to save you money on flour We handle the DempleMilling Co's. lines.

For the Christmas trade we have an unusually heavy line of Fruits and Candies.

In Jewelry we have anything from a Diamond Ring to a stick Pin.

An attractive line of Fancy Box Stationery, that any lady would appreciate as a Christmas gift, is on display.

Please accept our thanks for the business you have given us this year and we trust that you will continue with us in the future. Yours for a Happy Christmas and a Prosperour New Year.

W. E. RIDDLE

Wilsonville, Alabama

A Puzzled Young Man

"Does Santa have hands like other folks, mother?" asked Tommy.

"Yes, dear, of course."

"What do they call him Santa Claws for, then?"—M. B. Thomas.

The Busy Shoppers

The crowds observed during the early part of the Christmas shopping season were evidently getting warmed up for the real fray.

—RADIO AGENCY—

We are distributing agents f The Radiola Line of Radio Equi ment, manufactured by the Rad Corporation of America.

Radiolas represent the lat and most practical achieveme in radio equipment.

We can take your order, deliv and install your set and give y service.

Come in and let us tell you ab Radiolas and quote you pric You will be surprised at the v ues we can offer you.

Jerome Fowler,
Luther Fowler,
Columbiana, Alabama

Basis of Chewing Gum.

Chicle, the crude gum used as base in the manufacture of chew gum, is derived from the sapod trees which grow in the mahog forests. The best quality of ch is produced in the states of Yuc and Campeche in Mexico, in Gu mala and in some parts of Br Honduras.

A Few of the Many Gift Items We Have Ready.

Quality and price stamp them as outstanding values.

Bath Robes
Sweaters
Rain Coats
Over Coats
Kimonos
Pajamas

MEN'S GIFTS

Silk Hose
Kid Gloves
Leather Bill Folders

We Invite You to Come In and See Our Complete Stock of Christmas Merchandise. Gifts For Every Member of the Family; Mothers, Fathers, Brothers and Sisters, at Prices that Will Attract You. We have A FULL LINE OE CHRISTMAS TOYS

For the Busy Shopper

Speed your decisions by viewing our offerings in any of these lines. We fill mail orders same day they are received. Prices are lowest consistent with quality. Come in or write us today.

BOYS' GIFTS TIES, WATCHES
GLOVES

Many Things For Baby
BABY BLANKETS, KNITTED SWEATERS, CAPS TO MATCH, SILK HOSE.

GIRL'S GIFTS
SPORT HOSE
TOILET WATER
FLAPPER COMBS

MAX LEFKOVITS

Shopping Here for Gifts is Real Pleasure

Here are Items which will fit in most every list

TABLE Linen
Bed Spreads
Stationery
Clocks
Towel Sets
Blankets

WOMEN'S GIFTS

Silk Hose in New Shades
Djer Kiss Toilet Water Sets
Silk Underwear

The Busy Corner

THE COLUMBIANA LFADER

THE LARGEST DRY GOODS, CLOTHING AND SHOE STORE BETWEEN BIRMINGHAM AND MONTGOMERY

The Busy Corner

SALESMAN to work farming ...de selling nigh grade line of ...tor oils, paints, etc. Drawing ac...nt and attractive proposition ...r right party. The Lennox Oil Paint Company, Cleveland, Ohio

NOTICE OF PUBLICATION

State of Alabama, Shelby county

In the Circuit Court of Shelby ...unty, Alabama, In Equity.
...s. Maude A. Tumlin, vs. A. F. ...es, et al.
In this cause it is made to ap...r to the Register by affidavit ...R. S. Bingham, as agent for ...h purpose of the Complainant, ...t in the belief of Affiant a cer...n Defendants to the Original ...is a non-resident of the State ...Alabama, that is to say, to-wit: ...t Mrs. A. L. Jackson, residing ...Tallapoosa, Ga.; J. M. Tumlin, ...iding at Covington, Ga; G. W. ...mlin, residing at Covington, Ga.; ...C. Tumlin, residing at Tallapoo... Ga.; Ida J. Mitchell, residing at ...llapoosa, Ga.; Lelia Miller, re...ing at Waco, Ga.; John T. Drew, ...orge W. Drew, and Myrtice ...ew, all residing at Tallapoosa, ...; Bernice Drew, Florine Drew, ...rvey Drew, Hermand Drew, Wil...d and Paul Drew, all residing ...Tallapoosa, Ga.; Mrs. Izora ...ens, residing at Leona, Tenn.; ...s. Della Willingham, residing at ...9 Jarvis Street, Toledo, Ohio; ...d A. F. Estes, of Meriwether ...unty, Georgia.
And, further, that in the belief ...Affiant, the Defendants are ...n the age of Twenty-One years, ...cept that Bernice Drew, Florine ...ew, and Haryey Drew are min...over 14 years of age, and Her...nd Drew, Willard Drew and ...l Drew are minors under 14 ...rs of age.
It is therefore ordered by the ...gister that publication be made ...the Shelby County Reporter, a ...wspaper published in the county ...Shelby, once a week for Four ...secutive weeks, requiring the ...d above named parties to plead, ...swer, or demur to the Bill of ...mplaint in this cause by the 22 ...y of December, 1924, or in Thir... days thereafter a decree pro ...nfesso may be taken against ...m.
Done at office in Columbiana, ...s the 20 day of November, 1924.
27 3t J. M. Leonard, Jr. Register.

BETTER NOT SOW VETCH

County Agent Lauderdale advises that because of the continued drouth it will not be safe for farmers to sow harry vetch seed this season. The only way to be at all sure of a stand now would be to sow in land that is already inoculated, If reasonable care is taken to keep the seed dry, Mr. Lauderdale says, they will be good for next year.

Agood hen properly cared for will produce a profit of 50 per cent or above on the investment. She is the safest buy in the stock market.

Save your flower seeds this Fall and know what you are planting next spring.

A few acres of hay will keep the collectors away.

PARDON NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that I will make application to the Governor of Alabama and the Pardoning Board for pardon or parole. I was convicted at the July Term, 1923. of the Circuit Court of Shelby County, Alabaama, for Distilling and sentenced to the penitentiary for from 2 to four years.

Jasper Carden.

GAS ON STOMACH MAY CAUSE APPENDICITIS

Constant gas causes inflammation which may involve the appendix. Simple glycerine, buckthorn bark, eac., as mixed in Adlerika, helps any case gas on the stomach in TEN minutes. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all gas and poisons. Excellent for obstinate constipation and to guard against appendicitis

Davis Drug Co., Columbiana.
Columbiana Drug Company,
Peoples Drug Co., Calera.

Tutt's Pills

Enable Dyspeptics to eat whatever they wish. Cause food to assimilate. Nourish the body, give appetite.

ENJOY FOOD

BETHEL

Blenard Pitts visited Shelby Saturday,

Mrs. Ida Hughes is visiting her brother John Smith in Columbiana

J. D. Smith of Maylene visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wood of Columbiana were visitors here Sunday.

Mrs. L. P. Mooney and her sons, Howard and A. M., spent Sunday with relatives at Camp Branch.

Calfert Faris, of Birmingham, spent Sunday with home folks.

Perry Steele, Mrs. E. Stinson and Mrs. J. W. Heflin are on the sick list this week.

We regret that Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Henderson are moving to Boaz. Their going will be a loss to our church and community.

R. I. Dyer spent the week end in Ashland.

Mrs. S. A. Crowson and Mrs. Maud Stone of Columbiana, visited relatives here last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Charly Seale on December 2nd, a son,

There will be a pie supper tonight, Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank West. You are welcome.

KINGDOM

Mrs. Luther Crim is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Boaz this week.

Mr. and Mrs, W. B. Crumpton visited Mrs. S. S. Crumpton at Mt Era Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J, W. Usrey of Birmingham, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Riley last week end.

Only two more weeks now till Santa Claus will be around to see the good little boys and girls, LOST:—Bird Dog; Black spot on left eye; speckled body. Collar with Hugh Seal, Birmingham, on it. Liberal reward. J. S. Black, Chesea, Ala. 1t pd.

HARPERSVILLE

The long looked for rain has come at last.

Sammie Elliott spent a few days last week with his little friend, Master Snow at Helena, and says that he had a big time.

Mr. and Mrs, Herbert Baker of Cragford, spent a few days here last week.

Jemmie Slemp says I told you that it would rain before Christmas.

Misses Tommie Pollard and Melba Stone of Mignon visited friends here last week.

R. B. Posey has been appointed Census Enumerator for Beats 10 and 11. There has been seven appointments for the county and they have until the first of February to complete the job.

This census pertains mostly to farms and farm products and the girls will not be reequired to give their ages nor tell when they are going to marry, as it was four years ago.

WILSONVILLE

Several attended the automobile show in Birmingham last week.

Mr. McKinnon of Fourmile was buried in the Wilsonville cemetery last Wednesday,

Mrs. Arthur Bazemore and little son of Demopolis, visited H. E. Smith and family here this week.

Mrs. Jas. Evans visited her daughter, Mrs. Taylor at Columbiana last week.

Dr. Dickens, Mr. Crane and Mr, Dunn motored toSylacauga Friday where Mr. Dunn was operated on.

Miss Effie Strickland left last week forBirmingham to spend some time.

W. T. Taylor was called last week to the bedside of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hart Taylor in North Carolina,

W. H. Pope spent several hours Sunday with his brother, Jim at Fayetteville.

Pears of the Keifer and Magnolia varieties, which are usually considered good for canning purposes only, command a good price on a ready market if ripened properly

Over 600,000 farm boys and girls in the United States in 1923 learned through club work how to beat Dad and Mother at their own business.

Help the children to grow to like their school work and their home work will help itself.

Two or three cows will not stop putting plenty of mik and butter on the table, they will add pork and eggs also.

Turpentine added to the water in which cut glass is washed gives the glass a brilliant polish. Use 1 tablespoonful of turpentine to two quarts of water.

AUCTION SALE

On FRIDAY Dec., 19th

At my home, known as the Cap Robinson place, 3 1-2 miles N. E. of Montevallo on Montevallo-Ashville road one-fourth mile south of Moore Cross road I will sell at Public Auction to highest bidder my household and kitchen furniture, consisting of bed steads; dressers, wash stands, tables, chairs, dining room buffet, kitchen cabinet, hall rack, davenport, and Harvard piano; lot of farming tools, 2 mules, one 5 years old and one 8 years old, practically new 2-horse wagon.

W. O. Pittard

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WORK

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Stopped Her Suffering and Restored Her Health

Momence, Illinois.—"I surely can recommend your medicine to other women who have female weakness, as it has helped me very much in every way possible. I was working in a dining room in town, and sometimes I could not do my work; had pains in the lower part of my body and had to stay in bed. One of my neighbors told me what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for her, and it has surely done wonders for me. I hope all women who suffer will take my advice as the Vegetable Compound has done so much to bring back my vigor and strength."—Mrs. ALBERT E. DESCHAUD, Momence, Illinois.

Over 121,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent. of these replies answer "Yes."

That is 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

The Retort Vindictive

She—Jack has asked me to play tennis with him again this afternoon.

Her Rival—He told me the doctor advised him to exercise with a dumb-bell every day.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

AS SURE AS DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY
HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE
AT ALL DRUG STORES Will Break That Cold and Make You Fit Tomorrow. PRICE 30 CENTS
W. H. HILL CO., DETROIT.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Is an Excellent Tonic for Women and Children. 60c

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

Baby Tortured Day and Night by Eczema

Resinol Stopped Itching and Healed Sick Skin

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 10:—"I thought it might interest you to know how much Resinol has done for my baby. Her face was covered with scabs and the itching was so severe I had to keep stockings on her hands to keep her from scratching. I had to be up at night as it bothered her so she could not sleep. Two doctors, one of them a skin specialist, told me she had eczema.

I tried several remedies, but nothing helped, so when I read in the paper about Resinol, I thought I would give it a trial. I can't praise it enough, for it has done wonders for the baby's skin and she sleeps all through the night now. I would advise anyone with a similar case to try Resinol Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Rose Goersdorf, 27 Furman Avenue.

All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment.

Better Than Pills For Liver Ills

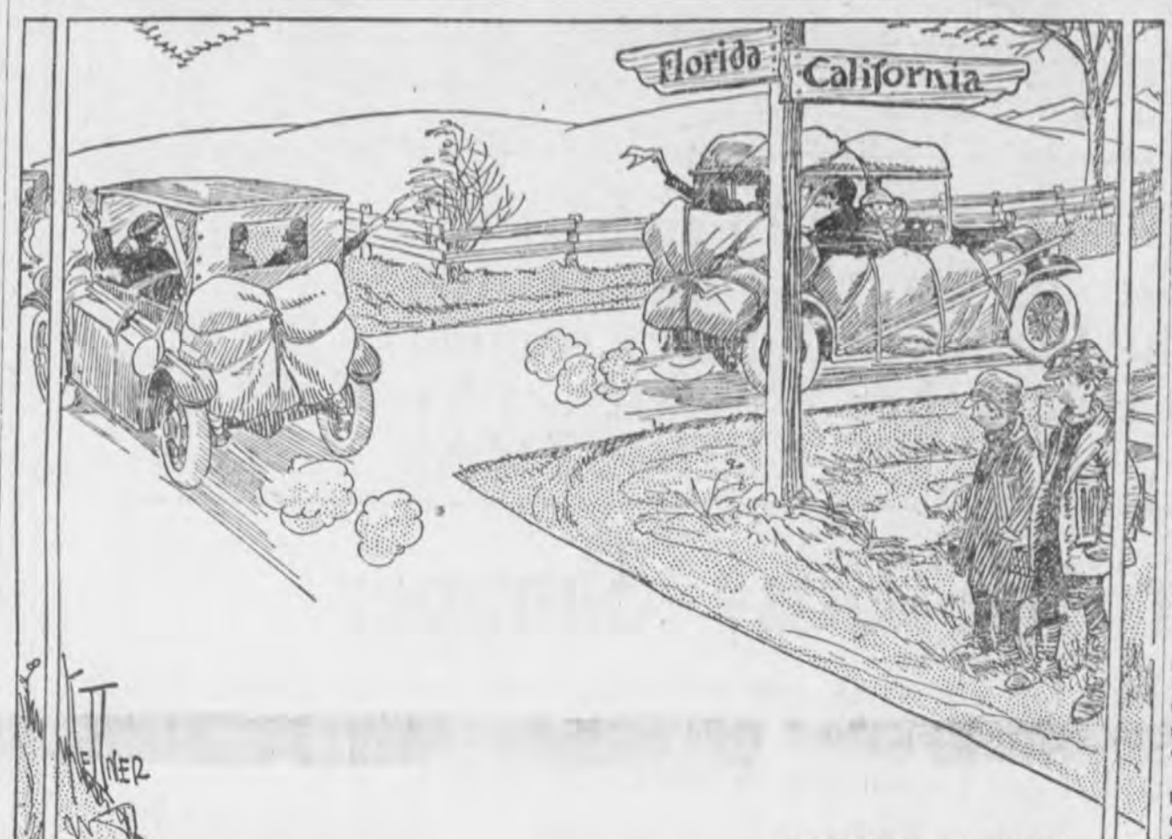
The reason

Gets 25¢ Box

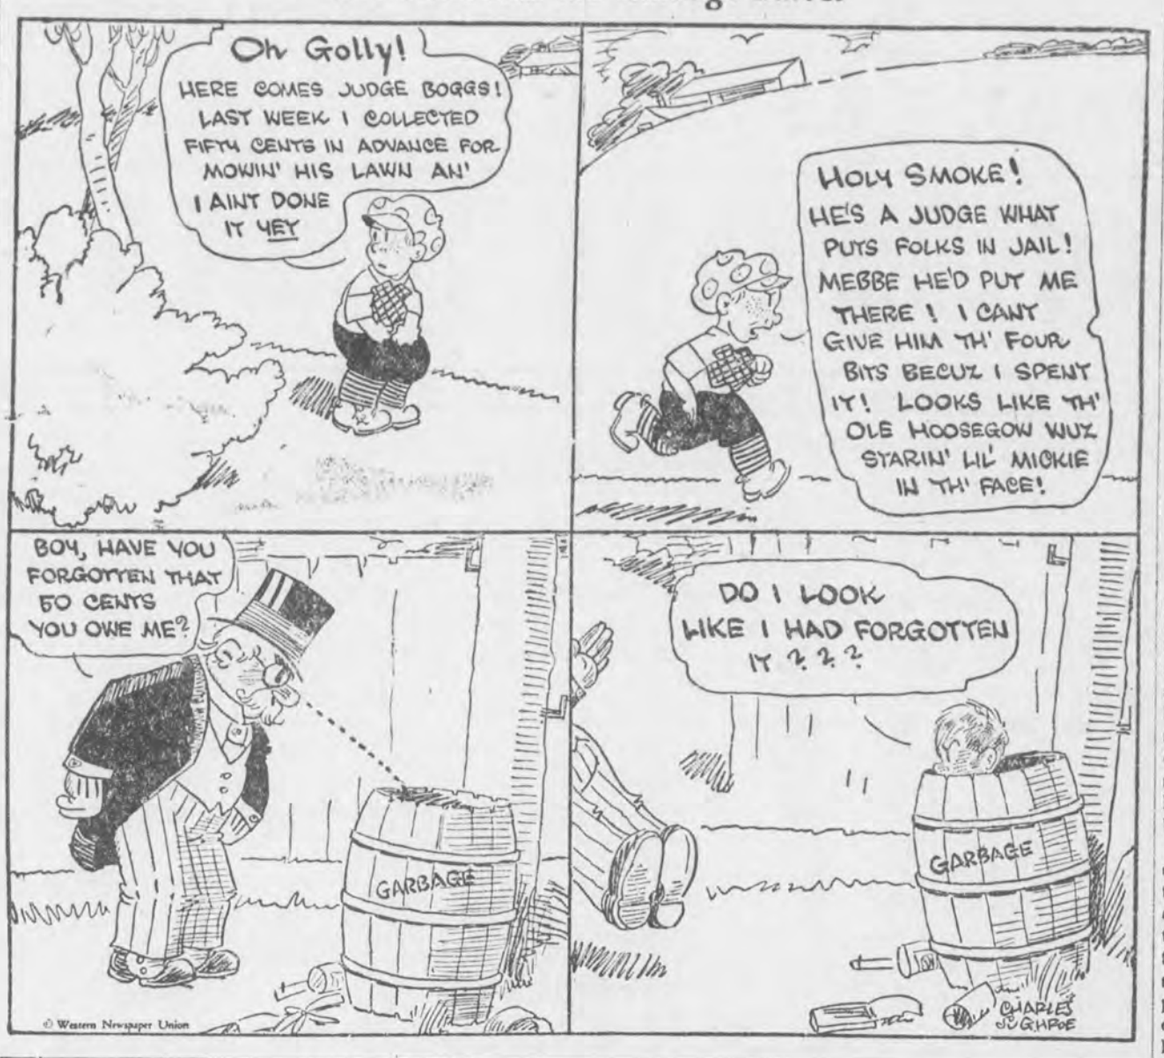
NR Tonight—Tomorrow Alright

OUR COMIC SECTION

Along the Concrete



A Voice From the Garbage Barrel



LUCKY.

How did you come out with your law suit?

I won it.

Get damages?

Sure! I got almost enough to pay my lawyer.

Bread Well Preserved

A loaf of bread said to have been baked in 560 B. C. by an Assyrian housewife or baker has been discovered by a French explorer. The loaf was in excellent condition when found wrapped in a cloth and sealed tightly in a sarcophagus.

TENDENCY.

Why do you think baby will be a politician?

I've noticed he throws the mud instead of making pies of it

HOW TO ADVERTISE.

Why do you formally retire from the stage every summer and return to it every fall?

That makes two press items, old fellow. The chap who merely takes a vacation doesn't get any.

HA, HA

Pup Poet — Want to hear my latest?

Other Pup — No, it's doggerel I expect.

Head and Heart

The head learns new things, but the heart evermore practices old experiences.—Beecher.

OMITTED THE PRETTY ONES.

He—Our hostess was really the most beautiful woman of all present.

She (who was not invited) — I dare say. She took good care to provide for that when she sent out her invitations.

As With Humanity

The vine produces more grapes when it is young, but better grapes for wine when it is old, because its juices are more perfectly concocted.—Bacon.

PA'S IDEA.

Pa, why is it the great writers and poets always refer to peace as "sweet peace?"

I suppose it is because peace should always be preserved, my son.

Forgot She Had $1,100

York, Pa.—While cleaning accumulated rubbish from the home of Catherine Rosenberger, an aged woman, workmen found $1,161 and some small change which the occupant of the house did not know she had. The money was found in stewpots and other containers mixed up with the rubbish. It has been deposited in a bank to the woman's name.

Planning beats a backache.

Breed Chickens Immune From Auto Juggernaut

Bloomsburg, Pa.—"Automobile mortality" as one of the chief sources of loss to poultrymen is being fought by farmers of this region, and two protective steps are being taken. One is the removal of the chicken pens to points far distant from the road, and the other the breeding of birds that have shown, under observation, a readiness to stay on their own side of the road when an automobile comes along. Tests made with nearly 100 flocks of a certain breed revealed only a half dozen chickens which went across the road. With other breeds, there were less than a half dozen of entire flocks along the road which did not try to cross. Some of the farmers are not slow to realize the difference and are turning to those breeds which "stay put" and avoid the heavy losses caused by automobiles

The KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

These menus are to be followed only as suggestions, as each family has its own particular needs and one is not always able to obtain some of the foods in every market. We may substitute the available foods often to good advantage.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Grapes, cream of wheat, top milk, egg, toast, coffee. Dinner: Pork tenderloin, apple rings (fried), creamed onions, pumpkin pie. Supper: Popcorn, top milk, lemon layer cake.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Grapes, puffed wheat, graham toast, marmalade, coffee. Dinner: Roast of veal with dressing, spinach salad. Supper: Corn soup, Waldorf salad, rolls, tea.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Grapefruit, sausages, creamed potatoes, rolls. Dinner: Liver and bacon, baked potatoes, cabbage salad, apple pie. Supper: Scalloped potatoes, cold roast, bread and butter, cup cakes.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Baked apples, creamed eggs, graham muffins. Dinner: Rib roast of beef, buttered carrots, baked squash. Supper: Stuffed peppers, Parker House rolls, canned fruit, cookies.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Bananas and cream with oatmeal, toast. Dinner: Baked hash with mashed potatoes, lettuce, raisin pie. Supper: Tomato soup, French toast, whipped cream, cake.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Orange, omelet, griddle cakes. Dinner: Creamed codfish, baked potatoes, cherry pie. Supper: Escalloped oysters, cole slaw.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Stewed prunes, ham and eggs, toast. Dinner: Broiled beefsteak, mashed potatoes, creamed lima beans, lemon jelly. Supper: Bean soup, steamed brown bread, cottage cheese.

Waldorf Salad.

Cut into dice equal parts of celery, and apple, add any desired dressing and a few coarsely chopped nuts. Serve on lettuce.

The stars are with the voyager
Wherever he may sail;
Tho moon is constant in her time,
The sun will never fail;
But follow, follow round the world,
The green earth and the sea;
So love is with the lover's heart
Wherever he may be.

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON

For a hot dish at night after a chilly ride try the two following recipes:

Hot Chicken Salad. — Mix one pint of chicken, cut in cubes, with one cupful of cooked peas, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of onion juice, one pimento, cut into squares, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, and set aside one hour to season. Make a sauce of one-quarter of a cupful of butter, one-quarter cupful of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt, a cupful each of cream and chicken broth. Add the seasoned ingredients and let stand over hot water to become very hot. This is good served from the chafing dish.

Deviled Oysters.—Cream an ounce of butter (two tablespoonfuls) with two tablespoonfuls of grated hard cheese (Parmesan) and mix with one tablespoonful of flour. Stir the mixture into one-half cupful of hot cream and cook, until thick, in a small saucepan. Add six mushrooms, broiled and chopped, one tablespoonful of grated horseradish, one pint of oysters, and stir over the heat until the gills crinkle. Add one teaspoonful of tabasco sauce and serve at once on hot toast. Lessen the amount of sauce if hot foods are not agreeable.

Mother's Oyster Soup.—Place one quart of oysters and liquor in a saucepan and cook gently for five minutes; strain and return the liquor to the saucepan. Bring to a boil and skim. Beat one egg and add one pint of milk slowly, mix well, add the oyster liquor and bring to the scalding point. Meanwhile cream together two tablespoonfuls of flour and the same of butter, thin with a little cold milk, and add to the hot mixture; stir and cook; add the oysters, salt and pepper and serve at once.

Raisin and Green Pepper Salad.—Boil one-half cupful of raisins until plump and soft, arrange on a bed of Chinese cabbage with shredded green peppers. Serve with:

Thousand Island Salad Dressing.—Beat one-half cupful of olive oil into one cupful of mayonnaise dressing, add a teaspoonful of vinegar, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of pimentoes, one teaspoonful of green pepper, one teaspoonful of olives, all three chopped. Mix all the ingredients thoroughly, then beat in gradually one-half cupful of chili sauce. This will keep, if kept in a cold place for a long time.

Grandmother's Date Cake.—Into a mixing bowl put half of a cupful of soft butter, two and two-thirds cupfuls of brown sugar, four eggs, one cupful of milk, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, five teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg and one pound of dates cut into pieces. Bake in a tube pan.

Nellie Maxwell

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

The High Cost of Postponing Permanent Highway Building

Poor motor roads stifle industry and agriculture; waste huge sums annually in high maintenance costs, and greatly increase gasoline, tire and repair bills.

There is not a state, not a county, not a community, that isn't paying a heavy price for having too few permanent roads.

There are still many sections of the country—even whole states—that are trying to operate twentieth century traffic over nineteenth century roads.

This is costing millions of dollars every year, and will keep on costing millions until we have well developed permanent highway systems everywhere.

Even what we often call the more progressive communities are far behind the demands of modern highway traffic with its 16,000,000 motor vehicles.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Canada to Mexico, we need more Concrete roads—the roads for twentieth century traffic.

Your highway officials want to be of the greatest possible service to you. Get behind them with ways and means that will provide more Concrete roads and streets. Such an investment will pay you big dividends year after year.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
111 West Washington Street
CHICAGO
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete
Offices in 29 Cities

BUY DIRECT FROM FACTORY $12 Save 1/2
Postage prepaid anywhere in U. S. A.

The very low price of this marvelous ORADO Loud Speaker is made possible because it is shipped to you direct from factory.

Mail check or money order to ORADO CORPORATION, Dept. A
51 East 42nd St. New York City, N. Y.

Her Fortune

"Betty's face is her fortune."

"Well, at any rate, I see it draws a lot of interest."—From Everybody's Magazine.

The Cuticura Toilet Trio.

Having cleared your skin keep it clear by making Cuticura your everyday toilet preparations. The Soap to cleanse and purify, the Ointment to soothe and heal, the Talcum to powder and perfume. No toilet table is complete without them.—Advertisement.

Which do you like best—to be slapped on the back or whispered in the ear?

COLDS! Relieved in Three Minutes

Make this test? Take just one spoonful of Cheney's and notice the quick results. You can feel even the most stubborn chest cold loosen right up when you use this quick, safe and dependable remedy. Trial pocket size costs only few cents, and you wouldn't trade the relief it gives you for any price.

for Coughs, Croup, Colds
CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT
Quick and Dependable

We Pay More for Furs

We are always in the market and pay top prices. Honest grading and prompt payment. Satisfaction guaranteed—your furs returned if you are not satisfied. Write for prices and tags. One shipment—and then you will always ship to

H. WAINER & CO.
New Orleans, La.

CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED—10c A BOX

Dizzy, Headachy or Stomach Is Sour, Clean the Bowels.

To clean your bowels without cramping or overacting, take "Cascarets." Sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, gases, indigestion, sour upset stomach and all such misery gone by morning. Nicest laxative and cathartic on earth for grown-ups and children. 10c a box—all drug stores.

Which Class Are You In?

DOCTORS know that eight out of ten people are suffering from Anemia—blood starvation. And the first result of Anemia is lack of energy—lessening vitality.

The test above will show you if you are one of the eight. Press the thumbnail firmly . . . unless the blood comes rushing back rich and red, it indicates Anemia.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan has been restoring and rebuilding the health of run down bodies for thirty-two years. Easily assimilated by the blood, it supplies the cells with the iron and manganese they lack.

Thousands of physicians prescribe it. In liquid or tablet form at your druggist.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Tonic and Blood Enricher

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

Football in Canaries

Football is supplanting bull fighting in the Canary Islands, and a project is under way at Tenerife to replace the old ring, that was destroyed by fire, by a stadium with grandstand seating capacity of 15,000.

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Safe Tablets Without Fear If You Observe the Safety "Bayer Cross."

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years. Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

Experience

"What animal makes the nearest approach to man?" "The flea," timidly replied Willie.

For 78 Years

Many have used Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Sores, Mosquito Bites, Bee Stings, etc. 3 sizes.—Adv.

Philosophy works slower and feebler than overcoming the blues than artificial circulation.

There is a mode in plays as well as clothes.

Don't Grow Old!

Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic builds up men and women who are run down, prematurely aged or undernourished. Tones every organ. Makes rich, red blood.
For Constipation Use Munyon's Paw Paw Pills
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

MUNYON'S PAW PAW TONIC
Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded
MUNYON'S • Scranton, Pa.

OVERSTOCKED!
$3.95 Combination Coats
For Men, Women, Children
Any Size
May be worn as Top or Raincoat
SEND ONLY 50c
Your name, address, kind of coat wanted and size. When coat arrives pay your postman balance—unless amount is sent with order.
AGENTS WANTED
Write for free particulars how to make big money during spare time.
JACKSON RAINCOAT CO.
Dept. B, 720 Roosevelt Rd., Chicago

TOURING in SPAIN

Moorish Mosque at Cordova.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

Spain, whose sons once dominated Europe and through their language and civilization dominated much of the western world, has not yet been spoiled by the tourist. Cut off from the rest of Europe by the Pyrenees and the sea—forming, in fact, a detached bit of Africa—Spain has gone on through the centuries preserving countless ancient traits which give her life and people a peculiar stamp.

Nowhere else does the past, with its great warnings against pride, intolerance, and extravagance, so impress even the casual passer-by. Journeying into Spain from France, the traveler is promptly notified by a change of gauge at the frontier that even the railroads in Spain are different. Their gauge is over a foot wider than that of central Europe and of America; so passengers must change cars and freight be trans-shipped. This wide gauge is a great advantage, and American railroad men sigh for it. It enables more powerful locomotives and more capacious cars to be used, though the Spaniards have not yet risen entirely to their opportunities.

Travelers who know a little Spanish and have learned by experience in other lands that the genuine people, whom one comes to know, travel third-class, go in with them, regardless of bare wooden seats and crowded quarters. One can be very comfortable with a rug or two; and, instead of sophisticated French-speaking travelers, one has as neighbor an intelligent Castilian farmer, who uses an American harvester, and who laments Spain's illiteracy and official corruption as the chief cause of her troubles; or it may be a Barcelona commercial traveler, who lays Spain's ills—which all admit, saying, "Pobre Espana!" (poor Spain)—to her highly centralized administration, which taxes the whole country, and especially rich and populous Catalonia, for Madrid officeholders.

The ancient divisions of Spain, for centuries independent and often hostile countries, still hold somewhat aloof from each other. The Catalans even speak a different language, allied to Provencal, as different from Castilian as Dutch is from English.

Barcelona Is Attractive.

As one comes from the north, the first important town is Gerona, memorable for the heroic defense against the French a century ago.

Barcelona, Spain's largest and busiest city, is a most attractive place, possessing the best climate in the western Mediterranean—more equable than that of Nice. A stroll along the Rambla, the chief boulevard, is full of interest. One can take a delightful ride on the top of a double-decked trolley car to the Tibidabo, a pine-covered hill overlooking the city and its magnificent barbor.

A few miles down the coast is Tarragona, whose stately aqueduct is a reminder that she was the chief city of Roman Spain. A few hours further south lies Tortosa, on the Ebro, the only large river in Spain emptying into the Mediterranean. Its waters are largely diverted into irrigation canals, which make the fields and gardens a delight to the eye; and the combination of date palms and waving wheat shows what a variety of products the country produces. One can still see on the streets huge jars which remind one of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, and in the wine stores wine is sold in pig-skins which give it a taste much like that of the dilute spruce gum into which wine degenerates in Greece.

Turning inland one is soon met by the strangely toothed ridge of the Montserrat (about 4,000 feet high), the traditional home of the Holy Grail. Now the train labors up to the bleak highlands of Castile, bare and forbidding. Central Spain is a high plateau, crossed by rugged mountains, scorched in summer and frozen stiff in winter.

Here and there shepherds accompany their heavy-fleeced merinos, which nibble even as they cross plowed land. The good-natured herdsmen, with their rough coats and skin trousers, have not much changed since Don Quixote's day.

Madrid and Toledo.

Madrid is a well-built, modern city with busy offices and bustling trolley cars. It depends upon the government, tourists, and society for its subsistence. Its picture gallery, in the Prado, is the peer of any in the world, and must be visited by students of Titian, whose paintings here preserved rival those of Velasquez.

A greater attraction to the populace is the huge bull ring, seating nearly 15,000. On Sunday afternoons a gay throng gathers there; the bull-fighters march out in their brilliant costumes, and the ceremony of slaying the bull begins. It is almost a ritual, and every detail must be punctiliously observed.

Not far from Madrid lies Toledo, the ancient Visigothic capital. The Tagus flows about it in a deep gorge on almost every side. High above the old mills looms the Alcazar, the one-time castle, now a military school. Toledo is a fascinating city, with narrow, winding streets, and shops where one can still buy Toledo blades, tempered in the Tagus, and inlaid with gold.

At Cordova one enters southern Spain, with its highways bordered with aloes and prickly pear (both American importations, like tobacco, maize, and potatoes), and its groves of olive trees. A thousand years ago Cordova was the intellectual and artistic center of western Europe; its university drew students from everywhere, and its products, especially leather (cordwain, i. e., Cordovan), were famous. Today its narrow and sunny streets, with their picturesque churches, seem deserted; but the cathedral chapter has preserved one memorial of past magnificence in the Moorish mosque, the greatest Mohammedan building west of Mecca.

The mosque itself is a forest of pillars, which divide the huge, low building into a score of naves. There are over 900 of these columns; some were sent here from the East, mates, perhaps, of those sent at the time of Charlemagne for his palace at Aix-la-Chapelle. Those were the days of Haroun-al-Raschid and the Arabian Nights; but the splendor of Cordova rivaled that of Bagdad. Abderrahman's wonderful palace—far more sumptuous than the Alhambra, to judge from the descriptions of the Arabic historians—has perished utterly; but the milhrabs, or prayer niches, in the mosque give some idea of the beauty of Cordova at the height of her glory.

Romance of Granada.

Granada, long a decaying provincial city, is now alive with trolley cars and electric lights, and tourists are so common here that the small boys have even learned a few English words with which to coax away small coin. But the herds of goats, and an occasional cow—an economical milk delivery system—give a pastoral touch to the town.

Granada lies at the point where the Darro and the Xenil, running down from the mountains, unite as they enter the fertile plain of the Vega. Above the city rise the foothills—one crowned by the Alhambra—and beyond them the snow-capped ridges of the Sierra Nevada, 10,000 feet higher. Granada has, therefore, a singularly beautiful situation, and it enjoys a mild and agreeable climate. The romantic interest of its history completes the spell. Here was the last Saracen court in western Europe; here Isabella of Castile, with the money loaned her by a Spanish Jew, financed the Genoese adventurer's foolhardy quest; here Ferdinand and she, in that same momentous year of 1492, decreed the explusion of the Jews from Spain; and here their ashes now repose, in the great Renaissance cathedral which they built in gratitude for their triumph over Islam.

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Greatest Fort on American Soil

To Virginia, the "Mother of Presidents," goes the honor of having upon her soil the greatest and most important fortification in the United States. It is Fortress Monroe at Old Point Comfort at the mouth of the James river and it bears the name of one of Virginia's sons, James Monroe, fifth President of the United States.

Fortress Monroe was begun in 1817 and was built primarily as a defense for the navy yard at Norfolk. It was designed by Gen. Simon Bernard, a famous French engineer who had served under Napoleon and who held a commission in the American army from 1816 to 1831. With an area of 80 acres surrounded by a moat from 75 to 150 feet wide and filled with seawater from 8 to 15 feet deep, Fortress Monroe was believed to be practically impregnable to a land attack.

In 1818 Virginia ceded this stronghold to the federal government, little realizing that half a century later it would be the strongest threat of the federal government against her sovereignty during the Civil war. Although the Confederates seized the Norfolk navy yard at the outbreak of the war, the Stars and Stripes remained over Fortress Monroe and it gave to the Union forces command of the important waterway, Hampton Roads.

During the Civil war Fortress Monroe saw many a historic event. There Gen. B. F. Butler, its commander, struck the first blow at slavery by ruling that slaves who came to him seeking their freedom were "contraband of war," and setting them to work strengthening the fort. Under its walls the iron-clad Merrimac, or the Virginia, as the Confederates called her, destroyed the Cumberland and the Congress and the next day engaged in the terrific combat with the "little cheesebox on a raft, Ericsson's Monitor, a vessel which revolutionized naval warfare.

There, too, was played the last act in the drama of the Lost Cause when Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, entered the gates of Fortress Monroe as a prisoner of war, his dream of a separate nation broken, and for two years paced a cell within its walls.

Fortress Monroe had a part in one more great conflict, for when the United States entered the World war, many of the men who commanded her artillery and gave such a good account of themselves "over there" had received their training at the artillery school which the War department maintains at this historic fortress.

The Scene of a Farcical Failure

In the history of the Civil war, Fort Fisher is best remembered perhaps because of the farcical failure of a plan to capture it, made by Gen. B. F. Butler, the most maligned (whether rightly or wrongly, history has not yet determined) Union leader in the war. It might better be remembered for the brilliant attack led by Gen. Alfred H. Terry which did capture it a year later and the gallant defense made by the men in gray who held it.

In 1864 the Union leaders determined to close the port of Wilmington, N. C., the haunt of the most successful Southern blockade runners. Wilmington was guarded by Fort Fisher, which the Confederates built at one of the entrances of the Cape Fear river. It was one of the strongest forts in the South, with parapets 25 feet thick and 20 feet high, upon which were mounted 44 heavy guns. It was held by Col. W. Lamb and 1,400 men.

Late in December Admiral David Porter with a fleet of 150 vessels, the largest that had ever sailed under the American flag, appeared before the fort. Accompanying this fleet were 3,000 soldiers commanded by General Butler who was to make a land attack while Porter bombarded the fort from the sea. As a preliminary to the attack Butler conceived the idea of sending a vessel, the old steamer Louisiana, loaded with more than 200 tons of gunpowder to be exploded under its walls and dismantle its guns.

The charge was set off about 2 o'clock in the morning. It was a miserable failure, however, for the explosion not only did no damage but it is said to have scarcely disturbed the garrison. After bombarding the fort for two days, the Union forces saw that a land attack would be futile and Porter sailed away

On January 13, 1865, another attempt was made against Fort Fisher. Again the naval attack, although it killed 200 of the fort's defenders, failed to reduce it. But the land attack led by Gen. Alfred H. Terry was more successful. His army of 8,000 succeeded in capturing the fort after one of the most brilliant assaults of the war which was resisted with equal gallantry by the Confederates. The Southern loss was 500 killed and wounded; the Union, 266 killed and 1,075 wounded and missing.

The fall of Wilmington followed the capture of Fort Fisher and the closing of that port cut off the supplies which the Confederacy had been obtaining by its blockade runners. Starvation faced the South and three months later her ragged hosts laid down their arms.

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds Headache Neuralgia Lumbago
Pain Toothache Neuritis Rheumatism

Safe — Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.
Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets
Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

No Bureau of Information

Wife (disappointedly)—Tom, you never seem to be able to answer my questions.

Hub—Well, instead of marrying me you should have bought an encyclopedia.

Non-Attendance Record

"Any luck on your fishing trip, old man?"

"Very little. If fish go in schools they always seem to be playing truant or having a holiday when I go after them."—Houston Post.

CHILDREN CRY FOR

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is especially prepared to relieve Infants in arms and Children all ages of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and, by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Absolutely Harmless - No Opiates. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

The Tool Required

"My dear, these cakes are hard as stone!"

"I know. Didn't you hear her say, 'Take your pick,' when she handed them round?"

Granulated eyelids, sties, inflamed eyes relieved overnight by Roman Eye Balsam. One trial convinces. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Caused by Coryza

"How did you happen to say that Blank is worth a billion?"

"I meant a 'mfillion,' but I had a cold in my head."

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Let Cuticura Soap Keep Your Skin Fresh and Youthful

Sample Soap, Ointment, Talcum free. Address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass.

SALESMAN WANTED
With automobile, to call on the agricultural trade. Previous experience unnecessary, as district manager will school. The Lennox Oil & Paint Co., Dept. Sales, Cleveland, Ohio.

CROSS-WORD GAME FOR TEN PERSONS. Directions with each game. CROSS-WORD GAME DISTRIBUTORS, BUTLER, PA.

Buy Concord Yarns
direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

!!! GUD LUK !!!

Are you getting your share! If not send for our genuine good luck KING TUT RING. $1.50 value. Introductory offer 50c if you show it to your friends. For size, cut strip of paper that meets end to end around finger. Send at once. Box 1248, Chicago, Ill.

W. N. U., BIRMINGHAM, NO. 50-1924.

Her Idea

"I was in court today when a lady lost her suit, and—" began Farmer Fumblegate, upon his return from the county seat.

"And I s'pose you set right there and watched her till they put you out, you shameless critter?" cried his wife.—Kansas City Star.

Responsibilities

Gypperdale—So you've finally decided to go to work?

Slickerbilt—Yes, I've got to support my used car in the style to which it's been accustomed.—Life.

There are so few people with poise that they manage all the rest.

ALLEN'S PRINCESS RANGES
COPPER IRON BEARING

MADE of the famous rust-resisting Copper-Bearing Iron—tested for over a quarter of a century—Nearly a million in use—your neighbor or someone near you uses one—known and sold everywhere.

There is an Allen Dealer near you—in your town or close by. Write us for catalog and where they may be bought.

ALLEN MANUFACTURING COMPANY
NASHVILLE :-: :-: :-: TENNESSEE

GIFTS FOR EVERYBODY

Remember Your Friends - Santa's Headquarters

Save 10 Per Cent to 40 Per Cent. Spend Your Christmas Money WISELY

FARMERS EXCHANGE

COLUMBIANA, - - ALABAMA

For Women

Belts, Vanity Bags, Beads,
Handkerchiefs, Gloves, Hose,
Bed Room Slippers, Dishes, Vases

For Men

Hose, Belts, Garters,
Shirts, Ties, Sweaters
Handkerchiefs, Over Coats

Red Goose Shoes
ARE THE BEST

Smokeless Shells 95c
Black Powder Shells 75c

For the Children: Books, Dolls, Wagons, Toys of every kind. Teachers: We will give special discount on all Toys for school or Sunday school trees and classes.

Nelson Family Has Delightful Reunion

November 27, proved to be a pleasant day in the history of the Nelson faamily. It was Mr. H. W. Nelson's 70th birthday and all his eight children were present to eat Thanksgiving dinner with him, with the exception of one son in Texas,

Just a quiet family affair, but one of those sweet and wholesome ones which last far into the lives of people towards happiness.

Mr. Nelson was born and reared in Columbiana and is a direct decendent of the early founders of the city. He has long served his community as a staunch citizen and business man. At one time he served a term as sheriff of the county.

There were twenty-eight present to wish him "many happy returns of the day," as follows:

Mrs. J. W. Haygood, Mrs. J. S, Nicholson and son from Montgomey, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wilkins and family, Belle Ellen; Mr. and Mrs, W. H. Nelson and family, Gantts Quarry; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ambrose and family, Wilton; Mr. and Mrs. A. A, Holman and family, Mrs. Pauline Bird and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Nelson, Columbiana.

Silver Wedding

Friends of Rev. and Mrs. T. K, Roberts in all parts of the state joined their friends in Columbiana Friday in a silver shower in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

It was a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and a substantial token of the love and esteem in which they are held.

A note of appreciation from Brother Tom will be published next week.

SALESMEN

Will guarantee salary $50,00 per week and furnish automobile to several men selling excellent Ford accessory, Address Salesmanager, Box 106A, Granville, Ohio.

Grist Mill Burned

J. M. Looney's new grist mill located just back of the Leo Friedberger home was destroyed by fire Friday night of last week. Coming while the drouth was still on this fire emphasized the need of Columbiana for a more abundant water supply.

W. H. Pope, merchant of Wilsonville, was in Columbiana last Wednesday.

Mr, and Mrs. Homer Jackson of Birmingham, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. P. McGhee first of the week.

Mrs. Mary E. Mason will return Friday from a visit with relatives in Birmingham. She will be accompanied by Mrs. D. R. McMillan.

D. G. Kimbrough of Harpersville, was a visitor to the Reporter Wednesday. He reports progress on the consolidated school movedent.

The Reporter sent a new Founten Pen to Miss Alma Lovelady, Underwood, and another to Miss Clyde Baker, Harpersville, this week. These young ladies each sent in three new subscriptions.

School Progress In Talladega County

During the past four years much progress has been made. The county has been given a school system that compares favorably with the best in the state. The people responded to the leadership of the board in educational matters, and have willingly voted taxes, both local and county, for the erection and maintenance of moden schools. More than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars have been spent in the erection of rural school buildings. All over the county the people have vied with each other in erecting and equipping school buildings so that now only a few communities remain without increased school facilities. These will soon take their paces in the ranks of the more progressive communities of the county and permit their children to come into that heritage which belongs to every American citizen equal opportunity to fit one's self for life.

Gift Glints

By Gertrude Walton

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

CHILDREN like to own and use gifts like mother or father. Small girls like to wear a dainty morning cap or an apron to tie around as mother does; or a kimono; oversleeves; small bath towels or towels to place around their shoulders during hair combing; a brush, comb, mirror; a workbasket and embroidery outfit with stencils will delight any small daughter; as will a box of clothespins and clothes line for her dolls' washing; or a small cookbook with simple recipes; a box and files in which to keep recipes; paper flowers, ready to make; a calendar; sanitary dustcloth; small carpet sweeper; remnants for making doll clothes or other handwork such as doll's tablecloth. A flowering plant will please a little miss as will flower seeds and bulbs for her to plant; small manicure sets; wall pockets for her room.

Boys have use for large needles, paper for kites, bags of marbles, string, camping set of aluminum, tin plate, fork, spoon and skillet; pails; tools, boards and lath to make into animal traps; bird houses and houses for pets. Boys will appreciate bright clothes hangers with their names on; small umbrella, rubber boots, raincoat, bathrobe, army blanket, initial handkerchiefs, clothes brush, tie holders and pins with their birthstones, ball and bat, punching bag, skates, football; small garden tools will tempt a lad into the garden and lawn work; or a shoe holder to use when putting his shoes away.

Any child will appreciate a box or trunk with lock and key, a sandbox, sailboats to sail in a pan, materials for framing pictures, small kodak, books on how to feed birds in winter, materials for making food shelters, fountain, etc., for birds; small tennis racquet with balls, indoor table games guns for shooting at marks, skewers for toasting marshmallows.

Live pets are useful for teaching children kindness and responsibility in caring for them.

One of the most useful gifts for children at home is a low table large enough for them to work on, with low chairs to sit upon. A blackboard saves paper and serves for jolly games aside from drawing and lessons.

Acknowledging Our Presents

By Ethel Cook Eliot

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

YES, we all know the Christmas spirit. It dominates us for weeks before Christmas and most of Christmas day. Then comes Christmas night—and tomorrow.

The glamor and expectancy has gone now. Christmas is just exactly twelve months away—around at the other end of the year. Never are we farther from Christmas than the morning after; for on no other day in the year is it just twelve months off.

Well, what is one to do about it. There is still the white wrapping paper, the tissue, the red ribbons, the gold and silver cord. There are still the presents of all the family; each member has gathered his into a corner for display. All this must be tidied up; the house set to rights.

And next, well next come all the thank-you letters, and the Christmas spirit is twelve months away from us!

How many of us sit down with a smile, as well as a will to acknowledge our Christmas presents. With most, I'm afraid it's only a will. Our jaws are set. We'll get them all done up promptly this year or perish in the attempt!

At least that was my way of old. But now I've found a new one, and it gives the day after Christmas almost the glow and glamor of Christmas. It is very simple.

As I undid the presents I listed them in a little book. There's no confusion in my mind about who gave what. That's the first stone out of the path. Then as I write each letter I think of the one to whom it is going, never of all the other letters waiting. I pretend I have dropped in for a little visit on this friend or relative. And I write just the first words I would say had I just dropped in at their doors to thank them for their presents. Then I end with a "Happy New Year," and in at the next door I pop.

When those letters are done and stuck up outside in a neat white pile behind the letter-holder of our letter box, I have more than a sense of accomplishment and easy conscience. Much more! I am refreshed. There's a glow at my heart—yes, a glow as warm as any that Christmas gives. I have just looked into the eyes of many distant friends.

"Sunshine"

High School Auditorium, Dec.

On December 19, the Dramatic Club of Shelby County School will present "Sunshine" a comedy with music, written Hare. If you are blue, let Buddy Brady tell you how to find su in the darkest clouds; if you are ill, let Nurse Gregory pres new tonic for you instead of yourold "old home brew;" if y grouchy and illtempered, let Mr. Butternip show you how to the evil spirits. You cannot afford to miss the smiles of "Sun Buy your ticket early and get a chance on a new Ford touri to be given away the night of Decerber 19, at 8:00 o'clock School auditorium.

CAST OF CHARACTERS FOR "SUNSHINE."

Mrs. Bunch McCain ---------- Christine Sa
Maudelia McCann ---------- Ruth
Mrs. Sol Whipple ---------- Louis
Miss Tessie Mitford, the metal card ---------- Alleen
Mr. Juba K. Butternip ---------- Sam H
Miss Gregory, the nurse ---------- Vera Mae
Buddy Brady ---------- Mr
Major Kellicott ---------- Edgar
Jim Anthony ---------- Robert S
Sylvia Deane ---------- Adavee
Mary "Sunshine" ---------- Tony Ch
Prologue ---------- Mamie Mi

Chorus Girls: Myrtle Seals, Jimmie Polk, Leslie Polk, Northrup, Elna Duke, Inza Davis, Clarice Lester, Dorothy Alice Bird, and Emmie Pitts.

Soloist ---------- Mrs. W. W,
Violin:—Mrs. W. L. Longshore, Mrs. L. L. Saxon, Mrs. W. T, Louis Averyt and Leslie Polk.
Director ---------- Mrs, P. C

UNION

This community enjoyed a good rain Sunday night and Monday.

Morris Green of Sellers was in our midst Saturday night.

J. Reed Smith and family of Cullman county visited relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. N. J. Green who has been living at Sellers, has moved back to her home here. We are glad to welcome her back in our midst.

Mr. Wood has started a milk truck. He made a trip to Birmingham Saturday. We are glad to see the dairy business begin to pick up in our community.

J. T. McEwen of Fourmile, visited the family of B. H. Sunday.

J. W. Moore won't let turkey pick his eyes out, of I mean a gobbler,

J. W. Shaw went to Chels urday.

Have you attended the put on by H. E. Archer o over? You will miss some bargains if you fail to co

R. B,Posey is to take th enumeration of this beat so in the near future.

R, J. Ray, and J. J. C Wilsonville, went to Birm Tuesday

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year.

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, DECEMBER 18, 1924.

Vol. 81. No. 47.

Circuit Clerk

Christmas Exercises At Mt. Era

The teachers of Mt. Era school assisted by the ladies of the community are planning an interesting Christmas exercise to be given at the school house on Wednesday night, December 24th, Christmas Eve.

Beginning at 6:00 o'clock they will hold a bazaar at which a variety of articles suitable for Christmas gifts will be offered for sale. At 7:30 there will be a Christmas tree and an appropriate Christmas program will be given by pupils of the school.

An admission charge of 15 and 25 cents will be made and all funds will be used for the benefit of the school.

State W. M. U. Worker Coming to Antioch

Mrs. J. T. Inglett, state W. M. U. worker, will lecture at Antioch church on Sunday afternoon, December 21st, at 2:30 o'clock. Ladies please come and lets organize our W. M. U.

Mrs. A. C. Naish.

Thanks

The officers and lembers of the Harpersville School Improvement association wish to thank the faculty and citizens of Columbiana for the hearty co-operation, support and hospitality shown them Friday night. Secretary.

WANTED FRESH COWS:—If you have good milk cows that are fresh, for sale, see or write J. P. Montgomery, Columbiana, Ala. 1t

Farmers' Meeting at McGowan Friday Night

J. M. Lyon, director of the Farm Bureau has called a meeting of the members of the farm bureau in his community to place orders for fertilizer for 1925. The meeting will be held at McGowan school house Friday night ,December 19. Members and prospective members are urged to come.

Christmas Program

The following program will be given at the Baptist church in Columbiana Sunday night by the members of the Sunbeam Band and the Intermediate B. Y. P. U., beginning at 7 o'clock.

Topic: Christmas Everywhere.

Prayer.

Christmas Telephone, Grace Stuckey.

The Christmas Story that Never Grows Old:—8 boys.

Tiptoe Song:—All Sunbeams.

Who Can Guess:—Nine Sunbeams.

The Bethlehem Star:—Nine Girls.

Song:—Myra Acker.

Christmas Eve in Star Town:—A Christmas Fantasy for Sunbeams

When the Star Shone:—By all Sunbeams and Intermediate B. Y. P. U. with songs and special music.

Every body bring a love gift.

Benediction.

FOR SALE: Residence lot, 60 feet front, 440 feet deep, inside measure, located on Main street, in Columbiana, facing East. One of the most desirable residence lots in town. Price $300 cash. W. W. Allbright, Columbiana, Ala. 1t.

"SUNSHINE"

High School Auditorium Dec. 19th

On December 19, the Dramatic Club of Shelby County High School will present "Sunshine" a comedy with music, written by Ben Hare. If you are blue, let Buddy Brady tell you how to find sunshine in the darkest clouds; if you are ill, let Nurse Gregory prescribe a new tonic for you instead of yourold "old home brew;" if you are grouchy and illtempered, let Mr. Butternip show you how to dispel the evil spirits. You cannot afford to miss the smiles of "Sunshine," Buy your ticket early and get a chance on a new Ford touring car to be given away the night of Decerber 19, at 8:00 o'clock, High School auditorium.

CAST OF CHARACTERS FOR "SUNSHINE."

Mary "Sunshine" ---------- Tony Christian
Buddy Brady ---------- Mr. Lilke
Major Kellicott ---------- Edgar Bates
Sylvia Deane ---------- Adavec Johns
Jim Anthony ---------- Robrrt Shrader
Mrs. Sol Whipple ---------- Louise Pitts
Maudelia McCann ---------- Ruth Luck
Mrs. Bunch McCain ---------- Christine Sandusky
Miss Gregory, the nurse ---------- Vera Mae Black
Mr. Juba K. Butternip ---------- Sam Harwell
Miss Tessie Mitford, the metal card ---------- Alleen Spruell
Prologue ---------- Mamie Middloten and A. D. Gordon

Chorus Girls: Myrtle Seals, Jimmie Polk, Leslie Polk, Vera Northrup, Elna Duke, Inza Davis, Clarice Lester, Dorothy Parker, Alice Bird, and Emmie Pitts.

Pianist ---------- Mrs. L. E. Chirstian
Soloist ---------- Mrs. W. W, Wallace
Violin:—Mrs. W. L. Longshore, Mrs. L. L. Saxon, Mrs. W. T, Taylor, Louis Averyt and Leslie Polk.
Director ----------r---------- Mrs, P. O. Luck

GIFTS

Toys of all kinds and description for the Kiddies.

For Men	For Ladies
Shaving Sets	Fountain Pens,
Smokers Sets	Stationery
Razors	Cut Glass
Fountain Pens	Manicure Sets
Bill Folders, Collar Holders, Flash Lights.	Fine Candies, Toilet Sets, Vases, Nut Sets, Etc:

Davis Drug Company

Mitchell Building Columbiana, Ala.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

Dr. Palmer Visits Eastern Colleges

Montevallo, Ala., Dec. 15.—President Palmer left yesterday for the East to visit colleges in behalf of Alabama College Many improvements are being planned for the future, and his idea is to see what are the best developments along these lines.

While in the East, he will join Mrs. Palmer and his children at the residence of his son, T. W. Palmer, Jr., Long Island, N. Y., and attend the marriage of his daughter, Stella, to Dr. Henry G. Hotz, of Little Rock, Arkansas, on December 22, 1924. This date is an interesting one, being the anniversy of his marriage in Union Springs, Alabama.

SHELBY

F. M. King is spending a few days in Childersburg with his daughters.

Mrs. J. G. Hendrick spent last week end in Montgomery with her daughter, Miss Mildred, who is attending Woman's College.

Mrs. L. H. Curlee spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Mr. Sturdivant, who works for Shelby Iron Company and who has been confined indoors for several weeks with a fractured bone in his foot, is able to be out again.

Dr. Moore, a former doctor of Shelby, has come back to practice.

Miss Julia Gunn of Gantt's Quarry attended the minstrel Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott and little daughter spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Collins.

The second production of the minstrel was a great success. The first time we took in $35. This time $32.00. The proceeds go for the benefit of the school.

O. K. Curlee went to Birmingham Wednesday to take the civil service examination.

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Union Point School District No. 36, Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district shall be levied and collected by the proper authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

Union Point school district No. 36 being described as follows:

Beginning at the Southeast corner of section ten, tp. 24, range 13 east, and running north to the incorporate limits of the city of Calera, thence northwest and along said boundary to the base line, thence along said line to the north east corner of section 6 in said township and range; thence south to the line separating Shelby and Chilton counties; thence east along said line to the point of beginning.

Also to ascertain whether or not the qualified electors of said district 36 above described, desire to consolidate said district with districts 37 and 39, said consolidated district to be known as district No. 36, and described as follows:

Be ginning at the northeast corner of section seven, township 22 range 2 west and running south two and three-quarter miles; thence east one-half mile, thence south one mile; thence east one mile, thence south one mile; thence west along the line separating Shelby and Chilton counties to the south-west corner of the south-west quarter of the south-east quarter of section ten, township 24, range 12 east, thence north one and one-quarter miles, thence in a northeasterly direction to the north-east quarter of the north-east quarter of section three township 24, range 12 east, or the base line, thence east along the base line to Shoal's Creek, thence along said creek in a northerly direction to the center of section 15 township 22, range 3 west, thence north to the north-west corner of the north-east quarter of sec. 10, township 22, range 3 west, thence east to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Ala.

HARPERSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Black are preparing to move back to Birmingham.

W. R. Tate is visiting Mississippi relatives.

The Harpersville young people who carried their play to Columbiana last Friday night speak in in the highest terms of the liberal patronage and kind hospitality shown, and especially do they thank Professor Tucker for his splendid short talk to begin with, and all other courtesies shown them while in the capitol of the county. These young people are working very hard to raise their part of the money which they have agreed to raise to pay on the school building which we are going to build. Keep your eye on the Harpersville Consolidated School. Harpersville has had some of the best schools in the state and now we want to have still better. Prepare to move to Harpersville to educate your children.

The rain came last week but too late to do our farmers any good toward sowing small grain. The land has been so dry and hard that fall plowing has been impossible to some extent and consequently there was not any grain sown but waters have been raised and wells, springs and branches have plenty which was badly needed, and farmers seem more cheerful than they did before the rain.

Rev. J. O. Ray of Ragland spent one day here last week with many friends. Mr. Ray made quite a number of friends while preacher and teacher here, who are always glad to see him and all wish him well in his new field of work.

On last Thursday evening Mr. Pascol Goswick led to hyman's altar one of Harpersville's fairest daughters, Miss Annie Tolbert. Rev, J. O. Ray, former pastor of the Methodist church here, performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of a few friends. This is a very popular young couple who have lots of friends who wish for them much happiness, and who wish for them that a bright light maay always illuminate their pathways.

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Spring Creek School District No. 39 Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district, shall be levied and collected by the proper authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

District No. 39, otherwise known as Spring Creek District embraces all that territory within the following described boundaries, to-wit:

Beginning at the southwest corner of section 20, township 22, range 2 west, and running west along said base line to east boundary line of District 38 in section 27, township 22, range 3 west, thence in a north-easterly direction along Shoal Creek, being the eastern boundary of District 38, thence to half mile line on north boundary of section 10, thence east along said section line to north-east quarter of section 7, township 22, range 2 west, thence south to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Ala.

Christmas Tree at Fourmile Tonight

There will be a community Christmas tree at Fourmile school house on Thursday night, Decembeer 18. Every body is cordially invited. Bring presents early in order to get them on the tree before the program begins.

R. L. Newton, Principal.

Farmers Urged To Terrace Their Land

Do you want your land to farm on another year, or do you expect to let it wash away during the winter rains? The Vincent, Wilsonville, Columbiana and Montevallo banks have bought terracing levels for you. How about using them the next three months, and taking care of your land?

Terracing Demonstration

A terracing demonstration will be held on the farm of Dr. Doster at Ebenezer, Monday, December 22. Let us urge that all the people in this community come to this demonstration and learn how to terra ce. A. A. Lauderdale.
County Agent.

BETHEL

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wood, of Birmingham, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs, O. K. Bazemore

Henry Steele, Grady and Bertha Steele spent Sunday with relatives near Shelby.
Shelby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lyon were called to the bedside of their son Herbert Lyon, in Birmingham last week.

Elbert Hughes of Shelby visited friends here Wednesday.

Mrs. Arthur Bazemore and her son, Arthur Jr, returned Sunday to their home in Demopolis, after a visit here with O. K. Bazemore and family.

Walter Dyer and family left last week for their new home on Sand Mountain.

Mrs. Talton is visiting relatives in Childersburg this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hill of Saginaw, visited relatives here Friday

Mrs. J. A. Cates is visiting relativei in Birmingham.

Ernest West and his son, Harry, of Bessemer, spent Sunday here with F. P. West and family.

New officers for the B. Y. P. U. will be elected Sunday night.

Farm Bureau Ready For Fertilizer Orders

The State Farm Bureau announces very attractive prices on fertilizer for Farm Bureau members again this year, and the request is made that orders should be sent in at once.

Arrangement has been made for Shelby county members to place their orders through the officers and members of the local organization, and those interested should see the officers or directors in their respective communities at once. The names of the following are the officers and directors with their addresses:

J. T. Lovett, president, Columbiana.

J. N. Wyatt, 1st vice-president, Siluria.

J. T. McEwen, 2nd vice-presi- Wilsonville.

Luther Fowler, Sec-Treas. Columbiana.

W. W. Clark, Director, Calera.

W. H. Templin, Director, Columbiana.

E. E. Wallis, Director, Vincent.

Irvin Wingard, Director, Wilsonville.

J. F. Hill, Director, Wilsonville.

W. S. Stonecypher, Director, Siluria.

J. C. Williams, Director, Shelby.

D. H. Mitchell, Director, Montevallo.

J. M. Lyon, Director, Columbiana.

The Board in session Saturday ruled that members who have not paid dues for 1924, or who failed to deliver cotton to the Farm Bureau Cotton association must pay their dues before their orders for fertilizer will be accepted. They also extend a cordial invitation to all farmers who are not members of the Farm Bureau to come in now and share in its benefits.

WILSONVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Baker are at home after spending several weeks in the Kingdom community.

There will be a special Christmas program at the Baptist church Sunday given by the Sunday school

A. A. Ingram, Misses Taylor, Jeter, Lindsey and Mrs. Robertson, motored to Columbiana Saturday.

Brindley Nivens and family moved last week to Chattanooga, where they will make their future home.

Miss Roselle Smith and brother Clem, spent Saturday night with relatives near Columbiana.

There will be a box supper at the school house Friday night. Girls will be expected to bring boxes and the boys bring their pocket books. Everyone come: bring some one with you.

Fords For Sale

At Alnost Your Own Price.

Good used Fords in good running condition, mostly late models, that we have taken in Chevrolets.

Must sell them before Jan 1st.

One 1924 Ford Truck most as good as new - - - $300

POLK BROTHERS
Columbiano, Alabama

Merry Christmas for Alice

By MARIAN WING

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

RUTH ALICE lay abed late Christmas morning. What other girl of eighteen would have stayed lazily in bed with the marvelous Christmas presents waiting her attention that were waiting Ruth Alice's? She was the only daughter of an enormously rich father. She was also, on that Christmas morning, the one shining hope of half a dozen rich beaux. So you can imagine what gifts were hers.

At ten o'clock Ruth Alice's personal maid, Flora, came rather timidly, but determinedly, into the luxurious bedroom where Ruth Alice lay dreaming among her pillows, her beautiful eyes half closed.

"Well, Flora, why are you disturbing me? I'm not going to get up yet a while."

"But, Miss Ruth Alice! Your father is just walking back and forth in the library, and asking every half minute when you are coming down."

"Oh, dad! He wants to see my joy over the stocking, I suppose."

"Well, there are lovely things down there, goodness knows! And such flowers!"

"Oh, bother the flowers! I don't want them. But, tell me, has the postman come yet?"

"No. He'll be dreadfully late today, of course."

"Yes, so I supposed. Well, what's

"All Right, Flora, Bring Me My Slippers."

the good of getting up, then?"

Ruth Alice stretched her pretty arms above her head and yawned. Flora stared.

"What can the postman bring you that you haven't already. I'd like to know?" But, needless to say, the perfectly trained maid made this remark strictly to herself.

But Ruth Alice suddenly relented.

"All right, Flora, bring me my slippers. I'll get on some clothes and go down to Dad. I needn't spoil his Christmas."

And it was with this determination not to mar her dear dad's Christmas that Ruth Alice ran down the stairs and tripped into the library with a smile. But such a forced smile! The maids noticed it, and the butler, too. And they all puzzled about it and whispered among themselves. They were all very fond of pretty Ruth Alice, and it grieved them to see her so out of sorts, on Christmas of all times.

"And she's been like this for more than a week," Flora sighed to the butler. "Just isn't interested in anything. Oh, yes, there's one thing still can excite her. That is the postman. She sends me out forty times a day to see if he's dropped letters in the box and forgot to ring. Yesterday she "Made Me Go Out and Look Down the Street."

even made me go out and look down the street to see if he was anywhere in sight."

"Oh, well, that explains it, then. She hasn't heard from her sweetheart."

"Sweetheart! She's heard from dozens of 'em every mail. And you ought just to take a look at her presents in there. Flowers, books, candy, music! And her father has surprised her with a new limousine all her own. Guess even you didn't know that! Mike kept the secret pretty well. He only let it drop to me by accident." Mike was the chauffeur, of course.

"No! A limousine! And then those pearls! The old man showed them to me himself last night. Just couldn't keep it to himself any longer. They're beauties, you can take my word, and cost a good round fortune."

"How any girl with all that can be glowering around on Christmas da—"

"Ting-a-ling, ting-a-ling," the front-door bell interrupted.

Flora jumped like a Jack-in-the-box when the cover is sprung. "That'll be the postman," she said. "I'll get there this time before Miss Ruth Alice sends me."

But Ruth Alice was at the door first, for she, too, knew the postman's ring. Eagerly she went through the pile of mail. Then her eyes flooded with tears that she could not hide. "Nothing! And it's Christmas day!" she whispered.

"But what's this," Flora asked, bending to pick up a picture postal that had dropped to the floor. Miss Ruth Alice snatched it from her hand, but not before Flora had seen. It was just a picture of a wreath hung on a door, and under it, scrawled in a bold masculine hand, "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, Miss Norman." That was all except the signature, "Jack Dalton."

But suddenly Miss Ruth Alice laughed merrily and seized Flora by both hands. She whirled her around in a happy dance. "Merry Christmas, Flora," she cried when it was done, and rushed toward the library. She passed the butler on the way. "Merry Christmas, Walker," she cried to him. Then they heard her Merry Christmasing her dad!

"Well, I'm glad to hear her saying it," Flora ejaculated. "I thought she never would. But think of a cheap postal doing that to her after all those wonderful things in there and the automobile!"

"What are pearls and a car to love?" whispered Walker, drawing very near to Flora. Laughing, she pushed him away. "Merry Christmas," she laughed back at him over her shoulder as she ran up the stairs.

A Christmas Carol

By James Russell Lowell

"WHAT means this glory round our feet,"
The magi mused, "more bright than morn?"
And voices chanted clear and sweet,
"Today the Prince of Peace is born!"

"What means that star," the shepherds said,
"That brightens through the rocky glen?"
And angels, answering overhead,
Sang, "Peace on earth, good will to men!"

All round about our feet shall shine
A light like that the Wise Men saw,
If we our loving will incline
To that Sweet Life which is the law.

So shall we learn to understand
The simple faith of shepherds then,
And, clasping kindly hand in hand,
Sing, "Peace on earth, good will to men!"

And they who do their souls no wrong
But keep at eve the faith of morn,
Shall daily hear the angel song,
"Today the Prince of Peace is born!"

OUR HEART-RADIOS ON CHRISTMAS EVE

GOD owns the biggest broadcasting station in the universe, and what He sends forth to all corners of the world is love. Every human being has a radio—a heart-radio. If we take the trouble to "tune in," we are in a fair way of becoming good receiving stations. And a good receiver may hear harmonies that will vibrate through his being like chords on a harp. At Christmas time we should have heart-radios in perfect condition that we may know the beauty of God's love, which manifests itself in kindliness, friendliness, happiness and good cheer.

"Tune in," friends, and who knows but we may hear the angels caroling on Christmas Eve!—Martha Banning Thomas.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

HEALTH DEPT. TO USE FEVER TEST

SUPPLY OF MATERIALS RECEIVED FOR MAKING TESTS TO DETERMINE SUECEPTIBILITY TO SCARLET FEVER.

Montgomery.—A supply of materials for making tests to determine the susceptibility of individuals to scarlet fever has been received by the State Health Department. The test was worked out by a Dr. Dick, of Chicago, and his wife who discovered that only a certain number of children are susceptible to infection with scarlet fever. The test which they worked out and which is still under investigation and research, shows which children are and which are not susceptible to the disease.

The following comment on the subject was made from the State Health Department:

"The State Board of Health has recently received a supply of materials for skin test to be used in determining the susceptibility of individuals to scarlet fever.

"Opportunity recently presented itself to test the value of this procedure when a group of Montgomery school children were exposed to this disease. As a result of the test the State Board of Health was able to inform the parents of the likelihood of their children contracting the disease. The tests were witnessed by the county health officer, Dr. Bowman, and a member of the local medical profession. This is the first time that this test has been used in Alabama. It has been made possible to perform the test as the result of a recent discovery of the germ causing scarlet fever by the Doctors Dick, of Chicago, and the test is now known as the Dick test.

"Recent discoveries have apparently opened the way to check the spread of scarlet fever and have yielded an antitoxin which is almost as potent as the anti-toxin used for diptheria in preventing the ravages of that disease."

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

A joint brief to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the tentative report of the examiner in recommending that the Interstate Commerce Commission raise the state rates on iron and steel from Birmingham to Mobile to correct alleged discrimination against Pensacola, has been prepared by R. G. Cobb, Traffic Manager of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce, and Hugh White, special counsel to the Alabama Public Service Commission. This is the first step in the fight against the proposed cancellation of the state rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The first Conecuh co-operative hog sale of the season was held at the stock pens of the Conecuh Live Stock Association, Evergreen, H. R. Pettis, County Demonstration Agent in charge, assisted by C. S. Gantt. A total of 138 hogs were brought in representing 20,500 pounds, which were contributed by 15 farmers throughout the county. M. B. Boutwell, of Greenville, was the successful bidder and paid 8.40 cents for No. 1s; 7.40 for No. 2s, 6.65 for No. 3s and 5 65 for No. 4s, amounting to $1,662.71. The next sale will be held early in January.

Nine forest ranger districts have been established in Alabama, according to Major Page S. Bunker, State Forester. A tenth district will soon be organized, embracing southeastern Covington County. Forest ranger work has already demonstrated its worth, during the recent drouth, Major Bunker stated. Inter territory organized in forest ranger districts, comprising about 2,000,000 acres, less than 4 per cent was burned over during the drought, while in unorganized forest territory the percentage burned over was seven to eight times as great, Major Bunker stated.

The Alabama Power Company has begun surveys for building the second high power transmission line to Selma. This line will be built from Lock No. 16 on the Coosa River and be pushed to completion. Right of way in the majority of cases has already been obtained and a large number of surveyors have begun operations at the other end of the line.

The Alabama Fishermen's and Hunters' Association received from the Government Fish Hatchery at Warm Springs, Ga., 5,000 blue-nosed bream, which were placed in the Warrior in the vicinity of Camp Oliver.

Will Dozier killed an aligator seven feet long and weighing 150 pounds on the Alabama River above Selma. It is thought that it was driven from the swamps by the dry weather.

H. G. Dowling, Secretary of the Alabama Education Association, has recently established a publicity office for the Alabama Educational Association in Montgomery, to help enlighten the people of the State on what has been accomplished in education, and future nedes.

J. B. Hobdy, director of the Division of Vocational Education of the Alabama State Education Department, has been elected President of the National Association of State Directors of Vocational Education.

Some residents of the Twin-Cities are chuckling over the reported activity of a smooth working rum "salesman" in Albany-Decatur a few days ago, while a few prominent citizens are looking for a gentleman of good appearance and keen insight into human nature, who told them a story which sounded too good to be true—and was. The "salesman" called on a number of citizens, it is said, and to a few he sold quotas of Canadian and Scotch whisky, or "extra dry," for cash and to others similar quotas to be paid for when delivered. The buyers still are waiting for the deliveries. Those who were sold C. O. D. were said to have occupied many strategic positions at prearranged rendezvous on one night recently until, like "snipe" hunters, they grew weary of waiting and departed. One report states the "salesman" phoned his customers on the night he was to meet them, reminding them of the engagement, and while his customers waited, he invested his profits in a railroad ticket.

Organization of two auxiliary corporations to carry out a program of proposed expansion is under way at Anniston by the Federal Phosphorous Company and the Southern Manganese Corporation. One of the branch concerns will manufacture carbides and has already been organized under the name of the Federal Carbide Company. The other, to be known as the Federal Abrasive Company, will be formed this month to manufacture abrasive products and silicon carbide, it is said. All of the concerns will operate in Anniston.

A new transit arrangement, covering storage in transit of pears at Birmingham, has been secured by the Birmingham Traffic Association through the co-operation of produce jobbers and dealers of the city. Under the new arrangement pears may be stored in Birmingham and reshipped to destination, based upon a through rate; plus a storage charge. This, it is stated, will bring about, a material reduction in the total charges ultimately assessed on these movements and is expected to further enlarge the possibilities of Birmingham as a storage point.

The State Tax Commission has granted banks and domestic corporations a 30-day extension in which to make returns of their stock for assessments for the tax year beginning October 1, 1924. Banks and domestic corporations are required, under the State law, to make returns of real estate, personal property and stocks before December 21 and provides a penalty of 10 per cent in addition to an additional penalty of $5 a day for delinquency. The order received by Mr. Dillon extends the time until the first Monday in February.

One hundred farm boys, members of the Boys' Corn, Pig, Poultry, Cotton and Cow Clubs of Etowah County, will plant two acres each in cotton next spring with the expectation of producing 300 bales. They will fertilize and cultivate their plots under the direction of County Demonstrator C. E. Stapp and will use the Auburn methods. Most of them on experimental plots during the past season produced a bale and a half to the acre, and it is believed they will be able to raise 300 bales on 200 acres next year.

Country-wide stock sales of the Walker Consolidated Petroleum Company reached approximately $3,000,000, of which Alabamians invested $2,000,000, including $1,000,000 in the City of Birmingham alone. This disclosure came from prosecutors in the trial in Federal Court of A. W. and Harold Walker, Sidney Menasco and Hudmon Hopson, officials of the bankrupt company, on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock.

Birth registration in Alabama during October, 1924, indicated an encouraging improvement over the corresponding month in 1923, according to Dr. W. T. Fales, director of the bureau of vital statistics of the State Health Department. The death rate for October was the lowest this year. Number of births reported for October, 1924, was 4,997, and of deaths, 1,927.

Strict enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting the burning of leaves on the city street pavement has been announced by Anniston police officials. It is pointed out that the top coat of asphalt is damaged easily by fire and officials announce that all who are found guilty will be prosecuted.

An official investigation into the death of Jesse Kirkland, member of the crew of the government dredge Blackwater, who was drowned when a launch he was in went over the dam at Lock Number 1 on the Tombigbee River has been started by United States Engineer T. H. Emmerson.

O. C. Wilson, employe of Dendy Lumber Company, of Thomasville, suffered a peculiar accident. The belt threw a peavy against him with such force that his leg was broken. He was taken to a Selma hospital for treatment.

After a trip on the Warrior River and to Birmingport, members of the Advisory Committee of the Inland Waterways Corporation have returned to Washington to formulate recommendations, which it is declared, will give the Warrior whatever is necessary to make it 100 per cent efficient and productive.

Edgar C. Taylor, manager of the Gay-Teague Hotel, Montgomery, was elected President of the Alabama Hotel Men's Association at the annual meeting held in Montgomery.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

DANGER FROM AUTOMOBILE EXHAUST

IN a recent copy of The Journal of the American Medical Association, a doctor tells what happened one morning in his own garage.

He was about to start out on his morning calls and had gone into the garage and started his engine. Seeing his next door neighbor in his back yard, he went out to speak to him. Coming back in a few minutes, he was surprised to find his young daughter lying on the floor of the garage, unconscious. Thinking that she had fallen and struck her head, he started to carry her into the house. Then he saw two other children, his own son and his neighbor's, lying under the car. Realizing that they had been overcome by gas from the car, he stopped the engine and carried the three children out into the fresh air. With prompt treatment by artificial respiration, they all recovered consciousness in a short time. Had the doctor's chat with his neighbor been much longer, he would probably have found all three children dead.

Cases of death from carbon monoxide poisoning are so common that the United States public health service has recently issued a bulletin of warning on the subject. Numerous news items tell of men found dead on the floor of their garages, with the doors closed and the engine running. With the coming on of winter, such reports will probably be more frequent.

Automobile owners and chauffeurs should understand the danger of running a gasoline engine in a small, closed place of any kind for any length of time. Gasoline fed into the cylinder burns, but it is not entirely consumed. It gives off a gas through the exhaust which is carbon monoxide, a deadly poison. Careful tests show that even a small 23-horsepower automobile engine will give off one and one-half cubic feet of carbon monoxide gas every minute, enough to be dangerous in about three minutes.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless and almost odorless gas. Even in a closed garage, its presence is not noticeable enough to be a warning of danger. The victim gradually loses consciousness and, even if aware of his danger, is often unable to escape on account of paralysis of his muscles. Before help can come, his lungs are so saturated with the gas that death quickly ensues.

See that the doors and windows of your garage are open before starting your car. Don't start your engine or keep it running in a small closed space. If you have any signs of faintness, get into the open air at once. Your life depends upon your promptness.

BOTULISM POISONING IN OREGON

THE United States public health service reports another outbreak of botulism, this time in Oregon. As frequently happens, the cause in this case was string beans, home canned by the cold pack method.

On February 2, 1924, 12 members of three families ate their noon meal together. There were six adults and six children, the ages running from eighteen months to sixty years. The meal consisted of cooked fresh meat, boiled potatoes, a salad of home canned string beans, bread, butter and coffee. The beans were home-grown as well as home-canned and had been put up several years previous, in an ordinary screw-topped can. They were apparently safe, as far as could be told by odor, taste and appearance.

All present ate some of the beans, the two eighteen-months-old children being given a few teaspoonfuls of the liquid. The earliest illness occurred in two children, aged six and nine, 16 hours. The longest interval was in a child of three, who did not show any symptoms until after 40 hours. All of the 12 persons became ill, with vomiting, rapid pulse, subnormal temperature, difficulty of respiration and swallowing, unconsciousness and death.

The time of death after eating the poisoned food varied from 27 hours to eight days. Every one of the 12 persons died.

The germ which is responsible for this disease, the bacillus botulinus, is very commonly found in ordinary garden dirt. When vegetables are put up by the cold pack method, the amount of heat used is not enough to kill the germs. They grow in the cans and develop the poison, which is almost always fatal if taken in any quantity.

Thorough cooking kills the germ and destroys the poison. Any canned food which shows any signs of spoiling in odor, color, taste or appearance should be thrown away. Any canned foods, especially those put up by the cold pack method, should be thoroughly cooked before serving.

Don't take any chances. Any disease which kills 100 per cent of those who get it is not to be trifled with.

Correct Anyhow

"Hullo, Brown! That your jolly little chap. Is he clever?"

"Clever? I should say so. If I say to him, 'Are you coming or are you?' he comes—or he doesn't."—London Tit-Bits.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

While there are such quantities of fresh vegetables to be had, the family should enjoy them to the limit.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Oatmeal with top milk, drop doughnuts. Dinner: Chicken fricassee served on halved baking powder biscuits, sweet corn. Supper: Salmon salad, cucumbers.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Muskmelon, toast, eggs, coffee. Dinner: Corn and tomato soup, apple pie. Supper: Sliced tomatoes with cream.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Grapes, bran, cream. Dinner: Peach shortcake. sauted summer squash. Supper: Rolled cake with blackberry jam.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Waffles. Dinner: Fried ham, sliced cucumbers. Supper: Potato salad, cookies, tea.

THURSDAY — Breakfast: Omelet. Dinner: Hamburger steak with onions. Supper: French toast.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Poached eggs on toast. Dinner: Fried fresh fish, stewed tomatoes. Supper: baking powder biscuits, peaches, cream.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Bran muffins. Dinner: Baked hash, lettuce salad, custard pie. Supper: Nut bread.

Corn and Tomato Soup.

Put one small onion through a meat chopper and cook five minutes with two tablespoonfuls of butter. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour, and when well blended add one quart of tomatoes peeled and cut in pieces, two cupfuls of water, one teaspoonful of salt, and simmer twenty minutes. Add two cupfuls of corn cut from the cob and cook ten minutes. Just before serving add one cupful of cream or milk and more seasoning if required.

Sauted Summer Squash.

Cut squash in slices one-half inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Saute in butter or sweet fat of any kind, and cook well on both sides. Sprinkle the centers with minced parsley when serving.

The autumn skies are flushed with gold,
And fair and bright the rivers run;
These are but streams of winter cold,
And painted mists that quench the sun.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A very delicious combination for a cake is chocolate layer cake with an orange filling. One may use any simple recipe for the cake and the filling below:

Orange Layer Cake.—Cream together one cupful of butter and two cupfuls of sugar. To this add three egg yolks, one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Sift together three cupfuls of pastry flour and two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Add the flour alternately with one cupful of milk and mix thoroughly. Last of all add five stiffly beaten egg whites and bake in three layers. When cold put together with:

Orange Filling.—Boil together one-third of a cupful of water, one-half cupful of sugar, and the grated rind of two oranges. Combine one tablespoonful of lemon juice, two-thirds cupful of orange juice, two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, three well-beaten egg yolks; add to the first mixture and cook until it thickens. Remove from the fire and add one tablespoonful of butter. When partly cool spread between the layers. Cover the top of the cake with:

Orange Icing.—Boil together one cupful of sugar, one-third of a cupful of water and the grated rind of one orange. Cook to the soft-boil stage and pour over a stiffly beaten egg white. Beat until thick enough to spread without running.

A good way to hold a thick frosting on top of a cake is to pin a three-inch band of buttered paper around the cake, pour over the frosting and leave the paper on until the frosting hardens.

Three-Layer Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of shortening; gradually add one and one-half cupfuls of sugar. Sift together two cupfuls of flour and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder; add to the butter mixture, alternately with three-fourths of a cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla and the whites of four eggs, beaten stiff. When thoroughly blended bake in three layers.

Roquefort Appetizers.—Crumble one-fourth cupful of Roquefort cheese, add one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and enough catsup to make the mixture of the right consistency to spread. Cream together, spread a thin layer of slices of buttered bread cut very thin and fold in various shapes.

Planked Steak.—The steak should be cut about an inch and one-half thick. Wipe carefully with a damp cloth. On a well greased, hot broiler, cook the steak over coals or under gas flame eight minutes, turning it four or five times. Set the steak on a hot plank; arrange four cooked stuffed tomatoes around it, alternating with four stuffed raw tomatoes. Brush with egg yolk and pipe well-seasoned mashed potato around the edges of the plank. Set in the oven to finish cooking the steak—about six minutes—and serve from the plank.

Nellie Maxwell

HEIRLOOMS BROUGHT TO LIGHT; CHIEF CHARM OF NEGLIGEES

IF YOU have shawls, prepare to use them now, for this is the long-delayed day of the shawl. Many a lovely and regal, silk shawl, with superb Chinese or Japanese embroidery, has spent most of its time for three or four generations packed away in a chest. The matchless shawls of India and rich Paisleys have fared somewhat better, for they have been used as draperies in the house—where their beauty might be seen and enjoyed. But now they all find themselves once more on parade in the realm of fashion, with gay Spanish shawls, full of beauty and fire, leading off.

Two Beautiful Shawls.

Silk shawls are worn just in the manner of shawl or scarf. They finish off the evening toilette and are an important accessory to it—often worn merely as an accessory and not as a wrap. But Paisley shaws are converted into capes or cut into coats and jackets. Capes are managed without cutting the shawl, which is usually gathered into a collar of fur and tied with long ends of handsome ribbon. A collar can be managed, however, without fur, by gathering a portion of the shawl into a big puff and tacking it to a ribbon band ending in ties.

Long straight coats and box coats, made of Paisley, usually have collars and cuffs of a dark fur, as Hudson seal or marten. Paisley is also used as a hat covering, to make close-fitting wrapped turbans and small brimmed hats or turbans with upturned coronets. Bags made of it and beaded with small steel beads are very handsome and Paisley is introduced on dresses, or short coats of fur, or coatings, as a trimming. Few owners of an India shawl can bring themselves to put scissors into a garment so rare.

The vogue of shawls has brought in many gay, embroidered patterns of crepe de chine—now being manufactured and selling readily. They have deep fringes, and brilliant embroidered flowers scattered over their surface, the favorite backgrounds being white or black.

There are negligees and negligees—some of them intended to be the observed of all observers, who call at the tea hour, and many more, made for the edification of one's family and self. Their chief charm, whether they are made for "comfort first" or not, lies in color. The right is conceded to negligees, of whatever type and character, to be as colorful as the flowers of the field—and more so, if they can achieve it.

The materials used are those in which colors are at their best. All fabrics having a silky sheen or velvety surface in supple, light weaves, bring grist to the mill of the designers. Laces, ribbons and little flowers follow naturally in the train of colorful materials.

Crepe de chine maintains its lead in the choice of silk fabrics, but many other light silks are used. In cottons, corduroy, with a silky surface, has outdistanced all rivals. In colors, peach, coral, rose, copenhagen blue, pansy, orchid, red and black are favored.

Slipon and coat types, with side fastenings, hold a prominent place just now in the styles, and the latest arrivals in both these are flounced. Also they are fastened with ties or sashes made of the same material as the negligee. A pretty model is pictured in the slipon style, made of peach-colored crepe de chine, piped with orchid satin. It has trailing sleeves of lace and crepe and a girdle or narrow orchid satin ribbon. Two little roses in orchid and peach chiffon are posed on the shoulder.

Where warmth must be considered crepe de chine or taffeta negligees, or those of plain or brocaded corduroy, are lined with silk mull. Those in the silks are interlined with lamb's wool and sometimes quilted. All the darker shades in lively colors appear in the corduroy group, including red, copenhagen blue, coral, orchid, pansy and henna. Linings of silk mull usually match in color.

A Charming Negligee.

Information about negligees is not complete without mention of the popular and dignified models of black satin. They are cut on the same lines as those that have proved so popular in corduroy garments and are faced or lined with bright colored silks. Often bold patterns in vivid embroideries appear on the front and at the bottom of the sleeves. They call to mind the mandarin coat. The possessor of one of these owns a treasure whose artistic value keeps it forever in fashion, and therefore it is best to buy this piece of oriental splendor in black or dark blue—both wonderful backgrounds for their rich embroideries.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for December 21

CHRISTMAS LESSON—GOD'S GIFT TO THE WORLD

LESSON TEXT—John 1:1-18; 3:16-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life."—John 3:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Birth of Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Gift of God's Love.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why Christ Came to Earth.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The World's Need of Christ.

The lesson committee has suggested alternative lessons for today, namely: "The Conversion of Zacchaeus" or "God's Gift to the World." Since we so rarely get a Christmas lesson from the Gospel of John, it is most fitting that we avail ourselves of this opportunity.

I. The Declaration of God (John 1:14-18).

1. By Whom (v. 14)? The Word. The historic person Jesus Christ is called the Word of God because He is the expression of God to men. The eternal God has declared himself in Jesus Christ. Observe:

(1) That Jesus Christ is a person, separate and distinct from the Father, yet there exists an inseparable union between them (v. 1).

(2) He is eternal (v. 2). He was with God in the beginning. He did not begin to exist when the heavens and the earth were created. He was before all things (Col. 1:17).

(3) He is God (v. 1). He is not only a being equal with God but one in essence with Him.

(4) He is the omnipotent Creator (v. 3) by whom were all things made, the world and all things therein.

(5) He is the Source of all life (v. 4). He is the eternal fountain from which all life has been derived. All living beings have derived their life from Him—are dependent upon Him for the maintenance of life.

(6) He is the Light of men (v. 4). The light of reason came from Him.

2. How Made (v. 14). Through sin, man who was made in the likeness and image of God, lost knowledge and touch with God. The supreme need, therefore, was a tangible revelation, one he could touch and handle, that is, verify with the senses. This was done through the incarnation of the Word. Jesus Christ is not merely a representative of God, but He is absolutely and essentially God. It was the eternal Word who became flesh. In the virgin birth of Christ God became incorporated with humanity. He did not merely become a Jew. He was the "Son of Man." His relation is racial.

3. The Witnesses (vv. 15-17).

(1) The Baptist (v. 15). John the Baptist was the herald of the eternal Word who was the revealer of God.

(2) John the Evangelist and His Fellow Disciples (v. 16). Their experience of God's grace of salvation was the proof of the coming of God's representative.

4. The Need (v. 18). Sinful man was blind, therefore could not perceive God. If man was ever to know God, God must adapt Himself to man's need.

II. The Supreme Reason Why God Revealed Himself (John 3:16-21).

1. His Great Love (v. 16). Primarily God's boundless affection moved Him to reveal Himself as the Savior of men. Concerning this salvation note:

(1) Its origin. "God so loved the world." It proceeded out of the loving heart of God.

(2) Its ground. "He gave His only begotten son." Man's salvation rests upon the death of Christ.

(3) Its recipients. "Whosoever believeth." That means whosoever in any age, race or clime receives Jesus Christ is saved.

(4) How appropriated. "Believeth on Him." This great salvation, which proceeded from the loving heart of God, is offered to whosoever will take it on the simple condition of receiving it.

(5) Its effects.

a. It issues in eternal life. Christ is the source of life. Those who receive Him are made partakers in that life. Therefore all who are in Christ have eternal life.

b. It saves from perishing. Those who accept Jesus Christ are eternally saved.

2. The World's Great Need (vv. 17-21). The world was under condemnation. It was without help to save itself. Christ, the great Savior and Deliverer, did not come to condemn the world. Its unbelief and rebellion placed it under condemnation.

Let Us Shine

There are enough gloomy hearts in the world. Let us shine for the Lord Jesus.—M. G. H.

It Is Easier

It is always easier to discuss the duties of others than to do our own —John G. Whittier.

Can See Gates of Heaven

When a man stands by faith on the Bible, he can easily see the gates of heaven.—Western Christian Advocate

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

World's Greatest Civil War Began Here

On the morning of April 12, 1861, Edmund Ruffin, an aged Virginian, pulled the lanyard of a cannon and made history. For the shot which went screaming across the water of Charleston harbor and struck the walls of Fort Sumter set 2,000,000 armed Americans at each other's throats 'n the greatest civil war in history.

Fort Sumter, named for Gen. Thomas Sumter, the famous partisan leader of the Revolution, was built in 1828 and was a casemated brickwork of five faces, mounting two tiers of guns. It was situated on a little island between Morris and Sullivan islands in the mouth of the harbor of Charleston, S. C. At the opening of the Civil war it was commanded by Maj. Robert Anderson, who had evacuated Fort Moultrie in December, 1860, and occupied Fort Sumter when he saw that South Carolina was preparing to seize the forts in the harbor. In January, 1861, the steamer Star of the West had been fired upon when it tried to bring supplies to Anderson, but no further hostile move against the fort was made until April 11 when Gen. P. T. Beauregard, the Confederate commander, demanded that Anderson surrender.

When Anderson refused, Beauregard the next day ordered his batteries to open fire on Sumter. After three hours Anderson returned the fire and for the next 34 hours 19 batteries rained shot and shell against the fort. Three times the fortification was set on fire but the brave defenders kept up the fight until their ammunition was almost exhausted. Then Anderson sorrowfully lowered the Stars and Stripes and on April 14, after he had evacuated the fort, the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy were hoisted in their place.

Twice during the war the Union forces tried to recapture Fort Sumter. On April 7, 1863, Admiral Dupont tried to reduce it with a naval bombardment but failed. That summer Admiral Dahlgren reduced the fort to an earthwork, but could not take it.

So the men in gray held this fort until February 17, 1865, when they were forced to evacuate Charleston and the next day the Union flag was raised over it by Major General Hennessey. The last chapter in the stirring history of this fort was written on April 14, 1865. On that day Robert Anderson, now a general, led a force of boys in blue into Fort Sumter and over its ruined walls he hoisted the same shot-torn flag which he had been forced to lower from the fort's flagstaff four years before.

'Hold the Fort for We Are Coming!"

It was only a small fortification built high up in Allatoona Pass in the mountains of northern Georgia and history does not even dignify it with a name of its own. But it once was a post of the greatest strategic value in an important Civil war campaign and it also furnished the inspiration for a famous hymn, "Hold the Fort for We Are Coming!"

Late in 1864, just before General Sherman began his famous march to the sea, Confederate General Hood slipped around his right flank and began capturing the small garrisons, which Sherman had left along the line of his march. One of the most important of these posts was located in Allatoona pass where a million and a half rations were stored, a rich prize if Hood should capture it.

This post, surrounded by earthworks hastily thrown up, was commanded by Gen. J. S. Corse of Illinois with a force of about 1,500 Minnesota and Illinois troops. Hood detailed General French with 6,000 men to drive Corse out of the pass. It was soon surrounded and a demand for its surrender made. Corse refused and in a little while a hot battle was in progress. Although many of his men were killed, Corse still held out and retired to the little fort at the top, which he prepared to defend to the last.

In the meantime Sherman had started north from Atlanta in hot haste to save the pass from being captured. Just as Corse was beginning to despair of holding out against the attack of the grayjackets, an officer called his attention to a white flag that was being frantically waved from the summit of Kenesaw mountain, 15 miles away. This signal was answered and then the heartening message was waved from mountain to mountain: "Hold the fort: I am coming. W. T. Sherman."

A wild cheer went up from the beleaguered men and with renewed courage they kept up the fight. By this time more than half of the men in the little fort were either killed or wounded. General Corse was shot through the head three times, but undismayed by the fall of their leader the men of Minnesota and Illinois fought on for three hours more until Sherman came to their relief.

No sooner had Philip Paul Bliss, a writer of hymns and later a partner of the famous evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, heard of this incident than he sat down and wrote the thrilling old hymn which has been sung wherever the English language is spoken.

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS—10c A BOX

Don't Stay Dizzy, Bilious, Headachy, Sick or Constipated.

Feel fine! Let "Cascarets" clean your bowels and stimulate your liver. No griping or overacting. Millions of men, women, and children take this harmless laxative-cathartic. It doesn't sicken you like pills, oils, calomel and salts. Tastes nice—acts wonderful. Sold at drug stores.

Elevator on Airplane

An airplane fitted with an elevator is being constructed for the French army. This will be used by the gunner in charge of two batteries of machine guns, one at the top and the other at the bottom of the fuselage. The machine is a giant bomber. Should an attack come from above, the gunner simply lifts himself by means of the elevator and gets in position to man the top guns. When an attack comes from below he can lower himself the same way.

MOTHER!

Baby's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

When baby is constipated, has wind-colic, feverish breath, coated-tongue, or diarrhea, a half-teaspoonful of genuine "California Fig Syrup" promptly moves the poisons, gases, bile, souring food and waste right out. Never cramps or overacts. Babies love its delicious taste.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has full directions for infants in arms, and children of all ages, plainly printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Stupid Question

'My mother," writes E. OE. Somerville in "Wheel-Tracks," was of that race of professional mothers that seem to have been a special product of the Victorian age; mothers who took seriously their trade as such, and devoted themselves unflinchingly to their offspring. I have heard of one who, being asked of which she thought most, her husband, or her son, replied indignantly, 'Me son, of course! Why wouldn't I think more of me own son than a strange man!'"

DEMAND "BAYER" ASPIRIN

Aspirin Marked With "Bayer Cross" Has Been Proved Safe by Millions.

Warning! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians for 23 years.

Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Imitations may prove dangerous.—Adv.

His Impression

"Aw, no," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge to a tender made by an acquaintance. "I reckon I'd better not get any more dogs just now. I'd like to, being as I've only got 'leven, but I sorter figger wife is ag'in it."

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, I hinted about it last night, and she said if I brung any more dogs home for her to feed and fall over she'd burn the house and leave me for good."—Kansas City Star

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

CURES COLDS — LA GRIPPE
in 24 Hours — HILL'S — in 3 Days
CASCARA QUININE
Standard cold remedy world over. Demand box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait and signature.
(1928) At All Druggists—30 Cents

HEALS RUNNING SORES

"I feel it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 703 Reed St., Erie, Pa.

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered. Pimples and nasty blackheads disappear in a week and the distress of chafing goes in a few minutes. Mail orders filled. Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Enon School District No. 37, Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district, shall be levied and collected by the proper authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

District No. 37, otherwise known as Enon District embraces all that territory within the following described boundaries, to-wit:

Beginning at the north-east cornor of section 6, township 24 range 13 east and running south to Chilton county line, thence west along Chilton county line to one-half mile line of section 10, township 24, range 12 east, thence north across section 10, to one-half mile line in section 3, thence in northeasterly direction to center of NE¼ or NW¼ of said section on the base line, thence east along said base line to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Ala.

A Correction

Editor Reporter:

Please allow me space in your paper to answer a report that Gladys Weaver and I were arrested together a few days aga. This is a wilful falsehood; I have never been arrested in my life, neither was I ever in company with that girl unless one or more of the family was present.

E. L. Crumpton.
(Paid advertisement.)

A New Way to Buy a CHEVROLET
Come in and let us explain it to you.

POLK BROTHERS
CHEVROLET DEALERS
COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA,

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Ala.
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abstract of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract.

Useful Gifts FROM YOUR DEPENDABLE-STORE--THE LEADER

Real economy and honest quality are happily combined in any gift you may purchase at this store. Our large stock affords every giver the opportunity of choosing just what he seeks at just the price he wishes to pay. Make your purchases before the rush.

SUGGESTED GIFTS
for Men and Boys

Bath Robes, Bill Folders, Watches, Silk and Wool Hose, Ties, Gloves, Shirts, Hats, Suits, House Slippers.

Gift Suggestions For Women and Girls.

Silk Underwear
Toilet Sets
Sweaters
Silk Hose
Purses

Beads
Spring Hats
Dresses
Coats
Shoes

None Can Compare With Gifts From The Leader

MAX LEFKOVITS
COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA

The Place to Shop

During Christmas we have reduced prices on all Dress Goods and everything in the Dry Goods line. We also have a good line of Men's and Boys Work Shoe which we will sell at reduced prices. Call and see them.

Steel Rib and Big 7 Shirts 90c | Smokeless Shells 95c

Liberty Overalls $2.25. Blue Buckle O'alls $1.75

A nice line of Stationery, Jewelry, Candy and Fruits Also a nice line of Fancy and Staple Groceries.

Please accept our thanks for the business you have given us and hope you will continue to give us part of your business in the future.

We wish our customers and friends a Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

Jas. Evans & Company
WILSONVILLE, ALABAMA

Automobile TIRE & TUBE Sale

Brand new stock, Beginning December 20 and lasting 4 days only. Strictly cash.

Birmingham Tires 30x3 Fabric	$7.25
Birmingham Tires 30x3 1-2 Fabric	$7.75
Birmingham Tires 30x3 1-2 Cord	$8.50
Hood Tires, 30x3, Cord	$9.00
Hood Tires, 30x3 1-2, Cord	$9.50

Also brand new stock Red Racine Tubes. Regular seller $2.25 and $2.50. Special sale price $1.75

We also have all sizes of Tires and Tubes. Be sure and come to our store and get a bargain while they last.

Calera Motor Company
Broadhead Bros., Proprietors.
CALERA, - - - - - - - - - ALABAMA

CHRISTMAS BUYING LIST

You Can Find It At POPE'S STORE

You Can Find It At POPE'S STORE

FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY. Our large stocks of Christmas goods have been selected with unusual care. Not a member of the family was overlooked or forgotten; we had you all in mind. Come to our store to do your buying and whether you choose one gift or a dozen you will be pleased with the value and economy represented in each purchase. Come early while stocks are complete.

For Men

Silk Sox, Ties, Belts, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Collar and Cuff Buttons, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Shirts, Sweaters, Overcoats, Bed Room Slippers, Leather Puttees, Rifles, Guns, Old Style Razors, Watches Safety Razors & Blades Pocket Knives.

For Children

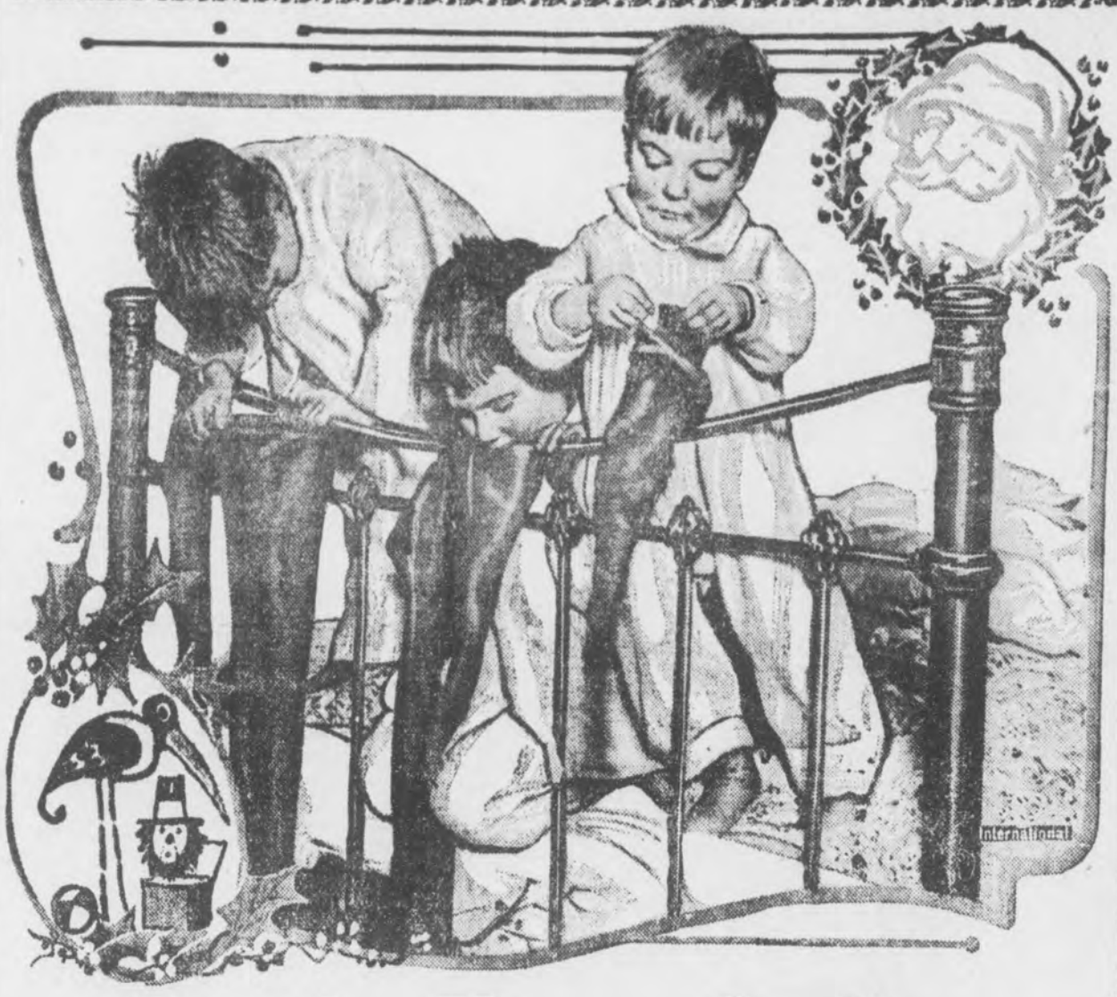
Dolls, Doll Furniture, Tea Sets, Knife, Fork and Spoon Sets, Velocipedes, Express Wagons Wheelbarrows, Laundry Outfits, Mechanical Toys of all kinds, Toy Ranges, Toy Telephones, Toy Phonographs, Doll Beds, Go-Carts, Pianos, Rocking Chairs Balls, Tops, Horns, Toy Watches, Toy Guns and Pistols, Sparklers.

Larger Boys

Guns, Rifles, Watches Pocket Knives, Caps, Shirts, Handkerchiefs, Flashlights, Carpenter Tools of all kinds, Belts Neckties, Sweaters, Fountain Pens, Linen Handkerchiefs.

Candies, Nuts, Fruits,

Hanging Their Stockings



For the Young Ladies

Rings, Pearls, Pins, Bracelets, Stationery, Fountain Pens, Ivory Dresser Sets, Toilet Sets, Silk Parasols Bibles, Boxed Handkerchiefs, Week-end Cases, Toilet Waters, Perfumes, Cosmetics of all kinds.

For the Young Men

Shirts, Ties, Silk Sox, Hats, Caps, Belts, Fountain Pens, Gold Knives, Chains, Rings, Bibles, Linen Handkerchiefs, Safety Razors, Safety Razor Blades Sweaters, Clothing, Shoes, Shot Guns, Rifles, Shells Cartridges, Riding Breeches, Leather Puttees.

Christmas Cards, Seals and Decorations, Sewing Machines, Trunks, Suit Cases, Hand Bags, Table Cuttlery, Rocking Chairs, Furniture of all kinds, Sweaters for the entire family.

For Mothers

Work Baskets, Christmas Boxes, Christmas Cards, Seals, Labels, etc., Silverwear, Table Cutlery, Cut Glass, Salad Bowls, Cake Plates, Art Squares, Rugs and Congoleum, Jewelry, Silk Umbrellas, Silk Hose, Box Stationery, Bed Room Slippers, Aluminumware, Toilet Sets, Toilet Articles of all kinds, Hand Painted China, Mantel Clocks Pure Table Linen and Napkins to match, Bibles, Latest Styles in Leather Purses.

Larger Girls

Books, Bibles, and Testaments, Work Baskets Christmas Bokes, Seals Labels Cards, Tinsel, Cord, etc., Jewelry, Hair Bobbing Outfits, Box Stationery, Handkerchiefs in Christmas Boxes, Bed Room Slippers, Sport Hose.

FOR BABIES

Gold Pins and Rings, Ivory Toilet Sets, hand painted, Blankets, Silver Spoons, Sweaters, Knitted Bootees, Ivory Beds, High chairs, Rubber Dolls, Rattlers, and Jingle Bells.

The J. F. POPE COMPANY, Inc.

WILSONVILLE, ... ALABAMA

Father of Thirty-Nine.

A Swedish peasant, sixty-nine years of age, who has been married three times, is the father of 39 children. Fifteen of these were by his first wife, twelve by his second, and twelve by his third.

Gold Coins Lose Weight.

In 1892 Great Britain began calling in worn coins and substituting new at the public expense. Since then nearly $400,000,000 of gold coins have been replaced. The loss by wear in gold coins was nearly five million dollars. This works out at about five cents loss on every coin called in. But in 1919, for instance, the profit on minting new silver equaled five million dollars.

Alarmed

Miss Passe—You're just the kind of man to take advantage of the mistletoe, I know!

Young—Great heavens! Are we near any of the stuff?

If Sandy Claws Was Pa

I'VE often thought what fun 'twould be
If Sandy Claws was pa.
He surely would be good to me,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
He'd let me see the million toys
He makes fer little girls and boys;
An' every single winter's day
I'd ketch onto the reindeer sleigh,
An' he'd be good an' wouldn't mind,
But jes p'tend that he was blind,
An' wouldn't never whip behind,
If Sandy Claws was pa.

The reindeer'd take us 'way up high,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
They'd trot right through the air an' sky,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
An' pa would tell me how the deer
Could do things so awful queer
An' why they stay up in the air
Without balloons to keep 'em there;
He'd tell me how they fly all night
Up past the stars so big an' bright,
Without a single wing in sight,
If Sandy Claws was pa.

The pole explorers would be blue,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
We'd find the pole before they do,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
For we'd go there jes like a streak;
It wouldn't take us half a week
To make the trip, ner half a day,
Ner half a night while on the way.
It's great ole time them reindeer make
When their slim legs git wide awake—
Not half an hour it wouldn't take,
If Sandy Claws was pa.

Each night there'd be a Chris'mas tree,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
An' one each day besides fer me,
If Sandy Claws was pa.
He'd tell me how he climbs right down
The red-hot chimneys in the town,
An' how he ever, ever learnt
To never git his whiskers burnt.
But what's the use of thinkin' so?
These dreams is nice, but they don't go.
Fer pa ain't Sandy Claws, you know,
An' Sandy Claws ain't pa.

Santa Claus' Partner, the Railroads~

STATISTICS indicate that during the year now closing, the railroads of America have transported a volume of freight that ranks with the greatest ever handled in their history. In some respects, altogether new records of performance have been established.

Did it ever occur to you that, without this aid, Santa Claus' pack would be but sparsely filled, and that Christmas would lose its greatest joy—that of gift-giving?

L&N (LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.)

THE OLD RELIABLE

30

A BIRD IN THE HAND

IT WAS the end of a perfect day. The glittering Christmas tree had been unloaded. All its lovely fruit had been distributed. All the packages had been opened. Never had there been such a sweet harvest. The great dinner, with the wonderful plum pudding at its close and the ice cream shapes for its company, was only a memory. The little friends had all gone home. Papers and popcorn, tinsel and toys were strewn about the room and Hilda was happy, but tired. In the dusk of evening and in the glimmering firelight she crept up a little closer to her grandfather's heart and said, "Do you want me very much? Well, I'm right here!"—Christopher G. Hazard.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Christmas Shopping Temptations

P. BAER'S

Calera, Wilton

These stores are veritable "Treasure Houses" of Christmas Gifts gifts that are symbols of true affection; gifts of appealing beauty: gifts that are a compliment to the taste of both giver and and recipient, all marked at prices that urge folk to do their Christmas Shopping early.

Mens Hats, $3, $3.50, 4 Velours, all styles and shapes at $2.69

50c grade men's silk Hose all colors, at 24c

$1.25 and $1.50 grade men's dress shirts, at 89c

$1.00 Christmas Ties at 49c

Best grade Men's work shirts, including Big Yanks, at 79c

Men's and Boys Clothing, all nice patterns, a big assortment, newest weaves and colors, reduced 30 to 40 percent.

$5 and $6 Ladies Scarfs with hats to match, at $2.98

$1 Ladies Silk Hose, all colors, at ... 59c

$1.50 Ladies' Chiffon Hose, any color 98c

$2 Ladies' Chiffon Hose any color $1.49

$1.50 Ladies' Kid Gloves at 98c

Our tremendous line of Ladies Dresses, Coats and Suits will be sacrificed at great reductions during this supreme shopping temptation

Our big line of Men's, Ladies' and Children's Dress shoes and oxfords, newest patterns in laces and straps, new colors, to go in this Christmas Festival at low prices.

Also you will be able to find, one of the most complete lines of toys and holiday goods shown anywhere in the county.

Two Stores Calera, Ala. — P. BAER — Two Stores Wilton, Ala.

THESE MEN JUDGE THEIR CIGARS BY MERIT—NOT PRICE

1.

The Judge is a plain speaking man. "It's the satisfaction I get out of Old Virginias, not what they cost, that holds me to them."

2.

The architect talks on a foundation of facts. "There is prime, long-leafed perfecto to stock in Old Virginias. They're all a good cigar should be."

3.

The banker gets at the net of the subject. "A Virginia Cheroot is well-made, even-burning, smooth smoking. I like them for what they deliver."

4.

The lawyer looks to the evidence. "They've been on the market 28 years—and growing all the time. That's all the brief I need—plus my own taste."

5.

To any discerning smoker, Old Virginias are a miracle value in cigars. Big volume makes the price; but 28 years "know-how" in cigar-making explains the quality.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands—from factory to YOU.

©1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

A well made smooth smoking cigar, with tobacco-quality worthy of a high-toned label. The triumph of big volume and elimination of frills.

Old Virginia Cheroots

4 Good Cigars [tipless] for 10¢

Uncle Pennywise Says.

Don't try to know it all, young man. It takes too much time. You can buy an encyclopedia on easy payments.

DR. W. J. MITCHEL
—DENTIST—
Phone No. 88. Montevallo, Ala.

E. W. CHAPMAN
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bonds.
Farm Lands a Specialty
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alabama

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

LEFKOVITS & WALTON
Agents
New York Life Insurance Company
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

WILSON DRUG CO.
P. C. Wilson, Proprietor
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alabama.

LUTHER L. SAXON
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
COLUMBIANA, ALA.

GIFTS THAT LAST
P. D. D. PENDLETON
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA.

O. K. MERCANTILE CO.
SHELBY, ALABAMA
Undertakers
High grade caskets at reasonable rates. Hearse free at local cemetery. Reasonable rates out of town.

Southeastern School of Printing 508 UNION STREET NASHVILLE, TEN

This great school, establissed by the printers and publishers the South, offers great opportunities to young men and women learn some branch of the printing industry. Linotyping, Monotypi Hand Composition, Proofreading and Platen Press Work. $80,0 equipment. Intensive training methods. A good education is essent Printing pays goof wages—$25 to $50 per week. Send for free ca log. It is fully illustrated and will give you detailed information. good trade is a great asset for any young man or woman.
SOUTHEASTERN SCHOOL OF PRINTING, 508 Union St., Nashville, Te

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK
Montevallo, Alabama
C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slone, Cashier
Checking Accounts Solicited.

PROFIT ON A SAFE BASIS
The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors

4%
Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.
Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

Pre-Christmas Sale

KANTER'S CASH STORE
Out To Break All Records
The Sale You Have Been Waiting For

Our entire stock of new Fall and Winter Merchandise including all kinds of Christmas toys and gifts, offered at slaughter prices. Come and see for yourself.

This Big Sale Is Now In FULL SWING

AND WILL LAST UNTIL AFTER CHRISTMAS

Come to see our Toyland. We have a full line of Toys. Come and bring your kiddies to see them. We sell them at greatly reduced prices.

SPECIAL

220 Dinim Overalls : : $1.49
Work Shirts : : : : : 69c

Sweaters For the Whole Family at a Great Reduction

Dress Goods

Dress Ginghams 9c
Apron Ginghams 15c
25c value 32-in. Dress Gingham This sale 19c
40c value Dress Ginghams at this sale 27c
Oating at this sale 17½c
$1.50 value, all wool Serge at this sale 89c
$2.00 value, all wool French Serge, at this sale $1.29
$3.75 value all wool Poiret Twill at this sale $2.59
$2.95 value Poiret Twill $2.19

Men's Hats

$2.50 value on sale at $1.49
$3.50 value Men's Hats for .. $2.19
$4.50 value Men's Hats for .. $3.59
$5.95 value Men's Hats for .. $4.79

Millinery at a Great Reduction

Dresses, Coats 2-Coat Suits

$18.50 value all wool Poiret Twill Dresses at this sale $9.95
$17.50 value, all wool Poiret Twill Dresses at this sale $9.50
$19.50 value Canton Crepe s Dresses at this sale $10.50
$16.50 value Canton Crepe Silk Dresses at this sale $8.95
$14.95 value, all silk Canton Crepe Dresses at this sale $5.95
$22.50 value Coat Suits at this sale $11.95
$30.00 value Coat Suits at this sale $17.50
$17.50 value Coat Suits at this sale $12.95
$10.00 Coats at this sale $6.95
Children's Coats at a great reduction at this sale.

All Boys' Suits at a great reduction at this sale.

Men's and Young Men's Clothing

$16.50 value Men's Suits at this sale $9.95
$22.50 value Suits at this sale $16.50
$27.50 value Suits, this sale $19.50
$35.00 value Suits, this sale $26.50

Hosiery

Men's Half Hose 10c
Children's Hose 12c
Ladies Cotton Hose 10c
Ladies' Pure Silk Hose 59c
$1.50 value Silk Hose 98c

Ladies Shoes

of the very latest styles and leathers.
$3.95 Oxfords, this sale $2.98
$4.95 Pumps, this sale $3.95
$5.50 value Patent Pumps .. $4.29
All Boys, Misses and Children's Shoes greatly reduced during this sale.

Underwear

Men's two-piece Underwear $1.00 value, at this sale 69c
$2.00 value Union Suits $1.49
$1.25 Boy's Union Suits 89c
$1.25 Ladies' Union Suits 98c
$1.00 value Ladies Under Shirts at this sale..... 69c

Shoes For the Whole Family

Men's and Ladies' Shoes, guaranteed all leather.
$2.95 value work Shoes, for $1.98
$3.50 value work Shoes for $2.79
$3.95 value Men's Dress Shoes This Sale $2.98
$4.50 value Men's Dress Shoes at this sale $3.69
$5.50 value Men's Dress Shoes at this sale $4.23
$5.95 value Men's Shoes for $4.95

Don't Forget the Date and Place. Nothing Reserved. Come One and All.

KANTER'S CASH STORE

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

Truthfully Told---Truthfully Sold.

Max Kanter, Proprietor

OUR COMIC SECTION

Events in the Lives of Little Men

(Copyright, W. N. U.)

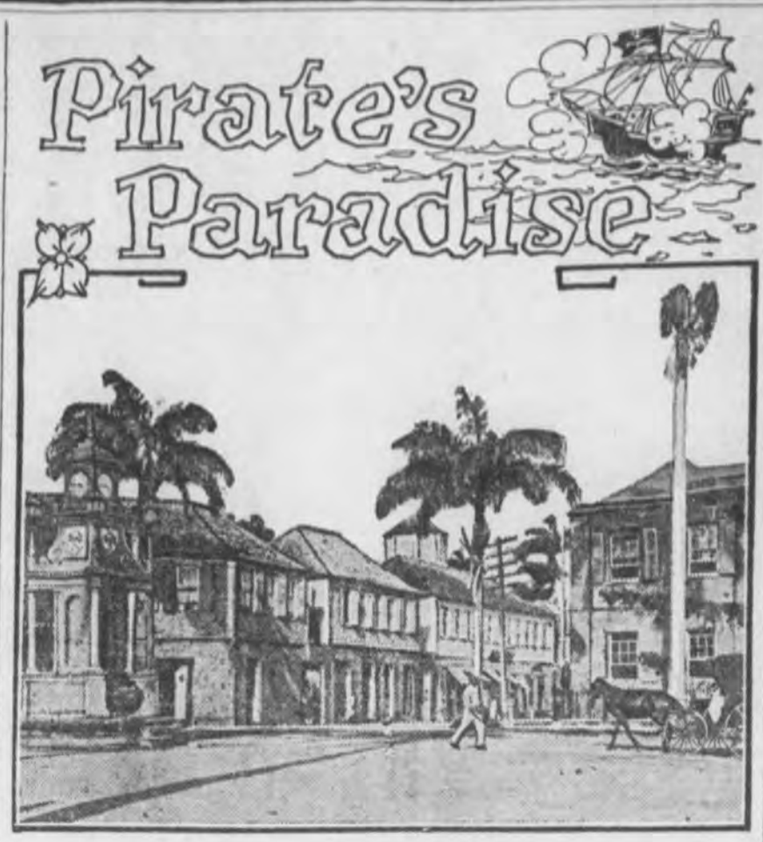
Playing Safe

© Western Newspaper Union

Ask Any Radio Fan

© Western Newspaper Union

Pirate's Paradise



Town Square in Basseterre, St. Kitts.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

"America's Riviera," the old Spanish main, including the shores of the islands and mainland of the Caribbean, is a peaceful land now, but only a few centuries ago it was the paradise of pirates. The Sixteenth century privateers and pirates—fearless, erratic, adventurous spirits — though they turned the Caribbean waters into a veritable Spanish cockpit, at the same time discovered lands, developed the art of seamanship, and added greatly to the world's knowledge of natural history and geography.

Shortly after the discovery of America, Spain, at the height of her power, claimed all of this domain as her own, and trespassers were regarded as pirates. Though the richest half of Europe was then emptying gold into the coffers of Aragon and Castile, it is estimated that one-third of the imperial revenue came from Spanish colonies in the New world.

But Spain was not permitted to establish her sway in the Western hemisphere unchallenged. Both England and France were puissant rivals.

With the English seamen of the Sixteenth century, who were gentlemen adventurers swearing allegiance to Elizabeth, came French corsairs, Dutch zeerovers, and nondescript bands of smugglers, slavers, traders and privateers to infest the West Indies.

This motley crew was followed by buccaneers in the Seventeenth century, and by ordinary pirates in the Eighteenth.

As a consequence, there is scarcely an island among the hundreds in the Caribbean that has not its story of these early adventurers, and many bits of land reveal today definite marks of their handiwork. There is not a stretch of coast 20 miles in length which does not have its story of buried treasure.

Buccaneers Were Tolerated.

There was practically no colony in the island-dotted Caribbean which had any scruples against allowing buccaneers to build, fit out, or repair their vessels in its harbors. Tortuga, off the northern coast of Haiti, and Jamaica were veritable pirate strongholds, while Martinique, Curacao, St. Kitts, and Barbados befriended them and encouraged their trade.

The home governments of France, England and the Netherlands found it good policy to countenance the buccaneers and to wink at some of their activities. The council of Jamaica even went so far in 1666 as to enumerate in its minutes 12 good reasons for granting commissions to privateers; for, this august body said, they furnished the island with necessary commodities at easy rates, bringing them coin, bullion, cocoa, logwood, indigo, and cochineal; helped poor planters by buying the provisions they had for sale; furnished work for various kinds of artisans; brought slaves to cultivate the plantations; furnished a navy for the island; and often, in intercepting Spanish messages, furnished the governor of the colony with valuable information.

The nursery of all the English and French colonies in the West Indies was St. Christopher, or St. Kitts, as it is now often called, one of the Leeward islands, half way between Porto Rico and Dominica. It was discovered by Columbus on his second voyage to America and called by him after the saint whose name the great discoverer himself bore.

Though today almost every available inch of its deep and fertile soil is cultivated, St. Kitts is poverty-stricken, owing to overpopulation. Its 70 square miles are encircled by a good road, and the heart of the island is made up of a series of peaks broken by wild ridges and ravines, which culminate in a great quiescent volcano towering more than 4,000 feet above the sea, in whose crater there lies a peaceful lake.

No place can claim a fuller measure of pirate lore than Tortuga, a small island located opposite Port de Paix, off the northern coast of Haiti. It is heavily wooded, rugged, and sparsely inhabited, and for those who are ignorant of its past there is nothing about it to arouse curiosity; but to those who know its history it is an enchanted isle, for it is alleged to contain more buried treasure than any other spot in the Antilles. For 30 years after the buccaneers were driven from St. Kitts it was such a stronghold for the "brethren of the sea," that even the mighty king of Spain, with all his ships and men, could not break it up.

Tortuga the Headquarters.

In its prime, when it was the headquarters of the buccaneers, this sink of the West Indies was spoken of as "the common refuge of all sorts of wickedness and the seminary, as it were, of pirates and thieves," though it was admitted that the outlaws themselves lived together in orderly fashion, without bolts or bars on their doors.

The reason for the choice of Tortuga as a resort lay in the fact that its harbor was easily defended, and that it gave an easy access to the Mona and Windward passages, the usual routes followed by the ships of Spain in their voyages to and from Cartagena, Porto Bello and Vera Cruz.

Here the freebooter had a home; on the beach he careened his ships and divided his pieces-of-eight, and in the town of Cayona he set up such lares and penates as he had, rested from his labors, and cursed or swaggered over his luck. In the later days of piracy it became the seat of operations of the French corsairs, the English repairing to Jamaica.

It was in Tortuga that the men who thought it their right to prey upon the commerce of Spain acquired the name of buccaneers. One of the chief reasons for the choice of Tortuga as a pirate colony was its nearness to Haiti and the bucans, or cattle from which they could obtain their meat supply. The meat was cut into strips and hung from frames over a slow fire to smoke.

The Indians, who taught the settlers the process, called both the place where the curing was done and the dried meat itself bucan, and as the cattle-hunters usually presented a bloody and forbidding appearance, they were termed buccaneers.

In the latter half of the Seventeenth century Jamaica was the stronghold of the English buccaneers. Morgan, the greatest and most sagacious of the pirates, planned most of his expeditions in Port Royal, which had the reputation of being the richest and wickedest spot on earth. And proud the city was of its notoriety.

Cartagena and Panama.

The destination of most of the ships which sailed from Spain to America was Cartagena, a town on the northern coast of Colombia. Its massive stone walls survive to speak their strength in the early days. The wealth of the western coast of South America was gathered first at Panama, then hauled by mules across the isthmus and deposited at Porto Bello, near the mouth of the Cascajal river, until it could be shipped to Cartagena; thence it was taken out, through the Caribbean sea, across the Azores and home.

Every year there was gathered in Old Panama the riches of the Incas—silver bullion, silver plate and precious stones—gold from the mines at Cana, the richest in America at that time, and pearls from the Pearl river in the Gulf of Panama, just to the west of the Gulf of San Miguel. Old Panama, founded in 1518, was the metropolis of the Isthmus then as New Panama is today. It was probably the richest place in all America, since it was the market for the whole of the west coast, as well as for the spices and silks of the Orient, and it kept in touch with the towns along the east coast through the Chagres river.

It was able to hold its own against all enemy expeditions until it was destroyed, in 1671, by Henry Morgan. Panama City was founded a few miles farther west.

Where desolate ruins are now, once there flourished a city reputed to have a population of 30,000. Its 200 houses of European elegance and 5,000 of the common kind, its mint, its hospital, its hundreds of warehouses, its cathedral, its eight convents and the king's stable, made it the equal of the superior of anything to be found on the two continents. Portions of the old Gold road, along which the tiny bells of the heavily laden mules used to tinkle, can still be followed for miles toward Porto Bello, though in many places it becomes an almost unrecognizable trail through the forest.

FREE To Housewives
Send us your name and we will send you, FREE and POSTPAID a 10 cent bottle of LIQUID VENEER. Wonderful for your daily dusting. Cleans, dusts and polishes with one sweep of your dust cloth. Renews pianos, furniture, woodwork, automobiles. Makes everything look like new. Makes dusting a pleasure.
Sold by Hardware, furniture, drug, paint, grocery and general stores.
LIQUID VENEER COMPANY Buffalo, N. Y.
LIQUID VENEER

Home-made daylight!
SCIENTIFIC tests show that Carbide-gas light is the nearest to actual daylight of all artificial illuminants. That is why it is best for the eyes.
The J. B. Colt system supplies this Union Carbide-gas from a simple automatic generator buried in your yard, to fixtures throughout house, barn, and grounds. And besides lighting, furnishes convenient cooking and ironing facilities.
Write to the nearest branch today for full information.
J. B. COLT COMPANY
(address nearest branch)
Oldest and largest manufacturers of Carbide lighting and cooking plants in the world
COLT TRADE MARK
NEW YORK, N.Y. . . . 30 E. 42d St.
ROCHESTER, N.Y. . . 31 Exchange St.
CHICAGO, ILL. . 1001 Monadnock Block
KANSAS CITY, MO. . 715 N.Y. Life Bldg.
CHATTANOOGA, TENN. . 6th & Market Sts.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. . 8th & Brannan Sts.

Trace Causes of Odors in Metal

Experiments have been made to prove that metals have odors composed not of the atoms of the metal but of the products of their chemical changes. At ordinary temperatures the odors frequently could not be detected or were almost imperceptible, but became more pronounced as the metal was heated, and then disappeared after the heating had been continued for a considerable length of time. The experimenters also have succeeded in isolating the odorous matter.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Cuticura for Pimply Faces.
To remove pimples and blackheads smear them with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Once clear keep your skin clear by using them for daily toilet purposes. Don't fail to include Cuticura Talcum. Advertisement.

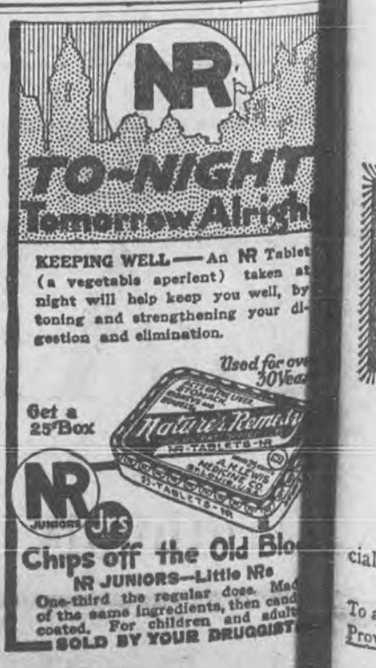
And Then She Screamed

Here seems to be proof that a dream, which seems to the dreamer to continue for a considerable period, in reality lasts only a few seconds, says the Indianapolis Star.

A South side woman dreamed that a rat had bitten her on each of her feet. She walked to a physician's office—in her dream, of course—and had the wounds cauterized. Then she began to awake, and it seemed that a rat was frisking about her neck. She screamed and, as she thrust out her arm, a little mouse scampered off and onto the floor.

Speaking of literature, many a man's love letters have made a decided hit with a jury.

A married woman says that the price of a husband's conscience is reproductive of a lot of pin money.



Genuine BAYER

ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER ASPIRIN" and INSIST!

Unless you see the "Bayer Cross" on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer Aspirin proved safe by millions and prescribed by physicians 24 years for

Colds Headache
Pain Neuralgia
Toothache Lumbago
Neuritis Rheumatism

Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proven directions.

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets—Also bottles of 24 and 100—Druggists.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid

COUGHS!

Break Them Up Quickly at the start

Never let a cold get a hold on you when you can break it up quickly, as millions have.

Take just one spoonful of Cheney's Expectorant and notice the quick results. Costs only few cents for handy pocket size—pleasant to taste—no harmful drugs. Colds quickly vanish when this powerful, safe, dependable remedy is used.

Relief Begins in Three Minutes!

CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT

Quick and Dependable

ITCH!

Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Stops Malaria, Restores Strength and Energy. 60c

Baby Loves A Bath With Cuticura Soap

Bland and Soothing to Tender Skins.

Gold Railway Bed

Passengers on a railroad east of Denver are to ride on a roadbed of gold. The right of way for 400 miles will be ballasted with the slag from the gold and silver mines of Colorado. Each ton of this slag contains at least $2 worth of gold ore, but the amount is too small for the smelting companies to get out profitably with the machinery now in use.

Old people are satisfied if their pains will only move around from day to day.

Forewarned, forearmed; to be prepared is half the victory.

P. D. Q.

Balthasar H. Meyer, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, told a railroad story at a Madison banquet.

"We'll call the line I have in mind the P. D. Q.," he said. "Well, a man under suspicion of hog stealing was being examined in court, and the magistrate said to him:

"'You claim that on the day these hogs disappeared you were at the P. D. Q. station from 9:15 in the morning till 11:50 at night. What on earth were you doing there all that time?'

"'Your honor,' said the suspect, 'I was waiting for the 10:20 a. m. express.'"

Green's August Flower

The remedy with a record of fifty-eight years of surpassing excellence. All who suffer with nervous dyspepsia, sour stomach, constipation, indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, headaches, coming-up of food, wind on stomach, palpitation and other indications of digestive disorder, will find GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER an effective and efficient remedy. For fifty-eight years this medicine has been successfully used in millions of households all over the civilized world. Because of its merit and popularity GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER is found today wherever medicines are sold. 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

Island's Historic Past

On the Island of Nisida in the Bay of Naples, where Brutus and Cicero plotted against Caesar in 44 B. C., the Italian government will build a big experimental air station and flying school.

Nisida is a small, rocky island, formerly volcanic. It was here that Brutus left his wife on his departure for Greece before the battle of Philippi, the news of which caused her to kill herself by swallowing burning coals.

The Household and Veterinary Remedy for 78 years is Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh. For Cuts, Sores, Galls, etc., to prevent Gangrene. Antiseptic, healing. 3 sizes.—Adv.

Sounds Like Boston

"What makes the radio squeak so Johnny?"

"Well, mother, if you must know, what you call squeaks are really the self-oscillations of the thermionic valves brought about by altering the potentials of the high and low tension batteries and varying the relations of the capacitative and inductive quantities in the receiver."—Life.

Indigestion produces disagreeable and sometimes alarming symptoms. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills remove symptoms and restore digestion. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

As a rule, the most interesting people are those who are interested in you, aren't they?

If one is obstinate enough he gets his own lonesome way. The procession has moved on.

Children Cry for

Fletcher's CASTORIA

MOTHER:— Fletcher's Castoria is a pleasant, harmless Substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups, especially prepared for Infants in arms and Children all ages.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

A Christmas Greeting

By W. E. GILROY
in The Congregationalist

THERE'S not a memory of home, or friend,
Be they so far remote, however lowly;
No place where new affections richly blend
That does not grow more beautiful, more holy,
At Christmas.

There is no laughter of a little child,
No fiery passion of Youth's rosy morning,
No treasure-house of Age, benign and mild,
That is not sweeter for the Christ's adorning
At Christmas.

There is no depth of love, no pang of sorrow,
No mighty moving in the human heart,
No comfort for today, hope for tomorrow,
In which the Christ has not a larger part
At Christmas.

So, as we send our greeting of affection,
We share the memory of Him who came;
In fellowship, in happy recollection,
Each fervent wish is hallowed in His name
At Christmas.

For Mother's Christmas

By ETHEL COOK ELIOT

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

GOING home for Christmas?"

"Yes. All of us always go. Great fun seeing each other again and exchanging news! We go back to the farm."

"Yours must be quite a family now, with all the children. But I suppose your mother gets in extra help, and you all help, too."

It was not impertinent, because it was my best friend speaking. She is just frank and sincere. She had dropped into my office after hours, not to buy insurance from me (yes, I am a female insurance agent and not a failure at it either!) but to say "good-by" before herself leaving the city for the holidays.

"No, there's no extra help to be gotten these days in the country any more than here. Not any that's worth while. So mother does it all herself. But she likes it. Christmas only comes once a year."

We said no more about that, but after my friend had gone I remembered her clear, frank eyes and the way they had received my reply. They had been slightly skeptical. I couldn't get that skepticism out of my mind.

The result was that, after much thought, I suddenly closed office a whole week before Christmas, practically kidnaped my youngest sister away from her home in a nearby city—that comfortable home with its full nursery, cook and nurse girl—and whisked her away to the country to give mother a little surprise.

At first I thought the surprise was to turn out an unpleasant one. We arrived in the early afternoon without warning. There was mother in a huge apron, her hair tied up in a towel, the front hall full of brooms and mops, housecleaning. She could not conceal her chagrin from us, we had so suddenly appeared. It certainly was different from our customary homecoming. Then, she met us at the front door, her arm linked in father's, dressed in her best silk, her white hair freshly curled, behind them the house shining in spotlessness. And then the pantry filled with pies, cakes, roast ham with its cloves, and mother's wonderful jelly tarts! Such an inviting, homelike, hospitable house! Such a sparklingly clean pantry full of good things!

We Arrived in the Early Afternoon Without Warning.

How different today, six days before we were expected! Father had banished himself to the barn, and we found him disconsolately smoking by old Jim's stall. The house was chaos. All the rugs seemed to be up and the furniture out of place. Mother was cleaning!

"Oh, dear!" she greeted us. "I didn't expect you till Christmas Eve! Nothing's ready! I've just this hour started to fix for you."

We put down our suitcases in wonderment at this unheard-of welcome from mother, our mother!

"That's just it, mother, dear," I said. "We didn't want you to do all this 'fixing' alone. We've come to fix for ourselves, and the horde that follows on Christmas Eve."

Well, at first mother simply wouldn't hear of it. We were to be company and just wait till she got the rooms we were to occupy aired and made up. Since we were all there, well we must stay. But we shouldn't drudge. She guessed we worked hard enough, each at our own particular kind of work, all the year, not to have to work when we came home.

We wouldn't listen. We had come for one thing. We laughingly overbore her in all her objections.

More than that, we called father in from the barn and got him to bundle mother up and take her off for a sleigh ride. "A sleigh ride! Who ever heard of a sleigh ride and all the parlor furniture in the hall waiting for the parlor to be cleaned!" Well, mother heard of a sleigh ride, and under just those conditions now. She heard of it from her two strong-minded daughters, her youngest and her oldest. Father caught our spirit at once and bustled her away. How merrily the bells jingled as they whirled away through the snow!

Now for it! Marge and I tucked up our skirts, draped ourselves in big aprons and wound towels about our heads, and fell to. It was hard work, but what a lark we made of it. And we had a good supper waiting for mother and father when they got back.

And every day that week we did the same. Father whisked mother off in the sleigh to visit old friends in nearby towns, or just for the ride. And while they were gone we—hustled.

By Christmas Eve the house was as shining and tidy as it would have been had mother been left to herself with it. And Marge had proved herself a marvelous cook, too. There were pies and cakes, and even tarts, and the ham with cloves. The turkey was dressed, too, and the stuffing made. And mother had not so much as put her nose into the pantry door.

Then the family arrived. Three daughters, with their three husbands and several children apiece, and two brothers with their wives and offspring. And mother and father met them at the door, mother's arm tucked in father's, her hair freshly curled, her black silk rustling.

Father Whisked Mother Off in the Sleigh to Visit Friends.

"My," cried Brother-in-law Jim, Nell's husband, "but you've lost ten years, mother! Such bright eyes and pink cheeks I've never seen."

Marge and I, in the darker background, nudged each other and giggled.

All the others cried the same thing. It was true enough, too. This was a different mother from the rather weary old woman we were accustomed to meeting at holidays here in the open door.

Father spoke up: "You're dead right, children," he said. "Your mother looks like this all the year except at holiday time. Then she just slaves getting ready for you and sort of gets worn out. This year was different. This year she went honeymooning with me instead."

Marge and I came forth from hiding. "Yes, and hereafter is always to be different," we promised.

And how it paid! We'd gotten into the way of thinking mother was an old woman. Now we saw her as her neighbors and father saw her—hearty, bright-eyed, carefree.

"My, it seems good to be eating other's cooking," escaped her that night, over Marge's apple tarts. "But you are naughty children just the same. Marge and you shouldn't boss me so! Right in my own house, too!" The reproach in her eyes, though mild indeed, was for an instant real. Marge caught it, and quicker than I, got up and ran around to mother at her place. There she leaned above her and gave her one of her old, impulsive, childish hugs. "Yes, mother dear, it's your own house. But you're our own mother. So 'twas fair!"

And everybody agreed that Marge had justified our highhandedness. However that may be, from Christmas to Christmas mother seems to be growing younger.

Well, another Christmas is here, and this insurance agent must get out her aprons. The other girls have offered to take their turns, of course, but I am too selfish to let them. I look forward to the annual cleaning spree with my jolly little sister, Marge, as to a jollification. And the best part of it all is the sound of those jingling sleighbells as mother and father go whisking out of the yard.

Heigh ho! Merry Christmas!

Waffles!

make them in half the time with self-rising flour

2 eggs
1 cup sweet milk
2 tablespoons butter (melted)
2 tablespoons sugar
1¼ cups self-rising flour

Break eggs in bowl and beat vigorously, then add milk and melted butter or vegetable oil; add sugar to self-rising flour, then combine mixtures. Some flours are drier than others and will take more moisture; if the batter looks thick or heavy, add a little more sweet milk. A heavy batter will not make a crisp, tender waffle.

A book of delightful recipes is offered below; send for your free copy

YOU'LL never be disappointed with the golden-crusted waffles you make with self-rising flour. Something about them makes them better than most waffles—far more tender and light and tempting. They are the ideal treat for any meal 'most any time.

Every one who loves good home-cooked foods will find real fun in making self-rising flour waffles. It's no trick at all to mix up a bit of batter, heat the waffle iron and supply a hungry family with this delicious, wholesome food.

The reason self-rising flour makes such good waffles is because the pure rising ingredients (the kind used in the best phosphate baking powder) are already mixed in pure soft wheat flour—just enough to make the waffle batter puff up light and fluffy. This means that you can't go wrong on your mixing. For this reason self-rising flour is the ideal flour to use for biscuits, muffins, pastries and cakes.

In buying self-rising flour remember that it is sold in a number of different grades just as plain flour. The price you pay determines the grade. The Blue Shield of the Soft Wheat Millers' Association on a bag guarantees you healthful, wholesome, dependable flour.

SOFT WHEAT MILLERS' ASSN., Inc., NASHVILLE, TENN.

Use SELF-RISING Flour

It's Healthful Dependable Economical

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Every bag of self-rising flour bearing this Blue Shield of purity is fully guaranteed by the Soft Wheat Millers' Association, Inc. The contents are absolutely pure and wholesome and comply with all Pure Food Laws. If you are not satisfied with your baking results, the Association will cheerfully refund your money.

This recipe book, handsomely illustrated, gives 50 ways to save time in cooking.

Get this Free Book of Recipes

Home Economics Dept.
Soft Wheat Millers' Assn., Inc., Nashville, Tenn.

Send your FREE book "Fifty Ways to Use Self-Rising Flour" to:

Name.....

Address.....
(Write or print name and address plainly)

© 1924 SWMA 1572-4

A Cheaper, Better STOCK FEED

Grains and hays are high. Molasses adds value to cheap roughage and other feeds. Produces milk, beef or pork at less cost. Keeps stock healthy. Sold in barrels, car lots or less. Write for prices and booklet. Agents and dealers wanted.

MOBILE IMPORTING & TRADING CO.
Mobile, Alabama

MOLASSES

Milk Made No Sort of Hit With Slum Woman

Hal C. Davis, the noted reformer, said in an address in Pittsburgh:

"Politics are so rotten, it's no wonder autocracies have sprung up in Russia, Spain and Italy. An autocracy may spring up here. Our average politician understands statesmanship about as well as the slum woman understood milk.

"A model dairy, by way of an advertisement, once supplied a sample quart of rich, pure milk to a slum woman, and next morning, when the wagon stopped again, the woman said:

"'Don't leave no more of yer milk here, mister. It's on the pig. I'm afeared of it.'

"'Afeared of our milk? Why so, madam?' said the delivery man.

"'I let the sample ye give me yesterday stand for a couple of hours, she replied, 'and it got a nasty, thick, yaller scum on the top of it, so I got afeared aand had to throw it out.'"

If your eyes smart or feel scalded, Roman Eye Balsam, applied on going to bed, will relieve them by morning. Adv.

Time to "Take Stock"

Many a man who boasts that he is self-made wonders why his fellows do not share his admiration of his creation. Such a man should go farther and give serious thought to his achievement. Introspection might reduce his conceit.—Grit.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Keep Your Credit Good

Ef you don't pay de fiddler, you'll have ter depend on de wind ter whistle for you when you wants ter dance.—Atlanta Constitution.

The man who denies everything and asserts nothing is of no positive bene fit to himself or anybody else.

RESINOL

Soothing and Healing
Clears Away Blotches

"4 in 1" Rotor Ford timer insurance Eliminates Timer expense. Increases efficiency.

SAVE OLD FORD TIMER CASES no matter how worn or pitted. The square sparking disc has 4 wipe contacts giving the consumer 4 new timers. ¼ turn to the right does the trick. Price $1.00 delivered. L. L. Langdon Co., 134 W. 35th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Removes Dandruff—Stops Hair Falling. Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair. 60c. and $1.00 at Druggists. Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

PATENTS Send model or drawing for examination. Highest references. Best results. Promptness assured. Watson E. Coleman, Booklet FREE. Patent Lawyer, 644 G St., Washington, D. C.

PIANOS & PLAYERS ORGANS and PHONOGRAPHS Shipped on trial. Write for catalog. Mention which instrument you want. We will save you money. Terms easy. E. E. Forbes & Sons Piano Co. BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Buy Concord Yarns direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

CROSS-WORD GAME FOR 10 PERSONS. Directions with each game, 50c postpaid. Cross-Word Game Distributors, Butler, Pa.

HOLIDAY SPECIALS!

We are going to make some Sale Prices for a few days during the week before Christmas. Beginning, Saturday, December 19th to 24th. We appreciate your friendship and patronage, and wish for you and yours a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. Here We Go!

12 Lbs. Granulated Cane Sugar $1.00

One lot, size 3, 4, 5 and 5 1-2 Ladies and Misses School Shoes and Oxfords, solid leather and best styles. Our regular lines - - $1.50

All wool Serge and Cassimere Coats for Men. Just a few dozen - - - - $3.50

A few hundred yards of Sea Island Domestic, 8 yards for $1.00

One lot of celebrated Blue Buckle and H D Special Overalls, 220 Denim, pair $1.75

Special prices on Men's all wool Suits.

Ladies Coats almost one-half price.

45-pound Cotton Rolled Edge Mattress $8.50

Flour! Who said it was too high? We are going to sell you a mighty good one for $1.10

3 pounds good ground Coffee for $1.00

A Number 1, 5-string broom for 50c

We have anything you need in the furniture line at greatly reduced prices. Stoves and Ranges too

Time to sow oats. We have 500 bushels genuine Texas Red Rust Proof. "Red Star Tag on every Bag," at per bushel $1.10

Our mule buyer has just returned with our second car of young Tennessee mules. Mules are right, so is the price. Wagons and Buggies.

We have a complete line of Holiday Gifts for the whole family. Fruits, Candies, Etc. Our sales force will be glad to see you and more than glad to show you. This is your store, and we will certainly be disappointed if you don't come.

McGRAW BROTHERS

"BIG BUD" Vincent, — "LITTLE BUD" Alabama

Muscle-lame

Quickly relieve that stiffness and ache

Start rich, healing blood to flowing through stiff, sore muscles—and the lameness disappears as if by magic. That's how Sloan's works—first a glowing warmth, then the pain is gone! All druggists—35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

Stockholders Meeting

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Columbiana Savings Bank, a corporation, is hereby called for Wednesday, the 14th day of January, 1925, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Said meeting to be held in Columbiana Savings Bank, in Columbiana, Alabama.

W. F. Davis, President.
W. L. Christian, Cashier

STRAYED: Sunday, November 30th, black mare mule, weight 900 pounds, straight ears,, star in face. Notify L. N. Wyatt, Vincent, Ala., Rt. 1, and receive reward. 11 3t.

IF YOU HAVE

Malaria, Piles, Sick Headache, Costive Bowels, Dumb Ague, Sour Stomach, and Belching; your food does not assimilate, you have no appetite.

Tutt's Pills

will remedy these troubles

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATRIX SALE.

Notice is hereby given that on Saturday, the 20th day of December, 1924, during the legal hours of sale, the undersigned, Luseta Horton, as administratrix of the estate of I. P. O, Horton, deceased, will sell to the highest bidder for cash all of the personal property belonging to the estate and ordered sold by a decree of the Probate Court of Shelby County, Alabama, rendered on the 15th day of September, 1924, and which was advertised to be sold by former notice of said sale under said decree of said court published in the Shelby County Reporter, and which sale was advertised to be held and was held on the 18th day of October, 1924, and the property now to be sold on the date, aforesaid, is that part of said personal property which was not sold at said former sale, and consists in part of the stock of merchandise in connection with the store operated by interstate at the time of his death, one filling station, one Bell Thresher, and all the residue of said personal property which was not sold, as aforesaid.

Said sale will be had and conducted at the home where the said I. P. O. Horton died and where he resided for a number of years prior to his death, and for the purpose of paying debts of interstate.

Luseta Horton,
12 11 2t Aa Administratix.

Husband Is Pleased.

"Jim," she said, as he settled down for a comfortable smoke, "I've got a lot of things I want to talk to you about." "Good!" said her husband, I'm glad to hear it. Usually you want to talk to me about a lot of things you haven't got!"

Columbiana Savings Bank

Capital Stock $35,000.00

COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA.

W. F DAVIS, President. W. W. WALLACE, Vice-President

W. L. CHRISTIAN, Cashier.

Your account Solicited

Circuit Clerk

SHELBY COUNTY REPORTER

Subscription $1.50 a Year. COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA, DECEMBER 25, 1924 Vol. 81. No. 49.

SHELBY COUNTY'S NEEDS DISCUSSED BY FARM LEADER

The county wide dairy campaign for Shelby county was brought to a successful close with a meeting at the court house at which Roland Turner, Agricultural Agent of the Southern Railway, was the principal speaker. The attendance at this meeting was regretably small but was representative and the close, enthusiastic attention given Mr. Turner's address by those present made up in large measure for the disappointment in the size of the crowd.

In his usual clear and forceful manner, Mr. Turner discussed agricultural conditions in Shelby county, pointing out in a practical way the difficulties with which those engaged in farming are having to contend. He placed particular emphasis upon that part of our farming system that makes it necessary for a large per cent of farmers to carry on their operations on a credit basis. He spoke of the moral effect of such an experience declaring that to be hopelessly in debt does more than any other one thing to take away from a man that ambition and that hope for a better future for himself and those dependent upon him, that is his chief incentive to work and sacrifice to better his condition.

On the other hand, the speaker declared, when a way has been found to free men from this burden of debt and to put money into their pockets that will enable them to meet current obligations, buying from whomsoever they please; there will be awakened in them a spirit of independence that puts new zeal and new ambition into men's lives. This feeling of independence will add to the satisfaction and the happiness of the home life and it will tend to elevate the standard of citizenship for a whole community.

The easiest and safest way, Mr. Turner said, in which farmers can find relief from their present unsatisfactory system of faming is to adopt a plan that has been tried out thoroughly in hundreds of southern communities in recent years. That is the plan of keeping a few cows on each farm and selling the surplus milk. To these may be added for each farm a small flock of hens and a few pigs. When this plan is carried out right, and that can be done, he said, on almost every farm in Shelby county, it will provide a cash income suffcient for current expenses. It will do this too without taking very much time from the regular crop operations and through the addition of manure to the soil will so increase the fertility of the soil as will make it possible to grow as much cotton and other general crops as is now being grown, and in many instances a great deal more. Here the speaker emphasized the necensity for improving the soil, saying that no method has ever yet been found or ever will be found by which farmers can make money cultivating poor land.

In his closing appeal, Mr. Turner urged those who had listened to him not to permit themselves to dismiss his suggestions without giving them serious thought. He stated that to think seriounly about any problem is often a hard thing to do but that the time has come when farmers and business men as well must give serious thought to the conditions he had outlined. He added that it is only those men who are willing to think seriously that every rise above the level of their environments, and that it is only as a man gives thought to his condition that he is ever able to do much to improve it.

Mr. Turner again pledged to the farmers and business men of Shelby county the hearty co-operation of his organization, the Development Service of the Southern Railway, in all their efforts for developing a better farming system for the county.

Christmas Advertising Breaks All Records

Two weeks ago the Reporter broke all previous records in the volume of advertising carried for the merchants of Shelby county, the total for that week being 444 column inches or about 3.7 pages.

Last week another new record was made, breaking that of the week before. In that isiue merchants of Shelby county used 500 column inches, a little more than four solid pages, to tell their friends and customers about their Christmas goods. In doing this the merchants set a new standard of co-operation with the home paper and gave a courteous invitation to thousands of people to do their Christmas buying at home.

R. A. REID NAMED FOR EXCHANGE TROPHY

Dear Mr. Appleton:

Please allow me to space to place in nomination Mr. R. A, Reid as a man who has meant much to the town of Montevallo during the past year.

In the church, Mr. Reid is an outstanding figure. He is a deacon, Sunday school superintendent, member of the choir and a willing worker in any church activity.

While not connected in any official capacity with the school interests of the town, he nevertheless lends his support whenever called upon, I have known him on several occasions to give liberally of his time to take part in some entertainment for the benefit of the schools.

He is an active member of the only men's club in Montevallo, having for its object the upbuilding of the community. As chairman of the entertainment committee of the Exchange Club, he has seen to it that a meeting place and lunch are provided for each meeting of the club—a job of no small size and of vital importance to the life of the organization. By attending the National Meeting of Exchange Clubs this year, he brought back and injected into the club new life and enthusiasm.

As head of the Ford Agency in Montevallo, he contributes much to the business life of the town. Besides adding its share to the total business resources of the community, his organization is efficient and courteous in its service.

Mr. Reid is serving the town well as Mayor.

As to his personal and private service to the town, I know of no person who is more willing to give of his time and means to any worthy cause. Very truly yours,

M. L. ORR.

License Sales Greatly Exceed Last Year's

Fourteen hundred automobile licenses have been issued by the probate office to date, according to figures given out by Judge L. B. Riddle . Hunting licenses amount to about 1300 and 488 privilege licenses have been issued. These figures are greatly in excess of those for last year, Judge Riddle states. For the month of Decelber the office has made an average of one marriage license a day.

Frank Lane Harwell of the faculty of the Cherokee County High School, at Center, is at home to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harwell.

EXCHANGITES HEAR L. & N. OFFICIALS

Members of the Exchange Club of Columbiana heard at their last meeting a very interesting and instructive address by Hon. Tyler Goodwin of Montgomery, a representative of the L. & N. Railroad, on the Relation of the Railroads to the General Public.

Mr. Goodwin stated that of all agencies that have served in the development of this country the railroads have done most. He showed how in every phase of its life the welfare of any community is closely linked up with the welfare of the railroads that serve the community.

He spoke of the difficulties with which railroads have had to contend because of unfavorable legislation and explained his visit to Columbiana by saying that it is the purpose of the present managemegnt of the L. & N. railroad to carry to the people a frank statement of facts as to real conditions. The management believes he said, that once the people are given the facts, they will demand that the railroadn be given fair treatment.

Mr. Goodwin was accompanied by C. W. Toliver of Birmingham, an official of the L. & N. who spoke briefly emphasizing the desire of his railroad for better acquaintance with its patrons and for a more friendly understanding.

Other speakers at the meeting were Rev. R. W. Stuckey, whose topic was Civic Pride and G. W. Humphrey of the Southern Railwaywho spoke briefly of the county wide dairy campaign in which he had had a part. Mr. Humphrey stated that he had been surprined at the peculiar advantages Shelby county has for building a great dairy industry.

Shelby Cotton Crop Is Greatest Since 1914

Cotton statistician B. C .Kendrick reports that 5,335 bales of cotton were ginned in Shelby county to December .1, as compared with 3,401 bales ginned to the same date last year. This is the largest crop produced in the county, Mr. Kendrick says, since 1914.

Pension Warrants Ready First Day of New Year

Pension warrants for Confederate veterans and widows of veterans have been received at the probate office and will be ready for delivery January 1st. The total amout for distribution is $5,-994.50.

J. E. Adams Appointed Jury Commissioner

J. E. Adams of Vincent has been appointed to serve as a member of the jury commission of Shelby county to succeed R. E. Cosper of Sterrett, resigned. The other members of the commission are: J. M. Lyon, Columbiana and G. W. DeShazo, Aldrich.

Whitten Released On $3,000 Bond

Douglas Whitten who lives near Shelby was released under $3,000 bond in his preliminary trial before Judge J. M. Leonard. Whitten is charged with the murder of his father in law, Will Pearson, who died last week from the effects of a knife wound said to have been inflicted by Whitten.

William Teague of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Pittsburg, Pa., is at home to spend his Christmas vacation with his mother, Mrs. Rosa Teague.

ALABAMA COLLEGE DRIVE CONTINUES

Montevall, Dec. 21.—The campaign for Alabama College continues to move forward with very satisfactory progress, according to Director O. C. Carmichael. For the two weeks ending December 6, a little over $21,000 was subscribed to the fund.

The spirit of sacrifice on the part of those who are contributing to this cause is a source of great inspiraton to the institution from day to day.

The following is a report by counties for the two weeks ending December 6.

Baldwin	$1,342.50
Butler	50.00
Cherokee	812.50
Clarke	3,456.00
Cleburne	462.00
Colbert	2,220.00
Conecuh	450.00
DeKalb	352.00
Franklin	1,230.00
Hale	100.00
Jefferson	200.00
Lee	30.00
Marengo	3,795.00
Marshall	190.00
Mobile	11,883.75
Monroe	25.00
Montgomery,	75.00
Pickens	1,629.00
Russell	240.00
St. Clair	2,000.00
Shelby	50.00
Sumpter	1,356.50
Talkapoosa	50.00
Tuscaloosa	633.75
Wilcox	1,225.00
Winston	100.00

Schools Have Closed For The Holidays

The schools of Columbiana have closed for the Christmas holidays and several of the teachers and boarding students have gone to their homes. The high school closed Friday night with a play, "Sunshine," given by the High School Dramatic Club under the direction of Mrn. P. O. Luck, which drew a good house and which proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the many plays given by the high school. Mrs. Luck was ably assisted by Mrs. Mildred White Wallace and Mrs. W. L. Longshore of the Voice and Violin departments.

The public school closed Tuesday afternoon with a Christmas tree for the school and with appropriate exercises by the pupils of the different grades.

Work will be resumed in the high school on Monday, December 29; the public school will start its work for the new year on Wednesday, December 31.

Reports from various parts of the county indicate that similar appropriate exercises were held in many of the schools, Christmas trees, box suppers, bazaars and other forms of entertainment being given.

J. W. Morrow

News reached Columbiana on Tdesday of the sudden death of J. W. Morrow, a former citizen of Shelby county, at the home of his son Charles Morrow, in Bessemer. Mr. Morrow had reached an advanced age and for the past year had been almost an invalid as a result of a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Morrow spent most of his life in Shelby county, having gone to Bessemer to make his home about two years ago. He was a life long member of the Primative Baptist church. Funeral arrangement had not been announced Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Dixie Bates left Wednesday to spend the holidays with relatives in Tuscaloosa.

Clyde Nelson Honored In Birmingham

Clyde Nelson, an old Columbiana boy, now president of the Nelson Real Estate and Investment Company of Birmingham, was recently honored by being unanimously elected president of the Birmingham Real Estate Board. He will be installed at the annual meeting of the Realtors association at the Tutwiler hotel, January 8, which the papers say, will be an event in the history of the organization.

Mr. Nelson is only 26 years old and he has taken high rank among the young business men of Birmingham. In becoming president of the Real Estate Board, he will assume an office that for the past two years has been filled by one of the oldest and most prominent of business men of that city.

A. J. INGRAM KILLED BY FALLING TREE

Shelby county lost a good citizen in the sudden death of A. J. (Jack) Ingram, which sad event occurred Monday morning near his home in the Spring Creek community.

It is said that some young men were cutting a large tree and asked Mr. Ingram to assist them in directing the fall of the tree. While he was doing this the tree divided suddenly and struck another tree near by, a part of which struck Mr. Ingram with great force, killing him instantly.

Mr. Ingram was a man of the highest integrity, a successful farmer and business man ,a good neighbor and a liberal supporter of every worthy cause. His place in the community will be hard to fill.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS

A very satisfactory list of new subscriptions has been received by the Reporter since November 27, the date at which new subscriptions were last acknowledged. The names in the new list are as follows:

B F Gunn
C S Barnes
Jno W Moore
A J Johnson
P M Henderson
Rev W J Elliott
Ordice Rasco
Miss Irene Bishop
Mrs N J Rhodes
Dr F R Lubright
J H Creel
J W Maddox
B L Jones
Mrs C L McDaniel
J L Davis
C M Gardner
J J Thompson
B C Lee
W L Walton
Rev J R Helms
T B Perry
Mrs M E Perry
Mrs Annie Baker
Herbert Baker
Robert Foster
O B Peete
E T Lovelady
C Wingard
S M Oglesby
D W Jones
W B Smith
F M Vick
Roland Turner
J M Baldwin
Mary Faust
R F Lyon
Mrs B M Williams
S J Ingram
J I Crane
T W Martin
A S McKinnon
Mrs Louie Mason
E H Farr
C C Seale
Mark Sims
A J Roper,
R V Brown
G A Wood
J F Albright
George Brasher
W M Harless

FARM BUREAU HOLDS PROFITABLE MEETING

The Board of Directors of the Shelby County Farm Bureau held a profitable meeting at the court house Saturday December 13th. There was a good attendance of the members of the board and they entered heartily and in a businens like manner into the work for which the meeting was called.

The buying of fertilizer was the principal topic for dicsussion and this matter was given thorough consideration. It was arranged that orders for fertilizer for members of the Farm Bureau should be taken by the officers and the members of the Board of Directors. This will make it easy for members to place their orders, there being a member of the board or an officer in practically every community in the county. Members who have not paid their dues or who did not pool cotton will be expected to pay dues before their orders can be accepted.

Delegates were chosen to represent the county in the meeting of Farm Bureau and Extension workers to be held in Auburn December 29th to January 3rd. This is an annual meeting and plans for the coming year's work will be made out. Some time was given also to a discussion of plans for a campaign to be put on for increasing the membership of the Shelby County Bureau and more definite announcement of these plans will be made at a later date.

J. T. Lovett, R 1, Columbiana, was elected president of the organization to take the place of J. M. Benton, Siluria, whose resignation was accepted. J. P. Montgomery tendered his resignation as secretary, stating that he found himself unable to give the necessary time to the work and Luther Fowler of Columbiana, was chosen to serve in his place.

The meeting was one of the most satisfactory, Mr. Lauderdale states, that has been held since he took up the work as county agent and he expressed himself as being gratified at the promise of a more active organigation of the farmers that can and will greatly strengthen his work as county agent.

Those in attendance at the meeting were: Irvin Wingard, Wilsonville; W. S. Stonecypher, Siluria; W. W. Clark, Calera; D. H. Mitchell Montevallo; J. M. Lyon, Columbiana; J. T. McEwen, Wilsonville; W. M. Stone, Columbiana; B. H. Green, Westover; J. P. Montgomery, and Mr. Lauderdale of Columbiana.

Mrs. Hortence Friedberger

Mrs. Hortence Friedberger, widow of the late Simon Friedberger, died suddenly Saturday morning at her home in Bessemer after an illness of about one week. The immediate cause of her death was heart failure. The remains were brought to Columbiana Sunday and the funeral service, conducted by Rev. John Milner, was held at the cemetery where interment was made.

Mrs. Friedberger formerly made her home in Columbiana where for a number of years her husband was a leading merchant. She has many griends here who are grieved at her untimely passing. Surviving Mrs. Friedberger are: one daughter, Mrs. Polly Pierce; one son, Phillip Oster Friedberger; a sister, Miss Kate Oster and an aunt, Miss J. W. Oster, all of Bessemer.

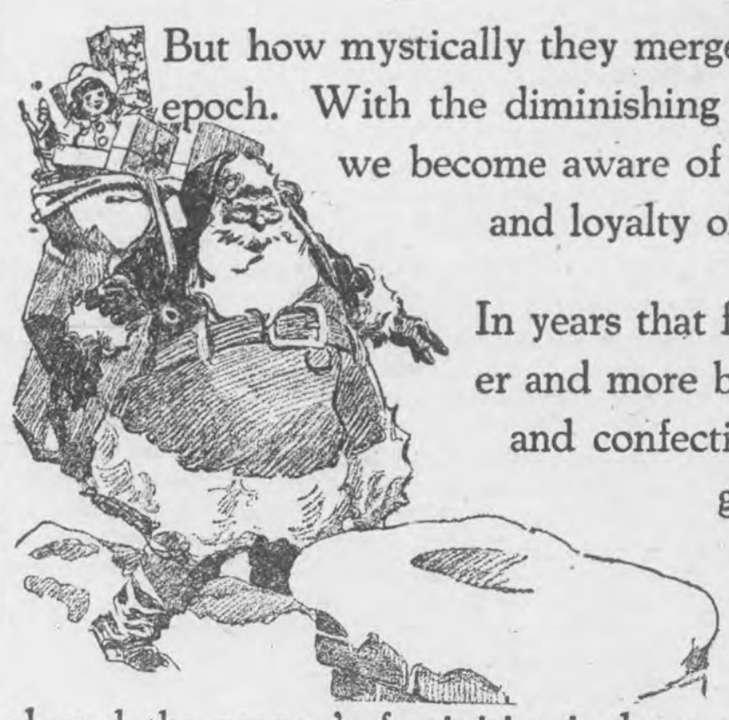
CHRISTMAS

by W. D. Pennypacker

IN HUMAN experience there is no page more replete with joyous association. The first Christmas we remember only as described in sacred story, and we visualize its influence through the spirit exemplified in the lives of our fellows.

The next Christmas we cannot recall. We may have lain in trundle-bed or cuddled in a mother's arms. That was a hallowed Christmas!

Then followed anniversaries teeming with visions of sleighs, Santa Claus, candy and toys, when the veriest romance of Yuletide was so real! We never forget those days.



But how mystically they merge into another epoch. With the diminishing vision of Santa we become aware of a better Christmas in the conscious love and loyalty of others. And then—

In years that follow, the Christmas season becomes richer and more beautiful. It has lost the confusion of toys and confections. But in all these years there has been growing a tree that is ever green—upon it a thousand glittering spangles—hallowed memories of those who played with us around our earliest Christmas trees, or shared the season's festivities in later years.

Refreshing are the recollections that flood upon us as a newer generation takes our place in the pleasures and happy illusions of Christmas.

May this Yuletide be brighter and happier than all that have gone before.

Copyright, 1924, Western Newspaper Union

Famous Forts in U. S. History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

The Fort That Was Built by Indian Slaves

Among the interesting sights in St. Augustine, Fla. (the oldest town in the United States) is a tablet over the entrance to Fort Marion, bearing the coat of arms of Spain and the following legend: "Don Ferdinand the Sixth, Being King of Spain and the Field Marshal, Don Alenzo Fernando Hereda, Being Governor and Captain General of This Place, St. Augustine, of Florida, and Its Province, This Fort Was Finished in the Year 1756. The Works Were Directed by the Captain Engineer, Don Pedro De Brazos Y Garay."

But this ancient inscription does not tell the full story of the forts in St. Augustine. From the day in 1565 when Pedro Menendez erected there the first rude fortification to hold Florida against the French, there have been a series of fortresses here. And they have been connected with some stirring scenes in Florida colonial history—with the massacre of Jean Ribaut's Huguenots by Menendez, with De Gourges' terrible revenge and with other incidents which gave this "land of flowers" a baptism of blood.

The first fort erected on the present site of Fort Marion was an octagonal wooden structure named San Juan de Pinos, built as early as 1586. It was this fort which Sir Francis Drake, the famous British navigator, captured without resistance during a flying raid on the "Spanish Main" in that year. A little later a more pretentious structure of stone was begun and it was named Fort St. Mark. In 1638 the Spaniards were at war with the Apalachian Indians, who lived near the Suwanee river, and, having defeated them, forced their captives to work on the fortifications for more than 60 years. When Gen. James Oglethorpe, the founder of Georgia, laid siege to St. Augustine in 1740, Monteano, the Spanish commandant, had a large force of convicts from Mexico at work on the fort and by this time it was so strong that Oglethorpe gave up the attempt to capture the town.

At the close of the French and Indian war Spain, France's ally, was forced to cede Florida to the British. In 1748 it was given back to Spain, who held it until 1819, when the United States purchased it for $5,000,000. On July 10, 1821, the Spanish flag, which had floated over St. Augustine for more than two centuries and a half, was lowered and the Stars and Stripes went up over Fort St. Mark. Some time later it was renamed Fort Marion in honor of Francis Marion, the famous "Swamp Fox" of the Revolution, and as Fort Marion the ancient fortress remains to this day.

Where Carelessness Cost 400 Lives

At the opening of the War of 1812 there lived at Lake Tensaw, near Mobile, Ala., a wealthy half-breed named Samuel Mimms. His house was built on low, sandy ground, surrounded by a marsh, and around it he had constructed a stockade with an uncompleted blockhouse at one corner.

When the Creek Indians joined the cause of the British the settlers gathered at this fort and in July, 1813, General Claiborne sent a force of 175 soldiers, under Maj. Daniel Beasley, to hold the fort. At first Beasley energetically obeyed Claiborne's orders to strengthen the fort, then allowed the work to slacken when the Creeks failed to make any hostile move. He even became so negligent as to fail to post guards, except at night and, one day when two slaves brought news of having seen signs of a large body of Indians, Beasley ordered them flogged for spreading a false alarm.

The next day, just as the drums beat the noon mess call, a horde of "Red Sticks" (Creek warriors) dashed out of a little ravine near the fort and were within 30 yards of the gate, which stood wide open and unguarded, before they were discovered. Beasley saw them first and ran to shut the gate. As he put his shoulder against the heavy log door the sand, which had drifted against it, held it open for a second. In that instant the Indians struck it, hurled it back, fell upon Beasley with their hatchets and cut him down.

Then the red horde, led by Chief Weatherford, poured into the fort. So desperate was the defense of the soldiers that at first the Creeks were driven back. But Weatherford rallied them and they soon gained full possession of the fort by burning the defenders out from house to house in the inclosure. The slaughter that followed was appalling. Weatherford tried to control his maddened warriors, but he could not hold in check the storm of destruction that he had raised. Men, women and children went down before the hatchet and scalping knife and, except for 12 soldiers who broke through and escaped into the woods, not a white person of the 456 in the fort survived.

The defenders of Fort Mimms sold their lives dearly, however. More than half of the 1,000 Creek warriors who attacked the fort were killed or badly wounded. A year later Weatherford's people were forced to pay in full for the Fort Mimms massacre when "Old Hickory" Jackson defeated them at Tohopeka and blotted out forever the power of the Creek fighting force.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

Menu planning is the scientific method by which well-balanced meals, with variety and a minimum of labor may be served to the family.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Fruit, eggs, bacon, coffee cake. Dinner: Baked ham, Denver potatoes, apple pie. Supper: Mush and milk.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Orange, oatmeal, cream, buttered toast. Dinner: Baked hash, lettuce salad, custard pie. Supper: Sardines on toast, cookies, tea.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Grapes, fried mush, bacon. Dinner: Roast of beef, buttered beets. Supper: Baked apples, cottage cheese.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Plums, cereal with top milk. Dinner: Sliced cold roast, curried apples, baked potatoes. Supper: Milk toast, preserves, sponge cake.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Grapefruit, farina with dates. Dinner: Roast chicken, boiled rice, apple and celery salad. Supper: Canned fruit, baking powder biscuit.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Bananas, corn flakes, doughnuts. Dinner: Stuffed baked fish, boiled potatoes, steamed pudding. Supper: Omelet with jelly, brown bread, chocolate cake.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Baked apple, bran, bacon, toast, coffee. Dinner: Beef potpie with vegetables, gelatin jelly with cream. Supper: Creamed dried beef on toast, cocoa.

Denver Potatoes.

Peel even-sized potatoes and cut in halves lengthwise. Scoop out the center with a ball cutter, trim to stand evenly, fill the cavity with butter, sprinkle with salt and paprika and bake in a baking dish surrounded with a little water.

Curried Apples.

Fill six cored apples with one-half cupful of sugar mixed with one teaspoonful curry powder and one teaspoonful of lemon rind. Bake until tender.

The wood is bare; a river-mist is steeping
The trees that winter's chill of life bereaves.
Only their stiffened boughs break silence, weeping
Over their fallen leaves.
—Robert Bridges.

HOT PUDDINGS

At this season of the year steamed and baked puddings are much enjoyed. A plain pudding with a good well-seasoned sauce will often be preferred to a rich pudding.

Ginger Pudding.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter, add one-half cupful of sugar gradually and one egg well beaten; mix and sift two and one-fourth cupfuls of flour with three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of ginger. Add the dry ingredients alternately with one cupful of milk to the first mixture. Turn into a buttered mold, cover and steam two hours. Serve with:

Vanilla Sauce.—Mix one-half cupful of sugar with one tablespoonful of cornstarch, add one cupful of boiling water, boil five minutes, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla, a few gratings of nutmeg and a little salt.

Cottage Pudding.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter with three-fourths of a cupful of sugar. Beat two eggs, add one-half cupful of milk, mix with the butter and sugar, add one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour sifted with two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in a small sheet. Cut into squares and serve with:

Pudding Sauce.—Mix a tablespoonful of flour with one-half cupful of sugar, add one-half cupful of boiling water and cook until smooth. Add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of butter and a grating of nutmeg. Serve hot.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar gradually, three eggs well beaten, one-half cupful of milk, three and one-half cupfuls of flour, one and one-fourth tablespoonfuls of baking powder and one and one-half cupfuls of cranberries. Cream the butter, add the sugar, eggs well beaten. Mix and sift the flour and the baking powder and add alternately to the first mixture; stir in the berries, turn into a buttered mold, cover and steam three hours. Serve with thin cream sweetened and flavored with nutmeg.

Sour Cream Fruit Cake.—Cream one-half cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar. Add one-half of a grated nutmeg, one teaspoonful each of cloves and cinnamon and one-half teaspoonful of powdered ginger. Add a cupful of warm molasses, to which a scant teaspoonful of soda has been added, dissolved in a bit of water, and one-half cupful of sour cream. Add the yolks of two beaten eggs and flour to make a thick batter. Beat in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and lastly add one-half pound each of raisins and currants and one-half cupful of nuts, all well-floured. Bake in a tube cake pan well-greased and lined with greased paper. Bake in a slow oven with careful watching.

Nellie Maxwell

FABRICS FOR LINGERIE FROCKS; HATS FOR THE SUNNY SOUTH

THIS is the between-seasons' period in fashions for outer garments—Just now it is too late to introduce new things in outer wear and a bit too early to launch styles for spring. But it is the time of year when supplies of lingerie get their annual going over and are replenished, if they need to be. House dresses and tub frocks, both for children and grownups, also come in for attention at this time. Merchants are staging their exhibitions of all sorts of wash goods and trimmings, so that women may occupy their indoor days making ready for spring.

Those capable women who can sew for themselves find it economical to make their own lingerie and their children's wash clothes. Besides this they can give individual touches to things of their own making. There are no radical changes in lingerie styles, as may be gathered from the nightdress and combination shown in the picture, but there are little points of interest in details of making and trimming. In the nightdress shown, shoulder straps are made of shirred strips of the material edged with Val lace. Tucking across the front is finished on a diagonal line and two rows of Val insertion extend down the left side and around the hem line of the gown. A bow with long ends, of narrow satin ribbon adorns the right side. The combination to match has the same sort of decoration at the front but its shoulder straps are made of satin ribbon.

Nightdress and Combination.

Crepe de chine still holds its own as the best choice for silk lingerie and batiste leads in cottons. But radium silk, crepe satin and other wash silks are well represented in the new collections and batiste is rivaled by fine voiles, satin striped or crossbar cottons in sheer weaves. Pink is the favored color although many other alluring colors are shown. Val lace maintains its lead but filet and cluny laces are well represented and alencon is a fad of the hour. But narrow val, in edgings and insertions, is found in company with these other favorites.

The many-sided story of winter millinery is told—"finis" is written at the end of its recital of sumptuous and brilliant midwinter headwear. With the assurance that anyone who must have a new hat at this late date, may safely choose a felt, fashion turns over a new leaf and begins a new chapter dealing with hats for resort wear. It is a fascinating chapter, since nothing equals the joyous quality of the styles for wear in the sunny South—unless it is the equally joyous and even more picturesque styles for the wedding cortege.

Even those of us who do not join the throngs of "sun-hunters," find this new millinery interesting. It is a forerunner of spring and certain new ideas get their tryouts in it—also the general trend of styles may be determined by it. The group of hats pictured here is made up of models that are more or less dressy and does not include sports or utility hats. At the top there is a small faille silk hat with soft, sectional crown, and narrow upturned brim. It may be imagined in one of the rich red shades, as alcazar, in terragon or lighter green and in a strong blue with applique designs (of narrow ombre ribbon) that resemble embroidery. The ribbon will be chosen in shades of the same color as the hat and may have a gleam of silver or gold thread in it. There is a collar of folded satin ribbon about the crown ending in loops at the side. It is the humor of the mode to have trimmings of a shade in the color of the hat.

At the left of the group the perennial poke shape appears, covered with ombre chiffon and faced with folds of it. It has a flat ribbon-trim quite likely to be in gold, and a big rose at one side, repeating one or two shades in the hat. A lovely off-the-face pattern, at the right, has a flaring brim, covered with plain and brocaded silk, and is finished off with a feather pompon. Challenging all the rest, is the turban of ombre chiffon in green varied by one shade of deep blue. It has a bit of metallic ribbon across the front, in green and blue, with a small pattern in gold through it. A scarf of the same chiffon as the turban, the width of the material and a little longer than it is wide, is to be worn with this hat.

Hats for the Southern Resorts.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of the Evening School, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for December 28

THE REVIEW—THE CENTRAL PERIOD OF CHRIST'S MINISTRY

GOLDEN TEXT—"He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father."—John 14:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Things That Jesus Said and Did.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Shows His Wisdom and Power.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Lesson of Jesus' Central Year.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Central Period of Christ's Ministry.

The best way to conduct the review for adults is to present the heart of each lesson. This can be done by making assignments to the members of the class a week ahead, or by asking all members of the class to prepare on each lesson and the teacher to skillfully draw the central teaching of the lesson from the class. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson I. Having proclaimed the laws of the Kingdom and wrought miracles to demonstrate His power to administer the affairs of the Kingdom, Christ sent forth the twelve to propagate the Kingdom. He had not only power over the chief foes of mankind, sin, sickness, demons, storms, etc., but could give that power to his disciples.

Lesson II. This is the model prayer for the disciples. True prayer is the communion of the human personality with the divine personality. The supreme need is a right relationship on the part of the human. He must be able to say "Our Father." Without becoming a child of God through faith in Jesus Christ, no one can pray acceptably.

Lesson III. The parable of the sower teaches that the measure of fruitfulness from the sowing of the Word of God is determined by the condition of the human heart.

Lesson IV. Although Jesus was a real man and therefore needed rest after His strenuous day of teaching, He was also divine as shown by His power to still the stormy sea by merely speaking a word.

Lesson V. The parable of the Prodigal Son reveals the love of a pardoning God for a sinning race. The central interest is not in the return of a prodigal, but in the loving heart of our Father God.

Lesson VI. In this lesson we see Jesus feeding a multitude with very scanty provisions. It shows that He possesses creative power and therefore is God. While the creation of the food was the Lord's part yet the disciples had to distribute the food created; and on the part of the people it was necessary that they should obey the Lord and eat.

Lesson VII. The central teaching of Peter's confession of Christ is that Jesus is the Christ the Son of the living God.

Lesson VIII. In the transfiguration is portrayed the method of the messianic Kingdom as well as the message of the King to his discouraged disciples. He showed the discouraged and despondent disciples that beyond the cross which they so keenly resented would come into realization the Kingdom which they hoped for.

Lesson IX. The parable of the Good Samaritan teaches that my neighbor is the one who needs my help; and that being a neighbor means to be on the lookout for those in need and to render assistance to the limit of my ability.

Lesson X. The opening of the eyes of the man born blind is an acted parable illustrating in the physical sphere the working of divine grace in the spiritual sphere, as experienced in the salvation of a soul.

Lesson XI. The raising of Lazarus from the dead not only assures us that there will be a resurrection of the dead but that Jesus Christ is the resurrection and the life.

Lesson XII. God became incarnate in order to reveal Himself to the world. God can only be known as the Son reveals Him.

Religious Experience

Not every man who knows something about color is an artist, but a man can hardly be an artist without knowing something about color. Religious experience does not make one competent to deal with all the problems of life, but one cannot deal with them effectually without religious experience. That is why so many professed experts fail.—The Congregationalist.

Glad and Hearty Amen to All

When the heart soil is right, cultivated by the operation of the Holy Spirit, there is no questioning of God's dealings, neither direct, nor through His hands (His leaders), but a glad and hearty amen to all.—Echoes.

Sense of Duty

A sense of duty may not be the highest motive, but the best men are moved by it.—Herald and Presbyter.

Our Confession

We do not receive blessing because of our confession, but we are not blessed without it.—F. E. Marsh.

Ruled

The world is ruled by reason; the Christian is ruled by the wisdom of God.—The Living World.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years. Sold by all druggists.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio

CROUP!
Relief Begins in Three Minutes

Mother! Don't be frantic with fear when your child wakes up at night choking with croup.

Just give a pleasant tasting spoonful or two of Cheney's, as millions of mothers have done. See how thankful you will be when that labored breathing stops and in a few minutes the little one is sleeping peacefully again. Mothers who once use this quick, dependable remedy always keep an inexpensive bottle on hand.

for Coughs, Croup, Colds
CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT
Quick and Dependable

ITCH!
Money back without question if HUNT'S SALVE fails in the treatment of ITCH, ECZEMA, RINGWORM, TETTER or other itching skin diseases. Price 75c at druggists, or direct from A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Tex.

We Pay More for Furs
We are always in the market and pay top prices. Honest grading and prompt payment. Satisfaction guaranteed—your furs returned if you are not satisfied. Write for prices and tags. One shipment—and then you will always ship to
H. WAINER & CO.
New Orleans, La.

FOX AND WOLF HOUNDS of the best English strains in America. Forty years' experience in breeding these hounds for my own sport. Save your pigs, sheep and poultry. Send 4c for catalog. T. B. HUDSPETH, Sibley (Jackson County), Mo.

Oranges Direct From Grower
Write for prices. E. McFarland, Groveland, Fla.

LIBERTY BELL SLOT MACHINES FOR sale at $50.00. We sell operating machines of all descriptions. UNIVERSAL MACHINE CO., Central Park Ave., YONKERS, N. Y.

Buy Concord Yarns
direct from manufacturer at a big saving. Spun from long combed wool. Write for free samples. Many beautiful shades and heather mixtures. 50c per 4-oz. skein; $2.00 per lb. Postage paid on all orders. CONCORD WORSTED MILLS, Dept. 479, West Concord, N. H.

Hickory Has Rival

Woods found in certain parts of India are likely to become rivals of the American hickory, long preferred for ax and hammer handles. The government in India is making exhaustive tests of the Parrotia Jacquemontiana with particular reference to its ability to withstand strain, and results to date show that it compares favorably with hickory and it is now being cut on a commercial basis.

Dr. Peery's "Dead Shot" is powerful, but safe. One dose will expel Worms or Tapeworm; no castor oil needed. Adv.

Why Forest Fires

Of the 556 forest fires that took place in the Adirondacks and Catskills last year 172 were due to careless smokers, 88 to locomotives, 82 to fishermen, 70 to campers, 29 to hunters, 28 to berry pickers, 18 to lightning and 17 to incendiary causes. One of the worst of the lot—and one of the worst in the history of the Catskill region—took place in July in the Shawangunk mountains and was started by the pickers of the famous Shawangunk blueberries.

Where Ignorance Is Bliss

The man who claims to understand women always arouses in them the desire to put one over on him.—Don Marquis in the New York Herald Tribune.

Have a complexion that everyone admires

No matter how beautiful your features are, you cannot be truly attractive with a rough, blotchy, gray-looking skin.

Resinol Ointment, aided by Resinol Soap, is what you need to overcome such troubles. The gentle, but unusually cleansing properties of the soap, together with the soothing, healing qualities of the ointment, make the Resinol products ideal for any skin. All druggists sell Resinol Soap and Ointment. Use them regularly for a few days and watch your complexion improve.

RESINOL

Shelby County Reporter
Established 1843

Luther Fowler, Editor & Publish'r

SUBSCRIPTION, the year $1.50

Entered at the Columbiana, Ala., Postoffice as second class mail, under act of Congress of March, 3rd, 1879.

The Beginning of a New Industry.—

We wonder how many readers of the Reporter were impressed with the account in a recent issue of the sending of the first truck load of milk from Shelby county to Birmingham.

The Reporter believes this is one of the most significent things that has happened in the county in a long while. No man ever gets to any place, however much he may want to go to that place, unless he is willing to get up, put on his hat and start. This first load of milk to Birmingham represents the actual start that a few determined farmers have made to build a great dairy industry in this county.

These farmers have made careful study of the work they have undertaken and have formed an organization so they can work together. They have brought in the first car load of high grade dairy cattle ever shipped into the county and now they are milking these and the cows they already had and sending a truck load of milk to the market every day.

The Reporter again wishes to congratulate the members of the Shelby County Dairy Association for their zeal and foresight and wishes for them an abundant success in their new venture. They are the pioneers in this movement and as pioneers have always had to do, they will have to blaze the way, meet and overcome the difficulties and prove to others less confident and determined than they, that the thing can be done.

The Reporter wishes further to ask of every business man and every business interest in the county that they give to the dairy association their cordial support in every way possible. When this effort has succeeded, the good results of its success will be felt by every interest in all the county.

The Need For a Farmers' Organization.—

The experiences of County Agent A. A. Lauderdale in the county wide dairy campaign which he recently carried on emphasises a need to which the Reporter has frequently called attention; that is for a live organization of the farmers of Shelby county that can effectively take hold of any movement that may be decided upon and work in close co-operation with the county agent to carry it through to success.

In those comlunities in which just one one man was found who took hold in earnest of the dairy campaign, good crowds were out to hear the speakers and good interest was aroused. On the other hand there were some communities in which no one man became active in these very few people were reached.

If the proper effort had been made in an organized way, the court house would have been filled with interested farmers and business men to hear Roland Turner speak.

This is a day of co-operation and co-operation is not possible without organization. Let us make the farmers' organization one of the strongest and most active in all the county.

Honor Roll For Prospect School

Honor Roll of Prospect school for the month of November:

Fourth Grade.—Onzelle Armstrong, Mable Seale.

Fifth Grade:—Edward Gunn.

Sixth Grade:—Nora Coker, Ellis Armstrong.

Ethel Walton, Teacher.

Rev. and Mrs. T. K. Roberts Thank Their Friends

In appreciation of the remembrance of many friends on the occasion of his 25th wedding anniversary, Rev. T. K. Roberts, better known as "Brother Tom" gives through the paper the statement below. The Reporter regrets not being able to publish it soooer.

Brother Tom says: "On December 6, 1899, 9 a. m., at Easonville, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stone, parents of the bride, I managed to stand on my crutches long enough for my sainted father Rev. T. P. Roberts, to perform the marriage ceremony. By previous arrangement, W. A. Parker, a life long friend, had driven from Columbiana, 35 miles, the day before in his covered hack with a cot in the back; and in this hack the groom lying on a cot and the bride seated by the driver, we made the journey home, reaching Columbiana and the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnston about 4:30. Here in the home of these innermost circle friends we spent our honey moon and then were carried to our room in the parsonage to make our home with Father and Mother Roberts, my appointment being that of Junior Pastor.

When we were married the expert opinion was that Brother Tom could live only a few months at best. So we spent the time visiting loved ones, and friends, studying, reading, writing, preparing sermon outlines, and completing the manuscript for our book, "Shut In But Not Excused," till August 1901, when Father Roberts was translated. Appointed then to serve as pastor we took up the whole work and Mother Roberts lived with us. Then followed eleven years in the active work of the ministry on crutches, serving Columbiana circuit, Childersburg circuit, Glenn Addie-Oxana, Oxford, Coleanor, Fountain Heights in the Birmingham District and Collinsville. From there we came to Columbiana, me a superannuate with instructions to rest up compeletey and try to regain my health.

When our 24th anniversary came, Miss Sue began talking about our Silver Anniversary, a celebration, etc. Why not? Surely we had every reason to ask our friends to rejoice with us and help us register our gratitude to God. Our best man, W. A. Parker, was our near neighbor. Mother Roberts was still with us, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and other friends were near by. Mother Roberts responded to the idea like a child to the near approach of Christmas and Santa Claus. So the sweet talk of the joys of December 6, 1924, prospered beautifully for a few months.

But alas for human expectations When the bride began to count the cost the brakes were applied to our enthusiasm. Then on September 13, Brother Parker completed his work and responded to the call from above. Next month I heard Miss Sue tell Mother Roberts she had about decided not to have the celebration at all. As a compromise this came to me to be broadcasted: "Dear loved ones and friends:

December 6, 1924, our Silver Anniversary, from 9 a. m. in our Hearts' Radio in the Innermost Sanctuaries of our souls will listen in to receive your heart messages of love and friendship. Thanking you in advance, we would clasp each hand and pray, God bless every one, according to Eph. 3:14-20. In Jesus name.

Brother Tom and Miss Sue."

But on November 12th, Mother Roberts sweetly fell asleep and all thought of unuslal notice of our 25th anniversary left our minds. But our loved ones and friends inspired by Mrs. J. W. Johnston formed a plan for a surprise party and they worked the plan so well that we feel they succeeded beyond all expectation. A regular Christmas tree box they brought us and that night as we opened the box, read the love messages and listed the names and gifts our hearts overflowed with gratitude and praise to God for such loved ones and friends. If we had never known before, we would know now that there is a great God and that He is very good, for only a great and good God could make such folk as these whose names came with their love gifts.

I have one comfort, the bride richly deserves it all, while the groom is as usual a poor trailing second, rejoicing in his heritage, making new resolutions and trusting the Father above to recompense every one heaven-fold.

Mrs. Johnston was ably assisted by J. F. Norris and Mrs. Lillie Duran here at home, Miss Ellen Jackson, Mrs. Alice Nelson Haygood and J. E. Durkin of Montgomery, members of Brother Tom's first pastorate, Dexter Avenue, Miss Rosa Vincent, Easonville, and other friends and parishioners at large.

Offer of an Eye.

A man has offered one of his eyes to the blind French painter, Lemordant, if an oculist can be found to perform the grafting operation with some hope of success.

Deepest Gas Well.

The depth of natural gas wells varies greatly from less than 1,000 feet to more than 6,000 feet, the deepest well now producing reaching. 6,822 feet.

NOTICE OF STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Citizens State Bank, in the bank building at Vincent, Monday, January 12, 1925, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. The purpose of the meeting will be to elect a Board of Directors and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting. Respectfully,

J. Wesley Curry, Cashier.

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS

After December 31, unpaid taxes will become delinquent and under the law penalties and interest will be charged after that date. Please call and settle promptly and save these charges. J L ISBELL

Tax Collector

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Union Point School District No. 36, Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district shall be levied and collected by the prop er authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

Union Point school district No. 36 being described as follows:

Beginning at the Southeast corner of section ten, tp. 24, range 13 east, and running north to the incorporate limits of the city of Calera, thence northwest and along said boundary to the base line, thence along said line to the north east corner of section 6 in said township and range; thence south to the line separating Shelby and Chilton counties; thence east along said line to the point of beginning.

Also to ascertain whether or not the qualified electors of said district 36 above described, desire to consolidate said district with districts 37 and 39, said consolidated district to be known as district No. 36, and described as follows:

Be ginning at the northeast corner of section seven, township 22 range 2 west and running south two and three-quarter miles; thence east one-half mile, thence south one mile; thence east one mile, thence south one mile; thence west along the line separating Shelby and Chilton counties to the south-west corner of the south-west quarter of the south-east quarter of section ten, town ship 24, range 12 east, thence north one and one-quarter miles, thence in a northeasterly direction to the north-east quarter of the north-east quarter of section three township 24, range 12 east, or the base line, thence east along the base line to Shoal's Creek, thence along said creek in a northerly direction to the center of section 15 township 22, range 3 west, thence north to the north-west corner of the north-west quarter of the north-east quarter of sec. 10, town ship 22, range 3 west, thence east to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Tla.

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Spring Creek School District No. 39 Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district, shall be levied and collected by the proper authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

District No. 39, otherwise known as Spring Creek District embraces all that territory within the following described boundaries, to-wit:

Beginning at the southwest corner of section 20, township 22, range 2 west, and running west along said base line to east boundary line of District 38 in section 27, township 22, range 3 west, thence in a north-easterly direction along Shoal Creek, being the eastern boundary of District 38, thence to half mile line on north boundary of section 10, thence east along said section line to north-east quarter of section 7, township 22, range 2 west, thence south to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Ala.

Notice of Special Election

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held at Enon School District No. 37, Shelby county, Alabama, on Monday, the 19th day of January, 1925 to determine whether or not a special district tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said district, shall be levied and collected by the proper authorities, as provided by law, for a period of time beginning at the date of holding said election, and expiring September 30th, 1927, for school purposes.

District No. 37, otherwise known as Enon District embraces all that territory within the following described boundaries, to-wit:

Beginning at the north-east corner of section 6, township 24 range 13 east and running south to Chilton county line, thence west along Chilton county line to one-half mile line of section 10, township 24, range 12 east, thence north across section 10, to one-half mile line in section 3, thence in north-easterly direction to center of NE¼ or NW¼ of said section on the base line, thence east along said base line to point of beginning.

J. J. FALKNER, Sheriff.
Shelby County, Ala.

L&N
(LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE R.R.)

THE OLD RELIABLE

The Management and Employees of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Extend to You the Season's Greetings

Fifty thousand men and women, comprising the L. & N. family, take this opportunity to thank the readers of this newspaper and all other patrons for the privilege of serving them during the year just drawing to a close, and to express the belief and the wish that 1925 will be a banner year for every citizen of the L. & N.-served South.

YOU CAN'T BLAME AN OLD VIRGINIA SMOKER FOR BRAGGING A LITTLE!

1.

Your Old Virginia Smoker is the sort who doesn't care a hoot how much or how little a thing costs, so long as it gives him big value.

2.

He doesn't smoke Virginia Cheroots to please his purse, but because they give him twenty minutes even of solid satisfaction, when he wants a smoke.

3.

A low price never prejudices this man's judgment. On the other hand, the bigger the bargain the more thrill he gets out of it.

4.

You'll never find him smoking Cheroots under cover. That isn't his style. When he closes a smart deal, he's glad to advertise his sagacity.

5.

Whether he's a man of capital or a man of toil, he'll tell the world any day that four mellow, fragrant perfecto quality cigars for 10c is something worth crowing about.

In a sealed package; contents untouched by human hands — from factory to YOU.

© 1924, P. Lorillard Company

EVERY INCH A CIGAR

Putting a tip on a cigar is an expensive job.
But you can't SMOKE the tip.
We leave off the tip and give you the saving, real Perfecto quality in tobacco and workmanship.

Old Virginia Cheroots
4 Good Cigars [tiplets] for 10¢

The Columbiana Leader

Your Dependable Store

Wishes for its thousands of friends and customers a

Merry Christmas

and Happy, Prosperous

New Year

Columbiana Leader

MAX LEFKOVITS

TO OUR FRIENDS AND CUSTOMERS

May all the joys of the Christmas tide come to and yours, and may happiness and prosperity attend you throughout the New Year,

J. L. ISBELL

Christmas Greetings

To our Friends and Customers, and best wishes for the New Year. We thank you for the liberal patronage we have enjoyed since opening business, Roy B. Lester & Co.

UNION

(Written for Last Week)

The road plow is on the road between Westover and Chelsea. This road is one of the main roads in the county and when it is finished will be a great convenience to the traveling public.

The prayer and praise service here Sunday night was well attended. Quite a number of visitors present. The singing was unusually good and was enjoyed by all.

The Teague bridge across Yellow Leaf creek has been repaired. It is practically new, well braced and is in first class condition.

R. B. Posey of Harpersville was here last week taking the farm census of his beat (No. 11.)

L. H. Bentley is planning to put his tractor saw mill at Westover. This town is gradually building up. It is thought by some that the town of Westover and the McDonald heading mill town will consolidate. If you are interested in a lot you had better act quick.

Mrs. Vick, better known as Aunt Margaret, died Friday afternoon and her funeral was held Saturday She had been a member of the church here for many years. She was a faithful member and always attended services when she could. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. M. Nolen.

KINGDOM

(Written for Last Week)

Miss Myrtle Stone and J. D. Stone visited relatives in Birmingham last week end.

Floyd Crumpton and Grady Lee are visiting Burnard and Claiborne Lee this week.

Elmer Hughes and Frank Holmes of Birmingham, were in the Kingdom community Sunday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Crumpton on Dec. 13, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Smith have moved into their new home where Millard Hughes lived We are glad to have them.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carden, December 12, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Lovett and children motored to Jemison Sunday and spent the day with Mrs. Lovett's sister, Mrs. J. B. Watts and Mr. Watts.

Wiley T. Milstead

Death invaded the home of our friend and neighbor on the morning of November 1, and called the spirit of Mr. Wiley T. Milstead to come back to the Master who gave it, and just as a new day was dawning he peacefully obeyed the call. He fell asleep at three o'clock and awoke in the beautiful home prepared for the angels.

Mr. Milstead was born January 5, 1856, and had lived all his life in Shelby county. He united with the Methodist church in his youth and had lived a consistent member for these years. He was much loved by all who knew him. A good man has gone to his reward. He leaves to mourn his departure a loving wife, four daughters, ten grand children and hosts of relatives and friends..

The daughtern are: Mrs. A. G. Dykes and Mrs. R. L. Cook, and Mrs. Theo Lucas of Calera; Mrs. O. E. Dykes, of Birmingham.

To the bereaved family we extend our sympathy, and pray God to heal their broken hearts, and may they simply trust Him, in their afflictions, as He is too wise to mistake and too good to be unkind. Your father has only gone home, and there with those who have gone on, awaits your coming. He has conquered the last enemy—death, and is resting in perfect peace; for there is no suffering there.

Dear companion, he becons you to come and share the joys of Heaven with him. Let us bow our heads in submission to His will, looking forward to the reunion over there.

A Friend.

SALESMAN to work farming trade selling high grade line of motor oils, paints, etc. Drawing account and attractive proposition for right party. The Lennox Oil & Paint Company, Cleveland, Ohio

BAY SPRINGS NO. 2

(Written for Last Week)

"A Merry Christmas to one and all."

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Sawyer of the cove spent Sunday with Mrs. G. E. Abbott at Shelby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris of Shelby spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Morris.

Misses Esther Morris and Madge Tee Hand were in Columbiana Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Glass here Sunday.

Arthur Ellison of near Shelby, spent a short while in our community Sunday.

Sankie Little and son Dan, were in Shelby Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Keith visited their daughter, Mrs. Albert Porter at Sawyer's Cove Sunday.

Elic Bolton and George Porter, Jr., visited their parents at New Hope Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. W. P. Morris and daughter Miss Bessie, atended the funeral of Mr. Will Pearson at Bethlehem last Friday.

E. S. Sawyer of Shelby, spent a while in our community Sunday.

MT. ERA

(Written for Last Week)

Both old and young enjoyed a good singing given by Mrs. Alice Garrett last Sunday night.

Mrs. Minnie Davis has been ill for the last few days, but is now improving.

Johnnie Atchison Jr and wife of East Saginaw, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hand.

Miss Grace Meeks spent Saturday and Sunday with home folks in North Birmingham.

D, C. Hand spent part of last week with his son Reedie in Boothton.

Mrs. Ella Carter is visiting her daughter Mrs. McBee and Mrs. Shirley in Ensley.

Worst Law of Nature.

Self-preservation is the worst law of nature, when it comes to insect pests.

Mattresses Made Over

I have a big lot of new mattresses to make. If any one has an old mattress to be made over please notify me at once. I will pay freight on all mattresses shipped to me, John Hammock. Columbiana, Ala.

John Hammock has built me two mattresses which have come up to the guarantee of his work as one who can build mattresses of good quality for the price which he charges. W. H. Shrader.

Woman's Letter Will Help Columbiana Women

She writes: I hated cooking because all I ate turned sour and formed gas. I drank hot water and olive oil by the gallon. Nothing helped until I used Adlerika. Most medicines act only on lower bowel but Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes all gas and poisons. Excellent for obstinate constipation. Helps any case gas on the stomach in TEN minutes.

Davis Drug Co., Columbiana. Columbiana Drug Company, Peoples Drug Co., Calera.

Wishing for every one a

Joyful Christmas

and a bright, happy New Year.

W. W. Carter & Son

To Our Friends and Customers

We are grateful for the patronage we have enjoyed and for the friendly spirit in which it was given. Best wishes for a Merry Christmas.

L. E. CHRISTIAN

GOOD WAY TO START THE NEW YEAR IS TO SUBSCRIBE TO THE

Montgomery Advertiser

ll !n coupon below, attach check or money or-r. Act Now while the matter is before you.

THE MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER

Circulation Department

ONTGOMERY, - - - - - - - - - ALABAMA

COUPON

Rates by mail: $8.00 per year: $4.00 for six months.

Montgomery Advertiner,
Montgomery, Alabama.

Gentlemen: Enclosed find $_____ for _____subscription

Name _____

Address _____

Town _____

State _____

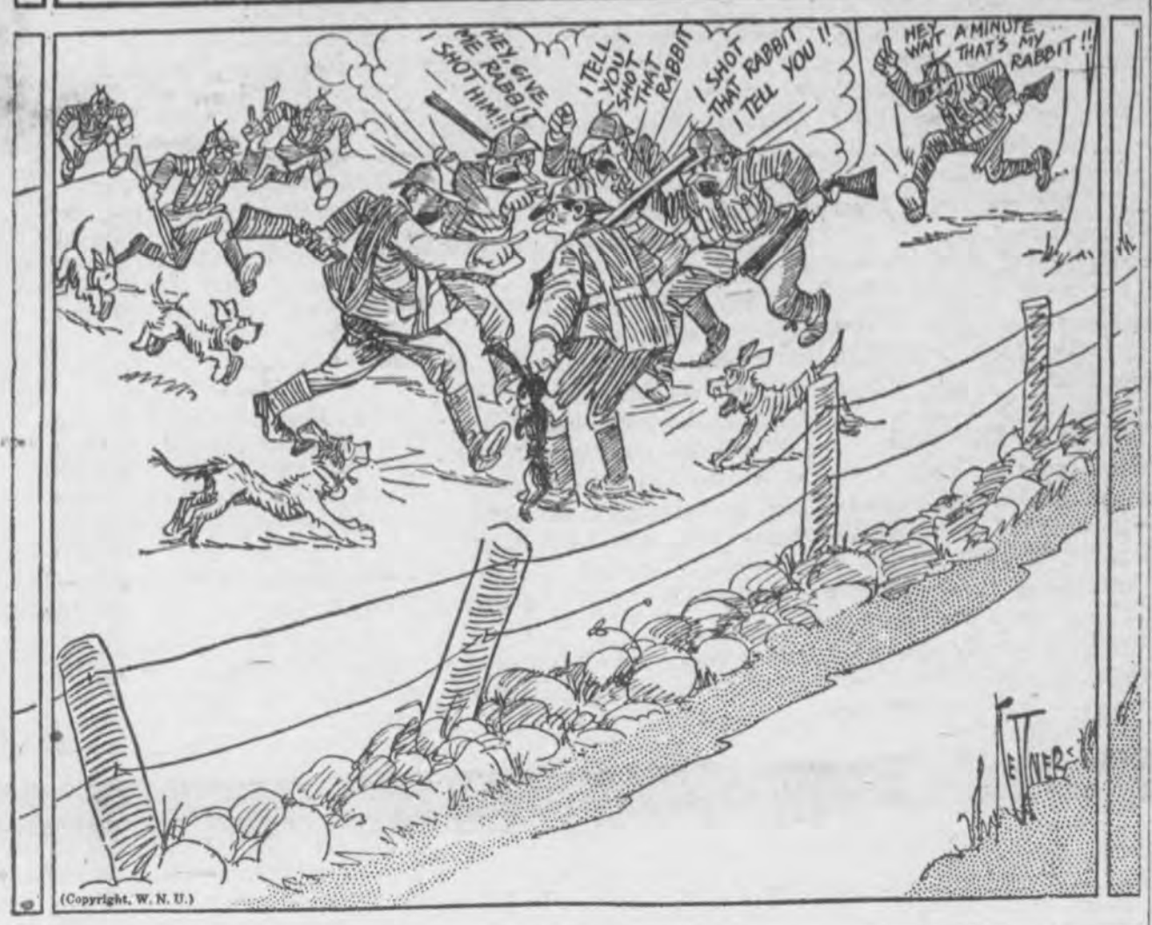
With hearty appreciation for the liberal patronage we have enjoyed during the past year, we wish for all our friends and customers a

Joyful Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year

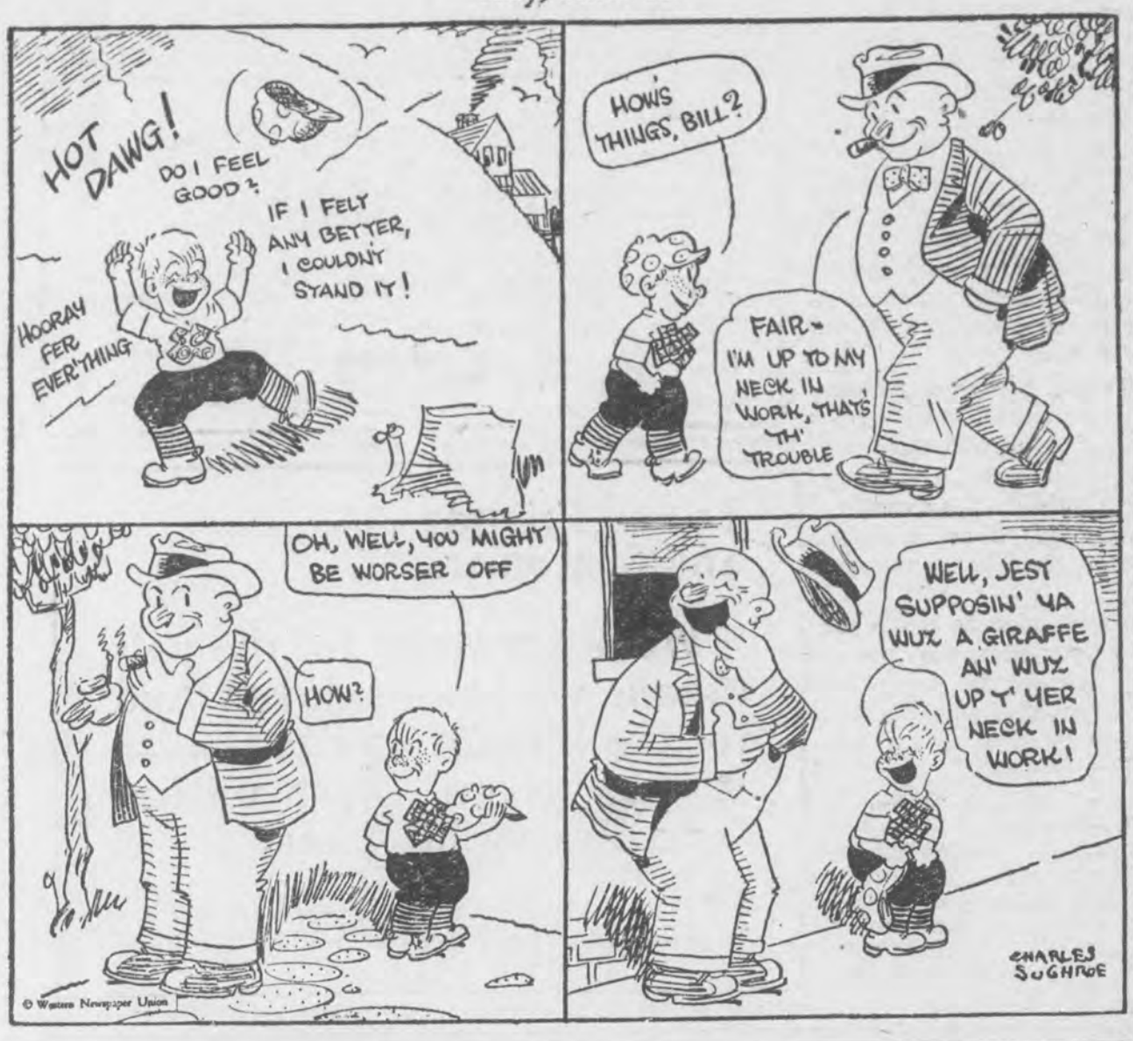
E. M. Jones Auto Co.

OUR COMIC SECTION

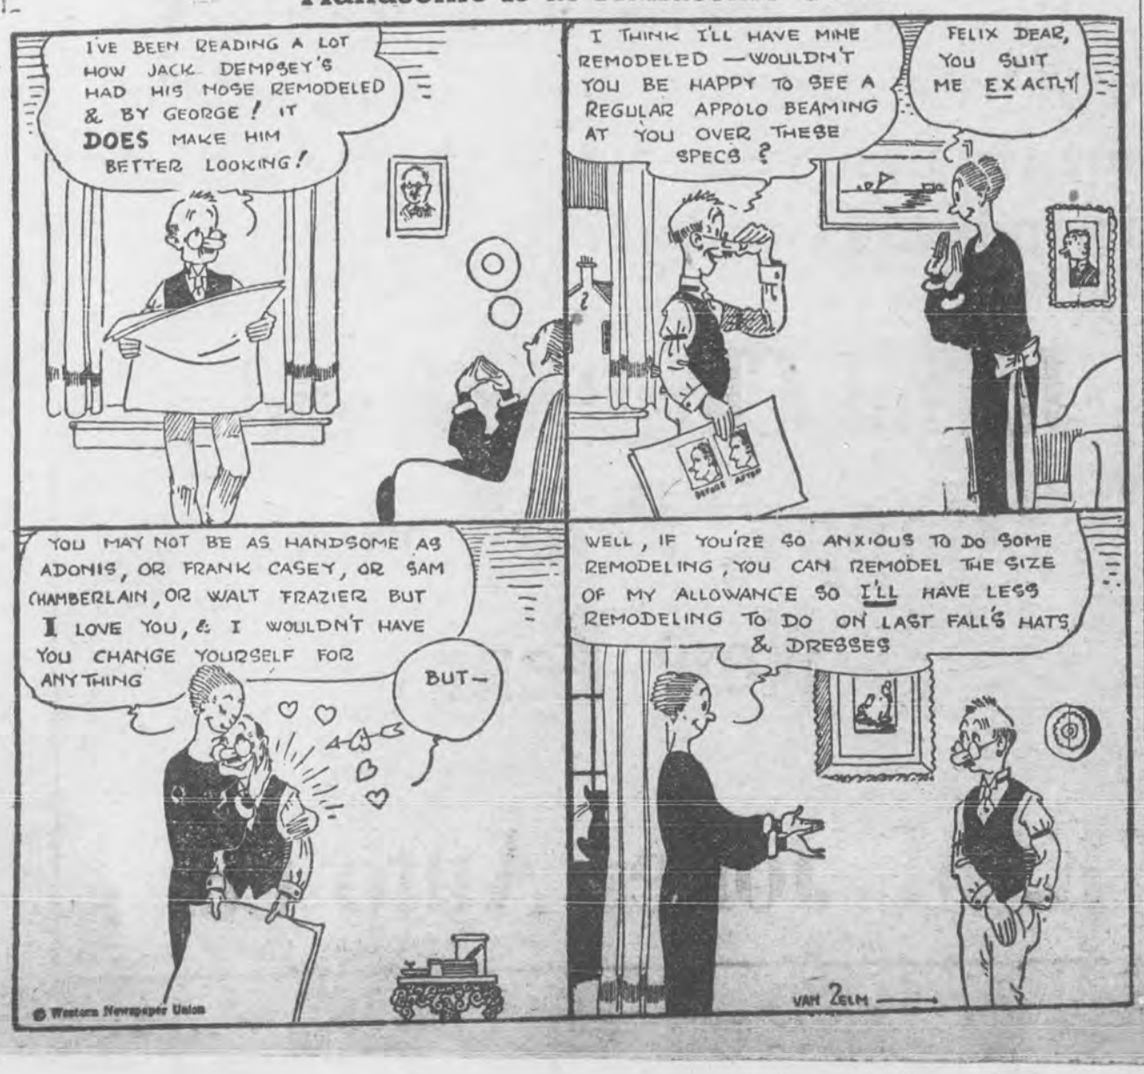
The Season's On



Silly, Ain't It?



Handsome Is as Handsome Gives



HOW TO KEEP WELL

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHAT DOES BABY PUT IN ITS MOUTH?

GIVE a baby almost anything and it will at once try to put it into its mouth. It may be a piece of fruit or a stove poker, an old shoe or a bite of candy, in it goes just the same. When all else fails, there's the baby's own thumb. Apparently, its mouth must be kept full of something.

This instinctive tendency is not so bad as long as the objects are too large to swallow. But babies don't discriminate, and too often small, hard, sharp objects are not only put into the mouth but either swallowed or sucked down the windpipe or into the lungs.

The variety of such objects is surprising. They may include tacks, nails, screws, staples, nuts, safety pins, open or closed; beans, toys, bones and keys. Sometimes the child is seen to swallow the object, sometimes it is missing after having been seen in the baby's hands or mouth, and it is assumed that the child swallowed it.

The immediate effect of such an accident depends on the size and shape of the object, also on whether it goes into the stomach or is drawn into the lungs. If the object is large enough to plug up the windpipe the child may die in a few minutes from suffocation. Beans, small nuts or round toys have many times produced death before they could be removed.

If the object is small, it may pass through the larynx and lodge in one of the smaller air passages without causing any discomfort at the time. Doctor Jackson of Philadelphia, who has had wide experience in this sort of cases, tells in a recent article of a child of fifteen months who got a thin piece of glass from a broken Christmas tree ornament lodged in its larynx, where it remained for four and one-half months without causing any apparent discomfort to the child.

On the other hand the child may be taken with a persistent cough almost as soon as the foreign body is drawn into the lungs. The child, if old enough to describe its sensations, may complain of a sharp pain near its Adam's apple or in one or both ears. Swallowing may be painful and breathing difficult.

The outcome depends on the object swallowed and the point where it lodges. The safest plan is to keep all loose and harmful objects out of the baby's reach. Don't give him anything to play with that can hurt him.

If the baby does swallow some harmful object, don't try to get it out yourself. You may push it farther down and do great harm. Get a doctor and have an X-ray picture taken. Present day methods and instruments can remove most foreign bodies, even from the lungs themselves.

DANGERS OF TALCUM POWDER

ALMOST every mother, during the first two years of her baby's life, uses some form of toilet powder to keep the skin dry, to prevent chafing and to make the baby more comfortable, especially in hot weather. In the early days corn starch or fine rice powder was generally used. These, like all vegetable powders, were open to several objections, and they gradually gave way to talcum powders, made of very finely pulverized talc. These talcum powders have, during the past few years, been replaced largely by stearate of zinc as a dusting powder for babies. During this period, there has also been a remarkable increase in the number of accidents, with serious and sometimes fatal results, due to the child accidentally inhaling large amounts of the powder. So common have these cases become, that a New York physician recently reported 12 cases in his own practice.

The accidents all occurred in one of two ways. In using the dusting powder, the top of the lid came off, pouring a large amount of the powder in the child's face, or the infant, itself, getting hold of the box, suddenly turned it upside down, over its face, as it would a nursing bottle. The shower of powder through the openings in the lid covered the baby's face. In either case, some of the powder was drawn into the throat and lungs.

In some cases, so much of the powder has been inhaled as to cause death in 24 hours. In others, the irritation of the powder caused a pneumonia, which sometimes proved fatal in two to three weeks. In other cases, in which the amount of powder inhaled was small, the child gradually recovered.

In view of the numerous accidents in the use of dusting powders, several precautions should be taken by mothers and nurses.

Be sure the cover of the dusting box is on tight. If it has a sliding cover, don't open the holes to their fullest extent. When applying the powder near the baby's mouth and nose, protect the baby's face with a handkerchief or towel. Don't let the baby have the box itself and don't leave the powder box where the child can get it.

Is It Not So?

Some men are always wanting people to tell them how good looking they are, but a woman will stand up in front of a mirror and see for herself.—Washington Star.

GOOD ROADS

SOUTHERN SISTERS TAKE TIP ON ROADS

The recent visit of a distinguished group of Pan-American road engineers to the United States has resulted in stimulating greatly the laying out and building of good roads all over the western hemisphere, according to information received by Roy D. Chapin, chairman of the good roads committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

"The work will not be completed in a day," said Chapin, "but the seed has been sown and the example and the inspiration are there. Lively good roads campaigns are under way in a number of countries. The whole subject will come to a more definite head at the first Pan-American highway conference at Buenos Aires next May. There are particularly optimistic reports from Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Guatemala, Mexico, and Nicaragua. An encouraging fact is that the leaders are laying out in each case a national system of roads, so that development can proceed logically and effectively.

"The Argentine ambassador to the United States, Dr. Honorio Pueyrredon, who accompanied the Pan-American mission on its American tour, soon will be in South America. He is one of the enthusiastic sponsors of an adequate system of good roads built under a national plan. He is to make good roads one of the important commercial questions which he will discuss with Argentine officials when he arrives home.

"In Mexico a highway association is being formed. In Cuba a bill is to be introduced shortly into congress for the immediate construction of a Cuba central highway. The Cubans are thoroughly awake to the possibilities of good roads.

"A factor of importance is that railroad construction is almost prohibitive in cost in such countries as Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru. The governments of those countries are especially interested in highways which will in part at least take over the usual tasks of the railways.

"In other countries the more normal condition of the motor roads as a valuable and essential adjunct of railroads, for the proper development of the national resources, is to be expected."

Car Owner Wants Smooth Pavement for Pleasure

"The pavement's the thing," opines the modern Hamlet as he steps on the accelerator of his car, looks over the green fields and woods on either side and decides that things are not so deplorable in Denmark after all.

Yes, the pavement's the thing. Any old cow path will not suffice for a road in these days when an automobile ride is the shortest distance between two points. People like to say it with balloon tires nowadays. They want roads that will get them somewhere else—in a hurry—without bumping their heads through the top of the gasoline phaeton.

That means that they must have paved roads and wider roads too. There must be wide pavements so that cars can pass safely and easily. The motorist on the roads today finds that two cars roll where only one rolled before. Such a condition means that automobiles can't pass each other if road builders stick to narrow highways.

And road builders know this too. They're building 'em wider. And the old ones, that were too narrow, even if they were mighty good pavements and served royally when they were built, are being widened by building strips of concrete pavement at the side of the old pavement.

The pavement's the thing, and the motorists are going to have it—they're going to have it wider, too.

Good Road Notes

More than half of New Zealand's 44,000 miles of highways are hard surfaced.

* * *

Congress has appropriated $7,500,000 for improvement of roads in the national park areas.

* * *

The Canadian experts said that our roads are not wide enough, but the driver who is content to keep within the speed limit should be able to stay on them.

* * *

Let us travel over all the countries of the earth and whenever we shall find no facility of traveling from a city to a town, or from a village to a hamlet, we may pronounce the people to be barbarians.—Abbe Reynal.

* * *

Forty-four states are now using trucks in the work of maintaining existing highways.

* * *

Much of the highway work on the mountain passes and elsewhere in the mountainous districts is inside the boundaries of the United States forest reserve.

* * *

Montreal, Canada, is going to replace its white paint directional signs with colored markings inlaid in the roadbeds. Varied colors will be used to denote various routes.

Boschee's Syrup

Allays irritation, soothes and heals throat and lung inflammation. The constant irritation of a cough keeps the delicate mucus membrane of the throat and lungs in a congested condition, which BOSCHEE'S SYRUP gently and quickly heals. For this reason it has been a favorite household remedy for colds, coughs, bronchitis and especially for lung troubles in millions of homes all over the world for the last fifty-eight years, enabling the patient to obtain a good night's rest, free from coughing with easy expectoration in the morning. You can buy BOSCHEE'S SYRUP wherever medicines are sold.—Adv.

Out-of-the-Way Places Have Queer Currency

Queen Mary was the first English ruler to date her coins. Edward VI first used a value mark when he put Roman numerals on the 12-pence piece. Oliver Cromwell is accredited with introducing inscriptions on the edge of coins to prevent chipping off the silver pieces of his day.

Since the gold stater of Philip of Macedon found universal acceptance gold has been king in international exchange. But there are places in the world today where primitive currency prevails—ivory tusks, sheep, shells, furs, olive oil and coconuts. If civilized man would do business with many African tribes he must forego money, hence a famous London firm which barters European manufactured goods for palm oil, gold dust, cotton, gum and coffee with natives who haven't attained a money status.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Be Careful of Infection

from Cuts, Burns, Wounds and Sores. Apply Hanford's Balsam of Myrrh; it prevents infection and heals. 3 sizes, all stores.—Adv.

Brined Vegetables

The bureau of home economics of the Department of Agriculture has recently co-operated with the bureau of chemistry in tests on the utilization of brined vegetables. Brining has long been used as an easy method of preserving various vegetables for use in pickles. These tests showed, however, that green tomatoes and green peppers could be kept successfully in brine for as long as six months and then be used in a number of new ways. Mock mince meat, bordeaux sauce and pickle were all made from the green tomatoes, and the peppers were satisfactory for stuffing.

Watch Cuticura Improve Your Skin. On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. It is wonderful what Cuticura will do for poor complexions, dandruff, itching and red, rough hands.—Advertisement.

Radium Rays From Animals

Living plants and animals are radioactive, giving out rays like radium, according to Albert Nodon, French scientist, says Popular Science Monthly. Recently Nodon exhibited three photographic plates on each of which were unmistakable light impressions. These, he asserted, were caused by the rays emitted by a radioactive mineral, an insect and a green leaf that had been placed on the emulsion side of the plates in a dark room.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills contain only vegetable ingredients, which act gently as a tonic laxative, by stimulation—not irritation. 372 Pearl St., N. Y. Adv.

Billy Knew the Game

Billy, my small neighbor, dropped in to see me one morning. Spying a toy telephone lying in the corner, he immediately began playing with it.

"You be Central," he suggested, "and I'll be the caller-up."

Accordingly he took the phone, and shouted: "Hello!"

"Hello," I answered.

"Oh, no, that isn't the way," the little fellow corrected me. "I have to say 'Hello' two or free times; then you say: 'The line's busy,' an' then bawl you out!"—Chicago Tribune.

Campaigns by Wireless

Visiting in South Africa when the announcement of the last election in England was made, A. A. Somerville, a candidate for parliament, kept in touch with his constituency by wireless as he hurried home.

Sow an act and reap a habit.

Mothers, Do This—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief. It does not blister.

As first aid, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. It relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches in back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

35c and 65c, jars and tubes.

MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

Better than a mustard plaster

MR. FOX'S SNOWBALL

WHEN Mr. Fox opened the door to his home one morning the snow came tumbling all over him. It had snowed so hard in the night that his house was almost covered up.

Mr. Fox's house stood on the side of a hill and when at last he did make a place big enough for him to get out and look around he found that everything as far as he could see was covered with snow.

The fences between his home and the farm where the plump poultry lived were not to be seen at all.

"If I try to get down to the farm," said Mr. Fox, "I'll sink into the snow and freeze. Now, if I had a sled or even a plank I might slide right over fences and land right up against the barnyard fence.

"Those hens and chickens will be sure to come out some time today. And Mr. Dog won't go far from his warm place behind the kitchen stove today if I know him, and I think I do.

Reached the Fence and Peeked Through the Cracks.

"Talk about a dog's life being a hard one! I never knew of a dog that did not have an easy time of it excepting when they try to catch me." And here Mr. Fox had to stop and laugh before he went on with his planning.

"Now, I have no board or sled," said he, thinking about his breakfast again. "I could roll down the hill, I suppose, but I might strike the top of a wall or something—"

Mr. Fox went in the house and put on his cap, which he pulled down all around his head. Then he put on some old gloves and over them his mittens and some long woolen stockings on his feet.

He then came out and sat down in the snow, packing it all around his feet. Then he began to roll about, gathering the snow all over him as he went. And pretty soon nothing but a great big ball of snow was to be seen. Mr. Fox was inside a huge snowball.

Mr. Fox knew he could only roll down the hill; he could not roll up very well. And when the ball was heavy enough it started to roll down. It went along making a path and gathering more snow on its way.

But it did not go in the direction Mr. Fox had intended. Instead of rolling straight to the barnyard, as Mr. Fox had hoped it would, it struck a tree not very far from the farm with a bang, and out tumbled dazed Mr. Fox.

He jumped up and shook himself, but he did not look up in the tree. If he had he might have seen Mr. Crow staring down at him with feathers bristling with anger.

But he didn't see Mr. Crow, and Mr. Crow did not make a sound. Instead, he kept his bright eyes fixed upon Mr. Fox to see what he was up to.

When his head stopped swimming, Mr. Fox made his way toward the barnyard. It was hard work getting through the snow, but at last he reached the fence and peeked through the cracks, his eyes fixed upon the poultry feeding on the other side.

Mr. Crow, of course, made his way easily and swiftly to the barnyard fence. He did not mind traveling when the snow was on the ground.

Mr. Fox did not see him until Mr. Crow's jarring voice cawed loudly just above the cry that tells Mr. Man or Mr. Dog that "a fox is nearby."

Mr. Fox jumped. He tried to run, but the snow was deep and he stumbled and flounced about trying to get away before Mr. Dog started after him. But Mr. Crow had no intention of letting him off even in that way. He flew right along over him, cawing that he would teach him to bang against his house.

"Snowball my house again, will you?" he cawed, following right up to Mr. Fox's door. And even when he banged it in Mr. Crow's face he could still hear him cawing outside.

"Now, what bad luck sent that snowball rolling against his house? There was no use telling Jimmy Crow it was all an accident," said Mr. Fox, as he toasted his toes before the fire. "When Jimmy gets started talking no one can get a word in edgewise.

"Hi-ho-hum," he sighed as he stretched himself. "That snowball idea was a great one if only it had worked out as I planned it. But the idea was good. Yes, siree, it was a clever idea." And Mr. Fox gave his knee a rousing slap to assure himself that this was so.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mary Astor

Charming Mary Astor, known to about everybody who sees the "movies," is what some might call an old-fashioned girl. She is in her nineteenth year and was born in Quincy, Ill., where she obtained her education, later entering a school for girls in Chicago. From childhood she was trained by her mother with a picture career in view.

THROUGH THE GLAD EYES OF A WOMAN

By JANE DOE

THE BEST RESOLUTION

THANK you!

The same to you!

And always!

I turned up at the office the other morning and found all sorts of nice letters from all sorts of nice people wishing me a happy New Year.

Making me feel very pleased with myself.

Oh! It's jolly to feel pleased with yourself.

Isn't it?

And what magic there is in anything nice!

For myself, I'm going to be as nice as I know how!

But on the other hand, if the resolution is anything like the pastry I try to turn out in conjunction with the Martha Washington cookbook and the best feather-weight flour, I can safely guarantee it to last out nineteen-twenty-five at least.

So here goes:

"Be nice, sweet child, and let who will be nicer."

Because, if everyone were really nice to everyone else all the time, all our social problems would be solved.

To smile, instead of frown!
To praise, instead of sneer!
To laugh, instead of snigger.
To be loyal, instead of selfish.
To sympathize, instead of chide.
To help, instead of hinder.
To be kind, instead of unkind.
To love, instead of hate.
To be good, instead of bad.
To be friendly, instead of indifferent.
To cheer, instead of depress.
To be cheery, instead of cold.
But ALWAYS, to be NICE!
What more could we want?

It seems to me it is good enough for anyone.

I'm going to have a shot at it anyway.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

FACTS about your name; it's history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

EDITH

EDITH has a charming augury. Her name means happiness in the Saxon, as it is believed to be derived from the "ead." Withal, it is a perplexing name to follow in its various interpretations. It has the same root as Edward, Edwin and Edmund curiously enough, Edith appears early in its history as the consort of Eadgitha, which seems to have been the earliest authentic name. Some accept Eadgitha as being the parent of Edith then its interpretation is somewhat different, as the name is placed upon the "githa," which is thought to be a phonetic variation of gifa or gifu, meaning gift. In this case, Edith means rich gift.

Edith was a popular feminine name among the Norse, and Gytha was the mother of Swend, king of Denmark. Gytha was a Norse goddess and became the old, exalted conception of good.

The first Eadgyth was the daughter of Godwin of whom Ingulf said: "Edgina rosam, genuit Godwinus lilium." But in the roll of her time, "Domesday," she is called Gida.

Eddid and Edeva were much used by the Normans, but the queen of Edward, who bore the name, was not known by anything so Saxon and she was called Edith.

Edith's mother was one illustrious Gytha was also the name of Harold's wife. Scott gave it to the Maid of Lorn and made it likewise the name of the heroine of old Mortality. It is now a reigning favorite in England and America.

The jewel assigned to Edith is the agate, which promises popularity and persuasiveness for its wearer. Its prophecy is best revealed in some very ancient poet's rhyme to the wearer of the agate:

Adorned with this, thou woman's heart shall again,
And by persuasion thy desire attain.
And if of men thou aught demands shall come
With all thy wish fulfilled, rejoicing home.

This obliging stone further promises courage and a bold heart in times of danger; to dream of it signifies a journey. Edith's flower is the wild rose. Her lucky day is Friday and 4 is said to be her talismanic number.

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Too Much Permission

When Percy Preeny wants to go anywhere alone Mrs. Preeny gives him too much permission. "Go ahead," she says; "go ahead; go right on and don't think about me."—Country Gentleman.

Got Busy

"Young Jones is developing into quite a speed maniac!"

"Yes, his girl told him he was too slow for this world, and ever since then he has been making tracks for the next!"

A LINE O' CHEER

By John Kendrick Bangs.

THE WOLF AT THE DOOR

THE Wolf was standing by the door,
Snarling as ne'er he snarled before.
"Well, look who's here," said I as he Showed fangs that glittered fearsomely.
"Right splendid teeth," quoth I. "What is
Your special kind of dentrifice?
I'd like to know. I'd give my hat
To have a set of teeth like that."

He bristled wrathfully. Each hair
Stuck like a hat pin in the air.
And turning from me loped away,
And as he went I heard him say:
"I rather guess
I've come unto the wrong address,
And fear if I stayed longer he
Would make a fur coat out of me."

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

College Fraternity

The organization of the Alpha Sigma Phi has twice changed its character, and in the present form of organization dates from June, 1907. Originally it was a sophomore society organized at Yale in 1846 by some members of the class of 1849. In 1907 a chapter was established at Yale as a general university society, and in the same year a convention at Marietta, Ohio, perfected a national organization.

FLATTERER

She: Isn't the view grand from here?

He: Oh, I don't know. It wouldn't amount to much if you weren't included in it.

'SHOALS' MAY GET BIG COTTON MILL

TRI-CITIES UNITE WITH ALABAMA POWER COMPANY IN EFFORT TO INTEREST BIG EASTERN CONCERN

Florence-Sheffield-Tuscumbia, Ala.—Through the combined efforts of Tri-City citizens and the Alabama Power Company, Muscle Shoals may have in the near future a cotton mill costing several million dollars and rivaling in size the Merrimac mills at Huntsville and the Comer mills at Avondale. This information was given out by R. A. Mitchell, vice president of the Alabama Power Company, who said that the cotton mill in question, the name of which was not divulged, was a large and prosperous industry, located in New England, which is desirous of locating in the South so as to get nearer the source of raw material.

This mill, which, according to Mr. Mitchell, will cover a space of from some 30 to 40 acres and give employment to hundreds of workers, has already investigated proposed sites in Alabama. Mr. Mitchell, accompanied by an engineer, visited the plant in the East recently and an engineer of the power company, at the request of the Eastern corporation, left Birmingham recently for that point. Mr. Mitchell, in a statement issued, said:

"We desire to co-operate 100 per cent plus with the people of the Tri-Cities. We believe there is a great future there for all of us if we work together, and this, we propose to do in the matter of locating industries there as far as we can. When representatives of these cotton mills come to Alabama again we will bring them to Mutscle Shoals to look over the situation and hope with the co-operation of the citizens there to be instrumental in locating the mill.

It is said the Eastern people had had this district in mind for some time, but that because the Sheffield Company, operators of the Tri-Cities public utilities, until they were recently purchased by the Alabama Power Company, was unable to furnish power that the plant had been delayed. It is said that negotiations had been revived since the advent of the power company into this district and that there was a strong probability that the mills would be located here.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF

So large was the attendance at opening by state highway department officials of bids on highway construction projects in the counties of Hale, Lowndes, Monroe and Lauderdale, that meeting was held in the senate chamber of the capitol. In all 72 bids were opened, the largest number ever received by the department on a similar number of projects. The projects concerned are: Hale, 12½ miles of gravel road between Greensboro and Wedgeworth; Lowndes, 15 miles of road between Davenport and Fort Deposit, with both gravel and rawhide as a surfacing material; Monroe, nine miles of gravel road between Monroeville and Camden; Lauderdale, five miles of paved road and two miles of chert road between Florence and Killen.

Theo Lacey, former state employe, now serving a second sentence for embezzlement of state funds, was affected by a ruling of the supreme court which holds that time off for good behavior where a prisoner is serving more than one sentence should be deducted from each sentence and not on the basis of the aggregate sentences. The decision was made in the case of Ben Jones, Montgomery county convict. The supreme court holds that each sentence is begun separately and that time off cannot be considered until a sentence had been started.

The citizens of Sulligent have organized a Chamber of Commerce.

State Senator John Craft, of Mobile, has foun danother argument for use in favor of hard surfaced roads. According to Senator Craft, 75 per cent of the engine trouble in automobiles charged ot carbon is caused by sand, dust and grit, which is sucked up by the motor on sand, clay and gravel roads. This conclusion has been reached as a resu't of investigations of automobile engineers, Senator Craft stated.

The freight rate on asphalt and composition roofing from the Ohio and Mississippi points to Albany and Decatur will soon be reduced about 13 per cent, it was announced by J. H. Smith, traffic expert of the Decatur Cornice & Roofing Company, who attended a hearing in Atlanta in November of the Southern Freight Association.

The Alabama Public Service Commission in an order granted the petition of the Columbus Electric and Power Company, a Georgia corporation serving a number of east Alabama towns, for authority to issue bonds and notes to a tatal value of $4,000,000.

Dr. Charles Thigpen, prominent physician of Anniston, has accepted the position as chief of the bureau of food control of the Colbert county health department. He will take up his duties on January 1.

The population of Anniston at the opening of 1925, five years after the last federal census, is 22,168, an increase of 4,434, or 25 per cent over the 17,734 shown by the United States enumeration of January, 1920, according to a survey just completed for The Anniston Star. The public school enrollment shows an increase of 1,068 over 1920, when 2,581 pupils were enrolled compared to the 3,644 at the close of 1924. The number of dwellings given in the recent survey is 4,229 compared to the 3,383 of the 1920 census.

Lee County School Journal is the name of a new 16-page monthly magazine. This periodical is published by the schools of Lee county, and has as editor and business manager, W. Y. Fleming, county superintendent of education. The purpose of the new journal is to enable the schools of the county to get acquainted with each other, and to co-operate in all educational programs for the good of the county.

A dramatic story of how highly recommended oil wells turned out to be dry and how glowing prospects of financial success were snatched away during the "1921 period of depression," was told to a jury in United States court at Birmingham by A. W. Walker, president of the bankrupt Walker Consolidated Petroleum Company, who is being tried jointly with three other officers of the company on charges of misuse of the mails in the sales of $3,000,000 of worthless stock.

Marvin Hanvel, George Dutton and Ned Reams were bound over to the grand jury when tried before Recorder Phil Whiteside, of Anniston, on the charge of larceny of a car. Lee Dutton was also bound over to the grand jury on the charge of larceny in connection with stripping the car after it had been stolen. Bond was set at $300 for the four young men.

Shoplifters have been so active in Gadsden during the Christmas shopping that Chief Littlefield stationed five special plainclothes officers in the business district, with orders to keep a sharp lookout for store robberies. Most of the business houses have special officers of their own, but it is said that shoplifting is more pronounced than ever before.

Drainage district development in Alabama must await the enactment by the legislature of suitable enabling legislation under the constitutional amendment adopted at the November election, as a result of the decision of the supreme court, overruling an application for rehearing in the case in which the old drainage act of 1915 had been declared unconstitutional.

Chairman W. F. Jeffers of the Etowah County board of commissioners, has asked the charitably inclined people of the county to contribute pictures and rugs to the new $25,000 county almshouse, just completed and opened. He says the inmates have to face blank walls and bare floors, although the home is one of the finest in the country.

The First Baptist Church of Gadsden has decided to employ an assistant pastor next year and has added $2,400 to its yearly budget for the purpose. He will have charge of the department of religious education, including the Sunday school and the young people's work.

Members of the Auburn Lions Club turned their semi-annual election of officers into a gridiron affair, creating it was freely admitted by students, a standard of mirth seldom equalled by the students in their various "stunt" and initiation parties.

Tuscaloosa's population, at the close of 1924, four years after the last census, is 19,194, according to a survey just made by the local chamber of commerce. This is an increase of 7,198 over the population shown in 1920, at which time Tuscaloosa was given credit for 11,994 inhabitants.

Celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the organization of Helion Lodge, No. 1, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, Huntsville, first lodge of the order in Alabama, was held in that city on the evening of December 17.

Felix E. Blackburn, former prominent Birmingham attorney, now judge advocate in the army and stationed at Fort McKinley, Rizal, Philippine Islands, has been promoted by the War Department to the rank of lieutenant colonel, effective as of October 23.

The first sale of the Troy Co-Operative Hog Sales Association was held and one car of hogs was sold to A. B. Boutwell, of Greenville. Tops brought $8.35 per hundred. Atlanta and Montgomery stock yards had buyers at the sale.

A proposed change in the form of Huntsville's city government from the aldermanic to the commission form was defeated in a special election by a vote of 744 to 742.

R. E. Crick, of Huntsville, claims he was held up by an automobile bandit and robbed of $8.

A play festival will be given by the county schools at Denny field at the University of Alabama on February 14. A demonstration of the play activities of the school the past year will be one of the features of the festival. Children of different ages will take part in the various stunts and plays to be put on during the day.

According to reports of the county health authorities only 16 per cent of the 460 children in the Attalla public schools have deficient teeth, eyes or tonsils

Traced to Fourth Century

Archbishop Trench says the proverb that one should not "look a gift horse in the mouth" is as old as Jerome of the Fourth century, who, when some one found fault with certain writings of his, replied that they were free-will offerings, and that it did not behoove one to look a gift horse in the mouth.

Lessens Noise of Car

Rubber wheels attached to trolley cars are being tested at Oil City, Pa. A cushion of rubber is placed between two layers of metal. This results in the absorption of vibrations and eliminates much of the noise of running the car.

PE-RU-NA For Catarrh

of the Head, Nose, Throat, Stomach, Bowels or other Internal Organs.

Backed by more than half a century of successful service in the American home.

Your Nearest Dealer Carries Pe-ru-na Tablets or Liquid

Piles

CURED in 6 to 14 Days

All Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of ITCHING, BLIND, BLEEDING or PROTRUDING PILES. Cures ordinary cases in 6 days, the worst cases in 14 days.

PAZO OINTMENT instantly Relieves ITCHING PILES and you can get restful sleep after the first application. 60c.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief

BELL-ANS

25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

FOR OVER 200 YEARS

haarlem oil has been a world-wide remedy for kidney, liver and bladder disorders, rheumatism, lumbago and uric acid conditions.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

correct internal troubles, stimulate vital organs. Three sizes. All druggists. Insist on the original genuine GOLD MEDAL.

CURES COLDS IN 24 HOURS

AT ALL DRUG STORES — WORLD'S STANDARD CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE — FOR TWO GENERATIONS — PRICE 30 CENTS

CURES LA GRIPPE IN 3 DAYS

MADE BY DETROIT, W. H. HILL CO. MICHIGAN

The Purity of Cuticura Makes It Unexcelled For All Toilet Purposes

Christmas Services

An appropriate Christmas service was held at the Baptist church in Columbiana Sunday. At the morning service an elaborate musical program was given under the direction of Mrs. W. L. Longshore. For the evening service a special Christmas exercise was given by the children, members of the Sunbeam Band and the Intermediate B. Y. P. U., under the direction of Mrs. Joel Chandler.

The primary department of the Methodist Sunday school held a simple but appropriate Christmas service Sunday morning. A Christmas tree attractively decorated and bearing presents for every child, accompanied by a program of songs and stories gave genuine pleasure to the little folk. The work of the department is in charge of Mrs. C. E. Niven and Mrs. Luther Fowler

College Set Returns Home For Christmas

Columbiana is enilvened this week with the presence of the members of the college set who began coming in Saturday to spend their holiday season at home. Among those who have returned are: Misses Catherine Parker, Mary Sparks Annie John Haynes, Maurine Chapman and Elizabeth Duran, of Alabama College; Miss Elizabeth Farley of Birmingham-Southern, college, Ehney Camp, Nick Jones and Edwin Averyt of the University; Preston Acker of Howard College, Albert Duran of Auburn and Paul Longshore of the medical department of Vanderbilt University.

STRAYED:—Sunday, November 30th, black mare mule, weight 900 pounds, straight ears,, star in face. Notify L. N. Wyatt, Vincent, Ala., Rt. 1, and receive reward. 11 3t.

The Davis Drug Company
COLUMBIANA, ALABAMA

Wishes for its friends and customers a full measure of the joys of Christmas and a Happy Prosperous New Year

At this time of universal rejoicing and good cheer, we wish to say to our friends and customers

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

Columbiana Savings Bank

FROM THE Farmers Exchange
TO OUR MANY FRIENDS

As the Christmas season approaches and the old year draws to its close, we wish to extend to you, from grateful hearts, our sincere good wishes for your happiness throughout the holidays and the coming year.

To the best of our ability we have served you in 1924, endeavoring constantly to express our appreciation. In the months and years which lie beyond, we shall continue to serve youas best we can.

On the basis of this service and the high quality of our merchandise, we hope that we may merit your patronage in ever increasing measure.

With most cordial greetings and best wishes to you and yours from us and ours, Gratefully,

Frank Harwell

HARPERSVILLE

Last Sunday was the shortest day in the year.

A merry Christmas and a happy New Year to all.

Howard Minton is visiting relatives in Cherokee county.

Miss Lockie Posey is at home for the holidays.

Our teachers are all spending this week with home folks.

Hog kifling and sausage making is the order of the day.

Miss Myrtle Atkinson is at home from her Bessemer school for a few days.

Jemmie Slemp says that if he don't get up a fight during Christmas that he is going to turn the belt over to Clarence Harris and quit the job.

D. A. Cater has been on the sick list for a few days, but is better now.

Misses Marie and Hellen Cater are at home from the Montevallo school for the holidays.

Rev. C. J. Bentley the newly elected pastor of the Baptist church will preach Sunday.

Everybody is invited to come and hear him. The choir is preparing to give some splendid music.

JUST TO HEAR YOU

"WHAT do you want, children?" said the awakened sleeper, in the early morning of Christmas day. "Oh nothing, only just to hear you," came the answer from the two little girls who had knocked upon grandfather's door. So easily is love satisfied. Such meaning expression has. Love goes out upon hearthstones for lack of expression. Poverty of expression smothers its fire. Were we all dumb and deaf the world would be filled with silent spectres. Houses have ceased to be homes because so little is said. Like fragile flowers the affections must spring up in ever new manifestations, or we cease to have a garden. We know that others love us, but we forget it. What a pleasure it is just to hear them! — Christopher G. Hazard.

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Human Brotherhood

CHRISTMAS is the most human and kindly of seasons, as fully penetrated with the feeling of human brotherhood as the month of June with sunshine and the breath of roses.—George W. Curtis.

Be a Santa Claus!

Almost anyone can be a Santa Claus, and there are plenty of people who are just delighted to have the job.

No Race Suicide

When counting up his kinsfolk at this time of the year the average Christmas shopper discovers no evidences of race suicide.

COLUMBIANA

Miss Gertrude Bishop who is teaching at Brewton, is spending the holidays at home in Columbiana.

Mrs. J. L. Davis is paying a Christmas visit to relatives in Panama City, Florida.

Miss Myrtis Acker, who is teaching near Helena is at home for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kendrick, R 1, Chelsea, were among the big crowd of shoppers in town Monday

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davis left aturday night to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives in Columbus, Ohio.

W. L. Arnett of the high school faculty is spending the week at his home in Piedmont.

Miss Laura Winters, Teacher of home economics in the high school is spending the week at her home in Beesemer.

Mrs. A. R. Cooper lost a Shriners pin some where in town one day last week. She will be very grateful for its return.

Walter Morrow was called to Bessemer Tuesday by the sudden death of his father, J. W. Morrow

Miss Mamie Bishop, who is teaching at Phenix City, is spending the Christmas holidays at home.

Miss Ruby Long of the public school faculty is spending Christmas at her home in Guntersville.

Miss Elizabeth Horsley, of Alabama College, spent Friday and Saturday with Miss Wilma Riddle

Judge L. B. Riddle was a business visitor to Birmingham Monday, returning home Tuesday.

Mrs. Lloyd D. Cole of Shawmut, is spending the holidays at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carter.

Miss Elizabeth Mays, of Helena, is spending the holidays at home with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Mays.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Holcombe of Birmingham, spent the week-end with Mrs. Holcombe's parents Mr. and Mrs. Jno. J. Haynes,

W. T. Fancher of Harpersville, was a visitor to the Reporter office Monday.

G. W. Shaw, R1, Chelsea; and his sons, C. H. Shaw of Saginaw P. B. Shaw of Brookside, were visitors to Columbiana Monday.

J. O. Payne of Camp Branch community, was among the visitors to Columbiana Monday.

Mrs. W. W. Carter is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. G. W. Taylor of Wilsonville, who has been seriously ill since Thursday.

J. P. Montgomery and S. L. Lillie of the High School faculty, left Sunday afternoon to spend their holiday with relatives; Mr. Montgomery going to Abbevilie, S. C. and Mr. Lillie to Franklin. Tenn.

Rev. Wm. Neil writing to have his paper sent to his new address at Kellerman, Ala., says: "We are pleasantly situated here and have great opportunity for doing good. Our Sunday school has doubled in attendance and we have splendid congregations. Remember us to our friends."

BETHEL

Rev. W. R. Weaver of Birmingingham, will preach here Saturday night and Sunday.

Norman West and Hugh Bazemore spent the week end in Birmingham.

Miss Ellie DeLoach left Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays at her home in Childersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Rushen Armstrong have returned from Birmingham where they visited relatives for some weeks.

Mr. Perry and Henry Steele spent Wednesday near Calera.

Mrs. P. M. Henderson left Monday to join Mr. Henderson in their new home at Boaz. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. R. Z. Hill and her sister, Mrs. W. S. Henderson

SAVE YOUR MONEY
One box of Tutt's Pills saves many dollars in doctor's bills. A remedy for diseases of the liver, sick headache, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness; a million people endorse
Tutt's Pills

SHELBY COUNTY ABSTRACT COMPANY
LAND TITLES
JOHN R. ADAMS, Mgr., 302 Lincoln Life Bldg.
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
COUNTY REPRESETTATIVE
MRS. GRACE CARTER, Court House, COLUMBIANA, Ala.
Before buying or loaning money on land have an abstract of title made. Then have your lawyer examine the abstract.

MERCHANTS AND PLANTERS BANK
Montevallo, Alabama
C. L. Meroney, President
J. C. Slone, Cashier
Checking Accounts Solicited.

PROFIT
ON A SAFE BASIS
The foremost principle of this bank is the protection of its Depositors
4%
Compound Interest on a savings account with us is a good investment.

The profit you get on a savings account with us is sure and your investment is secure. There may be schemes that promise far more profit on large sums than our interest rate pays, and there may be some one who might pay you more on the small amounts you can put by—but not with the same degree of SAFETY.

GORDON DuBOSE, President.
C. L. O'NEAL, Vice-President.
G. M. AVERYT, Cashier.
Central State Bank
CALERA, ALABAMA

Southeastern School of Printing 508 UNION STREET NASHVILLE, TEN
This great school, establissed by the printers and publishers the South, offers great opportunities to young men and women learn some branch of the printing industry. Linotyping, Monotyp Hand Composition, Proofreading and Platen Press Work. $8 equipment. Intensive training methods. A good education is esse Printing pays goof wages—$25 to $50 per week. Send for free log. It is fully illustrated and will give you detailed informatio good trade is a great asset for any young man or woman.
SOUTHEASTERN SCHOOL OF PRINTING, 508 Union St., Nash

Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends is Florence and surrounding communities for their help and kindness during the sickness and death of our dear mother. May God's blessings rest upon every one is our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Vick and children.

Stockholders Meeting

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Columbiana Savings Bank, a corporation, is hereby called for Wednesday, the 14th day of January, 1925, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. Said meeting to be held in Columbiana Savings Bank, in Columbiana, Alabama.

W. F. Davis, President.
W. L. Christian, Cashier

Stiff joints

Takes out pain and swelling
Fresh, healing blood starts tingling through the aching joints the moment you apply Sloan's, destroying the germs that are causing the pain. Swiftly the aching eases off—the inflammation and swelling are reduced. All druggists—35 cents.
Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

DR. W. J. MITCHE
—DENTIST—
Phone No. 88. Montevallo

E. W. CHAPM
REAL ESTATE
Insurance and Bon
Farm Lands a Speci
Hoffman Building
Columbiana, Alaba

PAUL O. LUCK
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW
COLUMBIANA, ALA

LEFKOVITS & WA
Agents
New York Life Ins
Company
COLUMBIANA, A

WILSON DRUG
P. C. Wilson, Prop
Phone 41.
Montevallo. Alab

LUTHER L. SA
—LAWYER—
PRACTICE IN ALL
COLUMBIANA, A

GIFTS THAT
P. D. D. PENDL
JEWELER
MONTEVALLO, AL

O. K. MERCANT
SHELBY, ALA
Undertak
High grade caskets a rates. Hearse free etery. Reasonable r
town.